Teacher Education Approved by State

Graduates from teacher-training at Madison College now have the same recognition as those from other state-approved colleges.

On Friday, February 6, the State Board of Education approved the teacher-education program at two private schools, one of which is Madison College. The other was William Jennings Bryan College at Dayton, Tennessee, which is only a few miles from Laurel-brook.

Those majoring in education now have the satisfaction of knowing that the program of teacher education which has been set up and is being followed on the campus has been accepted by the state.

Elder Dart Conducts Guidance Institute

Elder Archa O. Dart, from the Educational Department of the General Conference, is conducting a guidance institute in connection with Christian Home Week during the week February 14-21.

Meetings every night from 7:00—8:30 are of interest to parents

GC Speaker Highlights Health Week

"Despondency, self-pity, withdrawal into a dream world, continual violent explosions, always blaming others—these are danger signals," Mrs. Joyce Hopp warned her chapel audience in her talk on Mental Health February 4.

Mrs. Hopp, associate secretary of the General Conference Medical Department, was a guest speaker here during Health Emphasis Week, held February 1-6.

"We all at some time or other show signs of mental ill health," she said, and then added, "I'm not saying you are all crazy." She advised, "Study yourself, but don't give way to your feelings."

After cautioning against lack of recreation and rest, overwork, and continued stress and strain, Mrs. Hopp gave her listeners a "happy pill" to take to help solve their emotional problems. It was composed of the following ingredients:

- (1) Discipline your mind
- (2) Develop a spirit of gratitude and praise
- (3) Resist melancholy thoughts

BULLETIN

Rebecca Culpepper, senior from Madison College Academy, took second place in the Southern Union Oratorical Contest held at Collegedale on February 13. A student from Oakwood took first place, and one from Pisgah, third place.

Dean Convalesces At Home

For two weeks the ready smile and friendly greetings of the college dean have been missing on the campus. Doctors ordered him to bed on January 25 following a slight heart attack. After a week of absolute rest in the sanitarium he was permitted to return home, where he has been confined to his bed.

The entire student body and faculty wish for him a complete and speedy return to good health so he can be among them again.

Guest Artists Join Music Faculty in Concert

Michael Semanitsky

Michael Semanitsky, violinist, and Scott Withrow, pianist, are to appear as guest artists in a joint musical program with the Madison College Division of Fine Arts faculty on Saturday evening, February 21, at 8:00 p.m., in the Helen Funk Assembly Hall.

Dr. Semanitsky, concertmaster of the Nashville Symphony Orchestra and assistant professor of music at Peabody College for Teachers, began to study violin at the age of ten and was conducting church choirs by the time he was thirteen years old. He received his Bachelor of Music and Master of Music degrees from Yale University. During the past year he was awarded his Doctor of Music Education degree from Columbia University. He has served in various educational music capacities as well as in numerous professional positions with outstanding symphony orchestras.

Seniors Present Hymn Festival

A hymn festival featuring American hymn writers and composers was presented by the College Senior Class at the MV hour Sabbath afternoon, February 7.

The participating choirs and groups were from Madison College, Madison College Academy, the Boulevard Church, the First Church, the Bordeaux Church, and the Riverside Church.

The Academy Choir, the College Trumpet Trio, the Boulevard Primary Choir, soloists from local churches, and the College Senior Chorus, with organ and piano accompaniment, made up the impressive Processional. They sang the hymn, "Hope of the World."

During the program the massed choirs and the congregation blended their voices in singing the great hymns of the church.

In addition to the contributions by the choir, the hymn festival featured the ladies' quartet, an organ and piano duet, several vocal solos, and a trumpet trio. Mary Lou Sullins was at the organ and Pat Ricks at the piano.

An impressive number was the presentation of "A Song of Heaven and Homeland" by the Senior Chorus, with a realistic sunset scene as a background.

Mr. Withrow is assistant professor of music at Peabody and serves as director of music at Downtown Presbyterian Church. He holds the Bachelor of Music degree from Oberlin Conservatory of Music and the Master of Music Degree from Eastman School of Music.

The recital program on February 21 will feature vocal solos sung by Professor Cossentine, organ selections played by Mr. Walper, and instrumental solos played by Mrs. Silver. Mrs. Harter will be the accompanist.

COMING

The Associated Students of Madison College announce a coming event, Courtesy Week, to be held March 1-6. At chapel and at joint worship faculty members and students will speak and skits will be presented. Thursday evening will climax the week, when special recognition will be given to certain students for outstanding courtesy.

The program is being planned by the Campus Life Committee, of which Lucy Courter is chairman.

IT MAY BE YOUR LAST!

By N. R. GULLEY

Over a popular religious radio broadcast came these words—

The devil doesn't believe in keeping the Christian Sabbath day holy. Neither do his evil spirits. Neither do the Communists in Russia. Neither do the atheists in America. So if you are a Sabbath breaker, if Sunday is not sacred to you, then you are certainly in very bad company. (Italics added)

Now notice the importance of this year 1959 in the appeal to all Christian denominations:

For 66 years the Lord's Day Alliance of the United States has been engaged in the great task of defending the Christian Sabbath and promoting its observance. Presently it is launching a twentieth century crusade for the Lord's Day, and it is trying to enlist the concerted efforts of all Christians, urging them to take an active part in it. Everyone of us has a personal responsibility to join this crusade, if we truly want to follow our Lord. Whatever may be our differences, we have this great cause in common. (Italics added)

On January 25 the Pope announced a conclave of all Christian bodies, which religious leaders around the world are acclaiming as a "Godsend." There is a bill in Congress which could introduce the national Sunday law, and there is much more happening than space allows to recite! All these facts meet strikingly the conditions of Revelation 13:3: "...and all the world wondered after the beast."

Evangelism, page 33, states: "The time is coming when laws will be framed that will close the doors now open to the message." On pages 397, 398 is an urgent appeal:

Every effort possible should now be made to advance the work of God. Soon circumstances will arise that will make it more difficult than it is now to present the truth to many who are at present within our reach. Most earnest efforts should be put forth in . . . Nashville. . . [This applies to Dupontonia also] There is a call for hundreds of young men and women to be educated and trained for service. (Italics added)

The challenge is two-fold. First, to get into evangelism while this opportunity is yours. The conference president, Elder E. L. Marley, has given his authorization for a two-week campaign to be held in the Fatherland Street Church, East Nashville. A college Bible-study group is in progress. Twenty-two academy trained students are ready to go. This is wonderful! The second challenge is to begin planning, in your own schedule, to set aside Sunday for this week. Make it the great evangelism day of the week, for we are counseled, "Let the teachers in our schools devote Sunday to missionary effort. I was instructed that they would thus be able to defeat the purpose of the enemy. Let the teachers take the students with them to hold meetings for those who know not the truth. Thus they will accomplish more than they could in any other way." Vol. 9, page 233. (Italics added)

This is your golden time for EVANGELISM, and it may be your last!

Alumni News

Following are excerpts from letters received recently by Mr. Bowen from former students in the school of Anesthesia:

Neil Biurrun writes November 3, 1958, from Bolivia: "We are at the Chulumani Hospital in Bolivia. Not much surgery, for we have only one doctor and he is not a surgeon, but we are happy working for the Lord. I have here much work in lab and X-ray. I never took these courses, but in a place like this, we must do all things. We'll never forget our days in Madison, those days that we enjoyed so much, especially the kind people."

Dorothy Crisologo writes from Christ Hospital, Kapit, Sarawak, Borneo, on December 3, 1958, telling of her work, and concludes her letter by saying: "I think I must have been called by the Lord to take this course in Anesthesia, and I am grateful to you for the knowledge you have helped me to gain so we (her husband is a surgeon) as a team can be more effective witnesses for Christ." Dorothy and her husband are Methodist missionaries.

Bill Schwab was the first man to finish the course in Anesthesia at Madison in 1951. His wife Ruth was here in 1958 taking the course and has gone back to Puerto Rico to help him. We gave her some equipment to take when she left. Bill writes on January 11, 1959: "I'd like to say thanks for the endotracheal equipment. The phrase 'It's just what I wanted' is so often overused or misused, but as far as I'm concerned, it certainly was the equipment that I wanted to get in the worst way." Bill and Ruth are at the Bella Vista Hospital in Mayaguez, Puerto Rico.

Two by Two

"Sorpresa! Sorpresa!" were the words heard in Spanish on the evening of January 29 as Mr. and Mrs. David Hernandez bounded into the cafeteria. You see, they were being showered with lovely gifts to begin their new home.

In the center of the group David and Virginia were seated like king and queen at a table loaded with beautifully wrapped, curious-looking packages. Approximately 30 friends were present and were all interested to know how David had managed to return from his Christmas vacation with a wife. His story went something like this:

A year ago last September Elder Orley Ford, pastor of David's home church in El Salvador, visited here. David asked about the young people back home, whom he hadn't seen for four years. The Elder mentioned Virginia Alfonso, and David recognized her as a friend he used to play with at school. Elder Ford said that she was a very pretty girl, at that time attending our college in Costa Rica. David got her address and the two began to write back and forth. When David planned his vacation, he wrote her he was coming to see her.

Oh, what a time he had to get a date! He had to appear before the president of the school for permission. The dean stayed in the room all the time they visited, and they had to sit across the table from each other and talk.

Well, David returned to school, but his heart he left in Central America. As Christmas vacation drew nigh this year, he asked special permission to be married. His request was granted, and here they are, two of the happiest people that ever lived. Virginia has finished high school and also an advanced secretarial course. She plans to begin nurse's training soon.

When the two have finished their training (David will be a senior nursing student in March), they plan to return to Central America, where there is a self-supporting school waiting for them. Their campus friends wish them the best of everything.

Another "must" for Seventh-day Adventists is Selected Messages from the writings of Ellen G. White, recently off the press. These two volumes include "significant and ever-timely counsels gathered from periodical articles, manuscript statements and certain valuable pamphlets and tracts long out of print."

You will be interested in the section entitled "An Explanation of Early Statements," which includes such subjects as "the shut door," last-day scoffers, the day and hour of Christ's coming, and others. In these inspired volumes there is counsel for those advanced in years, comfort for those who are afflicted, assurance for those facing death, and advice concerning the use of drugs, voting, useful occupations, proper attitude in prayer, and many other equally interesting subjects. The call number is W286.7 W58se.

Starch and Stripes

Mrs. Doris Thomson and Miss Edith Munn attended the curriculum conference of the National League for Nursing, held in Louisville, Kentucky, January 27-29. This meeting is a regional conference sponsored by the League with money donated by the Polio Foundation.

The purpose of the conference was to plan a better curriculum for student nurses and to see how service and education can work together to provide better clinical experience.

The American Nurses' Association District Meeting discussed the topic "Nursing in a National Disaster" at their last meeting. Delphia Ladner, Madison senior nurse, participated in a panel presenting the role of student nurses in disaster. Delphia told what role the students here at Madison will play in such emergencies.

The nursing personnel announces the newest clinical instructor—Mrs. Betty Leatherwood, Class of '56. Mr. Leatherwood will enter the March class in nursing.

We are happy to report that Mr. Godfrey Duran, who suffered a heart attack several weeks ago, is improving rapidly but will continue to stay on Medical Wing for about two more weeks.

The girls at the Children's Hospital in Cincinnati—Rachel Yatani, Mary Lou Ward, Pat Grismore, Esther Edmonson, and Ida Gordon—are enjoying their work but counting the days till time to come back.

SHORT COURSE OFFERED

An intensive short course on self-supporting work will be given between the winter and spring quarters—March 20-24. The course, entitled The Administration of Self-supporting Institutions, will be on the laboratory basis—in reality a workshop.

Each period will begin with an hour's lecture, followed by an hour and a half of joint study, discussion, and questions and answers, making a total of two and one-half hours. There will be ten such class periods in the course, and it will carry credit of one hour on the quarter basis, lower division work, in the field of social science. Lectures will be given by ten specialists in their fields, five from Madison and five from elsewhere.

For further information regarding tuition and rooming accommodations, write to the registrar, Homer R. Lynd, Madison College.

Ferris Pays Tribute To Lincoln

Mr. Winston Ferris, principal and teacher of grades 7 and 8 of the Campus School, honored Abraham Lincoln in his chapel talk on February 9.

By relating anecdote and historical account Mr. Ferris presented Lincoln as a man of dignity, honesty, kindness, tenderness, and infinite patience.

Incidents he told from the life of Lincoln emphasized one of his outstanding characteristics—his ability to get along with other men.

"God and the man and the hour had met," quoted Mr. Ferris as he concluded his talk on the beloved Civil War president.

Mr. Face Shows Nature Pictures

Mr. A. H. Face has shown his color slides of Western parks and their flowers to a number of groups during the past few months. He has shown them at Trevecca College, the Presbyterian Church at Oakgrove, the First Church, Bordeaux, Riverside, Boulevard, and Madison College. The slides are based on a six-week, 8000-mile trip Mr. and Mrs. Face took this past summer. Those who have heard Mr. Face's lecture appreciate the spiritual lessons he draws from nature.

The officers of the Wasiota Forum have voted to sponsor a "Keep the Campus Clean" drive, the purpose of which will be to make campus dwellers more conscious of their part in keeping the grounds clean and attractive. Tom Bates, club president, is looking forward to full cooperation from all students.

1958 Graduate Is Member of Ag Division

Mr. Warren M. Watts is the newest addition to the Agriculture Division. Since his graduation in August, 1958, he has been in charge of the dairy and will later be teaching in his field of dairy husbandry.

Mr. Watts, a native of North Carolina, received a B. S. degree, with a major in Agriculture, a minor in education, and a second minor in religion. In the near future he will begin work on his Master of Science degree at the University of Tennessee.

Mrs. Watts, who before her marriage was Phyllis Cullen, of North Carolina, has also been a student of Madison College. Mr. and Mrs. Watts are the parents of three children.

Mr. Watts, who spent four years here as a student, believes in the philosophy of Madison College. He says, "As long as there is a place for me in one of our self-supporting schools, I am willing to work."

Future Events

February 14-21—Christian Home Week. Elder A. O. Dart speaks at union worship, 7:00 p.m. each night, and also at chapel.

Feb. 20, Vespers—Mr. Fragola presents four students who will give their personal testimonies.

Feb. 21, Sabbath morning—Sermon by the pastor, "Gain That Is Loss"

Feb. 21, Saturday night—Musical faculty program

Feb. 21-March 8—Evangelistic meetings at Old Hickory.

Feb. 28, Sabbath morning—Baptism.

Feb. 28, Saturday night—Alumni benefit program.

TOT Club Features Guest Speakers

Mrs. Charlene Collier, field consultant for the Tennessee Education Association, spoke to more than forty who were present at the regular monthly meeting of the Teachers of Tomorrow, held in the pre-school building on the evening of February 7.

Mrs. Collier presented the teaching profession as a profession which builds to serve. She highlighted the work of the National Education Association as well as the state educational program of Tennessee.

It was she who first informed her audience that Madison College had been approved by the state in its teacher education.

Also as special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Mauldin, who have spent ten years as missionaries in the Far Eastern Division. Mr. Mauldin has an excellent collection of colored slides numbering 5000, which he has taken in all parts of the world. He showed the club members a few of these snapped in such far-away places as Indonesia, Bali, Java, and Australia.

The Mauldins have had two trips around the world by plane. On their first furlough five years ago both received their master's degrees at Peabody. At present Mr. Mauldin is working on his doctorate, which he hopes to complete within the next year and a half.

Club members saw the movie, "Crowded Out," an excellent educational film, as the climax to the evening.

Mr. Pedro Ramos presided at the meeting. Miss Beverly Hegstad gave the secretary's report, and Mrs. Simmons as sponsor introduced the guest speakers. The Misses Lucy Courter and Maxine Wilson were in charge of the refreshments.

ASMC Club Parties

The Medical Records Club invited the Physical Therapy Club to join them in a party held in the faculty room. After they played games and enjoyed the delicious cookies and punch which the ladies had made, they started out on a treasure hunt, which took them from Miss Cowdrick's to the Food Factory, with quite a few stops in between. At Mrs. Sossong's they finally found the treasure—a sucker.

GLENDIA BRANTLY

"Uruguay," "Pioneers of the Plains," "The Great Adventure of the Three Little Bruins," and "Early Does It" were some interesting films enjoyed by the Agriculture Club. After the films all went to the Agriculture classroom, where refreshments were served—homemade cookies and ginger ale

Chapter Chatter

We wish to extend our appreciation to Judge Henry F. Todd for taking our chapel service on January 13.

Judge Todd is a former Madison student of 1933-34.

We are thankful to God that men such as he are being used to offset the evils of alcohol.

The visiting judges for the oratorical contest each received a Great Controversy in its newest edition (The Triumph of God's Love). We do hope and pray that these token appreciations of their kindness will bring lasting blessing.

Mrs. Gulley Surprised At Shower

A group of faculty women gathered at 6:30 on the evening of February 5 at the home of Mrs. Sandborn for a "committee meeting," or so thought Mrs. Leona Gulley. However, it proved to be a baby shower for her, much to her surprise. Mrs. Neva Joyce Bullock sang an appropriate song before the guests were served supper. She received many lovely gifts for the wee one. During the shower, it was also showering outside—not baby things but snow. Mrs. Sandborn and Mrs. Dysinger were the hostesses.

freshments. They were assisted by Mesdames Bowes and Combs. Mr. Robert Eaton gave the devotions.

RAYMOND CAMPBELL

The Industrial Education Club met in the large rotunda of the Science Building for their social evening. Everyone was there—students, parents, teachers, and guests—with the exception of the president, Elmer Fast, who had to stay at home to entertain the little Fast.

The vice-president, Stan Dovich, showed three films, and then Mr. Keplinger and Ernest Ball located the refreshments, which were a successful ending to a pleasant evening.

"LIVES OF GREAT MEN"

February is the month of the year when we think about some of the great men who have lived before us.

Abraham Lincoln is a man whom the world will never forget because of his keen insight into human relationships. As we study about him, we are impressed with the way he took advantage of every opportunity.

He did not have the privilege of obtaining an education as we do, but he gained his by reading and studying by the flickering light of the old fireplace.

We as students and teachers should be grateful for the many opportunities we can take advantage of without going through the hardships of the last century. We should be just as diligent in our preparation for the years to come as was Lincoln. The world is looking for men with the same qualifications in the twentieth century.

"Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime,
And, departing, leave behind us
Footprints on the sands of time."

Village Club Sponsors Hayride

The academy students, serenaded by Jackie Cothren and Ralph Begley, went on a hayride sponsored by the Academy Village Club Saturday night, February 7. Everyone enjoyed the ride to Toni's Boat Dock and the hot chocolate and doughnuts served at Clyde McCulley's home on the way back. The group left the Demonstration Building about 8:00 p.m. and got back about 10:00. Everyone agreed the evening had been a big success.

Iran Sends Four To Madison

Newest students at Madison College are three young people from Tehran, Iran. Miss Mahshid Farshad is an academy student, Miss Keyvan Farshad, a prospective nurse; and Mr. Shokrollah Bazer-gan, an agriculture major.

These three new students were glad to greet Haik Rostamian, also from Tehran, who has been here since the beginning of the quarter.

Conservation Class Visits Dam

Fifteen members of Mr. Wilhelm's Conservation of Natural Resources class visited the Old Hickory Dam on the morning of February 5.

Since the valleys of the Cumberland and Tennessee Rivers are in the area of the heaviest rainfall in eastern United States (56 inches annually), these TVA dams play an important role in the life and living of the inhabitants. Prior to the construction of these dams, this area suffered losses of $57,000,000 in damage from yearly floods. The Old Hickory Dam is only one in the chain of dams along the Cumberland River.

As the group stood beside the lake observing the recreational facilities, three men came rushing over to the lake, asking, "Has someone drowned?" Seeing so

Sophomores Hold First Party of Year

The members of the sophomore class had their first get-together in the cafeteria on Saturday night, February 14.

Bob McBride, class president, led out in the evening's program. Root beer floats and cake were served. The group then strolled over to the rotunda where the films "Maryland, My Maryland" and "Rendezvous on the Reef" were shown. These films, sponsored by the Esso Company, are both educational and entertaining.

Mrs. Mary Gill, chairman of the social committee, and her committee planned the evening.

many people gathered by the lake so early (7:30 a.m.) on a cold morning made them think something had happened.
