

Concert Pianist Presented at Lyceum

In a program of unusual merit, Mr. Ralfe Christman-Isham, concert pianist, was presented as the first Lyceum artist of the school year, on Sunday evening, October 20, at 8:00 o'clock.

An attentive, appreciative audience enjoyed the carefully chosen selections, ranging from the crisply articulated Bach Suite in E Major, through the familiar "Moonlight Sonata" of Beethoven and a group of gracefully florid Chopin pieces, to the impressive sonorities and technical demands of Moussourgsky and Liszt.

Following the recital, Mr. Isham

Ralfe Christman-Isham

remarked on the feeling of congenial warmth which pervaded the audience. Both verbally while on the campus, and in a subsequent letter to Professor F. R. Cossentine, Mr. Isham commented on the friendly welcome given him by Madison College, and expressed a willingness to return next season if his schedule should permit.

Of interest to the many who are acquainted with Elder and Mrs. Harry K. Christman, formerly with the Southern Publishing Association, and now with the Pacific Press, is the fact that Mr. Isham is Elder Christman's brother, who was adopted by Mr. Edward Isham, in order to provide the funds for his musical training and career.

Mr. Isham was under the management of Columbia Concerts Bureau and a staff pianist for the Columbia Broadcasting Company when called into the army at the beginning of World War II.

(Continued on page 3)

A. C. Fearing Leads in Week of Prayer Youth Speakers Share Experiences

Professor Rimmer Takes Mill to ASI

Mr. James G. Rimmer, professor emeritus at Madison College, demonstrated his home flour mill at the tenth anniversary convention of the Association of Self-supporting Institutions. The convention was held in the Washington Sanitarium chapel, Takoma Park, Maryland, from October 26 through October 31.

Professor Rimmer has worked through the years to perfect a mill that will grind grains to any desired fineness at a slow speed that does not overheat the grain. He went to Washington in response to an invitation from the A.S.I.

He left Nashville on American Airlines flight 650 Sunday, October 27, and returned on American Airlines flight 201 on Sunday, November 3.

—ASMC—

Lorenzes Entertain New Students

Seventy new single students were guests of Elder and Mrs. Felix A. Lorenz at a supper in the Nutrition Laboratory on Saturday evening, October 19.

Mrs. Lorenz, head of the Nutrition Department, demonstrated her professional abilities in a practical way with her famous delicious homemade bread, sandwich spread, baked beans, potato salad, ice cream, and orange punch.

It was a "Dagwood Supper," that is, the sandwich materials were spread out before the guests, who built their own sandwiches.

After the buffet-style supper, the students enjoyed a general sing with Rita Campbell at the piano and Elder Lorenz leading the singing.

It is rumored that on some Saturday night soon the new married students will enjoy the same treat.

In the absence of a place for class parties, farewells, birthday parties, and other social events where good eats are essential—a student-union building—the Nutrition Laboratory is fast becoming a popular place on the campus.

Elder Andrew C. Fearing, president of the Georgia-Cumberland Conference, and fifteen college students were speakers at the Week of Prayer meetings held October 18-26.

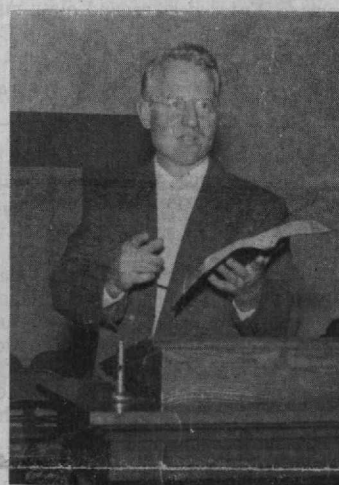

"How real is Jesus to you?" Elder Fearing asked at the beginning of the first meeting. "Religion is caught; it is not taught. It is not theory; it is real," he told the students.

During his second weekend meetings Elder Fearing dwelt on God's boundless love. "God will give his children the power to overcome temptation and be the happiest people on earth," he said.

In his forceful, convincing way, Elder Fearing showed that God expects the Christian to be a spectacle in this world. On Sabbath afternoon, at the closing meeting, he climaxed his studies with lessons from the experiences of the apostle Paul.

From Monday through Thursday, at chapel and at evening worship, fifteen students told personal experiences and presented thoughts on conversion, answered prayer, victorious living, Christian progress, the power of influence, and prayer.

Jean Openshaw, Gordon Rob-

Elder A. C. Fearing

erts, and Joseph Beckner told of definite answers to their own and relatives' prayers.

Julia Keller and Charlie Myers told of the influence of Christian schools in their lives.

Ruby Seibert, Maureen Drake, and Alex Nischuk explained the secrets of victorious living. Only through Christ, not through their own strength, can Christians be victorious.

(Continued on page 3)

Youth speakers during Week of Prayer. Left to right: Darlenejoan McKibbin, Clyde Holland, Petra Sukau, Alex Nischuk, Julia Keller, Charles Myers, Maureen Drake, Joe Beckner, Ruly Seibert, Otis Detamore, Lucy Courter, Gordon Roberts, Jean Openshaw.

Official Publication of the

ASSOCIATED STUDENTS OF MADISON COLLEGE

Editorial Associates—DERYL CHRISTENSEN, LUCY COURTER, JOHN DOVICH, BERTHA KING, ALYCE WILLIAMS, EDWIN ZOLLINGER

Columnists—Wilma Gill, Patsy Neely, Bob Devlin, Shirley Hancock, Virginia Davidson

Business Manager ..... CHARLIE MYERS

Circulation Manager ..... MAUREEN DRAKE

Assistant Circulation Managers—ELIZABETH MILLINER, MARY LOU WARD

Editorial Adviser ..... Elizabeth Cowdrick

Business Adviser ..... Philip Lang

Published semi-monthly during the fall, winter, and spring quarters, and monthly during the summer quarter. Entered as second class matter May 29, 1953, at the Post Office at Madison College, Tennessee. Subscription price—$1.50 per year.

PRINTED AT THE RURAL PRESS

November 1, 1957

Page 2

It Was a Good Week

This is the first year that Madison has broken away from the custom of having a guest speaker conduct all the Week of Prayer meetings. The guest speaker had the weekend services; students had charge of the chapel and evening meetings.

According to many of the students, this Week of Prayer has meant more to them than any other such week in the past.

Even one of our Bible instructors told his class that the student-conducted meetings had done more for him than any preacher could have done.

As students and teachers, we know that there was power in the messages given by these young men and women. Why can the young people not be given more opportunities to conduct religious services throughout the school year?

We are told in the Spirit of Prophecy that the young people will finish the work of God in the earth. J.D.

Alumni News

Mickey and Marinell Rabuka stopped to greet friends on their way from Ft. Sam Houston to Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Mickey will work in the laboratory in the army hospital there.

If you didn't hear Mrs. Simmons read the letter she received from Althea and Gerald Turnbull, you missed an inspiring account of service in the mission field. We were impressed with their accomplishing so much with so few facilities in their hospital and hope we can send them some supplies they need very much. Their address is Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Turnbull, S.D.A. Mission Hospital, Jengre Via Jos, North Nigeria, West Africa.

Janyce Jansen Addison writes from her little schoolroom in California: "If all teachers could have a school as wonderful as mine, they would sing the praises of teaching forever!" Janyce, who was married in August, is teaching in Redlands while her husband, a sophomore dental student, pursues his course at C.M.E.

James Culpepper writes from Germany: "I met Bob and Pat Silver in February at the annual S.D.A. retreat in Bertchesgarden. Since this time we haven't met, but are sure to in three or four months when we return to the States. Bob and I came into the Army the same day. . . . I hope that this school year is as good as last year, with many new students, a high school spirit, and religious atmosphere."

(Continued in col. 3)

Wasiota Whispers

"You are my sunshine, my only sunshine," were the words that brought the girls in both Williams Hall and Gotzian Home to the windows one evening last week. The men blended their voices as Clyde Holland played the accordion to serenade the girls. Sorry to say, the girls didn't seem to appreciate the music, because they showered the boys with water. If you want to know who got soaked—well, just ask Albert Isom and Bob Devlin.

We are always happy to have former students come and visit us. Richard Sutton, a former agriculture student from Georgia, was on the campus for a short visit this past weekend.

George Roach and Bob Tetz have moved from the Court to Assembly Hall. Bob seems to be home "sick" for the Court, because someone saw the school nurse visit him the other evening.

During the Week of Prayer the boys were happy to have Ed Zollinger, Dale Nelson, Paul Nettland, James Bogachoff, Joe Beckner, David Hernandez, and Lloyd Hamilton as prayer band leaders. Let's all get behind these fellows so we can have a year of prayer, instead of only a special week.

There is one thing that has been puzzling Austin "Tex" Laughlin lately. He is having a hard time trying to keep track of his bicycle.

Music of the highest quality can be heard coming out of three particular rooms at Assembly Hall quite frequently. John Dovich, Paul Nettland, and Harold Iles all have hi-fi sets which are kept in good use.

We hear that two of our last year's Wasiotans—LeRoy Fielding and Bob Salmon—have joined the ranks of married men.

Starch and Stripes

Surgical Wing missed Patsy Wilson's presence for four days last week while she, her mother, and sister stopped at Collegedale for a short visit and then spent several days enjoying themselves at Fontana, North Carolina.

The Nursing Department welcomes Richard Borgeson, a new transfer student from Florida Sanitarium and Hospital. He is now on General at his post of duty.

Rigor Mortis has set in. At least that is what Dr. Johnson called it when a certain young scrub nurse in surgery pulled up a stool and sat down. Elizabeth Milliner was the culprit. Dr. Johnson told this story: "In a certain hospital a young circulating nurse pulled up a stool and sat down, remarking as she did so, 'This is for Rigor Mortis to set in.'" Let's hope this doesn't happen to you, Liz.

Excitement is in the air at this time of the year in the Nursing Department. Oh, yes, the probies are appearing on the scene of action after spending a month in intensive preparation in the Nursing Arts Building.

October 23 will be a day that Lila Ring, Helen Leitsinger, Verna Benson, Lois Walper, and Alice Surdahl will never forget, for that was their first day on the floor as student nurses. What happened? Let's leave that up to them to tell, since they lived through the day.

The rest of the class—Margaret Anaya, June Davidson, Peggy Fears, Virginia Greenlee, Doris Leatherman, Paul Nettland, Damaris Rivera, and Wilma Smith—followed shortly, all with awe and fear, but with great satisfaction that at last their great day had arrived.

Mrs. Alexander, dormitory nurse, has been busier than usual of late since Mr. Flu Bug has joined our staff. Although several of the student nurses, including probies, have been ill, the percentage of illness among the students is yet small.

Flu Situation Not Serious at College

The flu bug has b't at Madison College, but not too hard so far. According to Dr. Naomi Pitman, school physician, the situation is not serious here, especially in comparison to what it is in other places.

A long weekend vacation was declared Thursday noon, mainly to allow those who are well to relax, get more sleep, and help in the work departments. The sanitarium has been especially short of workers during the epidemic.

Teachers Attend Convention for Dietitians

Dr. Frances Dittes, dietitian at Madison Sanitarium and Hospital, and Mrs. Felix A. Lorenz, Sr., head of the Nutrition Department, attended the meetings of the Seventh-day Adventist Dietetic Association and of the American Dietetic Association.

The meetings were held in Miami, Florida, the former one from October 19 to 22, and the latter from October 22 to 25.

Twenty-eight Seventh-day Adventist dietitians were present, and about 2000 dietitians at the general meetings.

Alumni—from col. 1

Following are the addresses of Madisonites who are teaching church school this year:

Wanda Aitken and Ruby Sykes, Beacon Hill Academy, Rt. 2, DeQueen, Arkansas.

Carol Burchard, 908 Cedar Lane, Tullahoma, Tennessee.

Robert Eaton, Chestnut Hill School, Portland, Tennessee.

Winona Fiebelkorn, Burlington, Michigan.

Mrs. Robert Addison (Janyce Jansen Addison), 419 Brookside Ave., Redlands, California.

Mervin and Orvella Ernst, Ozark Academy, Gentry, Arkansas.

Harry Bowden, Cave Springs Home for Children, Pegram, Tennessee.

Helen Twombly and Rachel Ramsey, Ridgetop School, Ridgetop, Tennessee.

Richard Kunau, Bon Aqua, Tennessee.

Margaret Whitney, 210 N. Broadway, Lexington, Kentucky.

—ASMC—

NEW ARRIVAL

Sheila Kathleen, 7 pounds, 6¼ ounces, on November 1, to Drs. George and Margaret Horsley.

If we take care to form good habits the first twenty years of our life, our habits will take care of us the last twenty years of our lives.

—JAMES TERRY WHITE

Let's Get Acquainted

Betty Guerra

"Hola, cómo está?" is a friendly greeting coming from Panama to the United States. The ambassador of "Hi, how are you?" is Betty Guerra, a student at Madison College.

This is not Betty's first time away from home. In 1952 she went to Costa Rica and attended Colegio Vocacional (vocational college) for four years.

Betty appreciates her education and knows very well what it is to work one's way through school. At one time she taught piano lessons as a means of income. Four months of colporteur work in San Salvador at the age of seventeen won for her a scholarship. During this time she was also playing the piano for the meetings that were being held.

Before flying to her new home here in Madison, she was secretary for a year and a half at the Panama Conference headquarters in Balboa, Canal Zone.

It is an answer to prayer that Betty is here. Her papers for entering the United States were "fixed up" in an unusually short time.

Her desire is to become a medical secretary and to win members of her family to the church.

If you haven't met Betty, just visit the registrar's office and she will greet you with a smile.

"Hola"

Band Elects 1956-57 Officers

The Madison College Band elected its new officers for the school year 1957-58 on Monday evening, October 14, during the regular rehearsal period.

Mr. K. P. McDonald, director of the band, turned the latter part of the rehearsal time over to Professor Francis Cossentine, chairman of the Division of Fine Arts, who acted as temporary chairman in the organization of the band. Present to vote were thirty of the thirty-five band members.

The officers elected were Robert Tetz, president; Norman Sosson, vice-president; Mary Peek, secretary-treasurer; Juanita Sosson, librarian; Tui Pitman, property manager; Richard Mitzelfelt, assistant property manager.

—ASMC—

Week of Prayer—from p. 1

Petra Sukau showed by apt illustration how the Christian makes progress by taking only one step at a time, though perfection is the work of a lifetime.

On Wednesday night the speakers emphasized influence. Otis Detamore told of S.D.A. boys in the army who let their light shine so as to influence another young man and lead to his conversion. Lucy Courter and Darlenejoan McKibbin illustrated the truths that no man lives to himself, and that even one smile or one frown may cheer or discourage another.

On Thursday night Marie Brenchley testified to the power of prayer in her own experience here at school. At a time when she needed $50 God gave her enough extra work so that she earned exactly $50. Following her talk, a number of young people testified to the way that God had led in their lives.

This was Elder Fearing's second visit to Madison College. He preached his first sermon in Tennessee at Madison about one year ago, just after coming to the Southland.

After graduation from Washington Missionary College, Elder and Mrs. Fearing taught three years in the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia. Before coming to the Georgia-Cumberland Conference he was president of the Nevada-Utah Conference. Previous to this period of service he was pastor of the Glendale, California, church.

The following young people sang or played instrumental numbers: JoAnn Gibbons, Shirley Hancock, Charles Bryan, Gilbert Jorgensen, Alice Fulbright, Harold Iles, Austin Laughlin, Tui Pitman, Paul Nettland, Verna Benson, Mary Peek, Ruby Seibert, Phillip and Linda Mills, Bill Howard, Norma Gooze, Martha Norris, Tena Penner, Febe Santo Domingo, Delphia Ladner, Esther Edmonson.

Frozen Foods Fill Locker

Twelve hundred cubic feet of frozen food, most of which was planted, cultivated, harvested, and prepared for freezing by teachers and students, now fills the college locker in Madison.

In the locker are 130 bushels of green beans, 411 gallons of strawberries, 180 gallons of peaches, 27 gallons of squash, 68 gallons of corn, and 58 gallons of okra.

Those who worked at the college this summer remember the 5 a.m. bees, when the president, treasurer, hospital administrator, and all department heads who could come worked side by side with students planting, hoeing, and picking garden fruits and vegetables. All this frozen food is the reward of their labor.

"We believe," says President Sandborn, "that the blessing of God was upon our labors as we endeavored to carry out the following counsel from Fundamentals of Christian Education:

"Let the teachers in our schools take their students with them into the gardens and fields and teach them how to work the soil in the very best manner."

"People should learn as far as possible to depend upon the products that they can obtain from the soil."

—ASMC—

Concert Pianist—from p. 1

He returned to civilian life after six years of service, but because of a back injury was unable to resume concertizing for two more years. After several years of practice and increasing concert engagements, Mr. Isham is now returning to the management of Columbia Concerts.

C.M.E. Doctors Meet At Banquet

Thirty-five doctors and their wives attended the annual banquet of the C.M.E. Alumni Association held in the Nutrition Laboratory on Tuesday evening, October 29.

The banquet was prepared and served by the foods section of the academy home economics class, under the direction of Mrs. Felix A. Lorenz, Sr., head of the Nutrition Department.

Miss Catherine Joy Pearce, managing editor of the C.M.E. Alumni Journal, was the guest speaker.

Dr. F. L. Umali, resident physician at Madison Sanitarium, furnished the special music on his violin. He was accompanied by Mrs. F. B. Cothren.

—ASMC—

Gotzian Girls Called Home

Two girls from Gotzian Home were recently called to their homes because of their mothers' illness.

Pansy Barton left for her home in Vian, Oklahoma, on October 23 after receiving a message that her mother had been severely cut when she fell into an electric saw. The latest word from Pansy is that her mother is still in the hospital in a serious condition. Pansy, a home economics major, will not return to Madison till next quarter.

Jeanette Pulford was also called home to care for her mother. Jeanette was surprised as all the Gotzian girls met in the parlor after study hall on October 27 to wish her happiness as she goes to Port Huron, Michigan. They presented her with a small teddy-bear as a going-away gift.

Jeanette's plans are to go to the Takoma Sanitarium at Greenville, Tennessee, as soon as possible, to become a licensed practical nurse.

Village Girls Launch Club Activities

The Village Girls' Club launched their year's activities on Saturday night, October 26, by sponsoring what proved to be a very successful party. The school gym, gaily decorated by Juanita Schwarz, Myrna Moore, and Jackie Lee, served as the background for the evening's festivities, which opened with a literal "bang" as two sides battled in a relay of popping balloons by sitting on them. The committee on games, June Creighton, Patsy Adkins, and Charlene Bryant, proved that they had been wisely chosen as they unfolded their program of games and other plans.

A table resplendent with doughnuts, hot chocolate, and candies was prepared by Elsie Arellano and Sylvia Mitzelfelt, who then watched their handiwork dismantled with amazing speed.

In the relaxed atmosphere of the "time out for food" interval, a skit was presented in pantomime, starring Rita Martz as a bewildered belle with too many beaux—Larry Kelly, Eddie Thornton, Tui Pitman, Ernest Dean, and Dennis Randall. Elsie Arellano was a very realistic maid for the resourceful heroine.

Other games followed in rapid succession with Mr. J. E. Stearns leading out in some active games; and they were climaxed by a story in the dark, narrated by Mrs. Stearns, who presented evidence of an automobile accident she and her husband were purported to have observed on a stormy night, when the victim of the crash could be picked up only in pieces. Proof of the accident was unmistakable as each student present suddenly found in his hands part of the anatomy of the victim. Mrs. Stearns openly proclaimed the moral of the story to be "Be careful when you are driving home—the party is over!"

Plans are already underway for a banquet near the end of the first semester, and second semester activities are under discussion.

—ASMC—

Lorenz Speaks

Quoting the first two stanzas of Sam Walter Foss's well known poem, "The House by the Side of the Road," Elder Felix A. Lorenz, in his chapel talk on October 28 emphasized the fact that "the time to build our house by the side of the road is now, not after we are graduated."

"We are all so prone to consider our school days as drudgery preparatory for life," he continued. "Our school days are a part of life—often the best part."

Business Leaders See Film

The Future Business Leaders of America held their first meeting Saturday night in the small rotunda and featured a film, "Anger at Work." The film showed the effects of getting angry on the job and the number of people that may be affected by one person's anger.

The following officers were elected: Lucy Courter, president; Bill Moon, vice-president; Norma Googe, secretary; Sally Hoover and Carol Thompson, public relations secretaries.

Plans for the future include a talk by a C.P.A. (Certified Public Accountant) at the next meeting, which will be held on Saturday night, November 9.

Cookies and hot chocolate were served. Approximately 16 students interested in business as a career attended.

Micro-Gamma Has Party

The Micro Gamma Club, exclusively for Medical Technology and X-ray students, had their first function on October 19.

The party consisted of good food and entertainment. Dr. Cyrus Kendall was the "star" of the party, as he was the sole participant in the game, "Down on the Farm." He was asked to imitate three farm animals, and while he was doing his best to imitate the chicken, an egg was placed in his chair. It is to be regretted that there was no picture taken of his face when he saw that egg.

About 40 members enjoyed the color film, "Flying with Godfrey," an Eastern Air Lines film.

Everyone agreed that the party was a success, even the lone girls in the lab, Ruth Duncan and Shirley Burk, who planned the menu—and everyone didn't bring potato salad.

—ASMC—

Houcks to Leave

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Houck, Terry, and Carol, who will soon sail for Africa, were guests of honor at a farewell gathering for them in the Nutrition Laboratory on Sunday night, November 3. Mr. Houck has accepted a call to teach in Helderberg College, near Cape Town, South Africa.

After the pot luck supper, the Houcks were presented with a traveling bag, a gift from the Madison College workers.

Take care of your life; the Lord will take care of your death.
—WHITEFIELD

Madison Auto Parts

301 Gallatin Road
MADISON, TENNESSEE
Phone Madison 7-3321

Dormitory Clubs Join

The recently organized Wasiota Club joined the Delta Nu Zeta Club Thursday evening, October 24, on a surprise birthday party for Mrs. Temple, dean of women.

Among corn stalks and other fall decorations the two clubs met to enjoy games and refreshments in the college cafeteria. During the course of the evening the president of the girls' club presented Mrs. Temple with a gift.

To end the evening's entertainment, Mr. Miles Coon related a few exciting stories as all were seated around an imaginary bonfire.

The officers of the Wasiota Club are John Dovich, president; Albert Isom, vice-president; Bob Tetz, secretary-treasurer; Paul Nettland, parliamentarian; and Joe Beckner, pastor. Dean Stewart Crook is the sponsor.

"The outlook for the future seems to point to a successful year for the club," stated the president as he viewed plans for the coming months.

Hayride for Pre-Nurses

"Be sure to dress warmly, girls," warned Mrs. Alexander as the pre-nurses started off on the hayride planned by the Pre-nursing Club for Saturday night, October 26.

At their destination they sat around a big bonfire and sang songs, accompanied by Douglas Kendall on his guitar. Virginia Davis told some very interesting stories while everybody drank hot chocolate and ate doughnuts.

On the way home, while they stopped to unhook a gate, somehow the pin came out of the wagons and the back wagon was left sitting. Finally the pin was found and the journey was continued to the dormitory.

The only conquests which are permanent, and leave no regrets, are conquests over ourselves.
—NAPOLEON

SELLERS FLORIST

Flowers for All Occasions

MADISON, TENNESSEE

Phone 7-3379

K FURNITURE COMPANY

THE BEST QUALITY
WITH THE LOWEST PRICES
EASY TERMS FOR EVERYONE

UPTOWN—MADISON

Phone 7-3193

Guest Speaker at T.O.T.

Twenty-two future teachers were present at the first official meeting of the Teachers of Tomorrow Club on October 26.

Elder Andrew Fearing, president of the Georgia-Cumberland Conference, was guest speaker on the program. His theme was the importance of a good training physically and mentally before a teacher enters upon his work. "Teaching is one of the most important and interesting jobs there is," he said.

Alex Nischuk, new president, presided. Pedro Ramos was elected as spiritual vice-president. Also the constitution was read.

Refreshments and a get-acquainted period followed during the latter part of the club meeting.

Married Students to Meet

The next meeting of the Married Students' Club will be a party, with program and refreshments, to be held in the gymnasium on the evening of November 7.

—ASMC—

Gideons Present Bibles

Eighteen New Testaments were presented to the fifth grade pupils in the Campus and Ridgeway Church Schools on Wednesday, October 30, at the regular J.M.V. meeting held in Assembly Hall.

The Testaments were the gift of the Gideon Bible Society and were presented by Mr. A. Hicks and Mr. Sam Young, representatives of the Society.

Each teacher in the schools was given a Bible for her classroom.

Home and School

Incidents from the early lives of their teachers were depicted by eight church school children at the Home and School meeting held in the Assembly Hall on the evening of October 31.

The children who took part in the skits were Barbara Bailey, JoAnn Ramsey, Sharon Cossentine, Janice Thomson, Kitten Stearns, Paul Johnson, John Crowder, Philip Mills. Mary Morris played the piano for the singing.

When Mrs. Linville, as a small girl, couldn't find the scissors, she used the butcher knife to cut out her doll dresses, so Barbara Bailey's little skit showed.

Sharon Cossentine, with her bouquet of flowers, represented Miss Peterson, who spent many happy hours as a child helping her florist father.

Janice Thomson, as Mrs. Dixie Wilcox, relived a dormitory scene when Dixie and her roommate used to blow the ants off their breakfast rolls and then say, "Oh, well, I guess the rest are raisins."

Philip Mills represented Mr. Ferris, who as a small boy took his aunt's pennies to buy bubble gum for his schoolmates.

After the program the parents were taken on a tour of the school-rooms, where the children and their teachers were waiting to greet them.

Mrs. O. W. Ramsey is the leader of the Home and School, Mrs. Morris Slater the assistant leader, and Mrs. Leslie Morris the secretary-treasurer.

COMING EVENTS

Nov. 8, 9, Vespers, Sabbath—Dr. Alfred Webber, from Tokyo Sanitarium

Nov. 11, Chapel—A.S.M.C.

Nov. 15, Academy chapel—Elder Hegstad.

Nov. 15, Vespers—Elder Bennett, pastor of Boulevard Church.

Nov. 18, Chapel—Unit representative.

MADISON SANITARIUM and HOSPITAL

Madison, Tennessee
Beautifully located on a 900-acre estate near Nashville; 218-bed capacity; X-ray and Clinical Laboratories; Hydrotherapy and Electrotherapy; Surgical, Obstetrical, Medical.

