Committee Pushes ASMC Project

The members of the ASMC Improvement Committee were officially recognized at the Student-Teacher Council on Wednesday night, March 8.

Since this committee is responsible for the development of the recreational area, members have been chosen representing every segment of the student body. The committee is composed of the following: Ed Smothermon, village students; Faye King and Carole Franklin, dormitory girls; Richard Sutton, married students; Francisco Velazquez, dormitory boys. Henry Scoggins is the committee chairman.

Although the project has not been discussed in great detail yet, the committee was ready to make the following statement: The work will start as soon as the weather permits and will proceed rapidly until the area is completed.

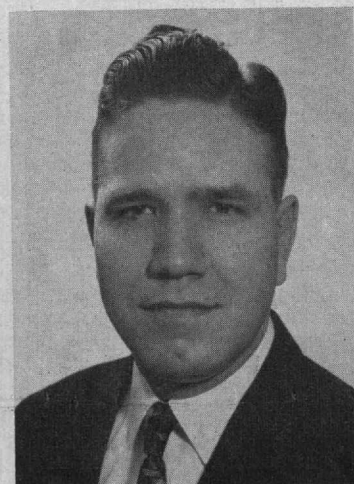

The plans call for a softball diamond, a large concrete area for volleyball, shuffleboard, and basketball, in addition to large, grassy areas for picnics and the like.

Chairman Scoggins makes this appeal to the student body:

"Even though we have received the funds for the project, we still have a need—we need the whole-hearted support of the student body. We need your help and your cooperation and, above all, your enthusiasm. We as students of Madison College believe we should be the head and not the tail. Let this apply to the enthusiasm with which we push our recreation area.

"We need everyone's cooperation. Remember, a chain is only as strong as its weakest link. This project will benefit, directly or indirectly, each student, faculty member, and worker of the institution. Let's get behind the project and P—U—S—H!"

Elder Charles G. Edwards, pastor of the Memphis Church, will be the speaker at the Spring Week of Prayer to be held April 2-9.

Class Visits Civil War Battlefields

The United States History class spent Wednesday, February 24, in Chattanooga, visiting the Lookout Mountain, Orchard Knob, Missionary Ridge, and Chickamauga battlefields, of Civil War fame.

Some of the high lights of the day were viewing the "Confederama," a realistic portrayal of the Battle of Chattanooga, visiting Point Park atop Lookout Mountain, driving down the three-mile Missionary Ridge (so named by Indians because its 200-400-foot undulating high wall was the farthest west Christians were allowed to come in the early days), and driving over the battlefield of the Battle of Chickamauga, a Southern victory and one of the fiercest engagements of the entire war. This latter battle resulted in the loss of 34,000 men killed, wounded, or missing, in two days.

An interesting parallel was pointed out to the class: 1863, the year for all these battles, was also the year when the first General Conference convened. As the nation was emerging from division into unity, so the Advent Movement was emerging from a national to an international organization.

"Panorama of the Ages" will be the theme of a series of eight talks which Elder Edwards will begin on Sabbath morning, April 2, continue each evening throughout the week, and close on Sabbath morning, April 9.

Some of the topics for this series are "The Image of God," "Dreams of Heaven and Homeland," "A Shepherd Shows the Way of Life," and "A Nation in the Balance."

At chapel each day Elder Edwards will present one of his "Foolish Journey Series." Some of the topics are "Riding a Donkey in Moab," "Tickets to Tarshish," "Rush Trip to Beersheba."

In connection with the evening meetings Elder Edwards will use slides on the screen to add interest to the sermons.

With the exception of giving the sermons, the MV's will be in charge of all features of the meetings—the music and the opening and closing features.

The dormitory prayer band leaders will conduct bands daily, and especially chosen leaders will meet with village students and married students.

Elder Edwards is well known among many of the students, as he was pastor of the Madison

Perennial Subject - School Spirit

Many students on many campuses periodically discuss school spirit—what it is and how it can be maintained.

Recently the subject came up for discussion in a certain college class, and the students were asked to express in writing their ideas on the above topics. The following excerpts from their papers are good and to the point. They express ideas and ideals that are worthy of our consideration.

"School spirit, like happiness, is a state of mind, a devotion to what a school stands for, enthusiasm for the projects promoted, and a loyalty which never fails, because you believe that you are attending one of the best schools in the land."

"School spirit is a two-way item. It must be attained by the combined efforts of both students and faculty. Neither can do it alone."

"More association between students and teachers when they are not 'on duty' would help maintain school spirit, for the students would become better acquainted with their teachers and realize that they can be fun, too."

"We all have the common goal of Heaven, but we should have some other goal, too, a goal that will unite the whole student body and faculty into a happier family of God." c.c.

Speech Students Conduct Sabbath Services

Speech class students conducted the Sabbath school and church services at Ashland City, Tennessee, on March 5.

Those on the Sabbath school program were Eugene Post, Harry Georgeson, Paul Nettland, Terry Trivett, Mary Silvers, Bill Driver, Roy Steck, and Carol Burchard.

Participating in the church service were Eugene Post, Paul Nettland, Roy Steck, Bill Driver, Harry Georgeson, and Carol Burchard.

Agriculture Department Students Show How They Do It

The Agriculture Department program presented in chapel on March 2 was another in the series of departmental programs being featured this year. The program was under the direction of A. D. Wilhelmsen, head of the Agriculture Division of the college.

On the platform were agriculture students at work with poultry, calves, trees, and corn. As Richard Mitzelfelt wandered over the "farm," he asked various questions which brought to the audience the information about the Madison College Agriculture Department.

Arnold Andruss, who represented the Poultry Department, explained the use of the incubator and also showed the difference in the White Leghorn and the Rhode Island Red breeds.

Harry Fujita, whose major interest is horticulture, demonstrated the pruning of a peach tree.

Phi Mu Sigma

You don't have to go to the North Pole to find cold weather. Just ask any resident of Wasiota Court. The other day when the temperature was hovering near the zero mark, a water pipe burst at the Court. Needless to say, boilers don't heat very well without water to boil. However the fellows enjoyed the refreshingly cool, country air.

Speaking of cold weather—Bill Wilson, Phil Hill, and Phil Sanford have been working at Central Heat in addition to attending to their regular duties. During this cold weather extra help is needed to assure us of adequate heat.

During one of the recent Phi Mu Sigma meetings, Dean Fragola and his son brought in a big birthday cake to celebrate the birthdays of the following who had had birthdays in January and February: Robert Bratten, Primo Cabalo, Darwin Secrist, Abimelec Saucedo, Lloyd Trivett, and David White. Their names appeared on the spice cake, which had white icing and yellow rosebud decorations.

Primo Cabalo's brother, who is in the Navy, was a recent visitor at Gotzian. Although he didn't stay long, he made many friends while he was here.

We hear that Junior Scoggins has started taking orders for eggs. He won a baby chick in chapel recently.

Phi Mu Sigma Forum has elected its new officers for the next two quarters. They are as follows: Eugen Domke, president; Ed Barton, vice-president; Kenneth Moore, secretary-treasurer; Primo Cabalo, pastor; Phil Hill, parliamentarian.

Delta Nu Zeta

The big night, the night of the boys' banquet, is still a topic of conversation among the girls. We remember with what anticipation we got ready for it and how we enjoyed the food, the program, and the films. They were indeed splendid. Again we want to say "Thank you" for the unforgettable evening of entertainment.

Assembly Hall Upstairs was a lonesome place for a few days while five of the academy girls were in Florida. Arlene Blackburn, Andrea Barger, Rowena Felt, Hazel Griffin, and Jean Pitts were the lucky ones who attended the Southern Union Music Festival.

Something new has been added in Williams Hall. A partition has been built in the hall to make our quarters more private and to allow the boys to come up to the parlor to wait for their dates instead of having to wait in the lobby. We really are enjoying it.

That written exam in Fundamentals of Nursing slightly confused Lorna Holly when she came to the question, "Name two ways to give medicines without water." Her brilliant answer was, "In formaldehyde and cough syrup." Miss Holly, are you trying to "preserve" your patients?

Jane Becker must have been in a hurry as she dressed one morning, for when she came to dinner she realized that her dress was on backwards. Better luck next time, Jane.

Candleglow Hour Is Inaugurated

The Candleglow Hour is a social period immediately following certain Saturday night programs which has been instituted to provide students with a cultural background for their association.

To attend this social period, students must be dressed appropriately—no jeans, sport shirts or coats, bobby socks, or sweaters and skirts.

To a background of soft music the young people may visit together and enjoy refreshments for a brief period of time.

At the first two of these hours, which have been pronounced a success by those who attended, Shirley Zinke acted as hostess.

Fatherland Church Is One Year Old

It was March 14, 1959, when the Fatherland Church project was begun. Since then, four public evangelistic campaigns have been held. Between twenty and thirty people have regularly attended the services during the entire year.

Plans for the future are to step up contacts with the public on the medical missionary basis. Health demonstrations, cooking classes, and simple remedy tips are slated for public interest.

Visitors at the Sabbath services are always welcome. Suggestions

Pictures Depict Life Of the Cannibal

Elder C. A. Reeves, formerly a missionary in the Australasian Division, presented a travelogue on the cannibals of New Guinea on Saturday night, March 5.

Elder Reeves has taken many unusual pictures of these cannibals, showing their living conditions, their warlike life, and the rites and ceremonies connected with their religion.

He showed a devil dance in progress, called the Devil Sing Sing, which very few white men have ever witnessed. Possessing superhuman strength, the natives dance day and night for seven days.

Sometimes a devil-possessed participant will go into convulsions. Only if the victim himself will call upon the name of the Lord will he be relieved of his condition.

SEMINAR

The first seminar band went out on Sabbath, March 5, to Cave Springs School for Handicapped Children. The MV leader, Glenn Ferguson, and David Lousiale were the two speakers for the morning service. This is the beginning of another adventure in witnessing for Christ in neighboring churches of this area.

SEMINAR LEADERS

It was voted at the last MV Council that Mr. Verle Sossong work with student leader Terry Sweeny and his committee to push this seminar project in a vigorous way. As assistant MV leader, Terry is also chairman of the Religious Life Committee of the ASMC. At a recent Student-Teacher Council, Terry presented the plans for a seminar, and the proposal was received enthusiastically.

RADIO PROGRAM

Big and thorough plans are being laid for an MV sponsored campus radio program. Radio station representatives Rimmer and Steck met with the members of the MV Council and have promised their assistance. Terry Sweeny and Mr. Sossong will also head up in the launching of the feature.

APPRECIATION OF LEADERSHIP

MV's have appreciated the excellent leadership of Glenn Ferguson and his big team of workers. In a future report you will be taken behind the scenes to learn more of this big campus MV organization.

EVANGELISM CLASSES

We are having a wonderful time Sabbath afternoons at 4:00 p.m. (note time change because of sunset change). Youth are enjoying the giving of Bible studies in the community.

INVESTITURE

There are many who want to become Master Guides. Are you one? See Wilma Keller at your earliest convenience. We are planning on a big investiture.

HOOR OF POWER

Two faculty members visited the hour of power just recently and received a real blessing from this half hour of inspiration. Kay Forrester is doing a wonderful work of leading. Drop by some day; you'll be glad you did.

M V BULLETIN

It has been voted to bring out a monthly bulletin of activities, to be distributed in church Sabbath morning, the first Sabbath of each month. Rebecca Culpepper will be the editor.

PROGRAMS

They've been good! Thank you, Joe Fields, for the film on Luzeiro I, depicting medical missionary work in the Amazon region of South America.

STORY TELLING HOUR

Master Guide leader Wilma Keller has announced that classes will be taught in story telling on Friday nights at 6:00 p.m. in the Demonstration Building, Room 202.

Teachers of Tomorrow Serve Pancakes

"Pancake supper. Waldorf salad and postum. All you can eat for 50 cents." So the posters put up by the Teachers of Tomorrow had announced all week.

This tempting menu and a clear, cold night—perfect for pancakes—brought a crowd to the cafeteria Saturday night, May 5.

When the doors were opened, cadet teachers and future teachers were ready to take orders and rush the piping hot pancakes, just off the griddle, to their customers.

Some of the fellows really took the club up on their offer, "All you can eat," storing away eight and ten pancakes.

The club cleared $40.00 on the pancake supper.

Cave Enthusiasts To Start Exploring

The recently formed Madison Speleological Society is proving to be one of the most popular clubs on the college campus.

More than thirty students are members. Of these, several have never seen the interior of a cave. For these people, quite a thrill is in store.

The club expects to start exploration of the Snail Shell Cave system shortly. This system is a vast network of underground passages in Rutherford County.

The officers of the club are Dan Francomano, president; Orval Gill, vice president; Charlotte Wedel, secretary-treasurer; and Glenn Ferguson, pastor. Mr. Joe Schnell is club sponsor.

The Madison Speleological Society meets on the second and fourth Saturday nights of the month at 6:30 in the Science Building.

Speech Class Members Appear in Program

Members of Mr. Miles Coon's speech class were the speakers at chapel on March 7. The following students spoke on subjects or their own choice:

Gene Wheeler—Our American Government

Harry Georgeson—The Influence of Music

Richard Mitzelfelt—Choosing a Life Work

Raymond Campbell—The Christian Home

Mary Silvers—Being a Mother

Norma Umali—A Tribute to My Mother

Carol Burchard—That Naughty Boy

Other members of the class who participated in the program were Gordon Roberts, who had the opening prayer; Paul Nettland, who played, as a trumpet solo, "Largo," from the New World Symphony, by Dvorak; and Roy Steck, who gave the benediction.

Fatherland—from p. 2

concerning the evangelistic program are also solicited.

The group hopes to start some branch Sabbath schools in Nashville. There is a need for two to be begun immediately. Any person interested in this project contact N. R. Gulley.

In Sympathy

Students and teachers express their sympathy to Mrs. Betty Harter, director of Elementary Education, whose mother passed away on March 7. The funeral was held in Springfield, Ohio.

Twenty Academy Students Participate in Music Festival in Orlando, Florida

Early Wednesday morning, March 2, in a blinding snow storm, 20 brave young musicians, their director, Mrs. Bob Silver, and their principal, Mr. Louis Dickman, started for sunny Florida and the Music Festival. Mr. Dickman drove the college bus. Inasmuch as the snowstorm had already closed the highway at Mont-eagle, Tennessee, it was decided to go through Alabama and try to outrun the storm. By nine o'clock that morning the snow was left behind. The night was spent in a motel in Tallahassee, Florida.

The next afternoon the group stopped for a visit to Silver Springs, and then continued on their way to Forest Lake Academy, arriving there in the evening.

Every minute of Friday was crammed with rehearsals of the massed band and the massed choir. Those who sang in the choir and played in the band were busy indeed. But it was well worth it. It was a real thrill to play and sing in those large groups.

Besides participating in the large groups, the Madison Academy Girls' Ensemble sang Sabbath afternoon, singing "Beside Still Waters." The Academy Trumpet Trio—Mary Lou Sandborn, Sue Cuthbert and Pat Silver—performed a special arrangement of "Lift Up the Trumpet," which Mrs. Silver had arranged. This was very enthusiastically received. Then on Saturday night the Academy Girls' Trio—Claudia Kunau, Sylvia Mitzelfelt, and Eva Gill—sang "This Is My Country" to a very appreciative audience. Rowena Felt and her violin were heard in Borowski's lovely "Adoration."

Mrs. Silver expressed herself as being very well pleased with the performance of the Madison groups. One of the massed group numbers conducted by Mrs. Silver was "Born to be Free," sung by 250 young voices, and accompanied by the massed band. Mrs. Silver states that this was a real thrill.

Mrs. Wayne Foster, music teacher of Madison College, accompanied the Madison groups.

Sunday morning a tired but happy group started back for Tennessee. On the way they paid a visit to the famed Cypress Gardens. Monday evening the weary young musicians arrived back at Madison College, just 24 hours ahead of another heavy snowstorm, which turned their wistful thoughts back toward sunny Florida.

DID YOU KNOW that the Academy Trumpet Trio, consisting of Mary Lou Sandborn, Sue Cuthbert, and Pat Silver were asked, while in Florida, to play at the North American Youth Congress in Atlantic City, New Jersey?

Bus Takes Seniors To New Orleans

The seniors will soon be merrily rolling along in the old school bus to New Orleans.

Ever since the class began working for the trip, there has been a little of this and a little of that done, and dozens and dozens of fresh, tasty do-nuts have been sold. The selling has really been fun, specially on our big Senior Rally Night, when we sold about 300 do-nuts.

Wednesday, March 15, we'll be waving bye to "you all," but will soon be back with loads to tell about.
