Five Delegates and Sponsor Attend E. M. C. Intercollegiate Workshop

The Madison College delegates left for the third annual intercollegiate workshop at Emmanuel Missionary College October 29, 4:00 a.m. Arriving at the college at 7:00 p.m., they joined with delegates from Southern Missionary College, Oakwood College, Washington Missionary College, Union College, Atlantic Union College, Oshawa Missionary College, and Southwestern Junior College for three days of instruction and fun.

Leaving E.M.C. at 7:30 a.m. Sunday, the Madison group met the A Cappella Choir at Evansville, Indiana, for a concert at 7:30 p.m. and returned home with the general opinion of "I could sleep a week!"

A detailed report of the workshop, complete with pictures, will appear in the next issue of the Student Movement from E.M.C., which everyone will get an opportunity to see.

Sanitarium News Notes

The Diet Office has moved from Room 34 to its new location in Rooms 25 and 26. This new location will be helpful in assuring good food service for our patients.

A new resident doctor, Teofanes Carreno, has joined our staff at the hospital. He comes to us from Bolivia and has already had three years' residency in the United States.

There is excitement afoot, at least for the student nurses. The doctors and graduate nurses are giving all student nurses and pre-nurses an Autumn Party in the Demonstration Building, Thursday, November 6.

The Junior Nurses Class has selected its officers for this year. They are: President, Arnold Riley; Vice-President, Donald Jennings; Secretary-Treasurer, Leta Brandemuhl; Assistant Secretary-Treasurer, Jeanette Vernon; Sponsor, Mr. Bernard Bowen.

The Senior Nurses Class officers are: President, Dale Kendall; Vice-President, Thelma Slater; Secretary, Martha Higgins; Treasurer, Jewel Cheevers.

Mrs. Doris (Iles) McClellan has gone to be with her husband at Blackstone, Virginia, which is a few miles from Camp Pickett.

Mrs. Geraldine Dickman has just returned from visiting her husband, Lewis Dickman, who is located at Camp Pickett, Virginia, also. His address is Pvt. Lester Lewis Dickman, U.S. 56136-780, Company C, 6th Bn., M.R.T.C., Camp Pickett, Virginia.

Other fellows from here that are located at Camp Pickett include Elmo Lundy, Stewart Vreeland, Rodney Reed, Rex Leatherwood, Paul Blankenship, Larry Martin, and Paul Coe.

High School Juniors And Seniors Organize

You should see the spirit in the high school this year! The Senior and Junior classes have organized and Mr. Billy Wilson is the new principal.

"We Are the Junior Class of Madison High School" was spiritedly sung by that class at a recent chapel hour. Their officers are: President, Don Sisson; Vice-president, Vern Manzano; Secretary, Marilyn Campbell; Treasurer, Shirley Holliman; Sergeant-at-Arms, Ronald Schmale.

The Senior Class officers are: President, Donald Blewitt; Vice-president, Anne Jensen; Secretary, Jo Garrard; Treasurer, Patsy Wilson; Sergeant-at-Arms, Skip Devlin; Pastor, Maurice Culpepper; Parliamentarian, Beulah Garrard.

This class met at the home of Patsy Wilson at 6:30 p.m. November 3. Games were followed by refreshments and a business meeting. The gardenia was chosen as class flower and two committees were chosen. These are: (1) Social Committee for the purpose of sponsoring a benefit program. Members are Patsy Wilson, chairman; Maurice Culpepper; Laura Taylor; and Beulah Garrard; (2) Song Committee for the purpose of writing a class song. Members are Skip Devlin, chairman; Ramona,

Editorial

THE MADISONIAN will be published bi-weekly this year, much to the delight of those who dislike stale news.

The staff will appreciate YOUR contributions to the paper in the form of news items or letters to the editors.

According to the press, we will be able to mail the paper out this year; so plans are made for launching a subscription campaign very soon. Start "stacking up" names in the back of your mind, and let's make this campaign a success! d.c.

EDNA THORNTON

Don't be alarmed at those strange sounds you hear coming from the music department these days! In all probability it is one of the beginning voice pupils; or it may even be Professor Mitzelfelt himself demonstrating his falsetto voice on some high tones for an aspiring voice student to imitate. Of course, many of those sounds are produced by instruments other than the human voice. When all four of the piano practice rooms are in use and lessons are being given in the various studios, as well as in the band practice room, you are certain to hear a medley of somewhat unrelated and dissonant musical sounds which help to identify the basement of the Assembly Hall as the domain of the music department.

Since the opening of school in September, a number of students have begun to be initiated into the intricacies of music under the capable tutelage of Professor Mitzelfelt, his wife, and their student assistants, Everett Lacy being the most recent addition. Besides assisting Mrs. Mitzelfelt with a number of her beginning piano students, Everett is keeping the pianos in this department, as well as those located in other buildings on the campus, in repair and good playing condition.

"There's something about a band," so the saying goes. The College Band has been doing its part in fostering school spirit thus far this year, appearing in full uniform for a concert given during the Self-supporting Workers Convention held here in October, and in its abbreviated form known as the "pep" band at a recent chapel program.

An unusual opportunity to provide music in an evangelistic campaign took the band north to Evansville, Indiana on a recent Sunday, where a half hour program was presented in the Coliseum there. The A Cappella Choir fulfilled a similar mission on Sunday, November 2, when the thirty members left at 1:00 p.m., presented a short program in Evansville at 7:30 p.m., and left immediately thereafter, returning to the campus in the wee small hours of the morning.

The invitations to these two organizations to participate in these meetings came as a result of contacts made during the summer when the Tripliteers, Madison's trumpet trio, appeared at the Indiana camp meeting. They have also made an appearance at the Coliseum in connection with these same meetings. Speaking of the Tripliteers, they have been invited to appear for the second time this year at one of the largest churches in Nashville, the First Presbyterian.

On Sunday evening, October 26, the Community Chorus, which, as its name implies, includes members of the community, met for the first rehearsal of "The Holy City," an oratorio by A. R. Gaul, to be presented in December. The which this chorus is formed, there being approximately sixty members in the entire group. Enthusiasm ran high at this initial rehearsal, and there is every reason to believe that "The Holy City" will be as well presented as was "The Messiah" last year.

Not all of the activities of the music department are limited to our own campus. Occasionally invitations come from outside groups requesting the participation of Madison musicians. A recent letter of appreciation from Carl L. Goldstein, president of the Vine Street Temple Brotherhood, thanked Professor Mitzelfelt and several others for their participation with the "Symphonette" which appeared at a recent Brotherhood meeting. The "Symphonette," composed of individuals who play music just for the enjoyment of it, meets regularly once a month at the home of A. M. Loveman, a prominent Nashville business man, and is under the direction of Professor Mitzelfelt. Others from our campus who meet with this group include Karl McDonald, Patricia and Vincent Mitzelfelt, and Mr. and Mrs. George Thornton. Mr. Loveman, who plays flute and piccolo and is a former member of the Nashville Symphony Orchestra, was featured with our orchestra earlier this year.

The College Orchestra is another musical organization, small it is true, but still functioning. A faithful group meets after band rehearsal on Wednesday evenings at 8:15 spending an enjoyable hour in practice. May we invite more violinists to join?

Mansion Quips

CHRISTIAN MILLIGAN

With this issue of THE MADISONIAN, we invite you to come join us as we begin a new year of bringing to your attention the joys, thrills, pleasures and otherwise that we experience at Wasiota Hall. We hope that you will laugh when we laugh, weep tears as big as ours, and in general have as good time reading "Mansion Quips" as we have in bringing it to you.

"Mr. Vest—quick, the fire department!! Men's court is on fire—Hey! The court is on fire—wake up, boys!!" Such were the goings on at Wasiota last Tuesday night as soon as the fire was discovered. Don Fisher and Christian Milligan, the finders and finishers of the fire, became heroes for the moment. Any elation they may have felt ended suddenly. Dean Sandborn stuck a pin into them when he demanded, "And what are you doing up at 2:00 in the morning?"

Recently, we had a visitor. Poor fellow, he is now in a deep freeze. Bully Campbell (brave man) was chasing a rat in the washroom. The rat ran under the refrigerator, and Bully, unlike Jack Horner, went after him. But instead of a rat, he pulled out a 'possum. Fancy work, too.

Charles Myers, Arkansas to us, lived up to his name last Sunday. Seems as if his room needed to be cleaned out, and maybe it did. Bully felt that he could get in even though the dirt was about 2.25 inches thick. Anyway, Bully opened the door and the next thing we knew, he was hopping around like a bunny rabbit. Someone had tied the dresser drawers to the door, and when the door opened the drawers came flying like these saucers we have been hearing so much about recently. Bully thinks twice before he goes into anyone's room.

Reminiscing . . . Fisher got his allowance today. . . . how long before we have another popcorn party?? Heard or overheard . . . Telephone ringing . . . Professor Mitzelfelt's voice saying, "Get John Read out of bed. He was supposed to be at work an hour ago!" What do you suppose . . . ? Seen . . . Scotty talking over the phone minutes on end. . . . Bob Silver reading a letter several times in worship

Starch and Stripes

No class and off duty at the same time? Impossible! "But if it is true, we will have to take advantage of it, girls. Hurry!" Now that did so happen one evening and the following officers were chosen for the Nightingale Club: President, Velma Midghall; Vice-President, Mary Ellen Eaves; Secretary, Jessie Mae Gray; Treasurer, Esther Radinz; Religious Leader, Wilma Gill; Publicity Secretary, Bettie Clark.

About 5:30 each morning Gotzian intermingles yawns with chiming alarm clocks, spraying water, and sleepy voices. The rattle of fresh bibs and aprons follows as our probies (they are the early birds) step into a crisp fall morning for a day of adventure.

"Operator! Operator! I have to get the doctor quick! Operator! Outside, please!" (Sounds like O.B. doesn't it?) Or, "He's getting cyanotic; raise the head of his bed; start the oxygen; every second counts!" (Presumably North Hall.) "Blood pressure falling. Put up the foot of the bed; give a transfusion." (Surgical Wing.) What nurse knows what is in the day? It's our profession to be ready—ready at all times.

Off duty, out of the stripes, and that professional miss is Dora, Tildie, or Beezie. The washing machine hums, the halls are ringing, the kitchenette—ah, what aromas!! Last week a very Chinese supper was the style, eh Agnes? Then what's this about Thelma Muirhead's birthday party? Oh! Oh! We've heard popping eggs, and we've smelled Burnadine's burned beans, too.

The night nurses are waiting for the day when they are to have their quiet air-conditioned sleeping room. They are also looking forward to the time when their bathroom will be completely painted. Hazel, you are doing a swell job.

But the most cherished dream of night nurses is a few winks of soothing winks.

the other night. . . . Wonder what it contained??

See you next issue.

EXTRA!

One score and five days ago, our school fathers brought forth to this institution an idea conceived in desperation and dedicated to the proposition that all the men, being created equal, would not mind running to the bath house every morning. Now we are engaged in a great undertaking, that of refinishing completely that portion of our great mansion, prepared—furnished—suited for the use of all. The brave men who have struggled so long have established it far above our power to add or detract. The institution will little note, nor long remember what we say here, but we can never forget these green walls and tile floors they have given us. It is for us to resolve here that these past weeks will not have been in vain, but that we, under Deans Oakes and Campbell, shall have for our delight this new Service room, and that these fluorescent lights shall not have been installed in vain.

Delta News Eta

Overheard . . . The night of the big fire down at the Mansion . . . Schuerger and Clement worrying about the safety of a couple of fellows . . . won't say who they were. From the excitement in Williams Hall, we expected the Court to be a pile of ashes the next morning.

Vale, veil, or vail—there are several, but the kind that Minnie Sykes is always talking about could have something to do with these long telephone conversations that Scotty is accused of.

Sue Bragg has found a new way to make pin money. She stands in second floor hall and sings and the night duty girls throw her pennies to keep her quiet.

We hear that a certain young man didn't like Sonia Taylor's haircut. Who does he think he is? While we're on the subject of hair, we might as well get in Jo Bragg's two cents' worth. Really, she has been on the campus lately. You just haven't been looking for that new shade of crowning glory.

Our idea of a real friend is the girl who wakes up at 4:00 a.m. to say "Bye, have a good time" to two girls leaving for five days. Of course, Wanda, their banging up and down the halls may have had something to do with your not being asleep at that unearthly hour.

Well, another Halloween has taken its place in the realms to which such things are consigned. Altogether, it was very quiet and dignified, but the spooks certainly aren't slipping, as Dal-line Colvin can tell you. When she arrived home Sunday night, she found that the candy in the box on her dresser had been replaced with minute chocolate drops. These were accompanied by a note which read: "Mourning your absence and longing for your return, we have grown small and dry. We hope you will enjoy us anyway." Signed, Your Candy. Quite a literate goblin, don't you think?

Wallace Chime Ringers Entertain Nov. 9

The Wallace Chime Ringers, composed of Neal and Frances Wallace, presented an outstanding novelty program Sunday evening, Nov. 9, in Helen Funk Assembly Hall.

The unique hour of entertainment included a wide range of presentations, from a medley of Southland tunes to a Latin American presentation of "Begin the Beguine." Mr. Wallace acted as master of ceremonies.

Besides a complete set of Swiss bells, the Wallaces had with them their vibra-harp, a set of chimes, and a marimba.

Mrs. Wallace opened with "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." The program included also such selections as "Good Night, Sweetheart," "Whispering," "You Belong to Me," "The Band Played On," "I Went to Your Wedding," and such religious pieces as "Rock of Ages," "Battle Hymn of the Republic," and the beautiful spiritual "Precious Lord, Take My Hand."

For the small folks the Wallace's joined each other on the chimes to play "Yankee Doodle" and "Three Blind Mice."

Accompanied by Mrs. Wallace on the marimba, Mr. Wallace played in closing "The Marine's Hymn" on the chimes. It was dedicated to the men in the service of their country.
