Floyd Greenleaf Latin American and Caribbean Collection

Collection 236

Scope and Content

Floyd Greenleaf was born on October 23, 1931, in Braintree, Vermont, in the northeast of the United States of America. After graduating from Forest Lake Academy, he attended Southern Missionary College, now Southern Adventist University, where he graduated in 1955 with a double major in history and religion. Thereafter, he completed an M.A. at George Peabody College of Vanderbilt University, and a Ph.D. in history at the University of Tennessee. His doctoral studies centered on Latin America.

Dr Greenleaf's entire teaching career was at Adventist educational institutions. He taught history at Southern Adventist University, where he also served as a Vice President for Academic Administration.

In 1992 his two-volume work set, The Seventh-day Adventist Church in Latin America and the Caribbean, was published by Andrews University Press. He also revised and updated Richard W. Schwarz's Light Bearers to the Remnant, published in 2000 as Light Bearers: A History of the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

The materials in this collection were gathered by the author for the purpose of writing the Latin America books. They consist of correspondence, transcribed interviews, photocopied articles and statistics from Adventist periodicals and General Conference Archives (GCA) about the work of the Seventh-day Adventist church in Latin America. Much of the materials, such as denominational statistics and Review & Herald articles, are now available online.

This collection also consists of annotations of his research on 3 by 5 inch cards which are organized alphabetically in eight card file cabinets, four for the Inter-American Division (IAD) and four for the South American Division (SAD). The annotations are about the Adventist work in the South America and Inter-America divisions.

Arrangement

The collection is as it was arranged by Floyd Greenleaf. No effort was made to sort the materials by writer/recipient or by date.
