Foreword

Looking back, we realize that the year 1952-53 has been an unusually full one for our Madison College family. It has been filled with many classes and much studying, a great deal of hard work tempered by numerous varied and enjoyable activities. All this has been well seasoned with soul-inspiring and worthwhile worship services.

Besides endeavoring to record the past year, the 1953 CUMBERLAND ECHOES desires to reveal the many fields of study that one may enter in this institution which has been ordained by God and dedicated to spreading the Gospel into all the world.

WALTER H. SIEMSEN, M.A.

Because he has served Madison College and its students unselfishly for the past ten years;

Because he is an understanding teacher and a helpful counselor;

Because all those with whom he comes in contact know that he practices his Christianity;

Because, in all his dealings with students, his interest is for them;

Because he always wears a cheering smile and has a good sense of humor;

Because his humble life tells for the One whom he serves;

The staff takes pleasure in dedicating the 1953 CUMBERLAND ECHOES to Walter H. Siensen.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

MADISON COLLEGE is today offering unusual educational opportunities to mature young people. At a time when it is becoming increasingly difficult for many young people to finance a college education, many young people are finding opportunities to earn their education while attending Madison College.

Madison graduates are scattered over many sections of the world, serving where the need is greatest. Opportunities for service are greater today than at any previous time. At the same time the demands of our time require more specialized training than was required in the past.

There are many serious-minded young people who could profit by taking training that would prepare them for leadership in various lines of missionary endeavor. The great need today is for many more well-trained teachers, nurses, medical technicians, dietitians, agriculturists, and mechanics, to work either individually, or in groups located in needy communities, in the South, as well as other sections of the country. Opportunities are also available to serve in small institutions already established. Trained workers have no difficulty in finding a place to work today.

The marriage of Marie Mitzelfelt to W. North Silver was solemnized on Tuesday evening, December 18, 1952 in the Helen Mitzelfelt wedding chapel. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Professor Harold E. Mitzelfelt, and the ceremony was performed by the bride's grandfather, Elder W. E. Straw, former president of Madison College. A reception followed in the college dining room where many of the young couple's friends and relatives gathered to congratulate them and to admire their many lovely wedding presents on display.

The Helen Funk Assembly Hall was the scene of another recent wedding when Minnie Mae Sykes became the bride of Alvin (Scotty) Wolfe on Thursday evening, December 18, 1952. The bride was given in Elder Straw performed the ceremony after which a reception was held in the college dining room where friends and relatives offered congratulations to the bride and groom. After a brief honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe are in Sunshine Court.

With her wedding plans interrupted when the groom's Alvin leave didn't come through as expected, Shirley M. Mison, student nurse, Camp Pickett, Virginia, was wed on December 18 to Private Elmo Lundy, Madison student. Her parents are Mrs. G. R. Fall Week of Prayer

How well we remember Elder Pingnot's inspiring talks on the ideal Christian life, as they were woven so masterfully about the unforgettable story of the "Deacon's Week." As we saw Christianity revealed in a practical and appealing way, there arose in our hearts a desire to reach higher and still higher for perfection, physically, mentally, and spiritually.

ELDER E. L. PINGNOT
*Pastor, Nashville Memorial
S.D.A. Church*

Spring Week of Prayer

Captain Lawrence E. C. Joers, author of God Is My Captain and Thou Art Peter, was the guest speaker for the Spring Week of Prayer. He served in the Navy during World War II as a doctor and there had many of the experiences which he shared with us—experiences which show God's loving care and His willingness to hear and answer our prayers. "I am not a preacher," Dr. Joers explained, "I am only taking advantage of the opportunity to tell others what Jesus has done for me." As a fitting climax to a successful week sixteen were baptized, and many reconsecrated their lives to God.

CAPTAIN L. E. C. JOERS interviews two students

“Mr. Gladstone,” said a dinner guest to the great British statesman at a formal state banquet, “Mr. Gladstone, you are a very busy man. You have scores of important matters pressing in on your attention all of the time. Tell me, Mr. Gladstone, what is the greatest concern of your busy life?” Without a moment’s hesitation the great Sir William Gladstone replied, “My greatest concern is my personal relation to my God.”

Madison’s program is full—for students as well as for workers. But the matter of foremost importance must always be, as Mr. Gladstone said, “my personal relation to my God.”

So we find school life at Madison with all its busy program, emphasizing the spiritual. There is time for the several devotional features, building self for God; and for missionary activities, building others for God.

MEDICAL

JULIAN C. GANT, M.D., F.A.C.P.

EDUCATION TODAY usually consists of a balance between theoretical class room instruction and practical laboratory work. There is no laboratory work that can equal life itself. While Madison Sanitarium and Hospital has as its primary objective the care of the sick in this community, a second most important function is that of a training center. As a laboratory for students who receive their theoretical training in the college the work in the Sanitarium is unequaled. Much of the work of the institution is done by the students under the direct supervision of their instructors. The character of the work therefore, must of a necessity be of the highest quality. Experience is provided in the following fields: professional nursing, practical nursing, laboratory technology, X-ray technology, nurse anesthetists and medical secretarial. In addition to this there is an excellent opportunity for one to get experience in accounting and hospital administration. A sanitarium and hospital as a division of the college provides a most unusual opportunity to turn out well-qualified workers in these various fields.

Madison College School of Nursing

THIS YEAR, the School of Nursing welcomed a class of twenty-three students and graduated a class of nineteen.

These young men and women were prepared in one of the the most versatile professions in the world. Nursing brings a satisfaction that only doing for others can bring. Nurses are in demand everywhere today, thousands need to be trained. We wish to pay tribute to these men and women that go forth armed with a service vocation and missionary zeal to give the glad tidings of salvation.

Student Industry

If you enjoy accounting and stenographic work, you will find opportunities in the Sanitarium and College business offices.

For those who are interested in secretarial work, employment may be found in the several campus offices.

A very busy spot is the Music Department. Some of the more musical students work here as student assistants.

The College Store affords a friendly atmosphere in which to work, with its counters stocked with fine groceries.

Stakelets, Mock Chicken, and Madison Burger! You will discover what goes into these and many more appetizing products if you choose to work in the Madison Food Factory.

In the College Cafeteria, you may learn to prepare and serve appetizing meals.

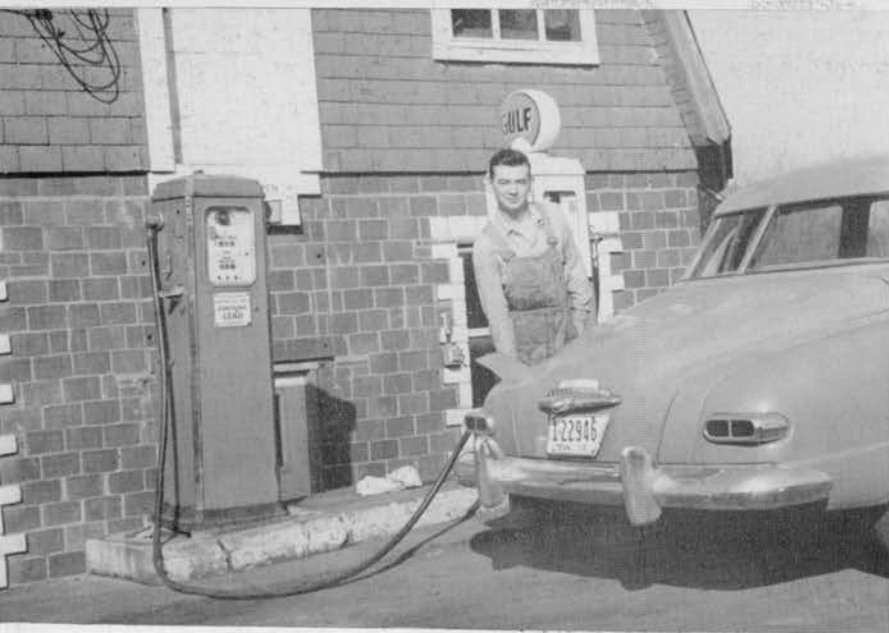

Hmmm! Smell those rolls!
What a pleasant place in which to work . . . that is,
if your resistance is good!

One is fascinated as he watches these print shop
workers run the various machines, both hands working together with perfect precision.

Do you enjoy making things out of wood? This is the place to learn the art of cabinet-building.

"Fill 'er Up!" . . . at the Madison College Garage!

The Engineering Department is the place to learn many of the industrial arts in a practical way—and earn at the same time!

On those cold winter nights,
we can be thankful that these men are on the job down at Central Heat.

The Bottling Plant must turn out many bottles of milk and juice every day to keep the College and Sanitarium well supplied.

“Chicken” Coon is really proud of his new baby chicks! With their well-planned routine, they’ll soon be producing many eggs.

Our garden keeps us supplied with many fresh vegetables the year round.

It's a good feeling to work out in the open on the College Farm. Just ask Bill.

James says, "Milking is no trouble at all in the new milking parlor!"

Alvin displays the sweet produce from the apiary. He can hardly keep his fingers out of it.

The Madison College Fire Department is ready for any emergency at a moment's notice.

These girls display a keen sense of rhythm as they manage to stay ahead of the mangle. The Madison College Laundry does a thriving business.

You're liable to find this jolly trio in any building at any time of the day or night.

This isn't the way they do their work! We just stopped them for a picture.

Disclaimer on Physical Condition

By their very nature many older books and other text materials may not reproduce well for any number of reasons. These may include

- the binding being too tight thus impacting how well the text in the center of the page may be read,
- the text may not be totally straight,
- the printing may not be as sharp and crisp as we are used to today,
- the margins of pages may be less consistent and smaller than typical today.

This book or other text material may be subject to these or other limitations. We are sorry if the digitized result is less than excellent. We are doing the best we can, and trust you will still be able to read the text enough to aid your research. Note that the digitized items are rendered in black and white to reduce the file size. If you would like to see the full color/grayscale images, please contact the Center.
