Lyceum Features Bonaventure Diary

Robert C. Hermes, artist, lecturer, and nature photographer, presented his Audubon Screen Tour, "Bonaventure Diary," Saturday evening, November 13.

The color film showed the rural beauty of Bonaventure Island in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, with its quaint fisher-folk houses and garden patches; fields filled with daisies and iris, the wooded hills, and the cliffs where thousands of sea birds build their nests each year.

Of special interest were the pure white gannets with their six-foot wingspread, which at one time were almost extinct as a result of careless hunting.

MADISONITES LEAVE CAMPUS

Don Jennings, R.N., Class of '54, and Lucille Jennings, R.N., with their small daughter Dorothy Marie, are leaving for Glendale, California, where Mr. Jennings will engage in nursing.

The Jenningses have been here four years while Mr. Jennings has been studying nursing. For the past three years Mrs. Jennings has capably filled the position of school nurse.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Parks left Monday, November 15, for Murfreesboro, where Mr. Parks, R.N., Class of '54, has accepted a nursing position in the hospital there. Mrs. Parks has been office nurse in the dental offices of Dr. Trivett and has also been secretary of the senior division of the Sabbath school.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kirkwood, who have lived on the campus off and on for 14 years, have moved to a small farm in Pine Mountain Valley, Georgia. Mr. Herbert Schmale is the new manager of the bakery, having under him James L. Champ, baker, who is assisted by John Ackerman, Emmet Webster, and Dewey Luzader.

David Patterson's friends are bidding him farewell as he goes to answer Uncle Sam's call. David, B.S., '53, attended Peabody last year, receiving his M.A. degree this past September. After his service in the army is over, the Pattersons will connect with the new unit at Harbert Hills, Savannah, Tennessee.

Seminar Organizes

The newly organized Lay-workers' Seminar will hold their first meeting in the Rotunda at eight o'clock Sabbath, November 27, where Fred Rye will present his sermon on Christian Courage.

It is planned that these early Sabbath morning meetings be directed entirely by the students and furnish practice and inspiration in speaking, singing, and general organization and public leadership.

President of the seminar is senior student Lewis Dickman, Bob Pierson is vice-president, and Emma Lee Sunderland is secretary. The officers, together with Bob Kunau and Peggy Dillard, form the program committee. Elder Felix Lorenz, head of the Bible Department, is sponsor and critic.

Burks, Eldridge Present Variety Program

Billy Burks and Shirley Eldridge presented a musical variety program in the Assembly Hall Sunday evening, November 21.

Billy Burks played his accordion and Shirley Eldridge played his marimba. Between numbers, Mr. Eldridge performed acrobatic feats.

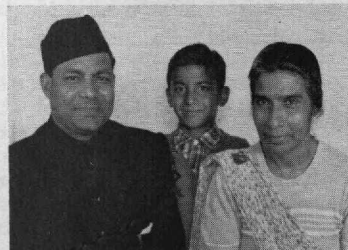

Billy Burks is a former student of Madison College, and Mr. Eldridge works in the Art Department at the Southern Publishing Association.

Wasiota Club Announces Banquet

The Wasiota Club announced the date of their annual semi-formal banquet, November 21, at 11:45 P.M., amid the wailing of fire sirens and exploding fire crackers.

It wasn't until the first "cherry bomb" exploded that the girls noticed the gaily decorated car with its sign "Wasiota Club" parked beside the Science Hall. Grant Duncan then invited all the residents of Williams Hall and Gotzian Home to the banquet, to be held December 5, at 6:30 P.M.

Tennessee Educator Is Chapel Speaker

Professor Kenneth Morgan, superintendent of the Tennessee State Training and Agricultural School for Boys, was the speaker at chapel on November 16.

The speaker said that dealing with delinquent boys has pointed out to him what is wrong in American homes and society. He has learned from the questions the boys ask him the chief reasons for delinquency in youth.

"Parents do not sense the responsibility of parenthood," he said. "The child who grows up in a home where he does not hear the prayers of his parents at daily devotions, where he does not learn to love and reverence God, has nothing to fall back upon when shadows, troubles, and disappointments come." He emphasized strongly the heritage of the child who receives a religious training in the home.

Professor Morgan and his father before him have given their lives to young people, in their work as teachers. Before he began working with delinquent boys, Professor Morgan finished a term of service of 31 years as teacher and headmaster of the Morgan Preparatory School for Boys, at Petersburg, Tennessee.

PEACOCK ATTENDS WORKSHOP

Mr. Ivan Peacock, head of the Physical Therapy Department, attended a workshop for physical therapists, held in Chicago from November 15-19. Physiotherapists from all parts of the country met to demonstrate the latest methods of setting up and operating Physical Therapy Departments.

On their way back to the Simla Sanitarium and Hospital, in north-west India, Doctors I. R. and Sarah Bazliel and young son Gulraiz stopped to spend the week end at Madison College.

While here in the United States the doctors have been doing post-graduate work at the Mayo Clinic and also at the White Memorial Hospital.

On the Sabbath during the Sabbath school hour Dr. Bazliel gave information regarding the work in India in the senior division, besides talking to the young people in the youth's division and the children in the primary division. He also talked at the eleven o'clock hour.

Dr. Bazliel began his career as a doctor in the Indian army. After accepting the Seventh-day Adventist faith, about nine years ago, he connected with denominational mission hospitals, being the superintendent of the Simla Hospital when he left India.

He is not only an excellent surgeon, but a sturdy Himalayan Mountain climber. Those who heard him speak know he has a keen sense of humor.

Dr. Sarah, who is the mother of three lively boys, also fills an important place in the work at the hospital.

"We like America very much," say the Doctors Bazliel, "but we are getting homesick for our homeland and long to see our two older sons. We have greatly enjoyed our visit to Madison College."

We Give Thee Thanks

Thanksgiving is here again, a joyous, festive occasion, a time of happy gathering of relatives and friends, the season of completed harvests and bounteous feasts. Could there be a finer thing than Thanksgiving? The theme of this annual event is noble and its purposes most worthy.

No day passes without its blessing, but on Thanksgiving we have the accumulated blessings of the year. We do have much for which to be thankful. We have life. We have a degree of health—most of us have a good degree. We have homes, friends, and hopes.

So, fellow-student, let us be thankful for all with which our Maker has provided us. hm

Gish Speaks To Men's Club

Dr. Ira Gish, clinical psychologist for the Madison Sanitarium and Hospital, in his talk at the Wasiota Club last week, explained that God has allowed Satan to develop abnormalities in both plants and animals to produce the evil and undesirable varieties that exist today.

"Through the work of Luther Burbank in producing thousands of different kinds of plants and flowers, much light has been thrown on what Satan has done and how he has done it, in producing poisonous plants and thistles," said Dr. Gish.

The speaker pointed out that thistles and thorns and poisonous plants, carnivorous beasts of prey and scavengers, pests among the insects, and even the deadly germs are a result of Satan's amalgamation of abnormal characteristics, due to sin in the first place.

Dr. Gish believes, with Dr. Frank Marsh, author of Studies in Creationism, that all the different breeds of men now on earth have arisen from one type of man through the processes of mutation, which have given rise to different races, sizes, features, temperaments, and degrees of intelligence.

He called attention to the accomplishments of modern plant and animal breeding stations in producing new strains, many of them greatly increased in reproductive powers, which furnish a glimpse of the very thing that Satan has been doing in nature for thousands of years.

Down on the Farm

Compost heaps for organic gardening are in the making down on the farm. Twenty loads of manure and straw, hauled from the fairgrounds, have added materially to the barnyard supply, Mr. Culpepper reports.

Gerardo Barón and Wilbur Reich, in charge of the gardens, have been sowing cover crops and putting mulch on the strawberry beds.

Corn-husking has just been finished. The 800 bushels of corn, together with the 2400-bushel crop of oats, will be ground for feed for the dairy herd. In addition to this, the lucky cows will munch on 150 tons of silage and 125 tons of hay this winter—all from the farm.

Mr. Cantrell also says that he has recently completed the fall seeding of barley and oats.

The 40 cows are still producing 115 gallons of milk a day, thanks to the plentiful pasture of ladino clover and fescue grass.

Mr. Stearns, who took over the poultry department this fall, plans to get 500 baby chicks early in December and more in March and April. The December chicks will be in good production in midsummer, at a time when egg production is down.

Egg production is up at present—700 eggs daily from 1000 hens. The department did $1000 worth of business last month.

Al Scheresky, Tom Brown, and Charles Lucas are the students in charge of the poultry.

ELDON VICKERS

Once again I have come face to face with the writing of another column of Whispers.

Bill Graves seems to be doing quite a bit of blushing lately. Or maybe it's just a reflection of the pink clothes he received at the surprise party given for him at the Zeiglers' home Saturday night, October 30.

I was wondering the other day why the big smile on Bob Lawry's face. Well, I found out when I saw the watch Pat was wearing. Congratulations to both of you.

Room number two in Upstairs Assembly Hall seems to be the scene of many a water fight. The latest one was between Alfred Durham and Bill Grover.

Calling Jan Rushing down at the Court. I received the startling information that mischief is being carried on down there. Harry "Tiny" Bowden, our six-foot-four, two-hundred-pound schoolmate, crashed into a short-sheeted bed. We hope that it doesn't happen again very soon, because it might not be healthy for someone if Tiny finds out who did it.

The newest fad down at Men's Court is pets. The latest occupants are two white rats. The owners? Don Blewett and Walter Konstanzer.

We hope that Ernest Plata enjoyed his week-end vacation in North Carolina. But I guess he was ready to come back. The first question he asked was, "Is my girl out of the hospital yet?"

Auf Wiedersehen

The Picture of Christ

BY MYRLE E. TABLER

They come by the two's and three's
Yes, a hundred youth and more—
A vital stream that flows
In through the chapel door.

That beautiful face of Christ,
With its purest glance benign,
Like music seems to say:
"Give Me this heart of thine.

"I give for thine own, My joy,
Strength for the challenging day;
A light for heathen souls
Seeking the heavenly way."

They take the dear Lord with them
To many a lonely shore—
That vital stream that flows
Out from the chapel door.

Excuse, Please

The editors apologize for omitting several lines of the Harvest Ingathering article in the last MADISONIAN. The omitted lines stated that Wenonah Ramsey and Joe Hobbs received tokens of appreciation for being the two top solicitors of field day, and also that 14 solicitors reached the minute-man goal of $21.42 each.

Blue Notes

EDNA THORNTON

When gaudy Madame Fall came to Tennessee not long ago, Old Man Winter wasn't very far behind her. She barely had time to wave her magic wand changing the hillsides and valleys into a mass of flaming color when snow came tumbling down on the not-yet-naked trees.

We were very much aware of Lady Fall's visit on a recent Sabbath morning as we drove north into Kentucky with Brother and Sister Face, who were going "home" to the Bowling Green church where Brother Face spoke on his favorite subject—temperance. The instrumental trio—Professor and Mrs. Mitzelfelt and yours truly—had been invited to present some musical numbers during the service.

As we traveled along, each turn in the road opened new vistas of beauty to our wondering eyes. Bright red, golden yellow, russet brown, bronzy orange, and yellow green—all splashed together through the woods and hedge-rows—brought exclamations of delight from our lips. We could not have kept silent in the face of such awe-inspiring beauty. Never have we seen Tennessee more beautiful!

Already the spirit of Christmas is in the air. Know how we can tell? Why, the choir is working on a program of Christmas anthems and carols to be presented on December 18, just before many students leave the campus to spend the holiday season at home. My, we didn't realize that Christmas was so near until we started writing about it.

Perhaps we shouldn't mention this, but Professor Mitzelfelt has been described as "an excellent 'math' teacher gone astray in the field of music." Take it easy now, students; don't hurry down to the Music Department for help with those hard "math" problems!

Delta Nu Zeta

LILLIAN AZEVEDO

Column time has rolled around again. There is so much going on, I believe we could cover the issue with news, but we won't.

Evidently some of the girls aren't getting enough exercise. I just can't figure out why anyone would want to jump from the second floor. It all sounds "weird" to me, but I'm sure they won't try it again; at least they'll try not to get caught.

The girls in 303 seem to be having all the bad luck. They lost their goldfishes not too long ago and recently they adopted a cocker-spaniel which passed away after not too long a stay. He was but a few days old. They were heart-broken, and only the other day I heard Helen Pearson say to a little dog who came her way, "You're cute but 'Liberace' would have been the cutest." You guessed it; we have Liberace fans here as well as everywhere.

"Thanksgiving" was the theme of our Delta Nu Zeta meeting. Mrs. Coon was our special guest.

Madame X gave an excellent account of the "goings on" in the dorm. I thought you would be interested, so here it is in print about the "Pot Luck Supper."

The other day La Veta Herber went out to visit the Graves, and when she came back she found Clarine Kenaston waiting for her in the kitchenette with a Plata of Vickers Hodgeberries. Peggy Dillard had Cook-ed them. About that time Lillian Azevedo came with some Cul-peppers. On second thought they weren't so cool. Jo Ann Gibbons could hardly carry her Dur-ham that Bernice Gober had Brown-ed, and so Alice Parsons brought the Mason to help her. Bob Lawry couldn't come because he had a Payne, and when Laurie Meyer stopped to get him he brought Moore, and Bob had so hoped he could at least have a Schnell of the good food. Stanley Rudisaile came late because he was trying to find Carole's Blood-worth and the lab wouldn't do him Justus. Pat's reason was: McCarter broke. Mary Doneskey brought the drinks since a nice cool spring Floyd right near her home. Peggy and Bill brought some Cook-ies, and to top it all was Zerbee's honey. But nobody did Dyer get sick. Ask Vivian Thompson; she'll say it's Wright.

Any resemblance to names of any persons living or dead is purely unaccidental.

For Better or Worse

TOMMY MINO

Most of the married students were in the Demonstration Building gymnasium for a tacky party on Thursday evening, November 4. The costumes were varied and showed ingenuity on the part of the designers. They ranged all the way from the children's animal costumes to colorful costumes of other lands.

Included in the program for the evening were a march, or parade of costumes, readings and vocal selections by appropriately costumed performers, skits, and a question-and-answer period conducted by the sponsor of the club, Dean Sandborn. Two accordion solos by little Patty Chu, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Caleb Chu, delighted the audience.

Four judges decided on the best costumes and awarded first and second prizes, suckers, to Patricia Gill and Paul Lucas, respectively.

Before going home, everyone was invited to share in eating the crackers, nuts, cocoa, and other refreshments, which all had helped to provide by bringing a little bit with them.

Let's Get Acquainted

PEGGY DILLARD

Born in Nashville, not far from here, on May 1, 1934, Peggy Dillard has lived most of her life in the region of Nashville. Peggy is a sophomore nurse; although she has not received her cap yet, she hopes to get it in January.

Peggy took her pre-nursing at Southern Missionary College, where she was active in all phases of school life. She was president of the Women's Forum, a member of the Student Council, secretary of the Ushers' Club, vice-president of the Pre-nursing Club, member of the college band—to mention a few of her activities.

Her favorite sports are swimming and tennis. Her hobbies are scrapbooks and pictures.

Peggy is a fine Christian girl, with an outstanding personality and many excellent qualities. She is already well liked, and we are glad she will be here for several years. Get acquainted with her; she is a girl worth knowing.

When asked whether she was enjoying nursing, she said enthusiastically, "I love it! I can't think of anything else I'd rather do."

Alumni Alohas

OLIVE CRUICKSHANK

Albert and Rachel Kephert, of Modesto, California, come to the "alma mater" to strengthen our nursing staff in Parkview and North Hall, respectively. Their many friends give them a hearty welcome.

On November 3 Dick and Nelda Fay Vest Ackerman presented Michael, their second son, to Mr. and Mrs. Vest, the proud grandparents. The Vests were accident victims of several weeks ago. Mrs. Vest receiving very serious injuries. Grandma Jennie, particularly, will really want to celebrate when she is able to give her new grandson her own special brand of T.L.C. (for laymen—tender, loving care). Hurry, you all, and get well quickly. Mikey's waiting, hear?

Jean Witt Harris, who spent a week end at the San recently after a traffic accident, was also a guest of the Walter Wilsons for a few days. We are glad to report that she has fully recovered and is back at work in the office of her husband, Dr. Lester Harris, of Nashville.

Leon Gray, B.S., '53, and Catherine Gray announce the arrival of Bonnie Gail, born Sabbath, November 13. Mr. Gray is connected with the Agriculture Department of the college and Mrs. Gray is a former fifth and sixth grade teacher in the Elementary School and dean of girls at Gotzian Home in 1953-54.

The Way the Wind Blows

● The Micro-Gamma Club, composed of X-ray and lab students, met recently to plan for a club outing. The Sycamore Lodge, at Shelby Park, has been reserved for December 2. Eugene Watkins, president, appointed a committee of three—Bill Summerton and Mickey and Marinell Rabuka—to arrange details of the trip.

Two new members—Ed Hurt, lab, and Mary Doneskey, X-ray—are awaiting with some forebodings their official welcome into the club.

● Under the direction of Fire Chief Harold Keplinger, the Madison College Fire Department presented a program at joint worship on November 10. Following two films illustrating common fire hazards, Mr. Keplinger pointed out the location of the fire escapes on the dormitories and gave instruction on how to use them.

★ "Who's been tampering with my bones?" So Mr. Zeigler wondered the evening before the P. and A. test on "bones" as he was looking over his models. A few simply couldn't be found.

The mystery was out the next day. As he was distributing the test questions, he happened to glance up at the screen in front. There, above the screen, a skull and crossbones met his gaze, waiting to brighten the P. and A. test for those struggling, hopeful pre-nursing students.

● Psychology, pediatrics, cardiac cases, anesthesia are only a few of the subjects the Medical Record Library proudly displays in its "new book" section.

● Three print shop men celebrated birthdays recently. Bill Graves was given his surprise party on October 30, and on November 12 Bob Silver and Donald Blewett celebrated their birthdays together. Then on November 16 Donald treated the shop workers to a big birthday cake that his mother had sent him.

★ That was a narrow escape for Mary Kay Emser the other morning. You see, she went to work up at Parkview wearing just an ordinary dress instead of her uniform. "Didn't have time to press it," she explained. When ready to leave, she asked one of the new nurses to let her out. But the nurse didn't let her out—only looked at her suspiciously. Finally a nurse who knew Mary came to the rescue. "Oh, I thought she was a patient," the new nurse gasped.

● Christmas cards, popcorn—for sale by the Nursing Club, trying to build up the club treasury. Under the leadership of its president, Emmett Pierce, the club is coming back to life. Plans are being laid for pictures at the next bi-monthly meeting.

● Senior nurses made two field trips last week, visiting the Public Health Department in Nashville and Cloverbottom, a home for feeble-minded children, at Donelson, Tennessee.

★ "Bones" are making some people desperate. Doris Powell was overheard saying, "This is the first time I ever wished I had a skeleton in my room."

Are We Thankful?

The school days are flying by, and here it is, the end of the second six weeks, and Thanksgiving upon us.

As we think over the past year, we realize how innumerable are the things we have to be thankful for.

We often gripe and complain about things such as long assignments or frequent tests. Maybe we don't agree with something a teacher said or did. But just think—what if you were in a place or situation that kept you from attending a Christian school. Also, there are many who never have the opportunity to attend any school.

So, from now on, when we are prone to complain or gripe about things, let's count our blessings, and say something good instead of bad. lm

Academy Juniors Organize

The high school students were greeted by an entirely different kind of sign on the bulletin board on November 8. It read, JUNIOR CLASS MEETING, ROOM 203. Then it was that everyone knew that the juniors at long last were about to organize.

The juniors feel deeply honored to have as their sponsor Professor Wilson. They had begun to think that he was a permanent fixture as sponsor of the Senior Class.

They elected Stanley Sedlar as their sergeant-at-arms, and being the big man that he is, he will do a good job, they know.

Gene Furgeson will do a good job as class pastor, and Trannie Woodson will do just as good a job as secretary.

In order that the class may be in good hands, they elected Barbara Busch as class treasurer.

Then they needed someone to do all the work for the president, so elected Sue Holliman as vice-president, and everybody knows she will make a good one.

Well, that about sums it up—oh, they did elect a president, and all hope that David Harter will do as good a job as some that have preceded him.

November Birthdays

The HI-SCHOOL HI-LITES Staff wishes a "Happy Birthday" to the following on their birthdays:

Chemistry Class Visits Oak Ridge

Twenty-six chemistry enthusiasts in four well-loaded cars were on their merry way Monday, November 15. Their destination? Oak Ridge, Tennessee, to see the museum of the Atomic Plant there.

The guided tour through the museum started at one o'clock with a motion picture depicting the adventures of science with nuclear fission, which finally led to the first bomb test in New Mexico. Another film helped to understand the process carried on at the plant.

The guide then showed replicas of the complicated machinery used to separate Uranium 235 from Uranium 238. He also had a replica of the atomic sub, which General Electric is testing now.

At one point of the tour, Barbara Busch seemed horrified about something, because her hair was standing straight up. Maybe it was the thousands of volts of electricity that ran through her.

After the tour was complete, each one felt as if the chemistry course was but a first grade adventure compared with what the class had heard and seen.

Several students in the group had never been to a Madison unit; so the class went to the Little Creek School and Sanitarium, where they were received heartily and taken through the buildings.

SENIOR SKETCHES

SHIRLEY HUDSON

On September 23, 1935, at Old Hickory, Shirley Holliman was welcomed into the world. Shirley moved from Old Hickory in 1948, when she came to be with us here at Madison.

In the summer of 1954, Shirley became Mrs. Shirley Hudson, and since then she has been busy making a new home for herself and her husband, Horace.

Shirley likes to cook, but dislikes to wash dishes. Her hobby is playing the piano, at which she is quite talented.

Her ambition after finishing high school this year is to be a good housewife. I am sure our secretary of the senior class will be a success in whatever she undertakes.

AUBREY THOMPSON

Aubrey Thompson, treasurer of the senior class, comes from Manteca, California. He was born on November 24, 1935, in Hibbing, Minnesota.

His grade school years were spent in our church schools, and for his first two years of high school he chose Lodi Academy, in California. In his junior year he came to Madison, where he served as president of the junior class.

Aubrey likes to drive, and among his hobbies are stamp collecting and building models of airplanes and cars.

We are sure that Aubrey will be a success in the lifework which he has chosen, being a foreign missionary.

Mr. Straw was in the midst of a band practice when they arrived. The band played a number especially for them.

Though the day had been a long one, and all were tired, it was a happy group that reached Madison at 9:45. They felt refreshed in mind and were thankful for a safe educational field trip.

Village Clatter

The village girls and their guests met at Linda Pitman's home on Saturday night, November 13. From all the laughter, it wasn't hard to believe that they were having a good time.

A game of Truth or Consequences was played, with Linda and Vern pronouncing the judgments. The most thrifty punishment was the free special deluxe ice cream shampoo that David Harter and Sue Holliman gave each other while feeding each other blindfolded.

The evening was topped off with the Girls' Club special menu of doughnuts, punch, potato chips, mints, and nuts. Why couldn't the food committee eat their share of doughnuts? Why did they run out of doughnuts?

After thanking Dr. Pitman for the good time, at 7:30 all went to the Assembly Hall to see the picture "Ginger," which made the evening end just right.
