College Days Bring 85 Seniors

New Surgeon Joins Hospital Staff

Dr. Hill's F. Evans, who has been at the Bella Vista Hospital in Mayaguez, Puerto Rico, for the past two and a half years, arrived with his family the latter part of March to be surgeon at the Sanitarium.

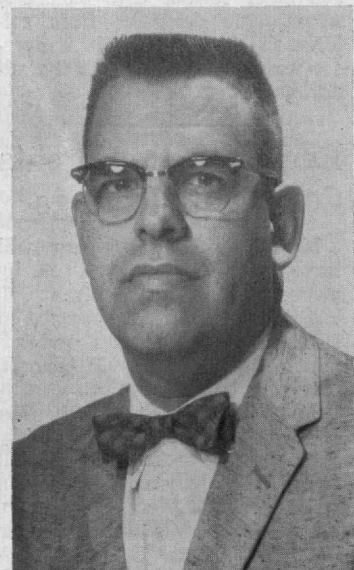

After graduation from the College of Medical Evangelists, Dr. Evans served a term of two years in the United States Navy as commander. He did administrative medical work while stationed at Baltimore, Maryland.

In Schenectady, New York, he engaged in private surgical practice and then for five years in that same city filled a surgical residency post at the Ellis Hospital.

For the next seven years, before going to Puerto Rico to the Bella Vista Hospital, Dr. Evans was in private practice at Cortland, New York.

Dr. Evans' family consists of his wife and three children, a 13-year-old son, a 9-year-old son, and a 5-year-old daughter. The Evanses hope soon to find a suitable country home.

Dr. Evans is a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons.

Classes Dismissed, Students and Teachers Clean Up and Fix Up

Ideal weather and willing faculty members and students combined to make the annual campus clean-up on April 7 a big success.

School was dismissed for the day, and the hours usually spent in classes were spent washing windows, painting, raking lawns, cleaning up debris, planting flower gardens and grass, and grading for the new lawn.

Since ASMC officers were working on the cafeteria project, dinner and supper were served on the lawn. After supper marshmallows were toasted. After a short worship at 7:00 p.m., films were shown in the chapel.

Lucy Courter, chairman of the Campus Life Committee, organized clean-up day with the help of her committee, the Improvements Committee, and Mr. Sosong.

Following is a list of the important accomplishments of the day:

Both men and women worked on the grading for the new lawn on either side of the nine-foot walk from Scott corner to Gotzian Home.

The stone wall around the new parking lot was nearly completed. The appearance of the parking area around Mother D Lodge was greatly improved.

ASMC officers and others were busy all day working on the cafeteria in readiness for the plasterers. The rest of the ceiling will be of acoustical tile. The stripping on one end of the cafeteria was finished in readiness for the laying of the tile.

Approximately 85 seniors from five academies are guests of Madison College during the annual college days on April 14 and 15.

The visiting seniors were welcomed by the Associated Students of Madison College as they arrived Tuesday in time for dinner. They spent the afternoon registering, finding their rooms, greeting old friends, and getting acquainted with new ones. Tuesday evening the department heads presented a program in chapel which acquainted the visitors with what Madison College has to offer.

After worship by Elder Mills on Wednesday morning the seniors were taken on a historical tour to such points of interest as the Hermitage, the Parthenon, and Ft. Nashborough.

At chapel at one o'clock the program was in charge of Dean Byers. Representatives from the academies participated.

Wednesday afternoon calls for a tour of the departments and industries on the campus and then conferences and interviews in the library with teachers and department heads.

Following the evening devotional by Mr. Gulley a musical program featuring the band will be given.

The visitors will leave for home Thursday morning after breakfast as their hosts bid them farewell till September.

Madison Musicians Attend Festival

Twenty members of the academy choir and nine academy members of the college band participated in the first annual Southern Union Academy Music Festival—"On Wings of Song"—held April 10 and 11, at Southern Missionary College.

A total of 196 students from the academies of the Southern Union took part in this program. Lewis Dickman, principal, Mrs. Harter, vocal director, and Mrs. Silver, band director, represented the Madison College Academy faculty.

The large massed choir and massed band, performing together and separately, was an outstanding feature of the weekend. Each

EDITORIAL

Welcome, Seniors

We the Associated Students of Madison College wish to extend to you, the '58-'59 visiting seniors, a big Southern welcome. We hope that you are thoroughly enjoying your visit to our campus.

Many of you have never been here before. We hope you already feel at home among us. If we as students can do anything to make your visit more profitable and enjoyable, feel free to let us know. We wish to help you become better acquainted with our school.

The Associated Students of Madison College highly recommend to you the high standards of Christian education as offered at this college. We feel that Madison is truly developing the character of youth for a wider service in this world and the world to come. We count it a privilege to be attending Madison College in this serious crisis of earth's history. Time is short, and therefore wise choices of education and a life's work are of the greatest importance to you.

When you make these important decisions, we sincerely hope you will remember the things you have heard and seen during College Days at Madison College.

Starch and Stripes

The Nursing Department is proud of its large class of pre-clinicals. Twenty young women and five young men are in the class. For the time being they are spending their time in the classroom learning the fundamentals of nursing. They will be going on the floor about April 20. The following are members of the Sophomore A Class in Nursing:

Juanita Lanham
Rex Leatherwood
Ruth Leitsinger
Marjorie Lofton
Charles McMillan
Juanita Mercado
Mary Jane Morgan
Mavis Rushing
Alice Sheffield
Evelyn Thomas
Lydia Zaft
Shirley Zinke

James Anderson
Patsy Adkins
Thomas Bates
Henry Bedford
Correne Bunch
Lavelle Eversoll
Lorraine Fields
Norma Forrester
Eva Goldberg
Dorothy Graham
Barbara Hill
Carolyn Holder
Wilma Keller

The Nursing Department certainly misses Mrs. Norman R. Gulley now that she has resigned her work as clinical instructor. However we are sure she will be happy in her work as a homemaker.

Six nursing students are spending the spring quarter in Cincinnati for their pediatrics affiliation. They are Pat Wells, Doris McKee, Delphia Ladner, Ruth McClellan, Faye Champion, and Selma Thomas.

Alumni News

Word comes through Dalline and Skip Devlin that Charles and Lily Bessire, with their two children, may be reached at Box 782, Anahuac, Texas, near Galveston, where Charles is attending medical college. Charles was a member of the Class of '55, and Lily completed the X-ray course that same year. The Devlins, students here in 1950-52, are now located at 509 E. Mason, Ft. Worth, Texas. Mrs. Devlin is the former Dalline Colvin. Lisa and Skippy are their two children.

Dr. Donald Stecker, former resident physician at Madison Sanitarium and Hospital, is home on leave from the U. S. Air Force, celebrating with wife Elsie the birth of a baby daughter, Carol Ann, born March 30 here at the Sanitarium. Elsie, a graduate of the Madison College School of Nursing, and also of the Anesthesia School, is an instructor here in the Anesthesia School.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Lang, 332 San Juan Drive, Port Vue, McKeesport, Pennsylvania, announce the arrival of Sharon Janene, 7 pounds, 11 ounces, born March 10. Mr. Lang is an engineer with Westinghouse Peacetime Atomic Activities. Mrs. Lang, the former Violet Stewart, is a 1952 nursing graduate.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Mixon, Route 1, Box 212 B1, Daytona Beach, Florida, announce the birth of a son, Lonnie Mark, born March 19, weight 7 pounds, 11 ounces. Mrs. Mixon, the former Velma Stewart, graduated from nursing in 1954. Larry, graduate in elementary teacher-training at Madison and church school teacher ever since, has been awarded a $400 scholarship by the Florida Conference, to enable him to finish his degree.

Rachel Quevedo, wife of Carlos Quevedo, class of '58, was a recent visitor to the Madison campus. The Quevedos, with their two sons, are now located at 206 Bobbie, Longview, Texas, where Carlos is a laboratory technician at the Gregg Memorial County Hospital. Rachel, also a student at Madison College, is a sister of Marilyn Campbell, who is now on the nursing staff of Madison Sanitarium and Hospital.

The stork has paid another visit to the Harry Maydens at 1920 N. W. 29th St., Miami, Florida. Iris Colleen, 6 pounds, 14½ ounces, and 20½ inches long, was born February 27. Harry and Joyce are both graduates of Madison, and Mrs. Mayden is a sister to Deryl Christensen, senior industrial arts major at Madison College.

Mickey and Mary Nell Rabuka are once again back on the campus after a leave of almost two years during which Mickey served his time in Uncle Sam's Army. Mary Nell received her degree with the Class of '55, and Mickey plans to receive his B.S. in the graduation exercises next August. Their many friends welcome them back to Madison.

Academy Choir to Open Music Week

To open National Music Week, the Academy Choir, directed by Mrs. Betty Harter, will present its spring program on Saturday night May 2. At the end of this week the College Choir will be featured in a Friday evening vesper service on May 8, and the College Band will present its spring concert on Saturday night, May 9. The Junior Band will also have a part on the program. Other features will include the Cornet and Clarinet Trios.

Dear Editors:

I would like to take this opportunity to say thank you for the splendid cooperation of the faculty and students on clean-up day.

I'm sure those who helped gained a blessing, as well as the satisfaction of seeing a job well done.

Now that we have a clean campus, let us strive to keep it clean.

Sincerely,
Lucy Courter, Chairman
Campus Life Committee

Nurses Receive Junior and Senior Stripes

Thirty-three nurses have received junior and senior stripes, indicating that they have reached another milestone in their training.

Twenty-eight of this number received their stripes in a ceremony in chapel on April 1. Four pediatrics affiliates received their senior stripes earlier, just before they left for Cincinnati. Another, because of a leave of absence, received hers on April 15. Still another, Marguerite Roberts, also because of a leave of absence, will receive her senior stripe on May 16.

Those who now have senior stripes are Doris Brown, Faye Champion, Ida Gordon, David Hernandez, Julia Keller, Delphia Ladner, Ruth McClellan, Connie Martin, Martha Norris, Pat Rosenthal, Pat Sutton, Selma Thomas, Rachel Yatani, Mary Lou Ward.

Those who received junior stripes on April 1 were Nelda Faye Ackerman, Isabelle Altenbrun, Dorothy Blakely, Grace Bottsford, Virginia Cantrell, Margaret Crawford, Beth Edwards, Mary Gill, Carol Hilgers, Angel Jimenez, Marie King, Sallie Lazalier, Barbara Lyford, Beverly Milne-Jones, Geneva Owens, Barbara Pickel, Elenia Portalatin, Velma Robinson, Margaret Woodruff.

Teachers-in-Training Attend Convention

The Tennessee SNEA meeting held at Austin Peay State Teachers' College on April 10 was attended by more than 25 teachers-in-training, Dean Byers, Mr. Lynd, and Mrs. Simmons. Mrs. Simmons was a group discussion leader during one of the afternoon sessions. Students who attended the meetings were Pedro Ramos, club president; Ishmael Combs, vice-president; Ruby Seibert, publicity secretary; Martha Walters, treasurer; and other regular club members. About 1000 delegates from colleges and high schools in Tennessee were in attendance at the all-day meetings.

Registrar Represents College at Meetings

Mr. Homer Lynd, registrar, will leave the campus April 19 by plane to represent Madison College at the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and admission Officers at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

After leaving Pittsburgh, Mr. Lynd will be in New York City from April 26 to 29, where he will attend the National Association of Student Advisers Convention.

Last month, on March 19, at the Hotel Hermitage, Mr. Lynd attended the Tennessee College Association

Educator Advocates Work-Study Program

Dr. Raymond Moore, from the Potomac University, who addressed students and teachers at the chapel hour April 6 and met with about 35 college, academy, and elementary teachers in the Nashville area during the morning and afternoon, reiterated his firm belief in a balanced study-work program for pupils and students on all levels of learning. This program has been and is now being successfully tried in a few colleges and academies.

Dr. Moore believes elementary pupils will likewise profit from such a program. He extolled the value of the book Education by Mrs. E. G. White and commended it to renewed study. He cited a number of public school educators who have voiced high approval of this volume.

Mrs. Sumi Yoshimura prepared a delicious Japanese meal which was served at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Perry Webber, former educators in Japan, in honor of Dr. Moore, who also had lived in Japan a number of years. Elder H. S. Hanson, Dr. and Mrs. Sandborn, Dean Byers, and several other guests were present at the dinner.

Elder Hanson and Dr. Moore motored to Oakwood College from here, and then went on to Southern Missionary College to hold similar conferences on these campuses.

Dr. Moore built up the educational work in both the Philippines and Japan, developing an especially strong program at Japan Missionary College, which received national recognition as a result of his work.

Missionary Writes Of Busy Clinic

A letter written by Mrs. Ray Comstock to Mrs. Simmons is of interest to those who are following the work of the self-supporting unit in Mexico. Mrs. Comstock writes:

"If you were to step into the clinic today you would find that we are laboring under some very difficult situations. Dr. Butler and family, who are six in number [recent additions to unit], plus a Mexican girl are living in the clinic, but two babies were born this week, and Sister Butler is one busy girl, I can tell you, with her own family plus patients all crowded into the clinic. . . . Dr. Butler has drawn up plans for an additional clinic building. It is badly needed as it is impossible to do any surgery without a place to do it. . . .

"My folks have been with us since last April 1. Ray took them back to Loma Linda and at the same time carried an invitation from the governor of Chiapas to come to Chiapas to hold clinics. . . . A group were with us last year and they didn't forget what they saw—they want to come back."

Mrs. Comstock also asked for an algebra and a physics book in English for their son Burton, who is attending Linda Vista Collegio, where all classes are taught in Spanish. Mr. Morris kindly furnished the books, and they are already on their way to Mexico.

tion in the absence of President Sandborn. He participated on a panel with six other panelists. His topic was "Adult Education at Madison College." Members of this association are the presidents and deans of the respective Tennessee colleges.

"The Lord calls upon those connected with our sanitariums, publishing houses, and schools TO TEACH THE YOUTH TO DO EVANGELISTIC WORK." Evangelism, p. 24.

God is at work down at the Fatherland Church. There is a wonderful spirit among the youth. Nothing lifts morale like helping others. Sunday, April 5, three non-Adventists drove 60 miles to attend the meetings. Sixteen non-Adventists were present to hear Mr. Gulley present the message, "The Origin of Man and Sin." Mr. Winston Ferris led the singing and sang a solo. The mixed quartette, Lorraine Fields, Judy Lahde, Phil Sandford, and Harry Georgeson sang the appeal song. At the close of the meeting Dr. Bowes showed the film "One in Twenty Thousand."

Wednesday night Terry Sweeny led the music. Laura Slattery and Ruby Seibert sang a duet, and the Evangelists—Pat Batchelor, Hazel Griffin, Judy Lahde, and Mary Mathis—sang the appeal song, "Just As I Am." In the call one person came forward in consecration. The message that night was on the universal question, "How Can I Be Saved?" A first-aid demonstration was given by Mr. L. L. Dickman, assisted by Lila Ring.

Those in charge of the baby-sitting service have told stories and taught songs to an average of 15 children each night. In charge have been Mrs. Kunau, Mrs. Ferris, Sarah Bigelow, Lois Bul-

Students Affiliate At Units

Five students from Madison are spending the spring quarter at self-supporting institutions, under the affiliation plan offered by the college.

The purpose of the affiliation is to give students first-hand information concerning the work of self-supporting schools. During the quarter they will work in various departments at the units, learning how they are operated. The students keep daily diaries of their time and work and then make a complete report at the close of the quarter. For this experience they will receive nine quarter-hours' credit in Rural Living.

Those affiliating this quarter are Nancy Hollinger and Phyllis Campbell at Fletcher, Joel Stahl at Little Creek, Gilberto Soto at Laurelbrook, and Joyce Evans at Hylandale. Mr. Lynd, registrar, says he has received several very favorable reports from the affiliating students.

lock, Judy Lahde, and Phil Sandford.

The instrumentalists, Shirley Burke and Clyde Holland at the organ and Beverly Hegstad at the piano, have given faithful service. The choir sets the atmosphere for worship with the theme hymn, "Sweet Hour of Prayer." The ushers under Fay Eller and Terry Sweeny have made the people feel at home. Their helpers have been Esther Kowalski and Jean Openshaw in nurses' uniforms and Ramon Torres and Lloyd Kanatzer. All ushers, choir members, and platform personnel wear pink carnations. Beautiful flowers have been supplied by Mrs. McDonald, Joe Fields, Phil Sandford, and Harry Georgeson.

When Mrs. Ferciot and Mrs. Ferris went visiting on Tuesday, they found a home where the people had not eaten for two days. One of the two babies was sick, and the place was dirty. They scrubbed the home with Ajax and invited the folks to the meetings. They also left food including 50 pounds of potatoes.

Wednesday afternoon Mr. Walper and Clyde Holland spent the entire afternoon working on the pipe organ to make it play even better.

The Sophomore A Nursing Class under James Anderson has taken the welfare work for this district as a class project. The Lord is working, and all the youth on the team are receiving a rich experience.

Magan Home lawn was reseeded, and a flower garden planted in the back beside the driveway to the cafeteria.

The dump behind Central Heat was bulldozed down flat.

The laundry received a bright outlook as flower beds were planted around the front and the side.

Mrs. Temples and a crew of girls worked all day painting and cleaning in Williams Hall.

The entire campus lawn was raked, from the Sanitarium area to Gotzian Home.

The back yard of Senior Home was flattened as a crew of students under the direction of Mr. Cosentine and Mr. Lynd leveled off the area which had once been Sunshine Court, now the new parking lot, and arranged a flower bed.

During recess the church school children caught the clean-up spirit, doing a thorough job of picking up trash and paper around their building.

Ag Club Members Go to Tour Units

Fourteen Agriculture Club members will spend April 19-21 on a field trip that will take them to four small self-supporting schools in Tennessee, Alabama, and Mississippi.

The group of academy and college agriculture students, their sponsor, Mr. Alfred Wilhelmson, and Mr. James Stearns, also of the Ag Division, will leave the campus April 19, visit the Lawrenceburg, Tennessee, institution, stop at the El Reposo, Alabama, unit, and then spend a longer time at Pine Forest Academy, Chunky, Mississippi, where they will present a program to the students. On the return trip they will visit Pine Hill Sanitarium and School, near Birmingham, reaching the campus again April 21.

The purpose of the trip is to interest the club members in the self-supporting work in the field of agriculture and also to interest the academy students in these units in Madison's agriculture program.

school presented polished and talented performers and ensembles as a part of the various programs which included a Friday night vesper program, a Sabbath afternoon sacred concert, and a Saturday night secular program. Special music for the Sabbath services was provided by the visiting academy musicians.

An unusual feature of the festival was the use made of the various directors from all the schools as conductors of the large mass groups. No guest or big-name conductor was called in to do the work. Students and teachers from Madison have voiced the opinion that the festival, coordinated by Professor Burton Jackson, band director at SMC, was a big success and a thrilling and inspiring experience.
