Dr. Sutherland Memorial To Be Erected

Teachers Take Advanced Study

Registration day at Peabody found five Madison College teachers registering for summer school work in their chosen fields: Mr. Keplinger, industrial education; Mr. Worth Lowder, business administration; Mrs. Pepper, secretarial; Mr. Thornton, science; Mrs. Sandborn, Education, Mr. Collins, library science. Mr. J. M. Ackerman, assistant dean of the College and personnel director, is also working at Peabody on his doctor's degree.

Mr. James Stearns, head of the Agriculture Department, is spending his second summer at the University of Tennessee, at Knoxville. Mrs. Felix Lorenz, Sr., is also in Knoxville nearing the completion of her work for her M.A. in Nutrition.

Several teachers will attend conventions during the month of August. Mrs. Clapp and Mrs. Zeigler, from the Nursing Department, and Mr. Leslie Morris, from the Science Department, will be delegates to a convention of Seventh-day Adventist teachers of science and nursing at Loveland, Colorado. Mr. William Wilson will be an officer at the Medical Cadet Corp Training.

Wedding Bells Replace Chapel Bells

Mixon-Stewart

In an unusual garden setting and Southern landscape background, painted by Mrs. Kathryn Bertram, Helen Funk Assembly Hall was the scene of the recent (June 10) wedding of Miss Velma Stewart and Mr. Lorin Mixon. Elder R. E. Stewart, father of the bride, performed the ceremony and attendants included members of both of the immediate families of the bride and groom. A number of other attendants led the procession in and were seated on the front row seats during the ceremony. Mrs. Howard Harter provided organ music for the service and soloists were Fay Mixon, Rose Norris, Edythe Cothren, and Bill Howard.

Gray-Rumley

Miss Yvonne Rumley, former employee of Madison Sanitarium and Hospital, and Mr. Lyle Gray, former student of Madison College, were united in marriage by Elder J. M. Ackerman on the evening of June 3, at the Ridgeway, Tennessee, Seventh-day Adventist church. The Grays will make their home at Ridgeway, where Mr. Gray will be a teacher in the church school there.

Tate-Hodges

In the college chapel on June 5, Miss Margaret Hodges, Madison College nursing student, became the bride of Mr. Herbert Tate, who is a business major at Madison College. Elder O. J. Mills, pastor of the college church, officiated at the wedding, and following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Dr. Naomi Pitman. Clyde Holland was the organist, and musical selections were given by Mrs. Dorothy Ackerman, Miss JoAnn Gibbons and Mr. Felix Lorenz, Jr.

Ashton-Justus

Previous Madison College students Patricia Justus and Thomas Ashton were married at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Bowen on June 3. The ceremony was performed by Elder D. F. Buck. The Ashtons are both laboratory technicians at the Nashville General Hospital.

Desmond-Martin

The marriage of former Madison College Academy graduate, Rachel Martin, Class of '54, and Rudolf Desmond, Jr., was solemnized by Elder R. R. Hegstad on June 3, at

Those who lived and worked closely with Dr. E. A. Sutherland will always remember the many fine qualifications and the forceful leadership that were so characteristic of his long and useful life. We are certain that his life and teaching will continue to influence us. It is true that though he no longer walks with us, yet in a very real sense his spirit is still with us.

However, we are aware of how quickly the days pass by. Already it has been a full year since he left us. Many who never had the privilege of knowing Dr. Sutherland personally will soon have a faded memory of what an inspiration he was to all with whom he came in contact.

It remains for us who knew him well to do all we can to keep before the many students and workers, who will continue to come to Madison for training or service, the principles on which this institution was founded. It seems fitting and appropriate, with this end in mind, to erect out of the stones that Dr. Sutherland walked over, a memorial which will stand as an expression of our regard for him, to keep before us the life and example of the founder of Madison College. Many will want to have a share in the building of this memorial.

ALUMNI NOTES

'55 Senior Whereabouts

In answer to numerous requests, the MADISONIAN is happy to compile and print this information of the '55 Senior Whereabouts.

Ina Bergman Haugen after serving as Dr. Schuler's office nurse, just recently took up a new job at the Veterans' Hospital in Nashville.

Charles Bessire was last known to be the medical technologist at a large clinic in Baytown, Texas. His wife Lilly, who finished X-ray here, is working in the X-ray Department there.

Alex and Elsie Brown are another couple of graduates who couldn't leave Madison, so continued training by taking Anesthesia. Elsie is still here and Alex is affiliating in Athens, Alabama.

Warren Butler is understood to be working at establishing a unit somewhere in the South.

Evelyn Byrd is doing an excellent job here at Madison as one of the supervisors on Surgical Wing. Her husband Edgar is chief technologist at Mid-State Baptist Hospital in Nashville.

Joyce Christensen has been teaching music at Maplewood Academy in Minnesota the past year, but is anticipating marriage and being on the music faculty here at Madison this coming September.

Myrtle Cox was last known to be nursing at Oneida Mountain Sanitarium, Oneida, Kentucky.

Louis Dickman is further preparing for his unit work by working on his M.A. at Peabody College, Nashville. Another of those book worms is Al Durham, who is continuing study preparing to enter laboratory training here at Madison. His sister, Muriel Durham, is doing a fine job in the Goodlettsville Clinic as Dr. Bowes and Dr. Bottsford's office nurse.

Mary Ellen Eaves Hopps is one of the operating room supervisors here at Madison. Her husband, Cecil, is in nurses' training.

Faye Egger was last known to be nursing at Miami, Florida.

Nancy Estey is nursing near Berrien Springs, Michigan, where her husband Ted is attending College.

Bill Grover, after working at Boulder, Sanitarium, and in Virginia, has finally settled down

Well, vacation days are here at last! For those fortunate Canadians, the stroking off of days on the calendar and counting the long hours, are over. Williams Hall is as quiet as a morgue with the majority of our sisters on vacation.

We wish to extend a welcome to Miss Cowdrick, who will be our Dean of Women for the month of June.

The parlor on Monday night before the close of school was the setting for a farewell party for our dean, Mrs. Sparks. After the gifts were open, everyone enjoyed root beer floats. We'll all miss Mrs. Sparks and wish her and Mr. Sparks happiness and success in their future work.

If you are wondering why this column sounds a little different from usual, the reason is that our columnist decided that she'd prefer married life to dormitory life. Our best wishes for a wonderful future, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Tate.

We are sorry to lose Ramona Scott from Williams Hall and Carol from Gotzian Home. Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Scott have come from Mobile, Alabama, to reside on the campus. Mr. Scott is head of the Maintenance and Construction Department.

Visiting us recently were Mrs. R. F. Whalley, from St. Louis, and her daughter Patricia, who is an R.N. from Modesto, California. Phyllis decided to bid farewell to Madison and her friends, since she has finished her course in Medical Records.

Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Stiles, from San Diego, California, have come to spend some time with Joline.

Ellen Grimes acted as hostess to her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Grimes, from Charlotte, North Carolina.

The youngest girl in Williams Hall is Barbara Van Sandt, from Missouri. She will visit Velma for a while longer.

Ruby Alder was happy to have her sister, Mrs. F. T. Gillin, and Mr. Gillin and the family, from Decatur, Georgia, visit her for a day.

the First Seventh-day Adventist Church in Nashville, Tennessee. After a wedding trip to Massachusetts the couple returned to Nashville to make their home. Both are employees of the Southern Publishing Association in Nashville.

Riffel-Lewis

At the home of Elder Charles Edwards, Dorothy Amelia Lewis, education student, became the bride of Donald Eugene Riffel, also an education major here at Madison College. Elder Charles Edwards, pastor of the Boulevard Seventh-day Adventist Church at Madison, officiated in the beautiful ceremony. Following the ceremony a reception was held.

There is no need to tell a Seventh-day Adventist that we are living in an age of trouble with men's hearts failing them for fear of the things that are coming upon the earth. Two of the most outstanding disasters of the Twentieth Century are the sinking of the "unsinkable" Titanic on April 14, 1912, and the destruction of Hiroshima by the first atomic bomb during the closing days of the second world war in 1945.

The first disaster is vividly described and well illustrated in the book by Walter Lord, A Night to Remember. Indeed, it was a night to remember, for it was then that this fabulous vessel, the ship that "God Himself could not sink," met its doom in the form of a huge iceberg and slipped into its ocean grave, bearing with it fifteen hundred passengers and crew.

The significance of this disaster is expressed in these words: "Overriding everything else, the Titanic marked the end of a general feeling of confidence. Until then, men felt they had found the answer to a steady, orderly, civilized life. For 100 years the Western world had been at peace. For 100 years technology had steadily improved... Most articulate people felt life was all right. The Titanic woke them up. Never again would they be quite so sure of themselves... But it went beyond that. If this supreme achievement [the Titanic] was so terribly fragile, what about everything else?... Scores of ministers preached that the Titanic was a heaven-sent lesson to awaken people from their complacency, to punish them for top-heavy faith in material progress. If it was a lesson, it worked—people have never been sure of anything since... To anybody who lived at the time, the Titanic, more than any other single event, marks the end of the old days and the beginning of a new, uneasy era."

You will want to read the details of the sinking of the world's largest and most luxurious ocean liner, and learn just how the passengers felt, what they wore, and what they did. The call number is 910.4 L88n.

In the next issue I shall present the written record of the second great disaster, the destruction of Hiroshima.

Just one hour since the accident. Sixty minutes ago, a carefree drive ended with a crash... and anguish began.

Minor injuries for the man. But no one knew yet how badly his young wife was hurt. In the dream world of his shock, small islands of meaning stood out.

Somebody saying, "Multiple fracture." Another voice, with, "We'll need an X-ray examination. Call Dr. Johnson; he'll have to interpret."

The radiologist arrived, and the man suddenly was alone. He sat, waiting in the office while the X-ray technician raced against death.

X-ray examinations performed and interpreted by the radiologist pin-pointed his wife's injuries. The orthopedic surgeon took over from there, repairing with disciplined skill the body ravaged by a crash on a summer evening.

The progress of X-ray technology in recent years has been rapid, and its influence is being felt in every division of medicine. The skillful and resourceful radiologist is a busy man, so he cannot devote time to routine technical details in his department. He must, therefore, delegate considerable work to his technician.

The X-ray course given at Madison College is approved by the Council on Medical Education and Hospitals of the American Medical Association. Completion of the course requires one year of instruction and clinical practice, preceded by one year of basic college work.

Two students are admitted into the X-ray Department at the first of each quarter, where they will spend a minimum of twelve months. Adequate vacation periods are allowed for each twelve months of training. Prerequisites for admission to the X-ray Course emphasize Physiology and Anatomy, Mathematics, and General Physics.

Upon completion of this course plus an additional twelve months of experience under a radiologist, the American Registry of X-ray Technicians offers the technicians an opportunity for examination. Upon successful completion of the examination, the technician is registered and is authorized to place after his or her name the designation, R.T.—Registered Technician.

The responsibility of the training of these students at Madison College rests upon the shoulders of Dr. Gilbert H. Johnson, who is a Diplomate of the American Board of Radiology, and Mr. William V. Campbell, R.T. (A.R.X.T.).

Whoever seriously undertakes the preparation for this vocation will, in the end, not only receive a better than ordinary return for his effort, but will obtain abundant satisfaction in the knowledge that he is performing a necessary and worthwhile work in the handling of the sick and ailing. The success attained in the work will depend largely upon the interest manifested, the application exhibited, and the aptitude of the individual.

near Madison at Columbia, Tenn., where he is one of the medical technologists there.

Freddie Kerbs is the medical technologist at a beautiful hospital in Shattuck, Oklahoma.

The last word concerning Clara Lassiter is that she is nursing at Florida Sanitarium and Hospital in Orlando.

Another of the Surgical Wing supervisors is Thelma Muirhead. Rose Norris is working at present with Thelma on Surgical Wing. Maxine Page is one of the clinical instructors here. She is reported to be doing wonders with the "Probies."

Ruben Perales is nursing at the County Hospital in Nashville.

William Pierce, who has now finished Anesthesia, is practicing at Bowling Green, Kentucky.

Marinell Rabuka is working as histologist and instructor here in the laboratory and is anticipating a new job in Texas in about three months.

Andrew Rimmer has been teaching at the unit in Reeves, Georgia, during the past year. He is visiting his parents at Madison this week.

Uncle Sam has taken from the class of '55 only one, Bob Silver, who is serving at Fort Campbell, Kentucky.

Eugenia Stocklosa is working here at the Sanitarium.

Kenneth and Mary Su are living in Madison, as Kenneth is connected with the Tennessee Highway Department as an engineer.

Eugene Watkins and Wendell

Ward are both working as medical technologists in separate clinics in El Campo, Texas. Their goal of "back to Texas" has been achieved.

Delaiah Wheeler and husband are in Homestead, Florida, where she is nursing.

Pauline Williams is doing a fine job in the Psychiatric Department, (Parkview), as Insulin Ward supervisor. Theo, her husband, is soon to connect with the Laboratory as an instructor.

If any of our readers have any information about any of Madison's former students, the MADISONIAN would like to receive this information for use in future issues.

College Makes Additions to Staff

Professor F. R. Cossentine and family are connecting with Madison College, he to be the new head of the Music Department. The Cossentines come to Madison from Southern Missionary College.

Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Scott, from Mobile, Alabama, have recently moved to the campus. Mr. Scott is to be superintendent of the Maintenance and Construction Department. At present Mrs. Scott is relieving Mrs. Wilson in the cafeteria, where she is in charge while Mrs. Wilson is on vacation during June.

Late arrivals, in their shiny aluminum trailer, are Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Wedel and two sons, from Battle Creek, Michigan. Mr. Wedel is the new head of the Electrical Department.

Blue Notes

Edna Thornton

The end of the quarter has inaugurated a general exodus of students from the campus. Faculty members, too, are vacationminded, needing a deserved rest from their labors and an opportunity to catch their breath before the summer quarter begins.

This reporter and family spent a few days visiting husband George's folks in Oklahoma, with Lynn Davis going along as a pal for son Eddie. It was a sort of pre-vacation trip because Mr. Thornton had to return in time to register for the summer session at Peabody beginning June 11. P. S. We're still scratching chigger bites.

The most popular melody at this writing seems to be the "Wedding March." Next in popularity come all the other well known melodies pertaining to weddings. We don't know how they do it on such a program as we have here at Madison, but somehow students do manage to sandwich in a little romance along with their work, play, and studies. Our congratulations to all the recent newlyweds!

Professor Mitzelfelt is vacationing at home with his family, after completing two quarters of medical studies at the University of Tennessee at Memphis. His son Vincent, a first-year student at Loma Linda, is visiting on the campus. The Mitzelfelts' son-in-law, Bob Silver, who graduated from Madison last year, is now stationed at Fort Campbell, Kentucky, and spends his weekends here with his wife Pat.

Several weeks ago a young man appeared in the Music Department with a trombone case in one hand and some music in the other. We directed him to one of the practice rooms and went on with our work. Soon we heard harmonious sounds such as we had not heard emerging from a trombone since Vincent Mitzelfelt left the campus. Later we learned that the young man is George Schultz, an Anesthesia student who will be here for several months. We promptly requested him to play a solo in the Sabbath school in the very near future. So be looking and listening for it, Sabbath school members.

We are happy to see Eulene Borton up and going again after several days in the hospital. Soon she will be feeling like herself again.

Can You Type?

Personal Typing, our summer course for non-secretarial majors, will be better than ever this summer! If you registered for it, or plan to do so, please get your text book and workbook now, or order it if there are any left. They cost very little, and we don't want to waste a minute getting started!

Ask for Brief Typing, an excellent new book, just off the press. No homework is necessary. You can learn to type well during the Summer Quarter. Two hours of credit. You'll be sorry if you don't join us!

Stewarts Gather for Family Reunion

The wedding of Miss Velma Stewart and Mr. Lorin Mixon was the occasion which gathered together members of the Stewart family on the weekend of June 9, for a family reunion. Present were the following:

Mr. R. D. Murray of Sarasota, Florida, where Mr. Murray is principal of the academy. Mr. Murray was principal of the Madison College Academy several years ago and is attending Peabody College for teachers this summer in Nashville, where he is working towards his M. A. degree in Education. Elder and Mrs. Alvin J. Stewart and their two children from Abilene, Texas. Elder Stewart is pastor of the Seventh-day Adventist church in Abilene.

Mr. Ervin Stewart, Jeanie, and Ricky from Lake City, Florida, where Mr. Stewart is supervisor of the Bio-chemistry Department at the Veterans' Hospital.

Pvt. Harold Lang and wife Violet from Ft. Sam Houston, Texas. Mr. Lang is assigned there as a research worker in the field of cancer.

Elder and Mrs. R. E. Stewart of Madison College, Tennessee, and Velma Stewart and Lorin Mixon.

Deluge of Showers

Showers, showers, everywhere
Nor any drop to drink.
(apologies to Coleridge)

Downpours of showers have drenched the campus during the past few weeks. They haven't been showers of rain, but they have been as productive as any good shower. Some of the charming brides-to-be (by the time this is published they will all be brides) and one mother-to-be (I hear there will be quite a few stork showers forthcoming soon) so honored are listed below:

On May 20, at the home of Mrs. Lucille Hilgers and assisted by Mrs. J. D. Simmons, a joint shower for Nancy Fields (bridal, June 10 to Jack Gibbons) and Evelyn Kenyon (baby) was given.

Also on May 20 a bridal shower was given for Margaret Hodges (June 5 to Herbert Tate) at the home of Mrs. Doris Thomson. Hostesses included Maellene Haviland and LaVeta Graves.

Again at the home of Mrs. Doris Thomson, on May 30, Lois Miller (July 25 to Aubrey Thompson) was the recipient of a bridal shower. Hostesses were Liz Milliner, Mary Lou Ward, Elaine Culpepper, and Marilyn Campbell.

Miss Velma Stewart was given a bridal shower, with Mrs. Betty Blair, Mrs. Winifred Kelly, Mrs. Lucille Rushing, and Mrs. Beverly Wilson as hostesses, at the home of Mrs. Wilson on the evening of June 5. She was also honored at two other showers—a kitchen shower on May 16, given by

Madison Featured At Campmeeting

A program, having as its theme "Educational Opportunities at Madison College," was presented by faculty members and students at the Kentucky-Tennessee camp meeting at Highland Academy, Portland, Tennessee, on the afternoon of June 13. Special speakers included Dr. William C. Sandborn, dean of Madison College; Mrs. J. D. Simmons, of the Education Department, and Mrs. Doris Clapp, director of Nurses. The X-ray, Laboratory, and Anesthesia Departments were represented by their various heads. Appropriate musical selections were presented by the Pep Band, under the direction of Felix Lorenz, Jr., and by Mrs. Eulene Borton, Mrs. Patricia Silver, and Mr. Vincent Mitzelfelt. The program was arranged by Mrs. Dorothy Ackerman, Mrs. J. D. Simmons, and Mrs. Doris Clapp.
