Fine Arts Division Features Program of Music and Pageantry

"No Man Is an Island" was the theme of the program sponsored by the Division of Fine Arts on Saturday evening, May 25.

The Academy Chorus, under the direction of Professor Francis R. Cossentine, opened the program with the theme song as arranged by Roy Ringwald.

This section of the program also included two vocal solos by Anne Davidson and Mrs. J. M. Ackerman, a violin solo by Dorothy Goodrich Moon, a piano duo by Shirley Burk and Carol Hilgers, and a selection by the Criterion male quartet. The quartet is composed of Jan Rushing, Harry Mayden, Tommy Mino, and Bob Huether.

The second group consisted of vocal solos by Mrs. Ackerman and Ruth Huether, another violin solo by Mrs. Moon, a piano duo by Anne Davidson and Mrs. Ackerman, and "The Erie Canal" by the Academy Chorus, with Stewart Crook as soloist.

The Criterion Quartet began the third section with a patriotic number by Borg, "God Bless Our Native Land." A violin solo by Mrs. Moon and a vocal solo by Mrs. Ackerman preceded "Danse Macabre," a piano duo played by Dawn Reynolds and Mrs. Ackerman.

As a fitting close to the program the Academy Chorus sang "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor," while several students representing refugees and immigrants joined hands across the stage. Sylvia Burk, dressed to represent the Statue of Liberty, rose and lifted the lamp which symbolizes freedom for the "homeless, tempest-tossed" from other shores.

Prelude and interlude music was provided by the Madison College Band under the direction of Karl P. McDonald. The program was made more effective by the use of flood and spot lights operated by Deryl Christensen and Ronald Schmale. Staging was supervised by Harry Mayden, and Joyce Mayden was the accompanist.

New Surgeon Joins Hospital Staff

Dr. Charles B. Moore, currently from the Glendale Sanitarium, has taken up his duties as chief surgeon of the Madison Sanitarium and Hospital.

Dr. Moore comes to Madison with a broad background in general surgery and thoracic surgery. He is a Board certified surgeon and a fellow of the American College of Surgeons. For eleven years he practiced in Puerto Rico and was chief surgeon in the new Mayaguez, Puerto Rico, Hospital.

The Moore family consists of Dr. and Mrs. Moore and two sons of church school age.

Nurses Get Exam Scores; Howard Leads

Special congratulations go to Bill Howard, Senior A nursing student, who received the highest scores in the Madison class in the Tennessee State Board examination.

George West, Laura Egger, and Gilbert Jorgensen ranked next. Mr. West tied with Mr. Howard in Nursing of Children and with Miss Egger in Obstetrical Nursing.

Graduates of the Senior A Class in Nursing wrote the Tennessee State Board examination on April 13 and 14. These examinations are from the State Board Test Pool of the National League of Nursing. All students of accredited schools of nursing in the United States and Hawaii wrote the same examination.

Eleven young women and eight young men wrote the examination.

The returns from the examination were received by the graduates on May 10, 1957. According to Mrs. Clapp the scores were very good. Most of the nurses made good scores. Most of them ranked above the 500 percentile

Clyde Holland Heads Student Association

Clyde Holland, nursing major from Bethesda, Maryland, was elected to the presidency of the Associated Students of Madison College at the annual election for next year's student association officers held on May 13.

With the exception of the vice-presidency, all offices were won with an overwhelming majority of votes. The race for the vice-presidency, between Herbert Tate and David Warner, was a close one.

Clyde Holland

Clyde Holland first came to Madison in 1952. After completing three quarters of school work, he was drafted and spent two years in the U.S. Army. Returning to Madison, Clyde has taken an active interest in school affairs, holding offices ranging from president of the Boys' Club to Missionary Volunteer leader. His most recent contribution has been the editorship of this year's Cumberland Echoes, the college annual.

Herbert Tate

Herbert Tate, business major from Richmond, Virginia, was elected to the student association vice-presidency. Herbert was graduated from Fletcher Academy and spent one year at Southern Missionary College. After two years in Uncle Sam's army, he came to Madison College to complete his education. His most recent activities have been vice-president of the Married Students' Club and deacon in the college church.

Shirley Burk

Shirley Burk, medical technology major from Sinton, Texas, was elected to the office of secretary-treasurer. Among the many offices Shirley has held have been business manager of the 1956 Cumberland Echoes and business manager of the MADISONIAN. Shirley is a good musician and lends her ability in that field to the Sabbath school as organist. She also sings in the college choir.

John Doneskey

John Doneskey, from Penticton, British Columbia, Canada, was elected to the office of parliamentarian. After finishing public high school, John stayed out of school for several years and then chose La Sierra College for his freshman year. The last three years John has spent on the campus of Madison College, where he is majoring in medical technology.

Sylvia Burk

The Cumberland Echoes staff of 1958 will have as its editor-in-chief Sylvia Burk. Sylvia, youngest in a family of five, comes to Madison from Orange Grove, Texas, where she was graduated from public high school. She will be a college junior next year. Her past experience as copy editor for the 1956 Cumberland Echoes well qualifies her for her new position.

William Moon

William Moon, business major from Rogers, Arkansas, was elected to the office of business manager of the Cumberland Echoes. After being graduated from high school, Bill spent two years in the army, being in Germany for nineteen months. Although this is his first year here, he has already entered wholeheartedly into school life. His interest in his major field qualifies him for his important job on the college yearbook.

Wedding Bells

STILES - ZERBEE

Miss Jolene Stiles, sophomore nursing student, became the bride of Mr. Richard Zerbee at five o'clock on Thursday evening, June 6, at the Seventh-day Adventist church in Ridgeway, Tennessee.

Elder R. E. Stewart performed the ceremony. The church was attractively decorated with white trelliswork intertwined with green ivy.

The wedding music was played by Gilbert Jorgensen, and Bill Howard sang three numbers.

Georgetta Zerbee, sister of the bridegroom, and Jan Rushing were the attendants. The bridegroom's little niece was the flower girl, and Gregory Harris was the Bible boy. Ross Clark and Ronnie Bottsford were ushers.

The bride was given away by her brother John, inasmuch as her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Waldo Stiles, are in Ecuador, where they are engaged in medical work.

Following the ceremony a reception was given for the couple at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Elmer Bottsford.

Upon returning from their wedding trip to the West, Mr. Zerbee will resume his work at the Southern Publishing Association and Mrs. Zerbee her schoolwork as a student nurse.

JENSEN - SWAYZE

Miss Anne Jensen, former Madison student, and Mr. Gerald Swayze, of Syracuse, New York, were married on Sunday evening, June 9, at the Fatherland Street Seventh-day Adventist Church in Nashville.

Elder E. L. Pingenot, of Nashville officiated. Music was furnished by Mrs. Cyrus Kendall, aunt of the bride, Mrs. Hollis Wright, and Mr. Walter Jensen, father of the bride.

The bride's attendants were Janet Jensen, her cousin, Mrs. Henry Morsette, and Miss Ontra Alden. The groomsmen were Gene Remmers, Ernest Plata, and Donald Jensen, the brother of the bride. Little Kathy Wright was the flower girl. Mrs. Mary Payne and Miss Connie Vaughn were the candlelighters, and Bill Collier and Kenny Burke the ushers.

Guests were invited to a reception following the wedding given by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Dan Jensen, at her home on Berwick Trail, Madison.

Mr. and Mrs. Swayze left after the reception for their honeymoon in New York. After a summer in the colporteur work in Alabama, they will go to Collegedale, where Mr. Swayze will be a senior pre-medical student.

New Workers Join Madison College Staff

To meet the expanding needs of the school and also to replace men who have left, Madison College has recently invited a number of new workers to join the institution.

Mr. Ralph Martin, from Pewee Valley Sanitarium, Kentucky, is heading the newly organized Associated Services Division.

Also joining this division is Mr. Casser King, builder, plasterer, and mason, from Idaho.

Mr. Harry Wickham has returned to Madison after teaching for three years in the high school, at Crossville, Tennessee. He will teach mathematics and industrial education classes and also work in the Associated Services.

Mr. Homer Campbell is another worker returning to Madison. Aff-

North and West Halls Ready for Occupancy

Madison Sanitarium and Hospital announces that North Hall, now a brand new building, completely modernized, will be ready for occupancy by June 20. The interior has been replastered throughout and new floors have been laid. North Hall will be used for convalescent psychiatric cases.

The modernizing of West Hall has been completed and new furniture has been ordered to replace much of the former. This building will house medical and surgical patients.

Campus School Graduation Climaxes Successful Year

Fourteen eighth - graders of the Campus School successfully completed the requirements for graduation and received their certificates on May 18.

The graduation climaxed the many activities of the school year 1956-57, a year which saw varied improvements in the elementary school.

Under the direction of Mr. William Barney, principal, the school building was renovated, cleaned, painted, varnished, and redecorated. Modern new desks were purchased for pupils in grades seven and eight. The teacher's desk is also of the latest design. An aquarium is part of the permanent equipment in that room. New tables and chairs were bought for grades one and two.

The principal's office has received a face lifting, a new locked filing cabinet for all permanent records, new drapes, and three modernistic chairs. The long hallway, which has been so dark and dreary, has been made cheery with new paint and varnish, a glassed-in bulletin board, and a beautiful illuminated picture of Christ in the Garden of Gethsemane, which was presented to the school by the graduating class of 1957.

Drinking fountains have been installed on the playground, where four children can drink at one time, and the swings, teeters, baseball diamond, and merry-go-round have all been repaired, repainted, and made ready for the next group of children. A large sandbox made of cement blocks is a fine addition to the playground equipment.

In the front of the building a flagpole has been made available for daily use. Boxwoods, cannas, and other shrubs have been planted which will serve in years to come as a constant reminder of the efforts put forth by Principal Barney, his staff, and the pupils of the Campus Demonstration School.

Largest Class in History of Academy Graduates

The Academy Class of 1957 was the largest and most colorful class in the history of the school, according to available records. Thirty-two seniors completed their courses and received their diplomas at the commencement exercises on Saturday night, June 1.

Many members of the class have attended school here a long time. Six graduated from the grade school here. A large number have spent at least two years at Madison College Academy.

Their senior year has been full of activities. There were parties in the seniors' honor at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Randall, Dr. and Mrs. Cyrus Kendall, Dr. and Mrs. William Sandborn, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Byrd, and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Wilson. Then came the important big week in the nation's capital, which was described in a previous issue of this paper, and of course the junior-senior picnic at Montgomery Bell State Park.

The big weekend started Thursday night with the class night program. A record attendance enjoyed the well-planned program of class talent and speeches. The class gift was a coat rack to be placed in the hall. The class called Elder A. D. Burch, former Boulevard Church pastor now in Florida, to give the consecration address on Friday night. The baccalaureate sermon on Sabbath morning was given by Elder R. A. Bata, new pastor of the First Church in Nashville.

At the commencement the junior class led the way in with lighted candles, and the seniors filed down the long aisle for the last time. Elder Pingnot, commencement speaker, challenged the seniors to be real Christian workers who follow the blueprint as it has been presented. After the program the juniors held a reception for the graduates and their relatives in the Nutrition Laboratory.

To The Graduates

Graduates:

You have arrived at a milestone in your career. Yet remember that this graduation is only a way station and not a permanent resting place. It may seem to be a climax, the goal for which you have striven, the highest achievement in this world. That is well. You have a right to be pleased and proud. Many have aspired to this same goal and have fallen out by the wayside. You are to be commended for your perseverance in securing a high school education.

But now that you have arrived and can view new heights, reset your eyes on another lofty goal. You have demonstrated your determination and ability; don't let them die.

There are numerous other goals yet to be reached, but remember that the most important one is expressed in your motto, "All for God."

You have been a good class, and your teachers will miss you. You have been most cooperative and helpful during the past year. Your school is proud of you. Keep up your good record.

The Assembly Hall was the scene of the second capping ceremony of this year on May 19 as the fifteen members of the March freshman nursing class marched in as the processional "Triumphant March" was played by Professor Francis Cossentine at the piano and Mrs. Joyce Mayden at the organ.

A duet, "Hold Thou My Hand," was sung by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Huether. Mrs. Huether is a senior nursing student.

Following the invocation by Mr. Paul Dysinger, new general manager of the college, Dr. J. C. Gant, medical director of the hospital, gave the welcome.

Elder Lawrence Kagels, from Lansing, Michigan, recent Week of Prayer speaker, was the guest speaker of the class. In his sermonette, Elder Kagels impressed his listeners with many practical illustrations as he revealed some of the opportunities for service which will be theirs as Christian nurses.

Mrs. Clapp, director of nurses, read an allegory which impressed the nurses with the sacredness of their calling.

The high light of the service came when Miss Edith Munn gave the roll call and the members of the class stepped up on the platform to be capped or receive their insignia in the traditional manner by senior students. The lamp of each was lighted from the flame of the lamp of Florence Nightingale, as represented by Mrs. Doris Thomson, nursing arts instructor. The members of the class then raised their right hands as they recited the Nightingale Pledge.

Pastor O. J. Mills offered the consecration prayer. As a part of the consecration, Mrs. Brenton Bullock, wife of one of the class members, sang the class song, "Others."

Following the benediction by President William Sandborn, the upperclassmen formed an honor guard down the center aisle as the class marched out.

After the service, the class and their guests were honored at a short informal reception in the college cafeteria, given by the senior nurses.

New Registrar Takes Up Duties

Mr. Homer Lynd, new registrar and secondary education teacher, entered upon his duties in the registrar's office on June 2. Mr. Lynd takes the place of Elder J. M. Ackerman, who, with his wife, has accepted a call to Southern Missionary College.

Mr. Lynd comes to Madison from Nashville, where he has been principal of the Nashville Junior Academy. Mr. and Mrs. Lynd and Debbie, age five, will soon move to their new home on the campus.

Three other vacancies on the staff are yet to be filled:

A qualified librarian is needed to fill the place left vacant when Mr. Edward Collins was called to the mission field.

Mrs. Helen Socol, dean of women, will leave at the close of August, as her husband has finished his course in Anesthesiology.

Mrs. Edna Atkin Pepper, who for four years has headed the department of secretarial science, has joined her husband in California and will be employed in the Voice of Prophecy office.

ter spending a year in Texas, he joins the Associated Services Division as carpenter and cabinet maker.

Another Texan, Mr. Fred Martin, carpenter, painter, and electronics expert, will be connected with this division.

Schmale Wins Spelling Honors Second Time

Ronald Schmale, college sophomore, won top honors again in the annual spelling bee held in chapel on May 22. Three years ago, when Ronald was a senior in the academy, he took the same honors in a similar contest.

Gilbert Jorgensen and Bill Howard, anesthesia students, ranked second and third, respectively, in the spelldown.

The winners received medals furnished by the G. and C. Merriam Dictionary Company.
