A. S. M. C. Is Host to Inter-collegiate Workshop

With the most important event in ASMC history only one week away, six student committees are working overtime to make sure that nothing is left undone in the preparations for the Eighth Annual Inter-collegiate Workshop. Under the leadership of President Jack Gibbons, the executive council of the student-body organization has set up a steering committee comprised of the chairmen of the following committees:

Religious Program: Gordon Roberts, chairman.

Secretarial Services: Shirley Burk, chairman.

Registration and Hospitality: Lucy Courter, chairman; Ruby Seibert, associate.

Housing: Ed Zollinger, chairman; Pat Wells, associate.

Entertainment: John Dovich, chairman; Ruth Coulter, assoc.

Room Readiness: Albert Parker, chairman; Joe Fields, associate.

By means of these committees the resources of the entire student body are being mobilized to get ready for the arrival of more than fifty delegates from all around the compass. From the Northeast, Atlantic Union College and Washington Missionary College are sending representatives, as are Emmanuel Missionary College from the North Central area and Union College from the Midwest. From south of the Mason-Dixon line will come students from Southern Missionary College, Oakwood College, and Southwestern Junior College. Most delegations are expected to include four of the incoming officers of the student associations, and at least one of the present officers. Also expected as guests are the faculty sponsors of each association and several presidents of colleges.

The four-day meeting, from April 23 to April 26, is to open with a general session Wednesday

Ninety academy seniors from Fletcher, Little Creek, Pine Forest, Hylandale, and Madison academies rolled in to the college campus about noon on Tuesday, April 15, for Madison College's annual College Day. They were greeted at the main entrance by Jack Gibbons, Bob Tetz, Norma Googe, and Ruth Coulter, and escorted to Williams Hall for dinner and to meet members of the locating committee.

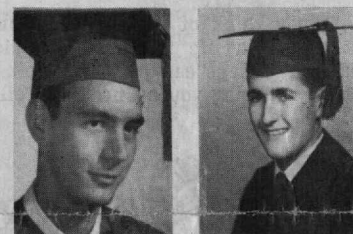

Tuesday afternoon highlights included a relaxing and refreshing period after dinner, viewing the hobby show sponsored by the Teachers of Tomorrow, a tour of the Hermitage (home of Andrew Jackson, seventh president of the U.S.) directed by principal William Wilson, and films featuring departments of the college.

The evening's program began at 6:30, when the visiting seniors were ushered into Assembly Hall to a sacred music concert under the direction of Mr. Cossentine.

The seniors were guests at a banquet served from 7:00 till 9:00 in the Nutrition Laboratory. Mrs. Lorenz and her Academy nutrition students prepared and served the meal.

Activities of the second day began after breakfast with a stimulating devotional period at 8:00 o'clock, led by Elder Lorenz.

Annual Campus Clean-up Continues in Spite of Rain

"This is more fun than classes!" say Mary Davidson, Joan Aitken, Beverly Shacklett, and Eva Campbell, academy girls, as they enthusiastically join in campus-wide clean-up.

Twice postponed because of rain the Annual Campus Clean-up is pushing to a successful finish just as this MADISONIAN goes to press.

Last week's two-day clean-up was cut short as rain began to fall Wednesday evening, continuing all night and intermittently throughout Thursday. Consequently classes were reassumed on Thursday.

During Wednesday's warm, sunny hours, windows in most of the large buildings were washed, music studios and several offices were redecorated, the recreation area was cleaned and revitalized, new flower gardens were created, and at certain spots on the campus eyesores were relieved.

Other jobs begun Wednesday and now finished or being finished are the painting of the exterior of the Hospital building, the food factory, the engineering building, Gotzian Home, and Mother D Lodge.

Plans for the Thursday evening recreation were carried out, even though clean-up was postponed.

A free chuck-wagon supper for all, a kangaroo court, an auction netting the A.S.M.C. about $70, and a movie occupied the evening from six till ten o'clock.

Immediately following, President Sandborn briefed the visitors on a history of Madison College. Then the reception committee members acted as guides on tours of the campus buildings. Also during the morning, teachers and department heads met the seniors in the library for interviews and registration for the next school year.

Before dinner, more films acquainted the visiting students with college life.

At the chapel hour after dinner, following greetings by several presidents of college clubs and organizations, a variety program was presented. Representatives from each academy participated.

Following is the program of events for the remainder of the time the seniors are on the campus. The program begins with a trip to Nashville, to acquaint the visitors with Nashville's historical heritage as the capital of the state.

TOUR OF NASHVILLE, 2:30-5:00. Mr. Wilson in charge.

OUTDOOR BAND CONCERT AND PICNIC SUPPER, 5:30-6:30. Mr. McDonald in charge. Mrs. Wilson in charge.

VESPERS, 7:00-7:30. Elder Marley, Kentucky-Tennessee Conference president, speaker.

MADISON ON PARADE, 7:30-9:30. Assembly Hall. Mrs. Simmons in charge.

Included in "Madison on Parade" will be the Barber Shop Quartet from Canada, Dr. Umali and the girls' trio from the Philippines,

Teachers of Tomorrow Sponsor Hobby Show

Favorite hobbies and pastimes for young and old were viewed by approximately 400 people at the Hobby Show sponsored by the Teacher of Tomorrow on Saturday night, April 12.

About 150 displays, ranging in size from the small sea horse shell to a home-made garden tractor, filled the college gymnasium.

Some of the displays were classified as follows: South of the Border, West of the Pacific, and East of Atlantic. The foreign students dressed in their native costumes, mingled with the crowd.

A patient Mexican burro at the grade school door received a pat from visitors who admired the dogs, cats, rabbits, and a hamster in the building.

Mrs. James Simmons, the T.O.T. sponsor, expressed her thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Verle Sossong, Mrs. Royce Bowes, Mrs. Gilbert Johnson, and the Teachers of Tomorrow for making the Hobby Show a success.

Cave Explorers

Mrs. Gill's Medical and Surgical Junior A class left one dark morning about four o'clock for Mammoth Cave, Kentucky. At breakfast time everyone had to take his turn trying to build a campfire. Rachel Yatani proved to be the best fire builder, and a good breakfast was soon being enjoyed by all.

All went through the cave in the morning and then ate dinner and rested. During the afternoon the students could choose what they wanted to do. Some went hiking, others riding, and some went through the museum. The two that enjoyed themselves the most were Pat Rosenthal and Richard Borgeson, who curled up in their sleeping bags and went to sleep.

Late afternoon came all too soon and the homeward journey began. At 5:30 supper was served, and all arrived home safely at 9:30.

The dishwasher, Brenton Bullock, stayed up to wash all the pots and pans. Thank you, Brenton.

"Probies" on the Floor

There was excitement in the air Monday morning, April 7. The new "probies" were getting ready to go on the floor for the first time. It was rumored that they were scared to death, and no doubt they were, but all lived through the ordeal satisfactorily, according to their instructors.

Hubby Is Victim

Now the news from the probie classroom. One day Mrs. Thomson made the assignment to take and record a T.P.R. every four hours for three days. The one who enjoyed this assignment most was Mrs. Bottsford, although her husband didn't. He was awakened every four hours at night to have his temperature taken. At first it was funny, but gradually it came to the place where he made the statement, "Get that out of my mouth!" Needless to say, the assignment was turned in on time.

Alyce Williams Elected

Last Thursday night the members of the Tennessee Association of Students Nurses met and elected their new officers. Miss Alyce Williams, from Madison College, was chosen to be the historian for District No. 3.

Spring Vacationers

Mrs. Doris Thomson and daughter Janice visited Mrs. Thomson's mother- and father-in-law in Terre Haute, Indiana, during Janice's spring vacation.

Mrs. Naomi Vaughan and Mrs. Mildred Cottell spent several days in Brookfield, Illinois, visiting the new bride, Becky Vaughan-Hanson.

Coming Events

April 19, Saturday night—Academy Benefit Film.

April 23-26—Inter-collegiate Workshop.

April 26, Saturday night—Dramatization of "The Lost Word," by Henry Van Dyke.

May 4, Sunday night—Sam Campbell, A.S.M.C. Benefit.

May 10, Saturday night—Music Department.

May 17, Saturday night—Hike, Supper, Program.

May 24, Saturday night—Film, Albert Schweitzer, Alumni Benefit.

May 25, Sunday—Registration for Summer Quarter.

May 31, Saturday night—Academy Graduation.

June 2, 3—Final Exams for Spring Quarter.

More than fifteen of the best-known professional music teachers of the Middle Tennessee area will be the guests of Professor Francis Cossentine, chairman of the Division of Fine Arts, on the Madison campus, Saturday evening, April 19. The occasion is the April meeting of the Nashville Area Chapter of the National Association of Teachers of Singing, which is the largest professional body of voice teachers in the world.

This is the first time that the group has been invited to Madison College, according to Professor Cossentine, who has been the president of the Nashville Area Chapter since April of 1957, and will be a member of the Board of Directors for 1958 to 1959.

The singing teachers will meet in the Nutrition Laboratory, where refreshments will be served following the featured topic of the evening, "Vocal Faults—Some Causes and Cures," presented by the guest speaker, Professor Ohm Pauli, of Western Kentucky State College, Bowling Green, Kentucky.

Farewell Given for Shirley Bauer

Mrs. Wilma Gill was hostess to a group of girls Tuesday evening, April 8, at a farewell supper for Shirley Bauer, who is leaving for her home in Canada the latter part of this month. She plans to return in September to continue her medical record course.

Those attending the supper were Dorothy Blakely, Nancy Criswell, Elenia Portalatin, Gergetta Zerbee, and Shirley Bauer.

Stearns Family Serves Mexican Supper

The Stearns family turned Mexican for a night. They and their guests enjoyed Mexican food—tacos, frijoles, and fritos—but just plain American punch, on Tuesday evening, April 8.

The centerpiece, a Mexican drip candle, made of many different-colored candles melted on the sides of a bottle, was a typical Mexican idea.

Those enjoying the delightful occasion besides the Stearns family were Yvonne and Emmett Tetz, Norma Googe, Lucy Courter, Martha Ann Norris, and Pauline Sanders.

Welcome, Seniors

By JACK GIBBONS, PRESIDENT, A.S.M.C.

The Associated Students of Madison College wish to extend a hearty welcome to all the academy guests visiting on our campus during College Days. We sincerely hope that you are enjoying your two days with us and will find here what you are looking for in an education.

"Education is the harmonious development of the physical, the mental, and the spiritual powers. It prepares the student for the joy of service in this world, and for the higher joy of wider service in the world to come." Education, p. 13. The educational program here at Madison endeavors to develop the three powers.

As you think of your future education and what your goal in life is, consider seriously what part Madison College can play in helping you reach this goal by offering you a Christian College.

Two by Two

Mr. and Mrs. Art Quance and Debbie made a flying trip to Ortonville, Minnesota. They had received word that Carol's father, Mr. A. A. Magnuson, was very ill. We are happy to report that he improved much during their visit and they returned to us in good spirits. They also visited Art's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Quance, at Staples, Minnesota.

They report that spring in the Northland is more advanced than it is here at Madison. Won't we be glad when this cold, rainy weather is over for a while?

Mrs. Ruth Woodruff, from Gentry, Arkansas, was here to spend the Easter vacation with her daughters, Margaret Woodruff and Mrs. Mary Gill.

We really miss Margaret and Herbert Tate as neighbors here on the campus. They have moved to a home in Old Hickory. Herbert is now working for the Madison Associated Physicians.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Tetz have been entertaining Emmett's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tetz, from Greeneville, Tennessee.

We were happy to have Paul and Lorene Lucas and sons, from Poplar Bluff, Missouri, as recent visitors on our campus.

It's good to see Don Fisher around again. He is now a student of Anesthesiology. Hazel and their two little daughters will join him in a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. John Williams, from Ellijay, Georgia, were here visiting friends over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Gray and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rosel made a trip to Duluth, Minnesota, last week. Leon, a graduate of last year, and Bill, a graduate of last week, were just out looking over the big wide world and trying out their wings.

Spring Week of Prayer Brings Spiritual Refreshing to Campus

The spring Week of Prayer, conducted by Elder E. M. Chalmers and Jerry Friesen, came to a climax on Friday night when 19 young people came forward, signifying their desire to prepare for baptism and church membership. On Sabbath two more came forward, along with 16 others who joined in a special reconsecration.

The theme of the week, "Practical Godliness, or the How of Christian Living," was emphasized in every sermon.

The deep earnestness of Elder Chalmers' presentations in such sermons as "Hungering and Thirsting after Righteousness," "How to Pray Effectively," and "How to Overcome Temptation" brought conviction to hearts and a sincere desire for more consecrated lives.

Jerry Friesen's youthful, friendly, and informal manner inspired the youth as he led them in singing at the beginning of each meeting.

During the week, class schedules were adjusted to allow for a full chapel service daily. At night services were held at seven, and prayer bands met immediately after the meetings.

Throughout the week students availed themselves of the counseling periods held by Elder Chalmers.

Former C.U.C. Students Get Together

A group of Canadians gathered at Jerry Friesen's home in Madison on April 2 to re-live some of the good times that they spent together while attending Canadian Union College. Jerry Friesen, singing evangelist for the Kentucky-Tennessee Conference, led the group in singing "Our C.U.C."

"Who would have ever thought that fellow students at C. U. C. in '54 would meet in such a large group at Madison College in '58?" were the words of Friesen as he recalled his schooldays.

Emmett Tetz, Alex Nischuk and Wesley Paul showed color slides of outstanding Canadian scenery. Others in attendance were Mrs. Tetz, Mrs. Nischuk, Mrs. Paul, Bob Tetz, Nettie Penner, John Dovich, David Warner, and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Werner.

Everyone present sensed more fully the Christian fellowship that binds hearts together throughout the world field.

Madisonites Featured in Youth's Instructor

Myrle Tabler's story, "The Wheel," appearing in the April 15 Youth's Instructor, is of special interest to readers at Madison College because both the author and two characters in the story are former students.

Mrs. Tabler, the author, R.N. and B.S., Class of '54, is a regular contributor to the Instructor.

"The Wheel" is the life story of Nellie Green, R.N. and B.S. in '55, who appears as Jane Rush in the story. Mrs. Julia Grow, R.N. and B.S., '55 (Gladys Land in the story) is the founder of Cave Springs Home for Handicapped Children, which at the time of the story was still a dream.

A sequel to the story will appear in the Instructor in the near future, telling of the founding of the Cave Springs School by Mrs. Grow and Miss Green.

Board Authorizes Improvements

Proposed improvements totaling $147,750 were authorized by the College Board at its recent meeting, Mr. H. E. Dysinger, general manager of Madison College and Madison Sanitarium and Hospital, has disclosed.

The biggest and most important project is the rehabilitation of the sanitarium rooms on General, which work will begin soon.

Also in the immediate future is the installing of a deep freeze unit.

Other improvements included in the budget are new campus roads; the erecting of the Dr. Sutherland memorial; extensive remodeling on various college buildings; the completion of the public address system, including the installation of pillow speakers; construction of a greenhouse for the garden department; and providing improved parking facilities.

Senior Nurses Receive Pins

Eight senior nursing students embarked upon their chosen career as graduate nurses on Sunday evening, April 6, in the Helen Funk Assembly Hall.

The occasion was the third semi-annual pinning ceremony to be conducted by the Madison College Department of Nursing.

Those so honored were Bill Rosel, Edna Earl Meyers, Joan Perkins, Christine Perkins, Marie Logan, Jackie Schlotthauer, and Paul Blankenship. Kay Schwarz, also one of the number, was unable to be present.

The guests were ushered to their seats by Glenda Luzader and Petra Sukau, Senior B students. The senior procession was preceded by two representatives from each nursing class, including two pre-clinical students.

Following the opening prayer by Dr. Gant and a vocal solo by Bill Howard was a sermonette by Mr. Miles Coon, who dramatically admonished the class to seek the fame which could be possessed by each member as a result of loving Christian service—that of having his name inscribed in the hearts of his patients and in the Book of Life.

Another highlight was the challenge presented to the class by Mrs. Doris Clapp, former director of nurses.

As Mrs. Freda Zeigler read the name, a school pin was placed on the uniform of each nurse by the registered nurse whom he or she had chosen. The consecration prayer was offered by Elder O. J. Mills.

In appreciation for the part each had played in making the graduation possible, each nurse honored this or her mother, wife, or husband by presenting that person with a red carnation corsage or white carnation boutonniere.

Following the benediction by President Sandborn, the class and their guests were entertained at a reception in their honor in the Nutrition Laboratory.

In Sympathy

Students and teachers extend sympathy to two faculty members who have recently lost their fathers.

The Sandborns were called to Kalamazoo, Michigan, on April 2, because of the death of Mrs. Sandborn's father, Mr. N. M. Deal.

Several weeks ago Mr. Wilhelmsen was called to the bedside of his father, Fritchjof L. Wilhelmsen, of Concord, New Hampshire, who at the time was very ill. His father passed away on March 24.

Silver Appointed Printing Head

Mr. Bob Silver, B.S., '55, has accepted an appointment to head the Printing Department of the institution. After graduation Mr. Silver was called to Germany, where he spent his term of army service. Mrs. Silver, the former Patricia Mitzelfelt, has been asked to connect with the business office as office manager. She was with the business office before she joined her husband in Germany.

Class Spirit

Spirit is very important to the success of an organization, whether it be business, church, or class.

I have noticed the difference in class organizations at this academy in my stay here. Some are bubbling over with spirit and are closely-knit organizations; others have little or no spirit at all. Then, there is the class in which all the work of organizing and planning of outings and activities and the raising of class funds falls on the shoulders of a few. This type of class always has more than its share of "free-loaders," people who never show up to work but always are there for the fun such as the outings and parties.

Why is it? Do these people think they are too good to work? Or do they just not think? Remember, many hands make the work light! Work will be more enjoyable if many can partake.

I have also noticed that in class meetings the ones who never work can certainly "dish out" the advice, and they seem to feel cheated if their plans are not carried out.

Does your class lack spirit? Think about this: pitch in next time your class has an outing. If you are not asked to help offer to help. I am sure your help will be gladly accepted. And you will be surprised at how much fun you can really have. If everyone pitches in, your class will become a closely-knit organization.

Seniors Hold Party In Gym

Wednesday night, April 9, found the academy senior class substituting a night in the gym for the long-planned hay-ride which failed to materialize because of rain.

The spirits of the class members were not dampened, however, and all enjoyed the games which included volley ball and ping pong.

After refreshments of cake and punch, the girls became the rooting sections as the boys played a spirited game of basketball. This ended the evening's festivities which had climaxed a busy day of campus clean-up.

evening at 7:00 o'clock, to which the public is invited. Featured speakers for this session will be President T. W. Walters of Southern Missionary College, and President William Sandborn and Professor Felix A. Lorenz, Sr., of Madison College. Other general sessions will be at 7:15 a.m. on Thursday and Friday, with guest speakers scheduled for each. Weekend services will also be under the general direction of the Associated Students, with Dean E. W. Tarr of Atlantic Union College presenting the Vesper message, and President Don R. Rees of the Southern Union Conference of Seventh-day Adventists speaking at the Sabbath morning church service.

Senior Sketches

This agriculturally-minded senior was born in Appalachie, Virginia, and then moved to Bristol, where he attended grade school. He enrolled in Fletcher Academy and finished three years there. While working on the farm at Fletcher, he became inspired to make farming his life work.

Kenneth is working at present for the Madison College Dairy as he completes his senior studies in the academy. He plans to spend his summer at home in Bristol, then enroll in college next year to work toward a B.S. with a major in agriculture.

Kenneth, five-foot-eight, blue-eyed, brown-haired enthusiast of fishing and swimming, says that indoor sports are not for him. His favorite subject this year is American History since he is not taking an agricultural subject.

Kenneth Henderson

Pat Ricks

Pat has received her education in a variety of locations, beginning at Washington Missionary College elementary school, while her father was working toward his degree that would make it possible for him to be a Seventh-day Adventist minister. After three years there, the family moved to Memphis for one year as her father interned and Pat attended school there for one year. The remainder of grade school she completed in Kentucky, where her father is now pastor of the Bowling Green church. Her academy work, before coming to Madison, was completed partly at home by correspondence, and partly at Pewee Valley, Kentucky.

Pat's first interest lies in music—the organ, specifically. In Bowling Green through all of last year, she played the organ on her own 15-minute radio program called "Moments of Meditation" over station WLWJ. She is often called upon to play here on the campus this year.

Playing the organ will take second place next year, however, as she starts on the pathway leading to becoming a nurse.

An exceptionally pleasant smile characterizes this slender senior, whose special likes are "anything sweet," "outdoor activities," and playing the organ.

Classes Tour Atomic Energy Plant

The college and academy chemistry classes spent April 8 at Oak Ridge touring the Museum of Atomic Energy.

Sharon Eldridge and Josephine Anderson were given the opportunity to experiment with a large static machine, which caused their hair to stand out like the quills of a porcupine. Dennis Randall, Larry Kelley, Bob Devlin, and Joe Fields found it could be quite a shocking situation to shake hands when one was in contact with the static machine.

A model of the Oak Ridge reactor with a scale of 4 to 1 was explained. A pair of mechanical hands was demonstrated, showing the versatility of the hands. The operator of the hands unscrewed the cap of a bottle, put a funnel in another bottle, and poured the contents of the first bottle into the second.

The final part of the tour consisted of individually operated demonstrations. These included demonstrations of an atomic I. Q. machine, a radioactivity detector, and a solar energy booth.

Students not already mentioned who were on the trip were Rita Campbell, Betty Parker, Patsy Adkins, Billy Busch, Charlie Niswonger, David Clark, Frederic Cothren, Ronnie Schmale, George Roach, Douglas Kendall, Bob Williams, Norman Sossong, and Mr. Leslie Morris, chemistry teacher.

Choir Goes to Knoxville; New Robes

Recent activities by the college choir have included a trip to Knoxville on Sunday, April 6, to sing for the evangelistic meetings being conducted by Elder Arnold Kurtz and Elder Don Crook. Arrangements for the visit of the choir were made with Elder Crook's brother, Stewart Crook, Madison's dean of men.

Another trip, which was scheduled for Sunday, April 13, has been postponed until May in order for the choir to be able to present the programs in the new robes which are expected to arrive sometime this week.

Funds for the robes were raised by the choir members themselves during the fall quarter by selling the Manor Texas Quality fruit cakes, under the leadership of the choir council president, Mrs. Neva Joyce Bullock.

Attractive Scholarships Offered!

Will you be one of the fortunate individuals who will receive a scholarship this year? Madison College is again offering fifty young people several bonus plans to help them in attaining their desired life goals.

The first of these plans will be open to ten leading students and is offered by the various divisions of the school. This plan offers $400, $100 to be given at the end of each school year.

The second type of scholarship will be an additional work dividend and will be granted to a maximum of forty students. Those meeting the following requirements will be granted twelve hours of free tuition for three quarters:

1. Acceptance to the college for 1958-59.
2. The need of the individual.
3. Satisfactory scholastic record.
4. A satisfactory past work record.

5. Not a recipient of any other type of scholarship for 1958-59.
6. Not employed on a premium pay job.

7. A work record of a minimum of 700 hours between June 4 and September 29, 1958.
8. Application to be made at the Personnel Office by May 15, 1958.

Those interested in this scholarship plan should make application immediately, for they will be considered on a first come first served basis.
