Speaker Presents God's Plan for Man

By WAYNE HAYES

The spring Week of Prayer, conducted by Elder Charles G. Edwards of the Memphis Seventhday Adventist Church, came to a successful close on Sabbath, April 9, as the speaker presented "Truth Triumphant," the last in a series of talks entitled "Panorama of the Drawing lessons from the history of man since his creation, Elder Edwards said that God's plan for man is the same today that it was originally, although there have been many modifications.

On Thursday and Friday nights the speaker presented Christ as the crucified and risen Saviour. Many responded to his call to come forward for studies leading to baptism, for re-baptism, and for re-dedication of their lives to Christian service. Citing Revelation 2:10, he said, "Through the ages it has meant something to be a Christian. Does it mean something to you?"

During the week the speaker gave a chapel series entitled "Foolish Journeys," at eight o'clock each morning for the academy and at one in the afternoon for the college. Using such men as Baalim, Jonah, Judas, Elder Edwards presented their mistakes and triumphs as lessons for the young people of today.

The entire program during the week was under the direction of the MV society, with students participating in the opening and closing exercises of each meeting.

Prayer bands, with chosen adult leaders, met each night at the close of the meeting.

For the grade school Elder Hubert Anderson, pastor of the college church, used the theme Amateur Hour Master of Ceremonies, Gordon Roberts, presented the first prize of $15.00 to the Trumpet Trio—Sue Cuthbert, Bill Bass, and Marilyn Sandborn-at the Amateur Hour, Saturday night, April 16.

Board Announces Elections for 1960-61

Dr. W. C. Sandborn was reelected president of Madison College and its industries at the board meeting held April 13 and

Other elections were J. B. Craw, business manager of the college and industries; Ed Hassenpflug, purchasing agent for the college, industries, and sanitarium-hospital; Elder S. J. Ruskjer, hospital consultant. Brenton Bullock was reelected assistant hospital administrator.

Faculty members, industrial department heads, and sanitarium department heads were elected for the coming year. Existing vacancies will be filled by the local board, which was appointed at this meeting.

The newly elected local board is made up of the following:

Elder E. L. Marley, chairman, W. C. Sandborn, Dr. J. C. Gant, Dr. Cyrus Kendall, J. W. Blair, George Walper, Miss Florence Fellemende, the college dean, and J B. Craw.

The board will meet on the first Tuesday after the 20th of each month at 10:00 a.m.

Second prize of $10.00 went to the male quartette-Eugen Domke, David Kingry, Charles Tremper, and Eufemio Cabalo-for their number, "My Gal."

Norma Umali took third prize of $5.00 for her reading, "Taking Daddy's Place."

The Amateur Hour, sponsored by the ASMC, was adjudged by the students an outstanding program of the school year. Much fine talent has been unearthed, which it is hoped will be utilized in future programs of this same

Other numbers popular with the audience were the Academy Girls' Trio composed of Claudia Kunau, Sylvia Mitzelfelt, and Eva Gill; Verne Miller's solo, "Short'ning Bread;" Harry Georgeson's piano solo, "Granada," accompanied by Gladys Ocampo with castanets; and John Bryant's solo, "Old Man River."

Harry Georgeson and John Lopez were responsible for the attractively decorated rostrum.

Be Ready

At the close of a recent worship the dean reminded the girls that they might expect a fire drill at any time and that they should always be prepared. She outlined the procedure very carefully and urged them to act promptly when they heard the fire signal.

The evening passed as usual. By ten o'clock nearly all were in bed. Then the fire alarm was heard. Most of the girls knew exactly what to do, for they made their way down the fire escapes to "safety.

However, a few began screaming and running in one direction and then another. Had there actually been a fire, some might have perished. They had heard the announcement but had listened only in a half-hearted way. Now they were confused and excited and did not know which way to go.

We know that Jesus is coming again. We have heard the warnings. Have we heeded these warnings, or have we listened only half-heartedly when the way to eternal life has been pointed out?

"Be ye also ready: for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of man cometh."

We were happy to have in our dormitory the parents of two of our girls over a recent weekend. Mary Ellen Young's parents, form Hagerstown, Maryland, and Helen Hurt's parents, from Memphis, Tennessee, were with us.

The siren! Did someone say "fire"? If by chance you had passed by Williams Hall on a recent Sunday night, you might have thought so, for girls were climbing out the windows and down the fire escapes. Of course it was just another of the periodic fire

Our newly-organized prayer band leaders are as follows: Becky Crittenden, Kay Forrester, Ramona Limon, Faye King, Alice Sheffield, Carol Smith, Barbara Pickel, Maxine Wilson, Rose Walden, and Jane Becker.

Laughing onlookers did not drown out the screams of Mary Lou Ward as her classmates proceeded to carry out the traditional ceremony of "uniform ripping," to celebrate the completion of her last hours of student nursing. Mary Lou is only one of a number of nurses who have undergone such treatment since the pinning ceremony on the night of April 3.

A few nights ago two nurses, on their way from San Kitchen to the Emergency Room, were suddenly and quite unexpectedly met and chased (so the story goes) by a foul-smelling black and white kitty. However, one scream from Izzy (and she can really scream) was sufficient to send the pursuer scurrying in the opposite direction from which she and nurse Joe were running.

Alumni News

A letter from Clyde and Marie Holland, at Menard Hospital, Menard, Texas, brings us up to date on news concerning former Madison students in West Texas. Clyde is director of nurses at Menard Hospital, and Marie is nursing part time.

Greetings from the alumni in West Texas. With state board yet to take, my wife and I and threemonth-old son look forward to visiting our Alma Mater April 17-23.

You will be interested to know of the Madisonites in this area. On our trip to San Marcus, 140 miles south of Menard, where Seventh-day Adventists were given full charge in the operation of the County Hospital there, we ran into Shirley Burk, '59, who is teaching church school in the Valley. The Rabuns, '58, and their children were among those from Austin, Texas, who came to the new hospital opening Alyce Faye (Williams) Sisk, '59, is a supervisor in the Surgical Wing, along with the job of scrubbing in, in surgery. David will be on the staff in May, as he will, at that time, complete his military service at Ft. Sam Houston.

Mary Ellen Hopps is chief anesthetist. Cecil is still at Fort Sam, 40 miles away. The distance to travel is nothing for Cecil, for he still claims the fastest car in Texas. He also has an ambulance service in San Antonio.

The Rabukas are also on the San Marcus staff. Micky is chief technologist and his wife Marinell is bookkeeper and receptionist.

There were nine Madison graduates for supper at the Rabukas Saturday night. It was like a reunion. We look forward to seeing Maureen Drake and Mary Lou Ward, for they will be only 80 miles from us, in Santa Anna, Texas.

Going 120 miles still further to Keene, where we spent the past Sabbath, we learned that Jim Anderson is still pursuing his pre-dental major. His wife Darleen is supervisior in OB at a nearby hospital. Tony Rivera is the librarian at Southwestern Junior College at Keene.

We were glad to travel 120 miles to Palestine, Texas, to see Rex and Betty Leatherwood, who were down to see Rex's parents during spring vacation.

It is good to see our fellow classmates and colleagues choosing the dark counties to give of their best to the Master.

We'll see you soon.

Phi Mu Sigma

Gotzian Home and Wasiota Court entertained about 20 guests from Fletcher, Little Creek, and Laurelbrook during College Days. Each evening the Wasiota fellows featured weight-lifting contests, wrestling matches, and monkey-bar stunts, which everyone seemed to enjoy.

On Tuesday night about nine o'clock the contests were suddenly interrupted by strains of "You Are My Sunshine" and "Carolina Moon," coming from feminine voices. The academy girls were honoring us with a serenade.

The Phi Mu Sigma Forum had a swimming party at the Jewish Community Center pool the other Thursday night. Several members could not go because of classes, but those who did go had a "ball," as they put it.

To continue our introductions from last time, let me present Padre Andres Díaz, starring in A Brand from the Burning. Padre Andres was a Roman Catholic priest before he became converted to Seventh-day Adventist doctrines. You will want to read his thrilling experiences in his search for truth, and to learn how he became a minister in his new-found faith. There is no dull moment in this action-filled book, packed with drama, humor, and interest from cover to cover. Ask for 922.67 D54f.

Of course, you must by all means get acquainted with Herbert and Della Hanson, Seventh-day Adventist missionaries to Ethiopia. You will thrill with excitement as you read of their experiences in their book, For God and Emper-or. Especially interesting—almost like a fairy tale—is Mrs. Hanson's account of her life in the palace of Emperor Haile Selassie, where, for fourteen years, she was in charge of the royal household, planning and directing the royal receptions, weddings, and entertainment of visiting personages. The call number is 266.67 H19f.

HISTORICALLY SPEAKING

The hill known as Hunter Hill, on which Gotzian Home stands, was known in the days of Andrew Jackson as a meeting place for hunters preparing to go on foxhunts. It was known from one end of the state to the other.

Even the springs around here were famous in early days, one in particular being Larkin Springs. It was large enough to supply water for the city of Nashville.

This area was formerly the favorite hunting ground for the Cherokee, Chickasaw, and Creek

Academy Seniors Visit Madison

By RUTH GILL

Madison College entertained 81 visiting seniors from Fletcher, Little Creek, Pine Forest, Laurelbrook, and Madison College Academy on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 12 and 13.

The seniors arrived Tuesday afternoon, and after registering and receiving room assignments, they were taken on a tour of the Preceding the evening devotional service by Elder Coon, the male quartette and the Academy Girls' Trio furnished special music.

Elder Hubert Anderson, college pastor, conducted the morning devotional on Wednesday morn-ing. The rest of the morning was spent in interviews with college department heads in the library and a talk by President Sandborn on "Madison's Heritage."

Dr. T. S. Geraty, from the General Conference Department of Education, was the guest speaker at the one o'clock chapel service.

After a tour of the Secretarial Department (where the seniors were served cold lemonade), two busses took the large group on a tour of the Hermitage and the Parthenon in Nashville. A delicious picnic supper was served on the lawn that evening.

The evening program began with a group of selections by the College Choir and devotions by Elder Lorenz. The program by the College Band was a treat for all.

Everyone enjoyed the speeches by the class presidents from the academies: Stephen Marlow, Laurelbrook; Sue Buckly, Pine Forest; Bert Coolidge, Little Creek; Harry Branson, Fletcher; Bill Bass, Madison.

Then came the climax of the evening-the presenting of scholarships to representatives from each academy. Registrar Homer L. Lynd presented these to William Hileman of Fletcher, Rose Halverstott and Betty Williams of Little Creek, Stephen Marlow of Laurelbrook, Sue Buckly of Pine Forest.

The final event of the day was a lovely reception for the seniors in the Nutrition Laboratory.

Thursday morning concluded the visit, and as the seniors left, their hosts bade them farewell till September, when it is hoped all will be back.

Juniors Sponsor Chow Mein Supper

The College Junior Class sponsored a chow mien supper on Saturday night, April 9, in the cafeteria.

The program given included vocal numbers by the academy trio, composed of Eva Gill, Sylvia Mitzelfelt, and Claudia Kunau; the Philippine Duet, Norma and Betty Umali; and Elizabeth Williams.

The benefits received are to be used for the college junior and senior banquet, which will be given April 21.

Let's Get Acquainted . . . . Larry Kelley

By HARRY "MONTY" GEORGESON

Almost twentyone years ago, on Мау 26, 1939, Larry Kelley was born in the Madison Sanitarium. He has lived ever since with his parents very near to Madison College—at his home on Old Hickory Lake. It is evident that he is no stranger to the campus.

Larry, the eldest in the family, has three brothers and one sister, all of whom attend school in the academy and elementary school, with the exception of his his brother Gerald, who graduated from the academy last year and is now in his freshman year at Southern Missionary College. His parents are firm supporters of Christian education.

Larry's interests and hobbies have centered around sport cars, boats, and water-skiing. In the summer most of his free time after school and work is spent in water-skiing

Larry's father is employed by the Dupont plant, and he also keeps their farm, near Mt. Juliet, in top shape. Mrs. Kelley, an LPN, is a full-time worker in the nursery here at the hospital. So you see that the Kelleys are an active family, each member interested in the well-being of the other. Many times the Kelley home has been opened to Madison stu-dents for good wholesome recrea-

One of Larry's interests centers in their farm, for ever since he has been in grade school, he has been in the calf-raising business, having had as many as eighteen calves at one time.

Larry has two ambitions: to be an anesthetist and to have a farm. Both are worthy ambitions, and we can visualize Larry reaching both. At present he is finishing X-ray. His next step toward his ambition is to enter nursing, a prerequisite to taking anesthesia.
