Brothers Conduct Week of Prayer

Field Day Opens Annual Ingathering

The following report of the recent Ingathering field day comes from Elder O. J. Mills, pastor of the college church:

"The Ingathering field day for Madison College on November 6 was favored of God with beautiful weather and a liberal response on the part of those who were contacted by the 175 students who participated. The busy campus program at Madison, with the sick constantly needing care, makes it impossible for the entire student body to leave the campus; but all who were able to go entered into the spirit and activity of the day, to bring back a total of over $1200. Only 12 carloads worked all day; 10 others worked only in the morning, and 14 in the afternoon.

"Plans are now under way for organizing the church and campus for the church campaign, which will continue from November 29 to December 13. During this time the minute-man goal for the entire church will be raised, making it the third time in succession that Madison College has accomplished this feat. Last year a total of $15,195.00 gave the church an 800-dollar overflow beyond the minute-man goal."

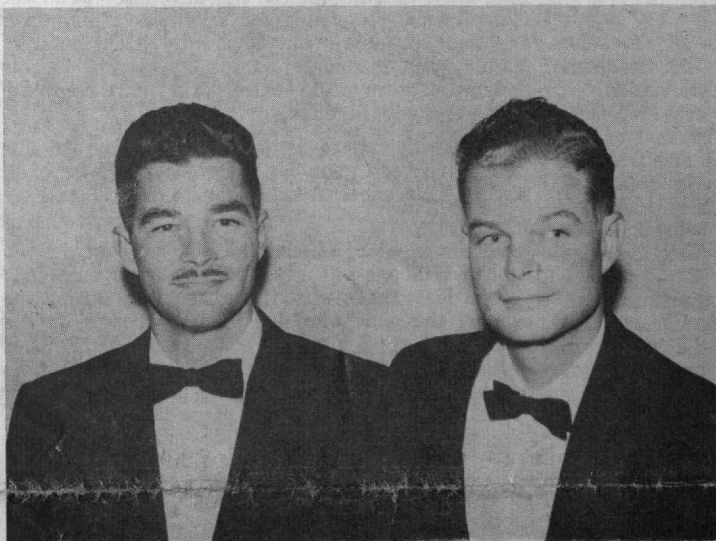

Film Lecture Depicts Deep-sea Explorations

Mike Wilson, young Canadian deep-sea explorer-photographer, presented his thrilling color motion picture "Beneath the Seas of Ceylon" on Saturday night, November 8.

The audience had the opportunity to explore, by means of Mr. Wilson's photography, the scattered ruins of an ancient Hindu temple which had been looted and tossed into the sea stone by stone more than three centuries ago by enemy invaders.

Mr. Wilson took his camera into wrecked ships on the bed of the Indian ocean. Their twisted hulks, covered with barnacles and seaweed, are the homes of unusual giant fish.

Mid-Tennessee MV Societies Choose Rupert Ham-Ying Leader

Rupert Ham-Ying, Madison College MV leader for this school year, was elected president of the Middle-Tennessee Association of MV societies at its first general session of the 1958-59 year on November 1, at the Nashville First Church.

Mr. Ham-Ying, originally from Trinidad, is at Madison to receive medical missionary training and take the X-ray technicians' course. He has completed theological training at Emmanuel Missionary College and also is a graduate of the Theological Seminary.

Mr. Ham-Ying's presidential duties will be to help the officers of the MV societies of the area to coordinate their plans and missionary efforts. He will also work with the conference MV secretary, Teddric Mohr, to help plan the next Mid-Tennessee Association meet.

The Nashville area is the largest of the five MV society associations in the Kentucky-Tennessee Conference. These associations were created in an attempt to unify the different MV societies in each area. Each association will have two yearly general sessions.

Youthful Evangelists Present Secrets of Christian Living

"Christ Is the Answer" was the theme of the Spiritual Emphasis Week held at Madison College November 7-15 by the Barron Brothers Evangelistic Team.

Each daily chapel service made clear that in beholding the Man Christ Jesus, one can learn the secret of happy Christian living. "We need to believe in and practice the presence of Jesus in our lives," Evangelist Dick Barron said.

During the evening meetings the general theme was "Secrets of Christian Living."

"Every promise in the Bible is subject matter for prayer." "The honor of God's throne is staked upon the fulfillment of these promises." These were key statements of the seven o'clock services.

Music was an important part of each meeting. The students responded enthusiastically to Henry Barron's song services, his solos, and the brothers' duets.

Another special feature of the night meetings was the prayer scroll, on which students placed their respective prayer requests.

At each meeting a group of students from some club or organization sat on the platform and participated in song or otherwise. An inspiring added feature each night was Henry Barron's personal interview with a student whose story of conversion or dedication was outstanding.

A large group nightly accepted the invitation to attend the after-meeting, at which counsel was given on problems in Christian living. At this same time prayer bands met in various places on the campus.

These brothers, visiting Madison College from Texas, where they are now working, are Seventh-day Adventists of the third generation, originally from California.

Dick, the older, has worked as local conference evangelist in Pennsylvania and Texas. He is married and has two daughters, ages three and twelve, and a son, age nine.

MV Meeting Features New Officers

The new '58-'59 MV officers presented the young people's program on Sabbath, November 8, using the theme, "What Christ Means to Me."

Speakers who gave their personal testimonies were Esther Kowalski, Ronald Boyd, and Rupert Ham-Ying. Special music was furnished by Harry Fujita, who sang "The Old Rugged Cross" in English and Japanese, and by a male quartet composed of Ronald Boyd, Robert Eaton, Clyde Holland, and Charles Tremper.

"Hour of Power"

Which do you think would be more effective—for 100 students or only one to go before Dr. Sandborn and plead with him to postpone an examination?

If 100 students would petition God each day from 12:30 till 1:00, as a group, for the baptism of the Holy Spirit, we could experience the manifestation of the Holy Spirit upon our campus in a marked way. With Satan roaming about, seeking whom he may devour, we need a close walk with God. We need to plead with God, unitedly, for his blessings upon our campus.

If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sins, and will heal their land." 2 Chron. 7:14.

If you want to take part in the half-hour prayer band, Hour of Power, come to the faculty room every day except Sabbath at 12:30.

MARTHA WALTERS

In Sympathy

The Associated Students of Madison College extend their sympathy to Mr. H. W. Keplinger, whose father died suddenly and unexpectedly from a heart attack on November 11.

Wasiota Whispers

A big event is coming up, and Big Chief Tom Bates is doing a first-class job keeping our committees rowing hard in their canoes to be ready for the big evening, November 23. We are glad for Warriors Victorio Rivera, Sam Alabata, Albert Isom, Glenn Ferguson, and Ron Boyd, who are bearing heavy responsibility to make this powwow a big success.

It's obvious that some of you girls won't have the opportunity to have a scout to escort you to the festival. But please, all of you come. You can't afford to miss the results of all our labor to make you happy on that night. We makum good time for all of you anyhow!!

Behold the new look at Gotzian! Its new stucco exterior gives it a dignified appearance that makes us fellows proud to dwell within its walls. Just before it got its final finish, some artistic soul inscribed a portrait on the fresh plaster. The next day we

Delta Nu Zeta

"Does this color do anything for me?" "Do you think this will pass without a jacket?" "What a gorgeous formal!" "Are you going with—?" All these questions and exclamations and a score more can be heard all over the girls' dormitories. The reason—the boys' club has announced its annual banquet to be held on November 23. Pieces of paper are being tacked on the upstairs bulletin board advertising formals of all descriptions for sale. Girls float down the hall in clouds of ruffles, lace, and net—their hair in curlers or pin curls—bobbie sox and saddle shoes on their feet.

Not too long ago part of the orientation class took a field trip to Fletcher, North Carolina. The girls in Mr. Dickman's car had more than their share of misfortune. The weather in the mountains was far from mild, and Doris Leatherman was trying so hard to keep warm that she put her foot in the heater fan. Her toe lost the battle. Then a short time later, Lila Ring sliced her finger instead of the tomatoes she was fixing for sandwiches. Both girls are students nurses, but apparently it's a different matter when it comes to treating yourself. Despite their worst fears to the contrary, they have recovered with very few ill effects.

Because they were needed at home, Kay and Fay Eller have been gone for a few days. We have all missed their cheerful smiles and are glad to have them back.

On the night of October 30, the girls on the top floor of Williams Hall restaged "Custer's Last Stand"—or at least that's what it sounded like. During the evening the girls who live in other homes on the campus quietly joined the conspirators in Williams Hall. The object—to help Mrs. Temples celebrate her birthday. Promptly at 10:00 p.m. utter bedlam broke out upstairs. To those of us below, the slamming doors sounded exactly like gunshots, but they failed to bring the dean out with threats of free labor and dire punishment. One of our "spies" informed us that Mrs. Temples was talking on the telephone. Not easily defeated, the girls started to yell at the top of their lungs. That was just too much for our dean, who at last put forth her much-awaited appearance. After the initial shock wore off, she was persuaded to crowd with us into the parlor, where she opened her gifts. Afterwards refreshments were served to everyone.

Lila Ring and Margaret Anaya, student nurses working in the diet kitchen, were afraid Mr. Gulley might suffer from malnutrition while his wife was away for a few days. To insure his good health, they made him some "tiger juice"—a mixture of brewer's yeast, tomato juice, wheat germ, and saf oil. I imagine Mrs. Gulley's return was greatly appreciated by her well-nourished husband.

Our Week of Prayer is over. It was a week of inspiring meetings and blessings for us all. All during the week you could hear the girls humming or singing the theme song, "Christ Is the Answer," as they went about their duties on the campus.

saw the inscription, "Dean," affixed to the work of art. We really believe our genial dean was proud of his portrait and is sorry the stucco has covered it.

The past week or two have seen a few minor changes in men's court. We are glad Harold Collins is back with us after having been sick for two weeks. Bob Devlin has just moved in from Gotzian Home. Lloyd Hamilton has a new roommate, Gerald Kerkhoff.

Culture Corner

FRIENDLINESS

One item in last week's column called attention to how one person feels about friendliness on the campus, especially when we meet on the walks. Here is a practical suggestion from a reader, which is directed to the A.S.M.C. leaders for further study:

"On a campus as large as ours, it is impossible to know everyone. Still, we need to have at least a 'speaking acquaintance' with one another.

"To further this cause, don't you think it would be a good idea to institute upon our campus a 'hello walk'? On this walk, by agreement of the A.S.M.C., each would take it upon himself to speak a cheery word of greeting to everyone he met.

"This has been done over a long period of time at one of our sister institutions (W.W.C.), with the hearty approval of both students and faculty."

As Christian young people, we should be the epitome of friendliness if we would win others to our way of life. Friendliness is a chain-reaction and instinctively finds a response in the hearts of others. Our basic purpose in being at Madison is to prepare to be better soul-winners, and friendliness is an attribute we would do well to develop.

You know from experience what a friendly smile and a happy hello from a fellow student or teacher mean to you. Think what encouragement we could give to others if we always exchanged some greeting with everyone we passed. Think how our circle of friends would widen and our happiness and enjoyment of Christian fellowship increase while we are at Madison College.

College Classes Choose Officers

Clyde Holland, Alice Surdahl, Robert McBride, and Ross Clark were elected to the presidency of their respective classes—senior, junior, sophomore, freshman—at class elections held Wednesday, November 5.

CLYDE HOLLAND, senior president, from Bethesda, Maryland, came to Madison as a freshman in 1954 after spending two years as a medical technician in the U. S.

Army, sixteen months of which were spent in Korea. At Madison he has held such offices as president of the freshman class, Wasita Club president, Music Club president, assistant dean of men, president of the A.S.M.C., editor of the Cumberland Echoes, MV leader, MV organist, and prayer band leader. Clyde and his wife Marie are looking forward to foreign medical missionary service after graduation.

Other senior officers are Robert Eaton, vice-president; Shirley Tucker, secretary; Hubert Mills, treasurer; Alvin Barham, parliamentarian; Ishmael Combs, pastor. Mr. Homer Lynd was chosen sponsor by the class.

ALICE SURDAHL, nursing major from Bozeman, Montana, is president of the junior class. Alice came to Madison a year ago in September from Walla Walla College, where she took her freshman year of pre-nursing. She is a graduate of Mt. Ellis Academy, Bozeman, Montana. Here she held offices in the Student Association and in the Sabbath school. She has been a prayer band leader at college.

ROBERT MCBRIDE, from Flora, Illinois, was elected president of the sophomore class. Bob graduated from high school in Flora and spent four years in the air force. For thirteen months he was stationed in Alaska. As a freshman here last year he held the office of sergeant-at-arms in his class. He was also a member of the Micro-Gamma Club. This year the club chose him its president, which office he resigned when he was elected class president. After he finishes his X-ray course he plans to work as a technician. Bob is married and the father of a small son, Stanley, two years old.

Other sophomore officers are Zeno Orso, vice-president; Ruby Seibert, secretary; Robert Kurzynske, treasurer; Gordon Roberts, pastor. Mrs. James D. Simmons is their sponsor.

ROSS CLARK, freshman president, came to Madison College Academy in 1956 and spent last year at Emmanuel Missionary College. He has always been active in music organizations, having sung in the college choir since he was in the eighth grade. For three years he held the office of choir custodian. He has also played in the band and orchestra. At E.M.C. he was a member of choral organizations. During his senior year in the academy he won first prize in the local temperance oratorical contest and second prize in the Southern Union contest held at Collegedale. He had been elected business manager of the Cumberland Echoes, but resigned when he accepted the freshman presidency.

Band to Give Concert Of All-time Favorites

In preparing for the big concert on December 13, the band has been undergoing a lot of rehearsing. Besides the regular practices, Mrs. Silver has called a number of sectional rehearsals.

A few of the all-time band favorites to be featured on the program are "Washington Post" by Sousa, "Colonel Bogey" by Alford, "Anchors Aweigh" by Miles-Zimmerman, "Stouthearted Men" by Romberg, "Donkey Serenade" by Friml-Stothart, "There's Something About a Soldier" by Gay, plus a trumpet trio playing a colorful arrangement of Stephen Foster's "Beautiful Dreamer" and a clarinet trio playing the ever-popular "Clarinet Polka" by Hummel.

Several guest soloists will appear with band. The director says: "The band program will be one you won't want to miss as it features interesting and entertaining material that will appeal to everyone in the audience."

Music Dept. Sponsors Sale of Fruit Cakes

The Music Department and music organizations are once again sponsoring the sale of "Manor" fruit cakes. Money raised will go to several different projects such as more radio equipment for Station WGMS, additional choir robes, new risers for the chapel, chimes for the organ, and so on.

Professor Cossentine says that "Now is the time to place pre-Thanksgiving and pre-Christmas orders." The cakes, available in two-three- or five-pound sizes, contain no spices, citron, peel, or rind, but are made solely of fruits and nuts. Mail orders will be accepted, and delivery is included in the price. Call Professor Cossentine for further information.

Club Officers' Council Organizes

The officers of the various curriculum clubs organized and elected officers for the Club Officers' Council on November 5. All the curriculum clubs were represented. John Dovich, president of the Associated Students of Madison College, presided. Professor Cossentine, A.S.M.C. coordinator, assisted in the organization.

Officers elected were president, William Casement; vice-president, Charles Batchelor; secretary, Pat Grismore; assistant secretary, Myrna Moore.

The object of the Club Officers' Council is, according to Article IX of the A.S.M.C. constitution, "to determine and publish suitable policies to govern" the club organizations. This council serves as a constituency of the student association.

"Madison Foods" Sales Show Upward Trend

Mr. Glen Strong, manager of Madison Foods, reports a 33 percent increase in sales for 1957 over those of 1956. And for the fiscal year ending August 31, 1958, the gain is 18 percent over that of 1957.

This improvement in food sales has been accomplished, according to Mr. James Blair, business manager of Madison College, through the united efforts of Mr. Strong, the business manager, and the two salesmen, Mr. Frank Miller and Mr. Ralph Davis.

Mr. Strong expects this steady increase in sales to continue. He points out that Madison foods are carried to practically all states in the Union and that jobbers are strategically spread over the different states helping sell these goods in leading cities.

Some of the cities where these jobbers are found are New York City, Washington, D. C., Collegedale, Tennessee, Tulsa, Oklahoma, Fort Worth, Texas, Los Angeles and San Francisco, California, Portland, Oregon, Seattle, Washington, Lincoln, Nebraska, Chicago, Ft. Atkinson, Wisconsin, Detroit, Michigan.

"Flagship Safety" Helps Academy Seniors Come Out

A Tennessee Highway Helicopter created much excitement on the campus when it landed in the school parking lot at 9:00 a.m. November 7. The academy seniors used this unique device to announce their official organization.

The class sponsor, Mr. L. L. Dickman, was the first one called to the "Copter." Mr. Dickman in turn called for the president of the senior class, Clyde McCulley. Each subordinate officer was then called to the "Copter" in order of the office: Shirley Hudgens, vice-president; Ava Jones, secretary;

Gerald Kelley, treasurer; Toby Blackburn, pastor; and Larry Reiswig, sergeant-at-arms.

Lieutenant Nicks, the operator of the "Copter," then favored Clyde McCulley with a ride into the blue sky. Mr. Dickman was also taken aloft in the flying basket.

The Senior Class of '59 wishes to thank the Tennessee Highway Patrol for their cooperation in making this coming-out a success. All have to admit it was a bit out of the ordinary.

Academy Has Its Own Student Association

For the first time Madison College Academy has its own student association, known as the Academy Student Forum.

October 25 was the day set for election of officers. After an election by secret ballot, the following results were given: President, Larry Strong, who has been here at Madison for two years and hails from Idaho; vice-president, Pat Batchelor, a native Floridian; secretary, Rita Martz, another student who has been at Madison for two years; treasurer, Rebecca Culpepper, who is starting her fourth year here; pastor, Toby Blackburn, who comes from Maryland. The students all agree they have a sergeant-at-arms who can fill the position—Larry Wassell, who hails from Texas.

The organization is looking forward to an especially good year this year. "It's something we've needed for a long time," the students say.

Academy Choir Makes First Appearance

Mrs. Harter's academy choir made its first appearance November 1, at the early church service, singing Sergei's "My God and I." According to comments the members did a fine job and looked attractive in their black robes trimmed with gold stoles. At their next appearance they will sing Zingarelli's "Go Not Far From Me."

New Homes a Reality

The "Dream Homes" of the future are no longer a dream, but a reality. The Gaines & Gaines Construction Company has already laid the footings for the foundations, and the frames and roofs are going up fast.

Four homes are being constructed now, but a total of ten will be built.

According to plans Madison workers will be able to move into these homes by the first part of December.

A.T.S. Announces Society Activities

Elder J. V. Scully, General Conference associate secretary of the American Temperance Society, met with the college A.T.S. officers and sponsors at a dinner meeting on Friday, October 31. He presented the idea of an I.C.P.A. (International Commission for the Prevention of Alcoholism) poll, in which this college and like colleges will participate. It calls for a survey of 75,000 people, the largest of its type ever to be made, and will furnish information concerning drinkers and abstainers.

Among the coming events of the A.T.S. is the Academy Oratorical Contest, to be held on January 24 at Southern Missionary College, and the Madison College Oratorical Contest, which will be held here Saturday evening, March 14.

President Penney Osborne, vice-president Beecher Zollinger, secretary Beverly Hegstad and Mr. Norman Gulley, sponsor, are laying plans to have the latest temperance film shown in the surrounding high schools.

Judge Todd of Nashville, an outstanding temperance lecturer, is expected on the campus soon. The date of his meeting with the student body will be announced at a later time.

New Arrivals

It's twins for Ruben and Pat (Gaulding) Perales, of Ada, Oklahoma. On October 24 Kevin Rene, 6 pounds, ½ ounce, and Keith Mene, 5 pounds, 11½ ounces, were born. Ruben graduated in 1955 and Pat in 1956. Both are R.N.'s.

Jimmy and Velma Webster announce the birth of Paul Eugene, 7 pounds, 12¼ ounces, on November 3. Both parents are R.N.'s, Class of 1958.
