Future Teachers Pledge Service

Christian education in its fullest meaning was emphasized on the college campus on the weekend of March 8.

At the vesper service Elder H. S. Hanson, secretary of education for the Southern Union, proved to all listeners that the consistent Christian life is the best argument in favor of the gospel and Christianity.

The Sabbath morning church hour was the time for the annual event called the "Commissioning Service." Dr. K. M. Kennedy, who directs the Division of Education at Southern Missionary College, was the challenging speaker for the occasion. His sermon was stimulating and thought-provoking for parents and teachers.

Seventeen college Teachers of Tomorrow received the insignia setting them aside for their life's work. Those commissioned were Juan Anglada, Pansy Barton, Ishmael Combs, Ruth Coulter, Glenn Ferguson, Jack Gibbons, Martha Ann Gullett, Harold Iles, Angel Jimenez, Charlotte Mathis, Darlenejoan McKibben, Alex Nischuk, Pedro Ramos, Ruby Seibert, Ramon Torres, Carol Thompson, Laura Young.

Carolyn Cantrell, Carolyn Combs, Nancy Ferciot, Zoe Cruzen, and Rebecca Culpepper were commissioned as Academy Teachers of Tomorrow members.

Carol Yoshimura, Barbara Crowder, Joy Ramsey, Reba Linn, and Patsy Temples, from the grade school, having signified their desire to teach, were honored in this impressive service.

Service pins were given the campus teachers—Mr. Winston Ferris, Mrs. Dixie Wilcox, Mrs. Leona Linville, Miss Elsie Peterson. For college service, Mr. Bernard Bowen also received a pin.

After six others from the audience signified their intention to become teachers, they came forward, with a group who had been previously commissioned, and the entire group sang the prayer of consecration. Mrs. J. D. Simmons

Club Serves Candlelight Supper

A glimpse of springtime was portrayed on the evening of March 9, as the Wasiota Club entertained the Delta Nu Zeta Club and faculty guests at supper, open house, and a program in the chapel.

After a delightful candlelight supper in the cafeteria, the guests were invited to inspect the rooms in the men's residence hall. Nearly 200 students and faculty members toured the building, expressing their surprise and satisfaction as they observed the originality and good taste of the occupants of the rooms.

"Didn't you know that the Wasiota Pep Band was sponsored by the Madison College Philharmonic Society? Well, neither did I, until tonight," were the words of Albert Isom, M. C., as he introduced the Pep Band, which got the program off to a bright start.

The program consisted entirely of Wasiota Club talent. Some of the numbers were "Stout-hearted Men," by the Choraliers; a vocal solo, "I Love Life," by Bob Tetz; a trumpet solo by Paul Nettland; a harmonica and novelty number by Charles Batchelor; a pantomime of "In Your Easter Bonnet" by Bob Devlin; a cello solo, "Danny Boy," by Austin Laughlin; and a piano arrangement of "Fantasia in D Minor" by Terry Brown. The selections were interspersed with Pep Band numbers.

Seniors Feted at Colonial Party

"President George Washington" was shown a small incident in his life in the Colonial Ballroom of the Maxwell House Hotel on Thursday evening, March 13.

While attending a garden party in his honor with such distinguished guests as the Madisons, Benjamin Franklin, and the Livermore sisters, President Washington was shown an incident from the days when he was young and handsome, when he asked Martha Custis to be his wife.

Juniors and seniors, dressed in colonial style clothes and hairdress, enjoyed a delicious meal, which followed bugle fanfare for the entrance of President Washington, under arched sabers by six soldiers.

The program director, Shirley Tucker, said, "It was rumored that the seniors wanted something different for the annual Junior-Senior Banquet; so we planned a program that would be different."

Mary Peek Chosen "Miss Student Nurse"

Mary Peek was recently chosen as Miss Madison College Student Nurse to represent Madison College School of Nursing at the Annual District T.A.S.N. Contest to be held March 20, 1958, at St. Thomas Hospital in Nashville.

The winner in the District 3 Contest (Nashville) will go to the State Contest to be held in May. She will compete with the winners of the other districts of Tennessee for the title of Miss Student Nurse of Tennessee.

Elder Chalmers to Conduct Prayer Week

Elder E. L. Chalmers and his evangelistic team, Jerry Friesen and Art Brewer, will be in charge of the Spring Week of Prayer at Madison College, to be held March 28-April 5.

Elder Chalmers, formerly connected with the New York Evangelistic Center, is now evangelist for the Kentucky-Tennessee Conference.

Needed: One Transfusion

Did you know that Madison College is sick? Not incurably, fortunately, but it is suffering from a chronic disease of indifference which is keeping it under par.

We've been neglecting the daily vitamins of civic health . . . the paint brush, the broom, the rake, the use of trash containers, and after the long winter we've begun to look quite wan and untidy.

But at just the right time, we have a life-giving transfusion available—the Clean Up—Paint Up—Fix Up program. With a little extra effort we can make up for our neglects of the past and present a shining, healthy face that will reflect enthusiastic interest instead of indifference.

And after we have practiced joint community health habits during the campaign, we should set up a pattern of daily chores to keep our home and neighborhood spic and span. The recovered patient will never become run down again.

Clean Up—Paint Up—Fix Up is the remedy, but it must be administered by you and me beginning March 22.

Two by Two

A group of friends gathered Sabbath afternoon to bid farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Moon, who will soon be leaving us to return to Rogers, Arkansas. A delicious pot luck dinner, a walk through Shelby Park, and interesting conversation provided the entertainment. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Tate, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Gill, Mr. and Mrs. Rabun and Kevin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. Art Quance. Of course Debbie Quance was there to bid Candice a special farewell.

The married students met last Thursday evening to enjoy a film trip through the New England States. The beautiful scenery and quaint country scenes made us all wish that we could make such a real trip. Mr. Don MacIntosh conducted a short business meeting in which Mrs. Paul was elected as our new secretary and in which we voted to make, as our next project, a collection of useful items to send to Africa to Mr. and Mrs. Turnbull.

A recent note from Mr. and Mrs. (Ruby Alder, R. N., '55) Henry Burchard notified us that they were parents of a son born February 15, 1958.

Mr. (Anesthesia, '54) and Mrs. (R. N., '53) Warren Cheever and children Karen and Eddie, have recently moved to Winter Garden, Florida, where Mr. Cheever will take over the department of Anesthesia in the local hospital.

A recent announcement has reached us of the marriage of Miss Beulah Vickers (R. N., '52) a former instructor at Madison College. You can reach

Starch and Stripes

"TB Nursing in Action" was presented by Mrs. Zeigler's Public Health Nursing class in chapel recently. The theme of the play was the care of the TB patient at home as well as in a hospital.

The main scene centered around Mrs. Pat Tolliver (Joyce Bowe), who had contracted tuberculosis, and the various organizations that gave help and direction in combating the disease.

In the first scene, everyone enjoyed watching Careless Sally and Careful Katherine demonstrate the right and wrong way of taking care of a TB patient in the hospital.

During the last scene the role of the Public Health Nurse was shown as she demonstrated how to care for a TB patient at home.

The students who participated did an excellent job demonstrating TB care.

Be Careful, Miss Davidson!

Miss Virginia Davidson, while teaching the Sophomore B clinic one day, got herself into trouble. In presenting the 81-year-old patient to the class, she made the statement that "81" probably seemed old to the class, as it did to herself, but probably not so old to Mrs. Gill (the M and S teacher, who was sitting on the front row during the class session).

Of course the class roared with laughter and Mrs. Gill exclaimed, "What!" while Miss Davidson turned all colors.

To those who don't know—Miss Davidson is the youngest faculty member on the campus.

Spring Fever

It seems as if Mrs. Duran's Foundations and Trends class got a touch of spring fever the other day and so decided to go on a walk to the river. The day was beautiful, and many of the beauties of nature were observed during the walk.

New Course Offered

If anyone wants to take a post-graduate course in putting heels on casts, just ask Mr. Duran, Clyde Holland, or Albert Isom all about it. They seem to know all the answers.

Wheelchair Game

Mrs. Gill's Medical and Surgical II class, having studied amputations and paraplegics, decided to attend a paraplegic basketball game at the East Nashville High School. This game was played entirely by men in wheelchairs. It was interesting to see how the player dribbled the ball with one hand while he propelled his wheelchair with the other hand. The rest of the players came behind just as fast as they could go in their wheelchairs. The goal was at normal height, and it was amazing to see how accurately they made the goal.

PROCLAMATION

Dr. William Sandborn today officially proclaimed March 22 through March 28 for the Madison College annual Clean Up—Paint Up—Fix Up campaign and urged every campus member to participate in the year's program.

Today's proclamation was as follows:
WHEREAS, the general health and welfare of our citizens depend upon wholesome surroundings arising from good clean living conditions, and

WHEREAS, the lives and property of our people are endangered by fire and accidents caused by littered and cluttered conditions in homes, dormitories, shops, places of public assembly, alleys, and streets and

WHEREAS, a clean and beautiful community is a proud and prosperous one and

WHEREAS, unity of effort is required for future development of our college and hospital community,

THEREFORE, I, Dr. William Sandborn, President of Madison College & Madison Sanitarium and Hospital, do hereby designate March 22 through March 28 as Clean Up Week and call upon all departments of the institution, the clubs, associations, and our people in general to take an active part in this constructive program of community improvement to insure its success.

This, the 17th day of March, 1958.

DR. WILLIAM SANDBORN,

PRESIDENT

MADISON COLLEGE &
MADISON SANITARIUM AND HOSPITAL

Wedding Bells

The marriage of Miss Rebecca Jane Vaughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Vaughan, to Karol Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Hanson of Detroit Lakes, Minnesota, took place at 8:30 o'clock on March 10, in the Helen Funk Assembly Hall. Elder R. E. Stewart officiated before decorations of white gladioli sprays and red anthurium, a gift from the groom's uncle in Hawaii.

The bride's gown was white lace and net over satin. She carried a white Bible with white carnations and a white orchid bouquet.

Miss Mary Lou Sullins, organist, accompanied Clyde Holland as he sang "Because" and "Wonderful Mother of Mine." Stewart Crook sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt before the minister.

After the reception held in the Nutrition Laboratory, at which Dr. F. L. Umali played several violin numbers, the couple left for Monteagle, Tennessee, to spend a week.

They will return to Brookfield, Illinois, where Mrs. Hanson will continue to work at the Hinsdale Sanitarium, and Mr. Hanson will continue his work at the Brookfield branch of the Pacific Press.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanson are both former students of Madison College.

To those who cannot, for lack of finances or other reasons, gain admission to the School of Physical Therapy of the College of Medical Evangelists, the short course of one year, offered here at Madison College, provides an opportunity for qualifying oneself in a field in which Mrs. Ellen G. White has urged Seventh-day Adventists to excel.

The prerequisite for this course is a high-school diploma and a willingness to work to carry out the objectives of this school.

There is a demand for those receiving the training offered at Madison College to work in physical therapy departments of Seventh-day Adventist sanitariums and other institutions.

Those who are interested in taking this course should write to the registrar for a descriptive booklet outlining the course.

National Clean Up Leader Praises Madison College

Laurence Kiefer, Director of the National Clean Up—Paint Up—Fix Up Bureau, Washington, D. C., commended Madison College and Madison Sanitarium and Hospital for its forthcoming Clean Up plans and pledged his organization's full assistance to the local campaign.

Mr. Kiefer advised Paul Taylor, General Chairman, of his appreciation for the Madison community's support of the nation-wide program of civic beautification and betterment. "In your Clean Up—Paint Up—Fix Up program, beginning March 22, you will be joining over 6,000 other progressive communities in an all-out fight against blight, slums, fire, accident, and disease. You will be practicing the American virtues of local initiative and responsibility. Clean Up—Paint Up—Fix Up is a demonstration of faith . . . faith in the future and faith in your offered the dedicatory prayer to close the service.

Other guests present were Elder Teddric Mohr, superintendent of education for the Kentucky-Tennessee Conference, Mrs. Charlene Collier, educational consultant for the Tennessee Department of Education, and Miss Louise Walker, teacher at Jere Baxter School.

At the M.V. hour Dr. Kennedy acted as moderator for a panel on Christian education, composed of Elders Hanson and Mohr, Mr. Lynd, and Mrs. Simmons.

To close the eventful weekend, 42 members and their guests gathered at the monthly T.O.T. meeting held in the Campus School, when a sandwich spread, a film of Helen Keller and her life story, and brief talks by Elders Kennedy and Mohr were greatly enjoyed and appreciated.

own abilities to create that future to fit your desires," Director Kiefer said.

Physical Therapists Present Career Facts

Dr. Russell Youngberg, Mr. William Price, and Mr. Charles Thomas, representing the School of Physical Therapy at Loma Linda, presented the chapel program on March 3, emphasizing the place physical therapy occupies in the medical work as carried on by Seventh-day Adventists.

"There are 6,000 openings for registered physical therapists in the United States," the students were told.

Physical therapists work with doctors, using the natural remedies stressed by Mrs. E. G. White: "pure air, sunlight, abstemiousness, rest, exercise, proper diet, the use of water, trust in divine power . . ."

Ed. Major Receives "Time" Award

Congratulations are in order for Ishmael Combs, a major in elementary education, who recently wrote on a Time current affair test, sent to colleges and universities throughout the nation.

One of 18 to take the test at Madison, he rated the highest score here and was awarded a large-sized world globe with a certificate of recognition from Time Magazine, Inc.

Dreams Come True For Mrs. Grow

A strong will to make a dream come true has ended in a way of faith for Mrs. Julia M. Grow, president of Cave Springs Home for Handicapped Children, located at Peagram, Tennessee.

In her chapel talk on March 3, Mrs. Grow related her life's experiences which led to the founding of the children's home.

"Let's give them a chance" is the slogan Mrs. Grow has chosen for the Cave Springs Home, the only school of its kind in the Seventh-day Adventist denomination. The school, about 18 miles from Nashville, was founded a little over a year ago.

Also participating in the chapel program were Harry Bowen, teacher at Cave Springs, Judy DeArk, who sang "The Lord's Prayer," and Ella May Peck, who has recently come to teach Braille. Both young ladies are sightless.

Mrs. Grow told how the 1000-acre farm was secured through the generosity of a banker and friends and through faith in God.

"Our immediate needs," concluded Mrs. Grow, "are a new tractor, a water system, and a chain saw."

Madison to Be Host College at Workshop

The outstanding privilege of being host to the official visitors from eight Seventh-day Adventist colleges is given to the Associated Students of Madison College this year.

From April 23-26 the Eighth Annual Eastern Inter-collegiate Workshop will be in session on Madison's campus. The four-day meeting will be presided over by A.S.M.C. President Jack Gibbons, who is hard at work with the faculty sponsor, Professor Francis Cossentine, planning the agenda and arranging for the many organizational details that are involved.

According to Mr. Gibbons, this is an unusual opportunity to show the students from other colleges the peculiar attributes that make this institution outstanding among Seventh-day Adventist schools.

"Each student and staff member will want to make sure that he has done his part to help in the many preparations that must be made for a successful workshop. We are counting on 100 per cent support to make this the most inspiring and beneficial workshop yet held," Mr. Gibbons declared.

Further details will be forthcoming soon as plans progress toward their final form.

Go to College

The need of a college education is ever increasing in the world today. The world needs trained men and women. One might think that the world, what with all its machines and labor-saving devices, doesn't need people as much as it did in past years, but that is not the case at all. The world, with all its machines, is producing more industry, and there is a growing demand for trained personnel who understand and can run these machines.

A high school education is a step in the right direction, but it takes a college man to get the highly specialized and well-paying jobs of today—jobs that bring real satisfaction of accomplishment and creation.

Academy students—let's adopt the motto, "College, here we come!"

Elder Hanson Stresses Attitude

"Your attitude depends upon your attitude," was the key thought of the academy chapel talk given by Elder H. S. Hanson on Thursday, March 6.

His outstanding illustration concerned a man who found life so depressing and dark that he decided to commit suicide. However, on his last day of anticipated life, he changed his usual attitude toward his associates, treating them with more courtesy and kindness. He found, to his surprise, that life took on a much brighter aspect, and

Opportunity Only

By W. H. WILSON

Life cannot guarantee you happiness or success. It simply offers a person the opportunities to work out his own achievements. Here at Madison you have the opportunity to learn to work, study, and worship. This is a distinct advantage. The public schools of today do not offer the opportunity to learn to work or worship, and they are recognizing this lack as a weak point in preparing young people for the realities of life. Your school life should not be isolated from the realities of life.

However, students, you must remember that these are only opportunities, and if they are to become realities in your life, it will be because you put forth some effort. Don't let this opportunity pass; it may not come again.

God holds us responsible, not for what we have, but could have; not for what we are, but might be.

"Great opportunities come to those who make the most of small ones."

"Time" Award—from p. 3.

The presentation was made in chapel on March 10 by Mrs. J. D. Simmons, director of elementary education, and Mr. Combs in turn presented the globe to her to be used in her classroom.

he decided against his intended suicide.

"Students, your usefulness and your happiness while here in school depend on your attitude. Make sure it's the right one," he said in closing.

Eighteen years ago, brown-eyed, brunette Juanita Schwarz was born in the Madison Sanitarium and Hospital and was brought to her mother in room 25, where the diet office now functions. She has spent her life in this vicinity ever since, attending elementary school on the campus, then transferring to the other side of the building for her academy years.

She now works at the switchboard in this same building where she was born, after having started at the sanitarium kitchen, transferring to work on the surgical wing, to the medical desk, and then to the switchboard, where her soft voice is often heard giving service to the large volume of people involved in sanitarium and educational work here on the campus.

Her favorite sports include skating and swimming, but she likes all sports activities.

Her pet peeve—"Gossips!"

Her favorites—"New clothes and pizza pie!"

Juanita's courteous manner and thoughtfulness have made her a very popular member of the student body, and assure her of continued popularity as she plans to attend college for further training.

Betty Parker's heart is obviously still in Daytona Beach, where she was born and attended elementary school. She left there for her academy years, which were spent at Highland Academy and here at Madison, but she plans to return for her college studies. Her favorite subjects are typing and shorthand, and she plans to study in the field of business as she takes advanced work.

She is not enthusiastic about many sports, but is an avid swimming fan, having had lots of practice in the ocean in Florida.

Quiet and efficient, she is a "natural" for work in the library, where she spends her afternoons at work.

She says that coconut cream pie is her favorite food, but this isn't revealed in her weight, for she is a slender five-foot-two brunette with blue eyes.
