

THE

MADISONIAN

Vol. 3

Madison College, Tennessee, May 12, 1955

No. 9

School Picnics At Shelby Park

The weatherman furnished an ideal day for the annual school picnic which was held on May 9 at Shelby Park.

Most of the students left early in order to have as long a day as possible and soon after arrival had organized several ball teams. Theo Williams umpired one game and across the park an all-girls' game was in progress at the same time, umpired by Billy Wilson.

When Mrs. Wilson and the kitchen gang arrived with all the good food for dinner, eating became the chief concern of everybody.

During the afternoon there were soft-ball, tennis, croquet, and other games. The college-academy baseball game was the major event of the afternoon, the honors going to the academy players. Both teams had a good workout, and players and spectators were ready to put away the delicious supper prepared after the game.

Later in the evening, after the picnickers had returned to the campus, a film, "Little Men," was shown at the Assembly Hall.

Former Madisonites Receive Internships

According to the Student Movement (Emmanuel Missionary College), Phyllis Brown and Luz Journet, two of the four seniors in dietetics at Emmanuel Missionary College and former Madison dietetics students, have received their internship acceptances. They had to compete with applicants from the entire United States for the few internships offered.

Phyllis Brown was accepted at the Iowa University Hospital in Iowa City, where she has been granted a fellowship, in recognition of her service.

(Continued on page 3)

Five students dashed from the classroom and took the stairs three at a time while the closing bell was still ringing. They raced wildly eastward, ignoring sidewalks, other pedestrians, and the safety of their own hearts.

It must have been a fire, or worse. But it wasn't a fire—it was better, very much better. It was boys' period at the swimming pool.

Despite unseasonal coolness, the pool is rapidly taking its place as the most popular spot on the campus. As long as swimming weather lasts, each day except Sabbath is divided into three swim periods—the girls, the boys, and the family hours. It is good relaxation, it is good exercise, it has safety value, and it is great fun.

La Veta Herber lines up on the horsehide sphere.

College Host to 92 Seniors College Day

Ninety-two visiting academy seniors made Sunday and Monday, May 1 and 2, notable days on the Madison campus.

Sunday night the faculty sat for inspection for the visitors. Every department was briefly presented as Dean Sandborn introduced them one by one. This meeting was preceded by a thirty-minute concert by the Madison College Band.

Monday morning the entire group were taken to the Hermitage, historic home of former President Andrew Jackson.

Mother Nature favored the occasion with a warm afternoon, and the visitors had opportunity to swim in the new glazed tile swimming pool—the first plunge of the year.

Monday night was the high mark of the visit. The college choir gave a twenty-minute opening recital. Then the visiting academies displayed their talents in a most inspiring program. Four academies presented their music and readings in their turn. The home academy and Highland did not participate.

First came Fletcher. The double duet of girls sang "The Desert Song." Don Pennington recited "Foolish Question," and then the

(Continued on page 3)

Juniors Fete Senior Class At Annual Banquet

Eye-Witness Tells Of Atomic Blast

Mr. Clyde Howard, First Aid instructor of the American Red Cross, chapel speaker on May 10, gave an eye-witness account of the atomic detonation at Yucca Flats.

Mr. Howard, who was in the observation group which was situated seven miles from ground zero, told of the special opaque goggles given them, through which, though nothing could be seen in broad daylight, the flash seemed several times brighter than the sun.

Approximately 15 seconds after the flash, the shock wave reached them, breaking windows in the bus seven miles from ground zero and also as far away as Las Vegas, 95 miles from Yucca Flats. The shock wave was also felt in Los Angeles, 265 miles distant.

In "Doom City," so named because the A.E.C. wanted to see if there was any chance of survival at the 4700-foot mark, buildings of ordinary brick and frame were demolished; however Mr. Howard said there was a chance that people could have survived at this distance if they had been in a proper type of shelter.

Mr. Howard observed that dark clothing worn by the mannequins scorched and burned, whereas light-colored clothing did not burn.

"Burn injuries, flying missiles, and wounds are our chief concern," Mr. Howard said. "Radiation is not important."

His closing statement may well be noted: "People will have to care for themselves in case of atomic attack; therefore what we learn to do in an emergency is of utmost importance."

The annual junior-senior banquet was held at the Maple Motel banquet room, at 7:30 p.m. May 4.

In the absence of President Imogene Meeks, Vice-president Bob Register took over, welcoming the seniors and introducing the master of ceremonies for the evening—Mr. William Wilson.

Elder Charles Edwards, pastor of the Madison Boulevard church, and Billy Burks, former student here, provided the entertainment for the evening. Elder Edwards gave several readings and Billy Burks played several pieces on his accordion.

Dean Sandborn and President Jaspersen both expressed appreciation of the fine spirit among the juniors and seniors of Madison College.

The evening's program ended shortly after ten o'clock.

Freshman Class Takes Trip

The Freshman Class of Madison College recently decided to take a day off from classes, work, and any and all other responsibilities and enjoy themselves. So plans were made to spend all day Thursday, April 28, at Fall Creek Falls. The class left at 4:00 a.m. that morning.

Upon reaching their destination, they cooked and ate breakfast, after which the freshmen split up into groups which were interested in doing the same thing.

Hiking, swimming, baseball, croquet, and "just plain old laziness" were all enjoyed by the class.

Dinner and supper were also cooked and eaten outdoors. The class returned late that evening.

Librarians Attend Convention

Mr. Edward Collins, librarian, and Miss Mary Kate Gafford, assistant librarian, attended the annual meeting of the Tennessee Library Association in Chattanooga April 21-23. They report profitable meetings and interesting exhibits. Mrs. Collins, who accompanied them, visited with relatives in Chattanooga and with friends at Collegedale, where they all stayed over Sabbath.

Official Publication of the ASSOCIATED STUDENTS OF
MADISON COLLEGE

Editor Harry Mayden
Associate Editors JoAnn Gibbons,
Mary Ellen Eaves

Editorial Adviser Miss Elizabeth Cowdrick
Reporters Lillian Azevedo, Bessie
Burnett, Edna Thornton, Henry Burchard, Bob Pierson, Clarine Kenaston, English Classes.

Business Manager Pat Gill
Typists Grace Mizerski, Elaine
Culpepper, Marilyn Campbell, Naomi Henson.

Published semi-monthly during the fall, winter and spring quarters, and monthly during the summer quarter, by the Associated Students of Madison College, Madison College, Tennessee. Subscription price $1.00 per year.
Entered as second class matter May 29, 1953, at the Post Office at Madison
College, Tennessee.

PRINTED BY THE RURAL PRESS

Page 2 • May 12, 1955

Gotzian Gossip

BESSIE BURNETT

We are happy to report that little Tina Ashlock, who with her mother was seriously injured in a car accident, has progressed so satisfactorily that the cast has been removed from her leg. You will soon be able to run and play again, Tina. We have missed your calling us to the telephone and telling us exactly who was calling before we could have time to guess.

Have you noticed how happy Ruby Sykes is these days? Which gives you the bigger thrill, Ruby—those air mail letters or the voice of the operator when she says, "Long Distance, Washington, D.C., calling"?

We were all proud of the way Madison College shone when the academy seniors came to visit us. Let's keep it looking that way. If each one will watch himself and be sure he is not guilty of carelessly dropping paper about, it won't be any trick at all to keep our buildings and grounds looking "super-duper" all the time.

If everyone gets as much pure pleasure out of his birthday as I have mine this year, he will certainly enjoy it. It isn't everyone's birthday or even every birthday that one has that is a school holiday—with classes dismissed and the whole school taking a holiday. Thank you, each one who sent a personal birthday greeting to me. They were all appreciated, and—well—thank you all.

Mrs. Moak was made happy on Mother's Day by a visit from her son.

Blue Notes

EDNA THORNTON

Lest you think that musicians are unable to do anything but make music, let us set your mind at rest. Last Friday afternoon we saw two girls clad in blue jeans on their way to help Professor Mitselfelt plant his garden. Thus far we haven't learned how well they succeeded, but we're sure that their proffered assistance was appreciated by the busy professor. The young lady gardeners were

(Continued on page 3)

STARCH and STRIPES

VELMA MIDGHALL, R.N.

Nashville a Medical Teaching Center

Nashville, the Athens of the South, the Capital of Tennessee, is a teaching center for her residents and suburban dwellers as well as for out-of-state and foreign students. Madison School of Nursing is happy to share the opportunities offered by Nashville's numerous educational centers, community health and welfare agencies, and government departments.

During the spring quarter, the American Medical Association's Conference at War Memorial Auditorium opened its doors to professional nursing students for its Obstetrical and Gynecological Forum. Among the noted speakers were Dr. Howard Taylor, president of the American Cancer Society, Dr. John C. Weed of Tulane University School of Medicine, New Orleans, and Dr. Frank Whittaker of Vanderbilt. Many of our sophomore, junior, and senior nurses availed themselves of this splendid opportunity.

Pen Pals Welcome

A postal just arrived from Senior Nurse Muriel Durham, who is on affiliation at the Children's Hospital in Cincinnati, Ohio:

"We are getting along nicely here and are having fun. I have been working in the Infants' Division, and now I have started on 4-East (surgical floor). The time seems to be really flying.

"Today is really a pretty day. All the trees are getting green again. Everyone is trying to get a suntan.

"Dorothy, Elsie, and Faye send their love. Please give our love to everyone."

"Muriel."

(It wouldn't disappoint these four nurses a bit if we would drop a "letter shower" on them. Address: Madison Hospital Nurses, Vincent Hall, Elland Avenue, Cincinnati 29, Ohio.

Memphis Nursing Conference

Beautiful Tennessee—home of our Alma Mater—a state just running over with gentle rolling hills, lovely forested areas, winding highways, lush green valleys, and folk with hearty hospitality! What a grand "refresher course" from nature to have, during these sunny spring days.

Such is the introductory report from our three supervisors—Mrs. Vaughn, Mrs. Duran, and "Yours truly"—as they arrived from down Memphis-way.

The main report concerns the three-day conference on Team Nursing sponsored by the University of Tennessee School of Nursing at University Center. (Incidentally, we never saw so many different hospitals within the radius of a few blocks before.)

Lovely Miss Quarmbly, of Montreal, Canada (now instructor in Nursing Education at Columbia University in New York), was the moderator as well as guest speaker. There were many opportunities to learn, new ideas to incorporate from "team nursing" via films, skits, symposiums, round-table discussions, and lectures. Each day's summary of highlights was presented by ANA officer, Miss Mary Elizabeth Dunn, of Nashville.

The more conventions and nursing conferences our supervisors and instructors attend, the more they see that our school is now more ahead of the trends than behind! When we consider and ever remind ourselves of our heritage and our world commission, why shouldn't we claim the promise:

"No good thing will the Lord withhold from them that walk uprightly. Blessed is the man that trusteth in Thee." Ps. 84:11, 12.

NLN Delegates Report

Mrs. Clapp and Mrs. Zeigler, director and assistant director of nurses, respectively, report a pleasant and profitable time spent at the National League for Nursing Convention, held at St. Louis, Missouri. There were more than 4500 in attendance. It was awe-inspiring, they say, to see the 1900 student nurses from nursing schools all over the United States, all in their own uniforms.

Just who was Madison's lucky student delegate? One of our quiet, dignified "All American" junior nurses—Miss Imogene Meeks.

Another Atomic Explosion?

Bang! Whoosh! (and Ouch!) North Hall's medicine room was the scene of spontaneous combustion, but it wasn't any experiment—or research!

Student Nurse La Veta Herber's early morning composure (and her neatly starched uniform) was suddenly disrupted as she found herself in the line of fire. Well, settle your nerves, clean up the foamy, white mess from walls, tables, drapes and floor, return to the dormitory for a fresh uniform, and make a dash back to duty!

Consultation with "Captain" T. Mino, who investigated the scene of action, reveals the source to be—a patient's bottle of mouthwash!

A Namesake

Althea Turnbull, sophomore nurse, has really become competent in her obstetrical techniques. As a token of her efficiency and sympathetic care, she has a namesake, the cutest little colored gal you ever saw!

SHAVES — HAIRCUTS

PENNY'S

BARBER SHOP

Madison, Tenn.

Shoe Shines — Shampoos

Let's Get Acquainted

Three years ago Nellie Green left the rolling plains of Indiana to come to Madison College. She left a good position as licensed practical nurse at the Tuberculosis Sanatorium in Ft. Wayne to spend four years in study preparing herself to become a professional nurse. And a nurse she is—heart, soul, and body.

Nellie Green

She was one of a large family of children who, because their father became very ill and the mother was unable to support them, was placed in an orphanage, where she grew into early adolescence.

When she left the orphanage, it was to work as a household maid in the home of a lawyer, where she lived and worked for her room and board while she attended high school.

While still a young girl her health failed and she spent several years in a Tuberculosis Sanatorium. After the disease was arrested, she started working as an aide in the hospital, where she liked nursing so well and did so well at it that ere long she was an L.P.N.

During the time she worked here, she one day received through the mail the first lesson of the Voice of Prophecy Bible Correspondence Course. To this day she has no idea who sent her name in. Always interested in the Bible, she eagerly began this systematic study, accepting all she learned, including the Sabbath.

Upon inquiry, she learned where the Seventh-day Adventist church in Ft. Wayne was located and began attending. The end of the story is that before long she was baptized and became a member of the church.

When Miss Green finishes her course at Madison next year, she plans to help her fellow-classmate, Mrs. Julia Grow, establish a Seventh-day Adventist school for blind children.

As a student nurse, she is held in the highest regard by her instructors and classmates. Though quiet and unassuming, she is cheerful, friendly, and helpful to all. She maintains an enviable scholastic record, not by chance, but because of faithful application to her work.

Her teachers and supervisors describe her as persistent, steady, and thorough, always thinking through a thing before she does it. Whatever she does, she does well, they say.

A supervisor remarked: "It is when she is with her patients that her personality begins to shine. She is kind, thoughtful, and understanding in her contacts with them. Patients feel secure in her care."

Transfers

Speaking of all-around good supervisors, Mrs. Arellano has just transferred from the medical floor to the obstetrical, and Mrs. Brownlee from obstetrical to the operating room to fill a vacancy.

Varied Courses Offered During Summer

Madison College is again offering a wide variety of courses during the regular summer quarter. In addition to this session, the College announces three short inter-term sessions, during which a number of courses will be offered. Following is a calendar of the summer session, with courses to be given.

First Inter-Term Session

June 1-14

Hydrotherapy (3 hrs.), Evangelism (3 hrs.), Life Saving (1 hr.)

Second Inter-Term Session

June 15-28

Life Saving (1 hr.)

Summer Quarter

June 29-Sept. 2

Science

Nature Study, Physiological Chemistry, General Entomology, General Bacteriology, Phys. and Anatomy, Fund. of Chemistry, Qualitative Analysis, EKG & BMR, Serology.

Religion

Ancestry of the Bible, Essentials of Christianity, Hebrews and Non-Pauline Epistles, Lay Evangelism.

English

Upper Division Literature, English

Composition, Children's Literature, Business English.

Industrial Arts

Cabinet Work, Furniture Construction, Architectural Drafting, Auto Mechanics, Acetylene Welding, Arc Welding.

Social Studies

American Diplomacy, Rural Sociology.

Medical Terminology

Medical Records Office Procedures, Medical Records.

Music

Band & Orchestra Conducting, Choral Conducting, Chorus, Band

Business

Business Machines, Business Communications, Special Typing, Personal Typing.

Education

School & Community.

Psychology

Mental Hygiene.

Home Economics

Interior Decorating & Home Furnishing.

Nursing

Phys. Therapy, Hydrotherapy, Diet Therapy, Nutrition, Med. & Surg. II, Fund. of Nursing, Med. & Surg. IV, Pharmacology I, Int. to Medical Science.

Third Inter-Term Session

Sept. 4-16

Childhood Education (2 hrs.)

Scholarships

(Continued from page 1)

tion of the high quality of her work. In addition to an American Dietetics Membership, she will receive a Master's Degree in foods and nutrition at the completion of her work.

Luz Journet received an internship at the County Institutions, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Nydia Reyes, also a former Madison student, who finished her course at E.M.C. in January, is interning at the Cook County Hospital in Chicago.

Music Teacher Sings On "Faith for Today"

Dorothy Evans-Ackerman, of Madison's Music Department, formerly connected with Faith for Today, flew to New York City last week to sing in Faith for Today's Fifth Anniversary Program, on May 22. On this special program many who during the past five years have been connected with the program, appeared.

Blue Notes

(Continued from page 2)

Joyce Christensen and JoAnn Gibbons.

The Ladies' Trio is rapidly earning a new name—something like the Traveling Trio—for it is on the go quite regularly these days. The girls made a trip to Paris one weekend recently—Paris, Tennessee, that is. The Sertoma Club in Nashville was also favored by their recent appearance. The trio includes Patricia Silver, Eulene Borton, JoAnn Gibbons, and their accompanist, Joyce Christensen.

In spite of the rainy weather, the A Cappella Choir presented

SCHOLARSHIPS

Madison College
OFFERS

$400 Scholarships

for Beginning College Freshmen in the following fields:

Agriculture, Industrial Education, Nutrition & Home Economics, Secretarial Science, Teacher Training, Music Education, Religious Education, Science.

The awarding of all scholarships will be based on the following: Character, Scholarship, Ultimate Objective, Industry, Need, S.D.A. in Good Standing.

A scholarship combined with Madison's work opportunities should enable a resourceful and energetic student, carrying a reasonable class load, to meet his college expenses.

Do not delay, write today. The number of scholarships is limited and awards will be made early.

WRITE TO

OFFICE OF THE DEAN

Madison College, Tennessee

its program at the Bordeaux Church on Friday night, April 22, as planned. The previous Friday night the small choir known as the Chorale Singers gave a sacred program in the new S.D.A. church at Woodbury, Tennessee. So you see that belonging to music organizations means TRAVELING, Traveling, traveling, something almost everyone likes to do.

Staff Physician Does Post-Graduate Work

Dr. Margaret E. Horsley, staff physician of Madison Sanitarium and Hospital, is taking a residency in the John Gaston Hospital at the University of Tennessee, in Memphis. Dr. Margaret is pursuing a two-year course in ophthalmology.

(Continued on page 4)

College Day

(Continued from page 1)

girls' trio sang an old song that features the utter futility of the dreams and vagaries of youth—the reader may have three guesses on the title of the song.

Hylandale Academy from far-away Wisconsin, though not many in number, "did themselves proud," as they say in the South. Elizabeth Greer recited "Opportunity" in very professional style. And Wilma Rothenbach played "Lady of Spain" with such gusto that the audience clamored for more. Whereupon she returned in encore—with an accordion, on which she performed with even greater alacrity.

The Little Creek School is noted for its music. Henry Vess sang "I Walk with God." Madison is looking forward to having his splendid voice on the campus next year. The girls' trio sang "Hear the Robin in the Rain" so effectively that all were surprised to see the stars shining when they went out. Stanford Straw played "March Slav" on his clarinet, and Henry Vess and his mother sang together "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked."

Pine Forest Academy presented two young ladies with queenly bearing and effectiveness. The talk by Joyce Skadsheim, "What I Am Seeking at Madison," will be hard to forget. It was a real challenge and revealed unusual vision for one so young.

Appropriately, the program was closed, both for Pine Forest Academy and for the entire performing group, by Lily Jane James' beautiful solo, Malotte's "The Lord's Prayer."

WATSON'S GRILL
and DARI-DELITE

Food for the Whole Family
Old Hickory, Tenn.

Juniors Hike, Swim, Boat at Park

The junior class, sponsored by Professor and Mrs. Ackerman, spent all day May 12 at Montgomery Bell State Park.

Arriving at the park, the juniors hurriedly changed to swimming suits and rented boats, where they were cautioned that there was to be no swimming as the life guards were not on duty yet. Well, as far as the ranger was concerned, there was no swimming, but if you were accidentally thrown into the water, well, that's another story.

Dinner came none too soon, and how good the food tasted. Those junior girls are really good cooks. Of course no one can forget Mrs. Ackerman's delicious potato salad.

Dinner over, back to the lake they went, exploring all the nooks and crannies of the bay. They even found the source of the lake, which they think is fed by several large springs.

Helen Pearson didn't prove too good at rowing, so Ernest Plata and Joe Schnell readily took her and Virginia Lewis and Frances Woolbright in tow and literally towed them all over the lake.

Several hours later a conference was held in the middle of the lake. Three boats participated; however this was broken up by a rainstorm.

Later that afternoon the juniors drove over to the main group camp, where there is a dining hall with a large fireplace in one end. A fire was kindled and supper started.

That evening the group sang old time songs and choruses while the fire crackled on the hearth.

When asked how a person could go riding, hiking, swimming, boating, picnicking, and do other various and sundry things all in one day, Martha Tinnon readily replied, "Why join the junior class of course; they know how."

Hold your horses

about buying a new car until you check the record high horsepower of the

1955 BUICK

See it today

GREATER NASHVILLE'S BUICK DEALERSHIP

Shackelford Buick Co.

Phone 2-4537

Gallatin Road at Due West Ave.

Hi-School Hi-Lites

Editor Lois Miller
Associate Editor David Harter
Reporters .. Floris Schoonard, Stanley Sedlar, Lois Gant, Elaine Culpepper, Irene Twiss, Aubrey Thompson, Linda Pitman, Barbara Busch, Ceylon Wright, Dorothy Cantrell

What Will You Do?

As the end of school approaches, seniors are faced with making the decision of what they are going to make of themselves. Ofttimes for many this is not an easy decision.

In this highly civilized country of ours, it is becoming increasingly important for a young person to have a college education to fit himself for a good paying vocation. Besides the higher pay, one with a college education may choose his vocation and be able to work at something he likes and which will be a benefit to humanity.

Whereas if one is not trained for the work of his choice, he may have to take any work he can find. Being able to do work that one enjoys leads to a happier frame of mind and to greater success.

Each senior should think these things over, and as graduation comes do all in his power to continue his education. LAM

Honor Roll

Tommy Arellano	Horace Hudson
Alvin Barham	Carol Hilgers
Lutherene Barnes	Douglas Kendall
Nellie Beard	Kenneth Kendall
Mildred Brooks	Evelyn Marshall
Emmanuel Cabrera	Lois Miller
Ross Clark	Richard Mitzelfelt
Elaine Culpepper	Herbert Slater
Bill Doneskey	Aubrey Thompson
Jean	Carol Thompson
Hollingsworth	Joyce Tomes
Winnifred	Irene Twiss
Hollingsworth	Rebecca Vaughn

May Birthdays

The Hi-SCHOOL Hi-LITES staff wishes a Happy May Birthday to the following:

- 14 Dorothy Cantrell
- 18 Dora Young
- 24 Eddie Smothermon
- 25 Elaine Culpepper
- 26 Larry Kelly

Juniors Entertain Seniors at Lake

On the morning of May 5, at a bright and sunny 5 a.m., the juniors and seniors gathered for their annual outing. Try as they might, the seniors failed to learn the destination.

After they had crossed the Kentucky line, they really began to wonder until they saw signs along the roadside marked "Kentucky Lake."

At 9:30 they arrived at the beautiful lake. Everyone headed for the ball field where the juniors played the seniors in a rousing game of soft-ball. The seniors have to admit that the juniors beat them, but only because the senior girls left to go swimming before the game was over.

The juniors served a delicious meal consisting of potato salad, baked beans, burgers, cake and ice cream. They also celebrated Elder Lorenz's birthday with a cake. (We never finished counting those candles, Elder Lorenz).

The afternoon was spent in boating and swimming; consequently all were rather sunburned and tired as they gathered for supper, but no one was too tired to eat the picnic supper which the juniors had prepared.

As the juniors and seniors prepared to leave, a hearty thank-you was given to the junior class for such a splendid day.

Seniors Spend Week End in Mountains

Hurried footsteps and excited voices shouting and laughing disturbed the evening quiet as the seniors quickly packed. They were excited, for Thursday all the class would leave for their trip to the Smoky Mountains. After dinner the three cars, driven by Mr. Keplinger, Mr. Morris, and Le Roy Borton left. The weather was beautiful all the way, and the ride was uneventful. Since everyone was sleepy, it wasn't long after the tents were pitched that the camp was quiet.

After a cold night, the breakfast of hot pancakes, Mr. Morris's specialty, was enjoyed to the utmost.

Several went on sightseeing tours Friday morning, while some stayed behind to watch camp, and they prepared dinner for the others. In the afternoon, the other group went. Perhaps everyone was extra hungry, or maybe food served out of doors tastes better; at any rate all enjoyed the food immensely.

Sabbath came and was greeted by songs around the camp fire, the sun having disappeared an hour or more before, behind the mountains.

Sabbath school and church had a perfect attendance record. Mr. Keplinger led Sabbath school, and Mr. Morris gave a talk entitled "How I Can Believe in God as a Scientist."

Sabbath afternoon passed quickly. Some hiked, some went up the river jumping from rock to rock. To find out the depth and temperature of the water, you might ask Lutherene and Elaine. It seemed that they wanted to do more than go from rock to rock . . . or did they want to?

As I visited Mr. Harold Keplinger, I found him working in the midst of the whirl of machines in the woodworking department, where he teaches both college and academy classes.

Mr. Harold Keplinger

Mr. Keplinger was born in Jasonville, Indiana. His high school days were spent at Indiana Academy. Southern Missionary is his college alma mater. He has been at Madison since August, 1951, and lives on the campus with his wife and two children.

He has taught classes in auto mechanics, woodworking, drafting, biology, algebra, and zoology. He enjoys his classes, especially those in which he works with figures, auto mechanics, and woodworking.

For two and one-half years he was in the Medical Corps in England, France, and Belgium, driving an ambulance. For six months he was a colonel's chauffeur.

With his wit and bright sense of humor, Mr. Keplinger has been a wonderful addition to our faculty, and as our sponsor has been "tops."

After supper Sabbath evening—and you might ask Herbert for the details of that supper—as the sun dropped behind the trees, strains of music drifted up through the trees and on to the gates of heaven. It seemed as if God was sitting among us at the fire side.

Several were still adventurous, and after some coaxing of the sponsors, went into Gatlinburg for more sightseeing.

"Do we have to leave so soon?" and "I'll be so glad for a good, soft, warm bed," were the mingled feelings of the seniors as they fell into their last night of slumber on the Smokies.

Homeward bound, a sadness filled each heart. All had enjoyed the trip so much that they hated to leave Chimney Camp.

Staff Physician

(Continued from page 3)

mology. Dr. George Horsley is maintaining his regular office hours with the exception of spending a part of the weekends with his family. Dr. O. W. Ramsey, resident physician of the Madison Sanitarium and Hospital for the past year, will take over Dr. Margaret's work and is now a staff member of the hospital.

Kornman's Dept. Store "Outfitters for the Entire Family"

We Carry Weatherbird and City Club Shoes

Nurses' Shoes of All Kinds

Phone Madison 7-6493

Mr. Leslie Morris

Mr. Leslie V. Morris was born in Elmira, New York. He graduated from high school in Athens, Pennsylvania, with high scholastic honors. From 1940-42 and 1945-49 he attended Madison College and received his B.S. degree from Peabody College in 1950 and his M.A. degree in 1953.

Mr. Morris has taught chemistry in the academy for five years and in the college has been, first, laboratory assistant, then assistant instructor, and now is the head of the Chemistry Department.

His hobbies include all phases of science, photography, stamp collecting, and aviation.

If you want to get on the wrong side of Mr. Morris, just be late to an appointment or prove yourself inefficient, as these are his dislikes.

Mr. Morris is a favorite with the students and has put himself and lots of spunk into his job as senior co-sponsor.

Subscribe Today to the ★ MADISONIAN ★

PRE-TESTED
Poll Parrot
SHOES FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

MADISON FAMILY BOOTERIE
Men's, Women's and Children's Shoes

LANNOM
Electric Company
APPLIANCE SALES—SERVICE
Frigidaire — Maytag
Speed Queen — Bendix
Admiral Emerson Motorola RCA
Guaranteed Used Appliances
for Sale or Rent
Washers and Refrigerators
Repaired
Madison — Phone 7-6706

MADISON SANITARIUM and HOSPITAL
MADISON COLLEGE, TENNESSEE

Surgery—
Maternity
Wing

Beautifully located on a 900-acre estate near Nashville; 218-bed capacity; X-ray and Clinical Laboratories; Hydrotherapy and Electrotherapy; Surgical, Obstetrical, Medical. Fully accredited by the National and State organizations. Approved for residencies and for nurses' training.

A Blue Cross Participating Hospital

WRIGHT

Drug Company

OUR CREED:
Accuracy, Not Speed
— WE DELIVER —

Phone 8-3462 Old Hickory, Tenn.