Wedding Bells Ring During Vacation

Concepcion, Kerbs United in Oklahoma

The wedding of Miss Betty Concepcion and Freddie Kerbs took place on May 23, at Shattuck, Oklahoma, with Elder A. G. Streiffing officiating. Deloris Fast was maid of honor, and the bridesmaid was Charlene Riffel. The groom's attendants were Loyd and Floyd Kerbs, brothers of the groom. The candle lighters were the Misses Phillis and Algie Gibbs. The attractive little flower girl was Sharon Herber. The special music was provided by Loyd and Floyd Kerbs and Buddy Seibenlist.

A reception was held at the Seventh-day Adventist Academy gym after the ceremony.

Following their wedding trip, the couple have made their home on the campus, and Freddie plans to complete his course.

Benson, Saunders Exchange Vows in Chapel

Miss Tina Benson and Raymond Saunders were married in the Helen Funk Assembly Hall on June 3, with Elder Stewart reading the marriage vows. The bridesmaids were the Misses Betty Jo Allred and Meraldine Dickerson. The maid of honor was Verna Benson, sister of the bride. The groom's attendants were Hulon Saunders, James and Maurice Culpepper. Special music was provided by Mary Ellen Eaves, Mr. Gilbert Jorgensen, and Rose Norris. The ushers were Amos Self and David Saunders. The candles were lighted by Mrs. Amos Self and Lillian Azevedo. Elaine Saunders made a very charming little flower girl.

A reception followed at the Sanitarium parlor, where the couple received congratulations and displayed their gifts.

For their honeymoon, they went to North Carolina and Florida.

Campus Cool Spot Nears Completion

Although there is still plenty of work to do on the swimming pool, the hardest part is over, was the report of those directing the work as the last of the cement was poured for the floor. The next job is to pour cement for the top rim and then to make the cement walk around the pool. Grading the grounds around the pool, putting in the plumbing, and doing countless smaller and larger jobs are still necessary, but in spite of it all, we are told that the pool will be ready for swimming by the middle of July.

During the past month while foremen on the apartment house project were away, the crew of student workers was transferred to the swimming pool.

In addition a number of the faculty men spent long hours working during vacation. For days it was almost impossible to find any man in his office. Dean Sandborn, Dean Wilson, Dr. Gish, Mr. Zeigler, Mr. Keplinger, Mr. Eide, and Mr. Wickham all worked hard at the project.

Lab Instructors Attend Convention in Miami

On the recommendation of Dr. Cyrus Kendall, director of the laboratory of Madison Sanitarium, Carlos McDonald and George Thornton, instructors of laboratory technique, were sent as delegates to the Twenty-second Annual Convention of The American Society of Medical Technologists held in Miami Beach, Florida, June 13 through 17.

The latest advances in laboratory technique were presented to the nationwide gathering of medical technologists. Numerous scientific and technical exhibits revealed new developments in scientific apparatus and equipment for the laboratory.

"The material presented will be very useful in helping us to improve the efficiency of our laboratory service and reports. Future instruction in the laboratory school will definitely benefit by information at the convention,"

General Conference Brings Guest Speakers for Sabbath Services

General Conference visitors from the East and Near East have been guest speakers at the Sabbath morning services for the past two weeks.

Elder A. M. Akbar, of the West Pakistan Union Mission, spoke on June 12 of the progress of the work in Pakistan. He was a guest at the home of Elder and Mrs. Kimble, whom he has known for twenty years. Elder Kimble assisted at his ordination to the ministry in 1946. A Moslem when he first came to an Adventist training school, he was eventually baptized and later went to Spicer Missionary College, from which he graduated. He does much translating of denominational books into various languages of the East.

Elder Neal Wilson, president of the Nile Union Mission, stopped on his way from General Conference to visit his two uncles, W. H. and Walter S. Wilson, and their families. On June 19 he gave a thrilling report of the advance of the work in the Near East, which includes Egypt, Ethiopia, and adjoining countries.

says Mr. McDonald.

Leaving Madison on June 10, accompanied by Mrs. McDonald and Patricia, they spent the Sabbath at the Walker Memorial Hospital near Avon Park, Florida, where Mr. McDonald was head of the laboratory for several years following his graduation here in 1948. Ex-Madisonites working there are Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Biggs and Mrs. Dorothy Lowder, director of nursing.

On Sunday they traveled southward to Miami, visiting the Harold Purvis family at Arcadia, Florida, on the way. Harold is a Madison-trained laboratory technician.

At the Hialeah Sanitarium and Hospital near Miami they found more Madisonites—Donald Welch, manager; Doyle Martin, anesthetist; Eddie Burnside, laboratory and X-ray technician; and nurses,

The Editor's Pen

"When he says he'll be there at seven o'clock, he'll be there."

Was the head of the department talking about you? Are you as good as your word—always?

If you promise to work for another student, can you be depended upon to be at work?

If you borrow a tool, do you return it when you say you will?

If you promise to be at a committee meeting tonight, will you be there?

Busy programs on the part of workers and students alike are conducive to forgetting appointments and promises. But better not to promise than not to fulfill.

Forgetting is a habit. If you know it is easy for you to forget, begin immediately to write down what you have promised to do. Put yourself to any degree of inconvenience in order to fulfill your word, for your word is sacred. Train yourself to be dependable.

If the unavoidable occurs, notify the one you promised that you cannot be there at three o'clock or that you cannot have the borrowed article back when you said you would.

Neither money nor good looks will make your school life and your after life a success; dependability will.

The delegates report that Miami was well-nigh sunless during their five-day stay. However they did enjoy the sunshine for which Florida is famous by way of its oranges and grapefruit.

The Way the Wind Blows

● Albert and Mabel Nielson spent a few weeks' vacation with relatives at Louisa, Virginia. Albert will complete his work for a master's degree at Peabody this fall. At that time the Nielsons will join the new unit at Harbert Hills, near Savannah, Tennessee, which is being sponsored by the Pattersons.

● The Duane Higgins family made a hurried vacation trip to Daytona Beach, Florida, not long ago. They report a very pleasant trip, though entirely too brief.

● Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Peck, former teachers at Madison, were week-end visitors. Mrs. Peck teaches business training at Mt. Pisgah Academy, and Mr. Peck is an engineer with the T. V. A.

● Do you remember those chairs in the rotunda with the temperamental arms? Well, they have been repaired, and now your books won't take a dump in the midst of class and distress the teacher or awaken drowsy students.

● Don Owsley and Wallace Slater are home for the summer from Howard University, Birmingham, Alabama, where they are enrolled in the School of Pharmacy. Don is at his old post in the pharmacy and Wallace Slater is working with his father. Larry Kelly, the other Madison student taking pharmacy, is spending the summer at home with his parents.

● Don Jennings and family have sold their trailer in trailer court to Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Slater and have moved down near Wasiot Court.

● The new apartment house for married students is progressing. Putting asphalt shingles on the roof isn't an especially cool job when the thermometer is up in the nineties, but the roof is about finished. Interior work will be more in keeping with the weather during the remainder of the summer.

● Mr. John Brownlee reports another profitable trip through Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Texas for the Food Factory. His most recent trip was to Mt. Vernon, Ohio.

It wasn't possible to get much information from Mr. Brownlee concerning the new food the factory is working on at the present. He says "We'll have it ready for campmeeting. Prepare for a taste surprise."

● Mr. and Mrs. John Aldrich, Reuben Perales, and Nell Arashiro are spending their vacation in Bozeman, Montana. They are all working for a few weeks in the Deaconess Hospital in Bozeman.

● The Zeigler family spent a few days in Akron, Ohio, visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Zeigler, and relatives. Mr. Zeigler's parents, Mrs. Zeigler's three sisters live in Akron.

● Dr. E. M. Cadwallader, head of the Department of Education at Union College, spent a few days on the campus obtaining information concerning Madison's contribution to the Seventh-day Adventist educational work. Dr. Cadwallader is writing a book on the history of education in the Seventh-day Adventist denomination.

● Miss Ilka Reis, a teacher of many years' experience in Brazil, who has been attending school at Peabody and working at Madison since she has been in this country, has accepted the position of dean of women for the summer months.

● Don MacIntosh is the new M.V. leader for the college society. The first program of the summer was in honor of the fathers, June 20 being Father's Day. Special recognition was given to the fathers more than sixty-five years of age.

ERNEST PLATA

Summer has greeted the Wasiotans with its wonderful weather and also its very hot days, making the fellows more eager to see the nearing day when the swimming pool will relieve the heat-prostrated Wasiotans in its cool, refreshing waters.

This four weeks of vacation has left the halls nearly empty. Almost everyone found his way to his home, from British Columbia all the way down to Texas and Florida. Even the old boy Henry Steinmuss decided to take a rest in the hospital. Then after "breaking the bank" with his painting contracts, he went out into the country for a few days at Dr. Trivett's farm.

We also must mention George Cabello, that tall he-man from Chile, who decided to go to see for himself what the West looks like and compare it with the West of the pictures he has often seen.

Off he went to try his luck at hitch-hiking, too. About middle way of his trip, one day he stood on a solitary crossroad, with his thumb pointing toward California. A late model car with "Just Married" signs all over picked him up, and where do you think he sat? In the middle of the front seat. The young lady was at the wheel and the groom at the right window. At intervals the car would stop and the young lovers would demonstrate their love to each other, George still in the middle.

As George observed how many cars and bridges they were missing by inches, and the effects the alcoholic beverages taken at the wedding reception were having upon the couple, he ventured

Around the San

Cleo Boyer, our ever-faithful maintenance man and senior college class treasurer, now reposes in room 408 amidst traction and trapeze equipment. He was injured seriously while trying to save a piece of heavy machinery from falling off a trailer. We are glad his spirit and infectious grin have suffered no appreciable loss, however.

We wish to commend Josephine's classmates who provided special nursing care for Cleo and all others who so generously rallied around them.

Improving nicely now, he has the prayers and good wishes of all his friends that the Lord will continue to pour out His richest blessings upon him and his family.

Mary Jane Sparks West had been visiting her sister, whom she hadn't seen for several years; also her mother was there. While she was gone, her poor hubby said he just couldn't eat. What with anorexia, the heat, duty on General, and no Mary Jane, the poor lil feller shure looked mighty pitiful for a few days!

May 30 at 8:30 p. m. Deborah Sue was born at the Madison Sanitarium to Mike and Zora Belle Prelog. Mike took the Medical Technicians' course here. Congratulations on your fourth child, friends.

We are pleased to report that Lucia Lee and Virginia Bailey, recent sanitarium guests for minor surgery, were able to depart so quickly and so happily.

Down on the Farm

The farmers optimistically report that good weather with plenty of rain during the growing season thus far means that crops look good. Last week they cut nearly eighty acres of oats and baled some hay. The cows, in appreciation of the good pasture where they are grazing, are sending about 100 gallons of milk a day to the milk plant.

Early peaches from Ridgetop will soon be in. From then on there will be different varieties of peaches all along during the season.

Dry weather during late summer will soon bring no disappointments in crops either on the farm or in the garden. As an addition to the already valuable irrigation system, a load of new irrigation pipes has been added. These are four- and six-inch movable aluminum pipes in 25-foot lengths, which may be shifted wherever needed.

Although the electric pump down by the river is entirely satisfactory, yet it is to be replaced by a new diesel motor, which will be much more economical to operate.

Meet the Faculty

Had it not been for the Great Depression, Madison College would not now have Mrs. Doris Clapp as head of its department of nursing. She says that in early life her really great ambition was to become a college history teacher, but a limited budget led her to choose nursing as a career.

The year 1932 found her graduating from the Loma Linda School of Nursing (now the C.M.E. School of Nursing). Not content with this, a few years later she received her B. S. in nursing education at Pacific Union College and finally her M. A. in administration of schools of nursing from Columbia University in New York.

In her chosen field Mrs. Clapp's experience ranges from private duty nursing to supervising and teaching. She laughingly says that at one time or another she has taught "every subject in the field of nursing except P. and A.—even microbiology." Denominational institutions in which she has served as director of nursing education include Washington Sanitarium and Hospital, St. Helena, and Paradise Valley.

This busy lady officially holds two positions at Madison. Her office in relation to the Sanitarium is that of director of nursing; in the relation to the College she is the head of the department of nursing. In larger institutions these positions are generally held by two persons, Mrs. Clapp admits.

Mrs. Clapp and her husband, Elder John N. Clapp, Sanitarium chaplain, have been residents of Madison for a year now, having arrived here last June. Mrs. Clapp confesses that she was "an old maid and he a confirmed bachelor" when they married in 1940.

The Clapps have traveled extensively in the United States, and their travels have taken them into every one of the 48 states. This was accomplished relatively inexpensively by wise budgeting on their vacations, and professional trips which took them into numerous states.

Mrs. Clapp's hobbies include bird study, kodachrome picture making, reading, and scrapbook making. With her recently acquired moving picture camera, she anticipates making home movies. Kodachrome wild flower pictures are a future project when time permits. Along homemaking and culinary lines, her lovely home attests to her skill as a homemaker, and because she "can't throw away a recipe, she has stacks of them."

With her many varied interests, Mrs. Clapp wishes it were possible to live more than one life at a time. She is sure she could fill several, but at present the Madison College School of Nursing is her prime interest. She sees a great future for it, building with the help of her capable assistants on the foundations that have already been laid.

Mrs. Doris Goldsberry-Clapp, we salute you!

to ask for the wheel. . . . It was 600 miles later and in San Francisco when the couple finally woke up, thanking George for his kindness and wishing him good luck.

We're proud of our newcomers, who have arrived with high hopes for a good school year.

Michigan sends us James Wright, a freshman, and Magazine, Arkansas, sends us two prospective X-ray and lab technicians in the persons of Jimmie Alexander and Jack Dyer. Cuba is represented by José Salgado and Colombia by Guillermo (William) Torres, who with his personality and beautiful baritone voice has already won many friends.

A high school Wasiotan came special delivery from Alabama, Milton Hoff, from all appearances a good student.

Impossible to forget Bill Grover! If we did, his laughter would let us know that he's around. We enjoy his good humor.

Now that summer school has begun there'll be more interesting news from the most active club on the campus.

Former Director of Nurses Weds

Miss Ruth Hopper, R. N., and Mr. Axell Haugen were married in May. A former director of nurses here, the bride has been teaching a nursing class in a Madison, Wisconsin, hospital. Friends here sent a shower of gifts by mail. We all wish the couple many happy years at 935 Lake Court.

Blue Notes

EDNA THORNTON

Our Oklahoma vacation is long since past, and we are once again in the swing of a new quarter. The many new faces about the place give promise of new friendships and acquaintances.

One morning last week we woke at the early hour of 6 a.m. to the sound of piano music coming from the Assembly Hall. We were sure that it was Ernest Plata, but when we questioned him he suggested that it might have been one of the new students. Anyway we are still wondering who our early morning serenader was.

Other sounds of a more or less musical nature were the bird songs we heard on the folks' farm in Oklahoma. To usher in the evening came the hooting of an old owl in the oak tree out by the road, to lull us to sleep the call of a whippoorwill in the soft darkness of the summer night, and then to waken us rudely long before dawn had begun to break, the crowing of the old red rooster just outside our window. After which we politely turned over and went back to sleep.

The Music Department hardly functioned during vacation, with Professor and Mrs. Mitzelfelt attending a teachers' convention at La Sierra. However Mr. McDonald faithfully met his pupils each Wednesday afternoon. We rather think that it was he who kept the plant on our desk watered while we were away.

From all indications the summer choir and other organizations will be as successful as in past years. New faces seen in the choir include Lillian Azevedo, Stewart Vreeland, Carolyn and Elizabeth Stuyvesant, Gilbert Jorgensen, and Ramona and Vincent

Holliman, Hudson Ceremony Solemnized in San Parlor

The wedding of Miss Shirley Holliman and Horace Hudson was solemnized by Elder Stewart on June 10, in the Sanitarium parlor. The bridesmaid was Miss Barbara Busch, and the maid of honor was Miss Sue Holliman, sister of the bride. The groom's attendants were Eugene Hudson, brother of the groom, and Bill Graves. Anita Holliman, niece of the bride, made a very sweet flower girl. The candles were lighted by the Misses Barbara Ann and Betty Jo Hudson. Music was provided by Dr. Harris and Mrs. G. Cothren. The ushers were Bill Cook and Maurice and James Culpepper.

A reception followed at the Mitzelfelt. Vincent did an excellent job of directing the choir during his father's absence.

Each summer we appreciate the coolness of our department. Being in a basement location has its advantages, for it is almost like air-conditioning. Hence we anticipate much activity in the cool Music Department during the summer.

Press Steps Up Production with New Machine

High-speed production of forms and general printing is now a reality at the Rural Press, college printers located in the Science Building.

This is because of the recent arrival of a Model 233 Davidson offset press which operates at speeds in excess of 6,000 per hour, and cost about $4,000.

The offset press is better for many types of printing because of its ability to print on rough surfaces with a smoothness unmatched by conventional printing methods.

Operating on the rotary principle, the press turns out work at dizzy speeds and gives profitable and economical production heretofore impossible at Madison College.

Floyd McDaniel, editor of the Cumberland Echoes, college annual, announces that production of the yearbook on the offset press is slated for the next few weeks, and promises that subscribers may expect something different and pleasing in paper this year, because the book will be run by offset.

The main difference between offset and letterpress printing is that in offset no type touches the paper. The image is placed on a flat plate by photography. Both water and ink are applied to the plate. Since the image is ink-receptive and the blank part of the plate is water-receptive, ink will not transfer from the blank part.

This process, discovered over 300 years after the invention of printing, produces work on which there is no indentation of type or rules on the back of the sheet.

Because of this, there is no regulation of printing pressure, which takes up a lot of time in letterpress work.

The Press workers cordially invite you to inspect this press any time.

Following a brief honeymoon, the couple have made their home near the campus.

OLIVE CRUICKSHANK

General Conference time brought a larger than usual number of Madisonites together at a picnic held at Redlands Park, California, on May 25. Mrs. Fred Black of Loma Linda reports that there were about sixty adults present besides the children. She mentions from Los Angeles and vicinity: Dr. and Mrs. Robert Gallagher, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Andrus, Mrs. Gene Thomas, Mrs. Ida Wayne, Dr. and Mrs. R. R. Bowes, Mrs. Hannah Sade, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer R. King, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Smith, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Dye, Mrs. Betty Evers-Fisher and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Kendall. Those from greater distance: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Boynton, Robert and Mike Sutherland, Mrs. Ira Gish and son Wayne, Sharlene Hilgers, Mrs. Jacqueline Evers-Johnson and family, Lillian and Mac McKinney. Local friends: Harold Giles, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hoyt, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Shaen Sutherland, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Coffee, Dr. and Mrs. U. D. Register, Dr. and Mrs. Chauncey Smith, Dr. and Mrs. Orville Thompson, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Black.

Dale Kendall has laid down his responsibilities as assistant director for nurses and will enter the class in Anesthesia July 1. Luther Hill is the new assistant director of nurses.

Violet Stewart and Connie Rimmer will be reaching Madison about August, to spend the rest of the summer here. From Walla Walla they went to California at the close of the school year and are spending a little time at each of several sanitariums and hospitals. They have been delighted to see so many Madisonites wherever they go. At St. Helena they saw Gerry Dickman, who told them that Louie is on his way home, and Doris Iles McClellan, whose husband will soon be returning from overseas. At Loma Linda they saw Mavis Sutherland, Aline Wallis, and Howard Huenergardt. They will come to Tennessee by way of Texas, where they will visit Violet's brother, Elder Alvin Stewart, at Abilene.

The Girls Are on The Go

Picnics at Shelby Park, tennis, golf, and swimming have been keeping the village girls' club busy these last few weeks.

If you should be one of those individuals who are new at playing tennis, you should by all means join us for a game at Shelby Park. Tulamae and Linda will gladly impart their knowledge of the game to you, although you may wonder (as we did) just where they gained their knowledge.

An afternoon of swimming, when Lois Miller was the victim, being the last one in the pool, was an event of the club last week. While the others absorbed some sun, Alma and Naomi tried their technique at miniature golf.

The evening ended with a water melon feast and television at Tulamae's house.

Naomi Henson has been spending a few days on surgical wing. We hope to see her out again very soon.

New Comers—and Old Ones Too!!

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Barrington and small son have been on the campus for several weeks. Mr. Barrington, a graduate of Southern Missionary College, is in the business office as assistant to Mr. Duane Higgins. The Barringtons live in the house formerly occupied by the Santinis.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Grosboll, from Toppenish, Washington, are connecting with the hospital, he as credit manager and she as a nurse. The Grosbolls are returned missionaries from Burma and come to Madison with considerable experience in medical and hospital work, Mr. Grosboll's latest position having been assistant manager of the Toppenish Hospital.

The Saphiloffs have returned to the campus after a year's absence. Mr. Saphiloff will continue his advanced school work in hospital administration at Vanderbilt University and Mrs. Saphiloff will be floating night supervisor here at the sanitarium.

Another Madison family who have been away for some time are back on the campus. Mr. Homer Lynd is attending school in Nashville and Mrs. Lynd is one of the supervisors at the sanitarium.

Mrs. Bertha Kitzerow and son Douglas are among the new arrivals. Mrs. Kitzerow is Dr. Schuler's office nurse and Douglas will begin his industrial education course.
