Madison College Boasts Full Enrollment

Another Year Begins

AN EDITORIAL

Starts are wonderful things. The beginning of a new school year invigorates the campus with new, exciting life.

This life comes from no one but the student. Students with an attitude of good sound fellowship have demonstrated their fine spirit during the first phase of our school year, registration.

There is only one place where a lad from Turtletown, Tennessee, or Maple Hill, Kansas, can meet and become friends with another chap from Tundla, India, or British Columbia, Canada. This environment can be attained only at our Christian colleges like Madison.

The varied courses offered such as Nursing, Medical Technology, X-ray Technology, Medical Records, Business, Agriculture, and Industrial Education tend to draw the best students from everywhere.

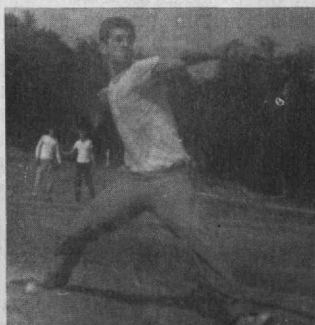

A great deal of credit must be given to our fine faculty for their work and planning to make the tremendous job of registration easier. With the faculty's co-operation the program was arranged in such a manner that a great many registration difficulties had already been disposed of, a fact which made actual registration simpler and shorter.

The high caliber of the 301 college students enrolled exemplifies the quality of college life we will have throughout the college term of 1956-57.

Six Ways to Make Friends

1. Become genuinely interested in other people.
2. Smile.
3. Remember that a man's name is to him the sweetest and most important sound in any language.
4. Be a good listener. Encourage others to talk about themselves.
5. Talk in terms of the other man's interest.
6. Make the other person feel important—and do it sincerely.

Picnic Highlights Registration

The annual school picnic, held at Shelby Park on October 2, was this year one of the events of the first week of school.

The first big event was the picnic dinner, spread on large tables and eaten with the usual enthusiasm and relish that accompany an outdoor meal.

After dinner baseball enthusiasts and interested onlookers went to the ball field for a game between the academy and college boys. The college boys had the advantage in size and pitchers, but the academy boys made up for this with a will to win and a quality of playing which the college boys could not equal. After the last out had been made and the dust had settled, the academy boys walked off the field on the long end of a 9-7 score.

For those who watched, there was never a dull moment. Two home runs were hit—one by Dwayne Woodson, an academy player, and the other by Phil Day, the college pitcher.

During the afternoon and after the game others engaged in horseshoe, croquet, and boating on the river.

A bountiful supper was the last feature of the day, after which students piled into trucks and teachers' cars and went back to the campus, where they enjoyed films in the chapel as a closing feature of picnic day.

Dormitories, apartments, cottages, and trailers are again filled, and 301 college and 110 academy students have settled down to the routine of school life.

The college enrollment of 301 is made up of 147 dormitory students and 154 married and village students. There are 176 women and 125 men attending college. Of the total number 78 are freshmen, 66 sophomores, 53 juniors, 51 seniors, and 43 special students.

As usual the Nursing Department is the largest department, with 108 student nurses and 30 pre-nursing freshmen, making a total of 138 for the department.

Including pre-X-ray and X-ray students, that department has an enrollment of 26. Medical Technology has 11 students, and Anesthesia also 11. Nine are taking the Medical Records course.

The Department of Education has enrolled 17, Business Administration 17, Secretarial Science 8, Agriculture 10, and Industrial Arts 12.

Former students who have returned see signs of progress on the campus. New housing is in the process of construction, repairs and painting have taken place in all the buildings, new equipment has been purchased, new workers and faculty members have strengthened many departments of the institution.

114 Self Supporters Hold Annual Convention October 4-7; Elect Officers

The Forty-sixth Annual Convention of Self-supporting Workers was held at Madison College October 4-7, at which time 114 delegates and visitors from 24 units and institutions met to exchange experiences and gather inspiration from the program presented under the auspices of the Laymen's Extension League. Mr. Paul Dysinger, manager of the Pewee Valley institution, was the convention chairman.

"Go ye also into the vineyard and whatsoever is right, that shall ye receive." With this challenging text, Mr. Ralph Martin, from Pewee Valley, addressed the delegates and visitors at the opening meeting on the subject of the keynote of the convention, "The Incentives and Compensations in Self-supporting Work."

Guest speakers at the convention were Elder Robert H. Pierson, president of the Kentucky-Tennessee Conference, Elder W. R. Beach, associate secretary of the General Conference, and Elder N. C. Wilson, president of the Madison College board.

Other highlights of the convention were the reports of the Agriculture Section, Mrs. Simmons' talk at the Educational Section, the reports and Dr. Dittes' talk at the Medical Section, the symposium on Evangelism, the report of MV and Pathfinder activities, and the Unit Roll Call at the Saturday night meeting.

Also at this Saturday night meeting a sum of money was raised by the alumni and units for the $2250 E. A. Sutherland memorial, an entrance to the institution to be erected at Larkin Springs Road.

At the convention business session on Sunday morning the following officers for the Laymen's Extension League were elected for the coming year: President, Elder W. D. Frazee; President-elect, B. A. Sheffield; Secretary, Florence Fellemente; Directors, Paul C. Dysinger, Kent Griffin, Felix Lorenz, Sr., Dr. Wm. C. Sandborn, Dr. J. C. Gant, Dr. Cyrus Kendall, Charles Martin, Roger Goodge, Leland Straw, Susan Ard, C. A. Johnson, Robert Santini, Edwin Martin, A. L. Williams, Jr., W. E. Patterson, A. A. Jasperson.

Published semi-monthly during the fall, winter, and spring quarters, and monthly during the summer quarter. Entered as second class matter May 29, 1953, at the Post Office at Madison College, Tennessee. Subscription price—$1.50 per year.

A New Spirit on Campus

Things are happening at Madison this year. There is a spirit permeating the campus that is entirely novel to those of us who have lived here over the years. There is an effervescent spirit of youth that previously seemed to have been lacking.

There has been no need to urge our students this fall. They have been turning out in unpredictable numbers to do the work of the Lord as opportunities have presented themselves.

Today Adventist youth are faced with a tremendous challenge. They have the privilege of playing a vital role in the closing scenes of this earth's history.

With love in their hearts for one another, let the students of Madison College reach out and grasp the golden opportunities that are theirs and make this the greatest year Madison ever had.

Delta Nu Zeta. . .

It isn't always the new students who become confused with the beginning of classes, but the old ones also. This reporter sat for fifteen minutes waiting for Psychiatric Nursing class Monday, to find out after calling the teacher that it met on Tuesday. So to you new students, don't feel bad if you are at the right place at the wrong time.

The ladies of Wililams Hall have been taking a very active part already in the Ingathering campaign. Look out, fellows, or we'll raise our goal first, and the party will be ours.

Glad to see that "Hop Along" Sharpe has recovered from the sprained foot. Lois wasn't going to let leap year pass by with her, and I guess she leaped a little too high.

We were privileged recently to have Dr. Pitman speak to us in evening worship. She will be with us once a month, and we are all looking forward to her visits.

Maellene Haviland, Ruby Birch, Gertrud Schramm, Lois Sharpe, Mabyline Holloway, and JoAnn Gibbons will soon be leaving Williams Hall to set up living quarters at the senior annex. Keep your chin up, juniors; your time is next year.

With the able help of our wonderful dean, Mrs. Socol, the parlor has new curtains and a long-awaited-for rug.

At the recent Delta Nu Zeta election the following new officers were chosen: president, Ruby Birch; vice-president, Janet Jansen; secretary, Lois Sharpe; treasurer, Sheila Moore; religious vice-president, Mary Peek; parliamentarian, Jackie Schlotthauer; program chairman, JoAnn Gibbons. We are planning big things for the club this year.

Two by Two

Mrs. Margaret Tate has become quite a foreign diplomat. She acted as the patient in a recent demonstration that several of our nurses gave at the Red Cross headquarters in Nashville for a group of visiting Russian medical men. As they were demonstrating the simple bedmaking procedure and comfort measures the Russian visitors exclaimed often and incredulously, "You teach this to the masses. You teach this to the masses. We teach such things to our nurses only."

Margaret is also planning to teach Dr. Saraf's husband how to iron. When we asked her why his wife didn't teach him, Margaret replied, "She doesn't know how!" The Sarafs have recently come to us from India, and apparently ironing is not an art practiced in that country.

And speaking of doctors, how about the prescription Dr. Slate gave Dahan Blankenship? "No vacation unless you travel by air!" So that is just what Dahan did. She flew to visit her parents near Tulsa, Oklahoma, taking Karen with her on the plane. Paul followed with Paula in the car. She reported a wonderful time and returned just in time to get her things packed to go on affiliation to Cincinnati.

New residents of the brick apartment house are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mayden, who have moved into the apartment vacated by the Mickey Rabukas, who left recently for Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. Don McIntosh, who reside in the apartment formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Don Wilson, who also have gone to Texas.

We are glad to welcome to our number Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Harrison, and Mr. and Mrs. John Doneskey.

The home beautiful these days seems to be the glorified house trailer. The latest one on the campus according to our report belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Glen Brown. It is a beautiful gold creation lovely to look at, and Bernice says, "Lovely to live in."

Clarence Webb and family have also left us. They have moved to Murfreesboro, where Clarence is laboratory technician in the Rutherford County Hospital. Their apartment in Mother D Lodge is being occupied by Warren Watts and family, who have returned to Madison.

Everett Saulsbury has made four new contacts this week for giving Bible studies in homes in this area. He says next week he will make it eight new ones. At present his group is giving 50 studies weekly. That's the spirit and keep it up.

Wasiota Whispers

Howdy—and welcome to another school year.

We are privileged to have some new students from countries outside the U.S.A. The one who stands out in my mind as being perhaps the most unusual is Lindolph Berghold, Lindy for short, who comes to us from Brazil, South America. What amazes me is the fact that he somehow—don't know how or where he gets the time—keeps his room spotlessly clean and in order. Let's see whether we can follow his example.

We have another student from an unusual country which is just a little south of western U.S.A. I'm speaking of none other than TEXAS! He is our own beloved Robert Sellman. Now, things that come from Texas are as a rule big, and Bob is no exception. He has big feet, big hands, and a big, generous heart, which has won him a place in the hearts of each one of us. Oh, by the way, where in the world did that red coat come from? Texas?

Some improvements made lately in the dorms are evident. Down at Wasiota Hall many of the rooms have been painted. Also the baths and shower have had some face-lifting. Now there are two new pictures for the walls of the worship room, painted for the boys by Mrs. Bertram, former art instructor. Thank you, Mrs. Bertram.

Up here in the Assembly "hayloft" the doors all have new locks. Now in a day or two we expect to have a new tile floor for our shower room, an improvement the men will really appreciate.

Mary Kate Gafford

To those who expect to enter college soon or sometime in the distant future the book entitled The University of Hard Knocks will make a special appeal. Whether we desired it or not, all of us at some time or another have been enrolled in this school. Perhaps we are still students there. The author, Ralph Parlette, has delivered this entertaining and inspiring lecture—now printed in book form—to more than a million people intrigued by his informal, captivating style.

"The greatest school," he tells us in his introductory sentence, "is the University of Hard Knocks. Its books are bumps. Every bump is a lesson." But read it for yourself. It is a book you will not want to put down until you have read it from cover to cover, including "Some Preliminary Remarks," the dedication, and "Why It Is Printed."

The call number is 170 P23u and it is found—when it is at home—in the Browsing Corner.

Musically Speaking

The month of September brought no rest to the Music Department staff. Using both major and minor redecorating techniques, every member went into action with one accord to transpose the department into one swell, grand, super Music Department—bar none!

Mr. Felix Lorenz, Jr., set the tempo in redecorating, being the first to paint his studio. After a short interval Mrs. Mitzelfelt's studio changed from flat white to two-tone blue. Next in turn, Professor Cossentine's classroom and office took on an air of prime importance with walls of contrasting colors.

It was only natural that Elder Felix Lorenz, Sr., Bible teacher and builder by trade, should measure and saw the timber for the music cabinets and bookshelves which were built into several studios. The sanding, staining, and varnishing of the cabinets was done intermittently by a trio of somewhat inexperienced but willing workers—Professor Cossentine, Mrs. Ackerman and Mrs. Thornton.

The rehearsal room has at least one sign of redecoration you will note when you step in, and that is the newly painted floor. And so poco a poco the Music Department has donned a sharp new face to greet you next time you run in for your music lesson. Visitors are always welcome; so whatever your motive, be sure to visit soon.

Nurses Receive Stripes

A highlight in chapel on October 9 was the awarding of stripes to the junior and senior nursing students who were eligible to receive them—the requirement being that the specified amount of clinical time be completed and that all nursing care studies and the clinical notebook be up to date.

Those who received their first, or junior, stripes were: Paul Blankenship, Terry Brown, Marilyn Campbell, Deloris Cross, Otis Detamore, Mary Faye Draughon, Mary E. Doneskey, Woodrow Ek, Abigail Fields, Hoytie Freeman, Jack Gibbons, Jacqueline Giles, Orrean Gill, Donna Guier, Robert Hale, Janyce Jansen, Edna Earl Lee, Glenda Luzader, Allen Moon, Sheila Moore, Nadine Myrick, Don MacIntosh, Christine Perkins, Joan Perkins, Doris Powell, Ann Rabun, William Rosel, Everett Saulsbury, Jackie Schlotthauer, Robert Slattery, Jolene Stiles, Petra Sukau, Ray Webster, Velma Webster, Vero Wright.

Whenever you see a nurse wearing a new stripe, you know it is worn with pride, because it represents another milestone of achievement in her or his chosen career.

Snoopy

Hello there! Here we are at the beginning of another school year. Everywhere we turn, we see new and familiar faces. For one, your "snoopy" friend is glad to be back here at school, and is glad to see all of you again.

Animals and more animals! Cats, dogs, bears, frogs, rabbits, and many more animals find a home in Williams Hall. Joan Perkins and Jackie Schlotthauer have a very startling and scary-looking creature in their room—a stuffed alligator.

Is Terry Brown still checking to see whether he can find a girl with a "refreshing head of hair"? I overheard a student nurse on Surgical Wing say that she had just washed her hair and she hoped that Terry would find it to be refreshing enough.

Shirley Weesner and Pat Grismore must be going to open another supermarket from the closet full of groceries in their room. I have heard that "the way to a man's heart is through his stomach" and am wondering if Shirley is going to impress a certain young man with her culinary arts.

I have heard of draining many things, but never a radio. That's

Inquiring Reporter

Why did you come to Madison College?

C. L. RICHARDSON, Jackson, Mississippi: The laboratory course that it offers and the fact that it is a good Christian college are the reasons I came to Madison.

JULIA KELLER, Redding, California: I knew I would have to attend a school where it was possible to earn most of my way, and Madison was my choice of such a school because of its high Christian standards.

NANCY CRISWELL, Woodbury, Tennessee: I came to take the medical records and librarian course.

WARREN WATTS, North Carolina: I came to Madison because of the agriculture course offered here.

BOB SELLMAN, Houston, Texas: I know that Madison is a school of high spiritual standards, and I believe the Lord led me here.

ISLA ESPLIN, Kelowna, British Columbia, Canada: I came to acquire a greater spiritual perception. The ability to work my way through Madison was also a strong factor in my choosing this school.

VIRGINIA GREELEE, Wilson, North Carolina: Because of the opportunities for taking nursing. I also knew it was a good Christian school.

LUCY COURTER, Clearwater, Florida: I liked the faculty and the students.

RUTH SOMMERVILLE, Jeffersonville, Indiana: Madison is a good Christian college where you have a chance to work all your way.

DOROTHY BLAKELY, Bloomington, Indiana: I chose Madison because of the excellent nursing program and the opportunity to work my way through college.

BONNIE RYALS, Lumberton, Mississippi: I chose Madison because of the friendly atmosphere here. I think Madison has the Christian spirit that a college should have.

BOB STOREY, Sylvia Tennessee: I came to Madison because I was interested in the medical field, and I had read of the many advantages of this college.

just what Janet Jansen had to do to hers. She left it in Terry Brown's jeep which was left out overnight. Lady Luck was against her, because during the night a large amount of liquid fell from the sky in the form of rain. Poor Janet's radio is still on the sick list.

On the subject of baseball—Shirley Hancock said that she wished that whoever it was in the press with the radio would turn the volume up loud enough so that the students in Medical and Surgical Nursing class could listen, too.

Here are the greetings sent from Snoopy to the affiliating nurses at Cincinnati, namely Pat Gaulding, Kay Williams, Lillian Azevedo, Patsy Wilson, Inez Slater, Lorene Webb, and Dahan Blankenship. Have a good time, girls, and don't become too homesick, Pat and Kay.

There's a deadline to meet, so here's Snoopy saying "So long for now."

STARCH and STRIPES

Seventeen new students registered for nursing on October 2. The beginning of a new class is always awaited with interest by both faculty and students, and this year was no exception. One Sophomore A student expressed her interest in a practical way by saying, "I'll be glad when they start working on the floor, so we'll have some help!" Regardless of our individual motives, Sophomore B Class, we are glad you are here, and we hope you will enjoy every minute of your education and experience as professional nursing students.

The Nursing Club met the latter part of September for the first time since the Spring Quarter. Mrs. Wilma Gill was chosen the new sponsor of the club, and Maellene Haviland, a senior student, was selected to represent the Madison College Department of Nursing at the annual state convention of the Tennessee Association of Student Nurses, which is to be held on October 17 and 18, at Chattanooga.

The first T.A.S.N. meeting of the new school year, for our district, was held on September 27, with Patsy Wilson presiding as the new president. The subject for discussion was the possibility of a central meeting place for our T.A.S.N. meetings. This was followed by an interesting talk on Civil Defense by Mr. Alfred Smith, chairman of the Speakers Committee for the Nashville and Davidson County Civil Defense. Refreshments were served by two ladies from the Nashville Electric Company where the meeting was held. Other Madison students who attended were Donna Guier, Maellene Haviland, and JoAnn Gibbons.

For Sale: Bradley No. 3-horsepower garden tractor and mower. Guaranteed to run like new. $250. Call Mr. Simmons, Ext. 85 or 81.

Studies Again

Another school year is here at last and all the summer's work and play are submerged under headcovering studies and school activities.

The large enrollment has transformed our school into a fountain of bubbling youthful enthusiasm.

With our teaching staff and students, we are looking forward to a year of real enjoyment and spiritual uplift.

Enrollment Hits 101

Madison College Academy boasts the highest enrollment ever. At 1:00 p.m., September 16, the first registration began, that of the seniors.

The afternoon's routine began at the Demonstration Building and led to the Hospital Annex for the first part of the physical examinations. Next came the pulse reading and eye check, which was followed by a laboratory check in which everyone watched his blood being sapped from him. Then came the final part of the exam, the visit to the doctor's office.

The next day was the same for the underclassmen of the academy. The enrollment peaked to 101 students, with 41 seniors, 23 juniors, 19 sophomores, and 18 freshmen.

Welcoming old friends and becoming acquainted with new ones filled the first few days with interest and enjoyment.

High School Wins Picnic Game

The annual school baseball game played at Shelby Park between the college men and the academy boys proved to be as exciting as everyone had hoped it would be.

The teams were fairly evenly matched in ability, but the academy team played with a fire that would not accept defeat.

Their first time at bat they scored three times. The college team, also showing fine spirit, bounced right back with four runs

Vice-president Nixon and wife at War Memorial Auditorium

Class Hear Nixon

The American history class enjoyed a break in the routine on Friday, September 28, when they heard Vice-president Richard Nixon speak in the War Memorial Building in Nashville. The theme of Mr. Nixon's address was "Peace, Progress, and Prosperity for All Americans."

Many in the class collected "I Like Ike" buttons and car stickers.

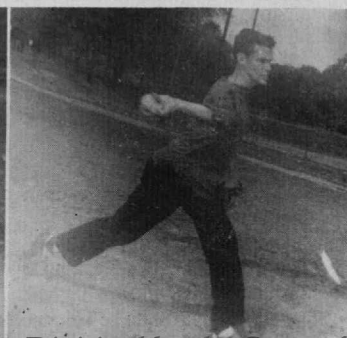

Thanks go to Jon Mac Randall, Billy Sandborn, Stella Rodriguez, Ronnie Bottsford, and Douglas Kendall for transportation.

The class was fortunate to arrive in time to get seats in the auditorium which was packed to overflowing. Even standing space was at a premium.

Juniors Hold Social

The first junior class social of the new year was held Sunday night, September 30, at Myrna Moore's home. After an evening of party games the juniors enjoyed eating vegetarian wieners, doughnuts, ice cream, and cookies. All the class members who live in the village were present.

Jon Mac safe on third.

Village Girls Organize

The Village Girls' Club began the year's activities by selecting the club officers in a meeting September 19.

Stella Rodriguez was chosen president; Linda Pitman, vice-president; Ann Luck, secretary-treasurer; and Delina Martin, sergeant-at-arms.

The club made plans for a Youth Dorcas Society, Bible Study groups, and other religious and social activities.

News Notes

Virginia Cantrell, a senior, was in the hospital four days after a tonsillectomy recently. Her classmates welcome her back to their midst and are happy that she is well again.

Donna Jones is Mr. Wilson's new secretary in the principal's office, taking Eulene Borton's place. Donna, a college freshman, comes from Fresno, California, where she was a payroll clerk for the Housing Authority. She is taking a business course and plans to do secretarial work in the future.

The home ec girls tried their skill at salad making for the combined church picnic of the Madison College and Boulevard churches. The class divided into six groups of four students each, each group making a potato salad, and arranging it attractively on a salad plate or bowl.
