Station WGMS Soon to Resume Broadcasting

STATION WGMS, the good music station, operating on 550 kilocycles and broadcasting exclusively for the Madison College campus, will soon be on the air again. Last year it broadcasted approximately thirteen hours a day and on weekends covered the religious services and provided devotional music for listening during the hours of the Sabbath. A similar program will be followed this year.

Professor Cossentine is program director of the station and engineer-operators are Mr. Richard Rimmer, Mr. Eddie Zollinger, and Professor Leslie Morris of the Chemistry and Physics Departments.

The principal aim of the radio station is to further the appreciation of good wholesome music. This music will not be of a heavy type but will feature a preponderance of music of a quiet and enjoyable nature which makes a suitable background for study, meditation, and relaxation. Selections will be taken from classical and semi-classical literature which has been especially chosen from the school's large LP record library.

Sanitarium to Begin Daily Broadcasts

The Sanitarium broadcasting system will present its first daily program during the early part of February, according to the Sanitarium music committee.

The daily broadcast will consist of news, worship periods, secular and religious music, and public relations.

Each patient will have a speaker available to use under his pillow if he so desires. Larger speaker systems will be situated in various areas of the Sanitarium.

The members of the music committee have been assigned the responsibility for the following duties: Mrs. Freda Zeigler and Mr. Brenton Bullock to arrange health talks; Mr. Cossentine and Mrs. Pat Silver to choose appropriate music; Mr. Fred Martin to be chief engineer; Ed Zollinger to serve as assistant engineer and operator; Chaplain Hegstad, committee chairman, to supervise the religious phase of the broadcast.

Church Reaches Ingathering Goal in Two Weeks—Nearly $3000 Overflow

Fisk Jubilee Singers to Appear In Concert Saturday Night

The Fisk University Jubilee Singers, traditionally known for their interpretation of the Negro spiritual, will be presented in concert at the Helen Funk Assembly Hall on Saturday night, January 17, at 8:00 p.m.

The concert is a benefit program, sponsored by the Associated Students of Madison College.

The Fisk Jubilee Singers were organized in 1871 to tour the country to raise funds for Fisk University, which had been established five years before, in 1866.

Throughout the years they have given concerts in England, Holland, Scotland, Germany, Sweden, Russia, and in all parts of America. On their first trip to England they sang before Queen Victoria, the Prince of Wales, and Gladstone. It is not many years since they packed the Salle Gaveau in Paris as no one but Caruso ever did. They sang command performances before King George and Queen Mary of England.

In their interpretations of the spiritual, the Jubilee Singers have never departed from the appealing and simple character of the songs they sing. They rely on the beauty of the human voice and the depth of expression inherent in these songs.

Throughout the years the personnel of the singers has changed time and again. The present singers, 20 in number, come from all sections of the country—north, south, east, and west. These singers, under the direction of Matthew Kennedy, carry on faithfully the traditions of their illustrious forebears. They are masterly exponents of the spiritual and are ranked among the finest ensemble singers of the day.

The repertoire of the Fisk University Jubilee Singers is continually expanding to include old spirituals rediscovered and new spirituals like "One Morning Soon," which was sent back from France during World War II.

The concert Saturday night promises to be one of the highlights of the year for the campus and the community.

Enthusiasm, persevering energy, and hard work, marked with thrilling reminders of God's power and presence, brought the Madison College its Ingathering goal of $12,000 in two weeks.

The high day of the campaign came on the second Saturday night, December 6. Thirty cars left the college cafeteria early Sabbath afternoon so that all could be in their territory by sundown. Students, workers, teachers, and doctors, going in every direction asking for dollars, gathered $1,628.57 in pennies, nickels, quarters, halves, and dollars bills.

When the last two weeks of the campaign closed, an overflow of nearly $3,000 had been received.

Mr. Fred Martin as chief engineer provided King's Herald tapes and kept caroling machines working and moving from car to car all during the campaign. Mrs. Lorenz and her committee provided a warm refreshment as students returned to count their financial success and share their experiences evening by evening.

"One of the important factors of the Lord's blessing of this campaign," said O. J. Mills, college church pastor, "has been the vision of school officials and teachers. Teachers not only encouraged students to participate but led them in this evangelistic service. Academy Principal Lewis Dickman, chairman of the Social Committee, with his committee cleared the social calendar of all functions except Ingathering."

Think of This

Have you ever seen a man climbing a ladder with his hands in his pockets? Even if he started, do you think he would go up very high? Have you ever seen a paint brush doing the painting while the painter is in another place?

You may aim high, but, like the man on the ladder, you will never climb very high up the ladder of success unless you take your hands out of your pockets.

Our books are filled with the information and knowledge we need for our education. But, left alone, they will never do the educating, no more than the paint brush, alone, can do the painting.

We must take our hands out of our pockets, or take hold of the paint brush if we wish to reach our goal. Good grades and the acquired knowledge they represent will never be ours unless we apply ourselves to the task. P.R.

A Message from the Pastor

Each year for the past three years, the college church has prayed and sought for souls from its Ingathering adventure, to be baptized before the next campaign. Each year the goal for souls set has been reached. The church members are now planning to follow up this year's interest that they may have four souls before December, 1959.

Now the college church turns to a united task of direct evangelism. The watchcry for 1959 is "Evangelize! Evangelize!" The slogan is "Everyone win one before 1960 has begun."

Ralph Martin of the Bible Department and director of physical services on the campus, has pledged to start a branch Sabbath school in Dupontonia very soon. M.V. Director Norman Gulley, also of the Bible Department, plans to have a branch Sabbath school operating in Inglewood, and George Smothermon of the Credit Department of the sanitarium will have one going in Donelson.

The spirit of evangelism must continue to grow and permeate our entire campus. There is a place in this program for every student, worker, and church member. O.J. MILLS

Two by Two

At their last meeting the married students elected officers for their club as follows: Alvin Barham, president; Marie Holland, vice-president; Grace Campbell, secretary-treasurer; James Bogachoff, pastor. From plans that are being made and the buzz in the air, it's going to be a very eventful year for the club.

Former club members Richard and Jolene Zerbee have an addition to their family—a five-pound baby girl. The Zerbees are now at Collegedale.

Cecil Hopps, one of our nursing graduates, is leaving us very soon to go to Duluth, Minnesota, to take Anesthesia.

Joseph and Gerry (Smith) Beckner left us too soon last year to be members of the Married Students' Club, but we welcomed them anyhow for a weekend visit. They are on their way from Ft. Sam Houston to Ft. Benning, Georgia, where Joe will continue his service with Uncle Sam.

Mr. and Mrs. George West, both of whom have finished their schooling, she in nursing and he in anesthesia, will be leaving soon for Rockville, Tennessee. Surgical Wing is losing a wonderful head nurse.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sowell are joining us, he as a nursing student and she, already an R.N. from the Florida Sanitarium, as a head nurse on Surgical Wing to take Mrs. West's place.

Alumni News

A recent visitor to the Madison campus was former student Dr. Howard Huenegardt (X-ray, 1952).

He attended Southern Missionary College prior to his acceptance to the Medical School at Loma Linda, California. He is now practicing with Dr. James D. Schuler at Ellijay, Georgia.

Former Madisonite John Read (B.S., '53) writes from Shenandoah Valley Academy:

"I completed my work on the Master's Degree (M.Mus.) last summer at the University of Texas in Austin.

"We gave the complete Holy City (Gaul) here on December 14 with 120 of our 300 students participating; then we gave The Messiah (Handel) at the New Market Methodist Church on December 21.

"I have thirty private voice and piano and forty class voice students a week, choir three times a week, and chorus twice a week. Up until this year, I have had the band and instrument work too."

John and Aquila are in their fifth year at Shenandoah Valley Academy near New Market, Virginia, where John is head of the Music Department. Aquila also assists in the Music Department teaching around thirty lessons a week. The Reads now have two sons, Clay and Campion (named for Campion Academy, Loveland, Colorado, their first teaching assignment).

During Christmas vacation Harold E. Mitzelfelt was home for the holidays. A former head of the Madison College Music Department, Professor Mitzelfelt will receive his M.D. degree from the University of Tennessee Medical School in March, 1959. He will take an internship at the Mid-State Baptist Hospital in Nashville, Tennessee.

During the Christmas holidays the O. N. Hegstad family received letters from two former students of Madison College:

Elder I. J. Woodman, presently general manager of the Pacific Press Publishing Association, Mountain View, California, and his wife attended Madison College in 1909, when there were only forty-seven students enrolled.

Miss Lois Teel, now first-grade teacher at Walla Walla College campus school, attended here several years ago. She stated in her letter that she had taken a psychology class from Dr. Sandborn.

MARY KATE GAFFORD

Alcoholism is another great problem facing the world today. Seventh-day Adventists should be vitally interested in the book by G. Aiken Taylor, A Sober Faith, which deals with religion and Alcoholics Anonymous, an organization founded for the purpose of rehabilitating alcoholics. Its program consists of twelve simple steps based on spiritual principles. Mr. Taylor, the author, is a minister, and believes that "religion can learn a great deal from the success of AA [Alcoholics Anonymous] and that AA in turn can gain from a closer relationship with the church." The call number is 178.6 T21s.

Ag Students Visit Dairy Farmers

An enthusiastic group of Agriculture Club members recently enjoyed a day's field trip. Their itinerary included Country Maid Dairies enterprise, Ed Strausser & Sons Dairy and Farm, and Hermitage View Farm, all of which are within 15 miles of Madison College and are highly successful farming endeavors.

The purpose of the trip was to observe how the various dairies are managed, the feeding plans, and the "lay-out" of the farm plants.

Of special interest to the students was the combined efficiency and beauty of the Hermitage View Farm. They learned that the farm is comprised of 1,065 acres, which are used for pasturage for 100 Black Angus cattle and for feed for their 225 Guernsey milk cows.

Santa wins the hearts of his little friends as he gives them their presents

Twenty children and their parents were the guests of the Associated Students of Madison College at their annual Christmas party for underprivileged children on Christmas Eve.

Mrs. Lorenz planned and served, banquet style, a delicious supper, with special cut-out Christmas cookies and ice cream for dessert.

A short program was presented after the meal by Mrs. Silver, Mrs. Simmons, and Douglas Kendall. Then Santa Claus (President Sandborn) passed out the presents.

Each child received an article of clothing.

The money for the gifts came from donations and from the A.S.M.C.

Mr. and Mrs. K. P. McDonald were the ones responsible for finding the needy children and inviting them to the party.

The Christmas party was planned by the student committee on programs and recreation, under the direction of Albert Isom, chairman of the committee, and Carol Hilgers, his assistant.

Workers Move Into New Homes

The new "Dream Houses," built on Larkin Springs Road by the Gaines and Gaines Construction Company of Nashville, Tennessee, are now finished and occupied. On December 18, Dr. William C. Sandborn, president of Madison College, released the first four for occupancy and the following day the remaining six were released by the contractor. During off hours it seemed as if every campus truck was in use hauling the furnishings from one house to another, not to mention the moving vans representing various furniture companies from all over Nashville seen unloading an item here and an item there.

Families now living in the new homes are Brenton Bullock, Opie Cantrell, Donald Cantrell, Bob W. Silver, N. L. Gulley, Glen Rabun, Herbert Tate, Glen Strong, James MacConnel, and Miss Maxine Page. The construction of these new homes has greatly relieved the crowded housing situation which has existed at Madison College during recent years.

Choir Now Has Fifty New Robes

Ten new choir robes have been purchased and new specially designed risers for the chapel are in the stages of planning as a result of the sale of "Manor" fruit cakes by members of the college choir.

A total of 50 robes are now in use by the choir, and the new risers will make possible the seating of the choir in a more orderly arrangement on the chapel platform. An added feature of the new risers will be the way in which the front of the seating risers can be separated from the whole and used as standing risers on choir tours.

Anesthetists Make Good Records in National Exams

The School of Anesthesia has just received word that Bill Howard, Tom Linville, and Gilbert Jorgensen all passed their national examination with good grades. Mr. Bowen, director of the school, is especially pleased with "Jorgie's" standing. He is working at the Williamson County Hospital in Franklin, Tennessee. Bill has gone to Colorado, and Tom is working in Sedalia, Missouri. Mrs. Laura Aker presented her doctor husband with another son at exam time; so she is waiting until May for her turn at the quiz.

In June of last year "Elsie" became the wife of Dr. Donald Stecker, and from the smile on her face, all must be well. The school is pleased to have her and Mrs. Jean Hassenpflug on the staff as instructors.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowen made a trip south during the cold days of December and visited with former Anesthesia students. Bernita and Noel Goggans are at the Florida Sanitarium and Hospital, all smiles and busy. Doyle Martin and Forrest Pride made the Bowens welcome in Hialeah, Florida. George Schultz and Bob Erickson are working there with them. Cliff Faulkingham is in Ocala, Florida—says he is as busy as he wants to be.

On to Mayaguez, Puerto Rico, the Bowens visited with Bill Schwab, who was the first man to finish Anesthesia at Madison. His wife Ruthe has been at Madison the past eight months studying and has now gone back to work with him at the Seventh-day Adventist mission hospital. The Doctors Hors-

Music Dept. Brings Christmas to Patients

A program of familiar Christmas music was given on Christmas night in the Sanitarium parlor for those patients who were unable to be dismissed to spend the holidays at home.

Sponsored by Mrs. Silver, of the Music Department, those who participated were Mr. and Mrs. Harley Slattery; the academy village girls' trio—Eva Gill, Claudia Kunau, and Sylvia Mitzelfelt; the clarinet trio—George Thornton, Richard Mitzelfelt, and Mrs. Silver; a string trio comprised of Mrs. Edna Thornton, H. E. Mitzelfelt, and Mrs. H. E. Mitzelfelt; and accompanists Betty Guerra, Ruth Gill, and Mrs. H. E. Mitzelfelt.

ley are there, happy and busy also.

On the way back they visited with Dennis and Fran Maddox in Pensacola, Florida.

Mr. Bowen announces that there are openings in the School of Anesthesia all through the coming year. Interested nurses should write to the director of the School of Anesthesia for information. "The field is wide open and the opportunities have never been better," says Mr. Bowen.

He adds, "We have an urgent call for someone to start a school for nurse anesthetists in Africa. Is that too far away for a unit?"

At the present time fifteen students are in various stages of training in Anesthesia. Of these, seven are on affiliation and eight are here at Madison.

Up And Down The Campus

Merry greetings, wedding bells, and the age-old topic of the weather greeted students on their return to the campus. . . . Getting married proved to be complicated for David Hernandez, who traveled through Mexico and Guatemala to his home in Salvador for his bride—and then found the offices closed during the holidays. No license, no wedding till too late to get back to school on time. . . . A former student, Norman Sossong, now at Walla Walla College, made his appearance via the Youth's Instructor. Congratulations, Norman, on your article, "From the World of Science," in the December 30 issue. . . . The weather is always a favorite topic, but not always a pleasure to enjoy. Several return trips to school were delayed by snow. Beverly Milne-Jones was in an accident which fortunately injured no one. The car she was in slid into another car on an icy bridge in Kentucky. . . . Some more California "sunshine" come to Madison College by the presence of Joel Stahl, grandson of Elder and Mrs. F. A. Stahl, pioneer South America missionaries. . . . Nurse Rachel Yatani writes from Cincinnati, "See you in 89 more days." . . .

Happy New Year

We hope you all had a most enjoyable Christmas and New Year. Surely every student enjoyed closing his books for a few weeks for the Christmas vacation.

Since this is the beginning of a new year, when many of us are making resolutions, let's make it also the beginning of a new Christian experience. This is a good time to take an inventory of our lives and make efforts to gain a fuller Christian experience for the year 1959.

Maybe we will not do so well at first or perhaps a little later in the year we'll get discouraged. But let's live one day at a time. Let's take a new and firmer step each day, resolving to live that day for God and for others.

Let's keep in mind always the secret of true joy:

J—Jesus first
O—Others second me
Y—Yourself last

Santa Comes To Chapel

A notable visitor was a guest at academy chapel just before vacation. With the help of a mixed choir to sing the old-time Christmas favorites, the students were entertained by "This Is Your Life, Santa," a life history after the manner of the TV program.

Gerald Kelley was Santa, Rebecca Culpepper and Clyde Ball were the grandparents—Ma and Pa Claus, Claudia Kunau was Mrs. Claus, and Toby Blackburn was Rudolph.

Santa presented each student with a Christmas present of a bag of fruit, nuts, and candy.

Temperance Contest Coming Jan. 24

All academy students should keep in mind the temperance oratorical contest to be held in the Assembly Hall on January 24 at 7:45 p.m. Among the judges will be well-known men from Nashville. There will be music by the college band before the contest begins. Everyone is welcome to this night of interesting and educational entertainment.

All students taking part in the contest will receive an award of $1.00. The third prize is $5.00, second prize $7.00, and the first prize is $10.00 plus a trip to Southern Missionary College to compete in the Union Conference Oratorical Contest there. The first prize at Southern Missionary College is $100.

Girls Entertain Boys At Christmas Party

The academy dormitory girls gave a formal candlelight dinner party in the Nutrition Laboratory for their special friends, the academy boys, on Thursday night, December 18.

After the dinner the party continued with games, speeches, and songs. Then came the opening of the gifts for each girl's date. Gifts—not real gifts, but booby prizes—were in those prettily wrapped packages. There were baby bibs, suckers, toy cars, firecracker sparklers, and stuffed baby stockings that brought laughter as they were opened.

Guests were the principal, Mr. Dickman, and Mrs. Dickman, Mrs. Temples, dean of women, and Mr. Temples, and the parents of two of the seniors, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bullock.

Our Master Guide Club is about to organize, and we need you! We want to reach a goal of 1000—that is, honors and investitures. The club is planning various activities, including a weekend camping trip. We have many specialists right here on the campus to lead out in giving expert instruction in their fields. Be a Master Guide and equip yourself for service.

The MV's helped spread Christmas cheer all during the holiday season. On the last Sabbath before vacation, the annual MV Christmas program was presented by Mrs. Sandborn's academy senior class.

The society also took a tree to Medical Wing, and with the help of the nurses decorated it.

Under the leadership of Charles Batchelor a Christmas program was presented at the Veterans' Hospital. Our group sang carols and furnished other special music, and Charles read poems and stories. After the program was over, we were invited by the Chapel Brotherhood, from Nashville, to stay for their film of the Christmas story.
