Concert Pianist to Appear in Lyceum

Mr. Theodore Ullman

Mr. Theodore Ullman, concert pianist, will be presented in recital Saturday night, March 3, in Helen Funk Assembly Hall. Mr. Ullman will present selections from Beethoven, Brahms, Chopin, Haydn, Debussy, and other masters.

Mr. Ullman has given piano recitals in countries on every continent of the globe, including performances in each of the fifty United States of America.

Not only is he a master of the "ivories"; he is also a winner of more than a score of competitive awards in music, including the MacDowell Club Young Artists' Contests and the $1000 Bamberger Competition. Nor is music the only field in which he excels; he is a twice-wounded and eleven-times decorated veteran of five years of service in the United States Army.

He was a faculty member of Biarritz American University in France and a member of the teaching staff of Juilliard School of Music in New York, where he was a post-graduate with highest honors. He holds not only B.S. and M.A. degrees, but also a Ph.D. degree.

Wherever he has performed, Mr. Ullman has been acclaimed as a brilliant pianist and his concerts have been declared high points in artists' series.

Students Urged to Push Campaign

By DAVID REAMS

At "Cape" Madison, on February 6, 1962, a momentous event took place. The Associated Students of Madison College launched their General Improvements Campaign.

You may recall that the object of the mission was to make five successful orbits: 1. Facelifting Assembly Hall. 2. Making interior changes on Assembly Hall. 3. Replacing the old sidewalks. 4. Improving the parking lot back of Assembly Hall. 5. Improving the cafeteria.

The main booster, the first stage of the rocket, was the personal letters written by the individual students to family, relatives, friends, and acquaintances. This was to be the main push in our campaign. The goal for each student was set for $25, and it was brought out that five letters would come very close to reaching that goal.

The second stage rocket of the campaign was the business letters typed to influential people and friends of the college.

The final thrust for putting the project into orbit was the third stage, our faculty.

BUT our booster has encountered some technical difficulties. It seems as if all the available fuel in our first-stage rocket is not being used, meaning this: Not everyone is taking an active part in the campaign and doing his share of the work.

Because of this difficulty, the second and third stages have been given the main responsibility of putting the project into orbit. A number of faithful, hard-working students have spent long hours sending large numbers of business letters.

We have also the surety that our faculty will do its part in help-

Madison to Host MV Seminar

Senior Nurses Will Get Pins on March 25

Twenty-two senior nurses will receive pins at a pinning service on Sunday night, March 25, in Helen Funk Assembly Hall. These pins will be given in recognition of their completion of the nursing course.

Most of the finishing nurses will remain with the college and hospital, some to continue class work for the B. S. degree and others to be full-time graduate employees of the hospital.

Those who will be pinned on March 25 are Patsy Adkins, Thomas Bates, Henry Bedford, Corrine Bunch, Lavelle Eversoll, Selma Ferrell, Lorraine Fields, Shirley Fields, Norma Forrester, Connie Henderson, Carolyn Holder, Wilma Keller, Esther Kowalski, Juanita Lanham, Marjorie Lofton, Charles MacMillan, Juanita Mercado, Mavis Rushing, Alice Sheffield, Lydia Zaft, Paul Nettland, Julius Piper.

Five Seventh-day Adventist colleges will be represented at an MV Inter-collegiate Seminar to be held at Madison College April 18-21.

Elders Lucas and Skinner from the General Conference MV Department, Elder Paul De Booy from the Central Union MV Department, Elder Cummings from the Southern Union, and Elder Dopp from the Kentucky-Tennessee Conference will direct the seminar.

The colleges which will send delegates to Madison for this four-day event are Southern Missionary College, Union College, Oakwood College, and Southwestern Junior College.

Community visitors will be welcome to attend the meetings on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and Sabbath.

The keynote of the seminar will be "In thy hand to make great," the MV motto for 1962. The seminar will study plans to strengthen MV activities on the college campus.

Delta Nu Zeta girls, faculty, and community friends were guests at a gala open house held by the men of Phi Mu Sigma on the night of February 22. Mothers back home would have been proud to see the clean, attractive rooms of their sons in Gotzian Home and Wasiota Court.

Those who toured the rooms were impressed with something more than the almost military cleanliness. It was the originality of the rooms. One could just about guess which boys belonged to the rooms before looking at the name cards.

The motif of springtime was attractively carried out throughout the buildings. The court at Wasiota had been transformed into a garden, with lawn chairs, trellis, artificial flowers, and a waterfall. In Gotzian the ironing nook had also been transformed into a garden, with "green grass" floor, wrought iron chairs, and a trellis intertwined with yellow roses. The ends of the halls were attractive with palms and wrought-iron furniture. A beautiful springtime scene, which had been painted by Mrs. Bonnie MacMillan, covered the bulletin board. Lovely floral arrangements were in both parlors. Gotzian parlor and its new furnishings received many compliments.

After touring the dormitories the guests gathered in the dining room for refreshments and then proceeded to Assembly Hall, where an interesting and entertaining film was shown on the life of athlete Bob Mathias, twice Olympic decathlon champion.

The evening's success was the result of the efforts of Phi Mu Sigma's president, Roger Bradley, and his officers, and of the entire club, who all spent long hours improving and beautifying the dormitories, and in addition some loyal mothers who arranged flowers and helped beautify the rooms.

Delta Nu Zeta girls thank you, Phi Mu Sigma, for a most enjoyable evening.

No Need for Discouragement

A Guest Editorial

Many youth in college for their first time become discouraged because they haven't attained what they like to term the goal of all education: high grades. While we would not in any way give impetus to low scholarship, yet we must confess that knowledge does not comprise all which is contained in the larger meaning of the term education.

Webster once wrote: "The feelings are to be disciplined; the passions are to be restrained; true and worthy motives are to be inspired; a profound religious feeling is to be instilled, and pure morality inculcated under all circumstances. All this is comprised in education."

You may not have achieved success in the usual method of measurement, but if you have learned a sense of justice, duty, truth, and above all else, honesty, you have the makings of a truly educated person. Do not become weary because of apparent failure. According to Angell, "One of the unequivocal blessings of a really good education is that it spurs the mind on to a sublime and enduring discontent with any particular stage of achievement and inspires men, contemptuous of the advancing years, to strive for even wider vision, for continued victories over new territory."

The battle of Marengo had gone against the French during the first part of the day, and they were expecting the order to retreat, when one of the officers, consulted by Napoleon, looked at his watch and said, "The battle is completely lost; but it is only two o'clock, and we shall have time to gain another." If you have become disheartened or discouraged in the face of apparent defeat, remember we are only in the second quarter and there's yet time to gain the victory—physical, mental, and spiritual. W. To Madisonian Readers

As a reader of the MADISONIAN, you are receiving this paper probably because some student is sending you a subscription which his student-association fee has paid for. He has chosen you because he believes you are interested in him and the school he is attending.

In the Improvement Campaign recently launched by the student body, each student has a personal goal of $25. The MADISONIAN has described the worthy projects for which this money will be used.

Why not show some student that you are interested in his college by sending a donation, large or small, to ASSOCIATED STUDENTS OF MADISON COLLEGE, and indicate which student you wish to help reach his goal? Make checks payable to Madison College for tax deduction purposes.

Alumni News

From far and near news has been pouring in about former students and faculty. Following are just a few items of interest:

Virginia Sellars (Class of '57) writes from Loma Linda, California, where she is spending the winter months with her husband Gene (Class of '61), who is doing graduate work at Loma Linda University. She tells of a Madison get-together and pot-luck supper at which these were present: Marie (Class of '61) and Billy Sandborn, Joanne (Foster, Class of '60) and David Love, Rachel Yatani (Class of '60), and Virginia and Gene Sellars. The supper was in honor of Lila Ring Adams (Class of '60), and her new husband Marvin Adams, who arrived a few hours late because of car trouble. On Sabbath the group got together to greet Mr. (Class of '61) and Mrs. John Dovich, who were on their way to Honduras. On Saturday night they all attended the annual supper of the West Coast Chapter of the Madison College Alumni, held at West Covina.

Lucy Courter (Class of '61) was employed in Louisville, Kentucky, but became quite homesick for sunny Florida. She is now working for an investment firm in Dunedin, Florida.

From Canada comes word of the Warners, David (Class of '58), his wife, and two little girls. They are connected with Branson Memorial Hospital.

News from our former librarian, Mr. Edward Collins, and family: They are in West Nigeria, where Mr. Collins is librarian and registrar and teaches nine hours of classwork.

Jack Gibbons (Class of '58) and family are doing a fine work in Belem, Brazil. Jack says the need for workers is still very great. Mrs. Gibbons, the former Nancy Fields, is a sister of Joe and Lorraine Fields.

Pedro and Rosa Ramos (Class of '59), back in Puerto Rico, have adopted a little girl. Pedro is teaching English in a high school.

Beverly Hegstad Bottsford (Class of '59) writes from Campo Grande, Mato Grosso, Brazil, where husband Ronald is Sabbath school, MV, and home missionary secretary. She tells of a trip they took with a native boy to a branch Sabbath school. After a fifteen-mile jeep ride, they had to walk four or five miles farther through corn fields, mud, and streams, and make the same trip back in time for their own meeting. "You can imagine how I looked," Beverly said.

One night with ten young people in their jeep they lost their way and spent the night trying to get home, arriving at 6:30 the next morning.

The Review and Herald of February 22 has this item about a religion major of the Class of '60: "The Indian worker, Prestley Lowery, is getting money together for the building of a church. . . . We hope that in this building program a church school can be incorporated, so as to bring up the Indian children in the Adventist way of life."

WGMS Now Brings All-day Programs

Campus radio station WGMS is now on the air all day every day, bringing local listeners varied musical programs at 550 kc., from 7:00 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.

With its transmitter located in the Assembly Hall adjoining the music and band practice room, the station broadcasts most weekend services and a full program of Sabbath music beginning one hour before sundown Friday. Voice of Prophecy tapes lent by hospital chaplain Oscar Hegstad are usually presented Sabbath afternoons.

Student operators Douglas White, Roger Bradley, Lolita Townsend, and Judy Ball do practically all the announcing and operating, supervised by Professor Leslie Morris and Richard Rimmer.

WGMS has been on the air since early 1958, but operation was somewhat erratic and usually confined to week ends. With the acquisition in 1959 of a long-playing tape machine which automatically reverses at each end of an eight-hour reel, weekday music programs became a possibility. Recently, donation and purchase of tape made this a reality. The music is copied from LP records onto one 1200-foot reel at a time, and spliced together in 4800-foot lengths. Counting both tracks, the station has now almost eight miles of music in use, with more to come.

Semi-popular and classical music are both heard. Some of the selections are complete symphonies, as well as polkas, Latin-American music, and—but to really find out if there is something for each listener, he will have to tune in for himself.

Future plans for the station include a new antenna system. This is really the greatest need now, so that the programs may be enjoyed by more listeners, especially on the campus periphery, as well as off-campus residents. The transmitter is limited by government regulation to an inefficient antenna system, and one should normally be within 100 feet of the antenna for best results.

Another improvement at the station awaiting sufficient funds is substituting of some low-grade equipment with high-fidelity components that will produce signals comparable to better AM stations and average FM. RICHARD RIMMER

Nurses Disclose Health Facts

The men of Wasiota Court hold the record for having the least percentage of ill students for a period of three months, announced Mrs. Zeigler, director of the College Health Service, at a chapel program on February 19, sponsored by this department. For Wasiota's splendid record, a floral arrangement was presented to the dean, Don Martin, by Mrs. Zeigler.

Mrs. Zeigler also reported that eight senior nursing students hold an enviable record of having had a week or less of illness during their three years' stay here.

Carolyn Holder has had only one day of illness; Mavis Rushing, three; Marjorie Lofton and Lavelle Eversoll, four; Wilma Keller and Lydia Zaft, five; Corrine Bunch and Thomas Bates, seven.

The main part of the program was a symposium based on the eight natural remedies as stated in Ministry of Healing. Seven student nurses participated, bringing out the following thoughts:

Kay Forrester—Abstemiousness: "The controlling power of appetite will prove the ruin of thousands, when, if they had conquered on this point, they would have moral power to gain the victory over every other temptation of Satan."

Lydia Zaft—Diet: "We are what we eat."

Lily Cabansag—Sunlight: "Nature's voice rings out, 'If thou wilt have perfect health, thou shalt live much in the sunshine.'"

Marjorie Lofton and Alice Sheffield—Fresh Air, Exercise: "Not only does exercise have a beneficial effect on one's muscles, but it is also necessary in keeping one's nervous system well balanced."

Pauline Romo—Pure Water: "A cold or cool bath is an excellent tonic. Both warm and neutral baths soothe the nerves and equalize the circulation. . . . We are not like the camel, who can store a gallon and a half of water in his stomach."

Wilma Keller—Rest and Trust in Divine Power: "Anguish of mind has driven thousands to suicide; anguish of body, none. . . . Health of mind is of far more consequence to our happiness than health of body."

Miss Zaft reported on an interesting project: She had spot-checked on about ten students for three meals, observing their food selection. The outstanding fault was the lack of vegetables in their diet. She also timed certain students and found that some ate a full meal in seven or eight minutes.

Freshmen Have Party Games Marches Movie

The new Dorcas Building was the scene of the freshman party between 6:30 and 8:30 on Saturday night, February 10.

Ronald Straw, pastor of the Freshman Class, led in a short devotional at the beginning of the party. Refreshments were then served, which had been appetizingly prepared by the food committee consisting of Nancy Rosenboom, Eva Campbell, and Carol Nystrom.

An enthusiastic group joined in singing some of the old familiar songs while waiting for all to finish eating. Thanks go to Chuck Morrison, the able song leader.

Then came the games. No one has decided yet which boy made the best lady—John Aitken, Bill Wilson, or Moto. And the airplane rides! Carol Taylor and Imelda Gutierrez thought they were going up, but really they were coming down. They'll know better next time. Ann Armbruster, Mr. Sutton, and all the rest may like to meet the "Fly" family again. Tom Phelps might know whether he or anyone else ever found that "bar" (bear). Just before they left the Dorcas Building, Steve Weesner led out in several energetic marches.

The group then went to the rotunda for a film, "I'd Climb the Highest Mountain." The sophomores, who wanted to see the film, were admitted for a price.

The Freshman Class is looking forward to another freshman party next month.

Chinese Educator Visits Campus

Mr. Jen Chia Chang, supervisor for the Ministry of Education, Taipei, Taiwan (Formosa), Free China, was a recent visitor on the campus. His four-hour visit included visits to all areas of the institution. According to Mr. Oakes, foreign student adviser, Mr. Chang's visit was in the interest of Chinese students enrolled at Madison College (Shirley Ho and Victor Wu, both from Hong Kong, Wai Keong Leong). Mr. Chang is well acquainted with Seventh-day Adventist medical and educational work on the island of Taiwan and is spending a full year visiting various colleges and universities where Chinese students are enrolled. He was favorably impressed by his visit to the home of Madison Foods and the library as well as the hospital.

Inquiring Reporter

By RUTH GILL

What do you think of the conduct at some of our lyceum programs, particularly musical concerts?

Carolyn Williams: "I think people could be more respectful by being courteous enough to quit eating and talking during a concert."

Frances McKee: "I think that we, as adults, should conduct ourselves as such.—Pretend you're at a concert in Nashville."

Jerry Brown: "Children that don't know how to conduct themselves and parents who let their children run wild have no place at our concerts. Complete quietness is imperative."

MOVIES

J. S. Darnell, of Dyersburg, Tennessee, took 150 feet of color movie film for Elder Dopp of the various Madison College MV activities. Featured in the film were the Voice of Youth evangelistic activities at the Hermitage Church, the candlelight vesper service, Operation Bed-side at work in a community home, the giving of a Bible study in the home of interested people, the literature band making visits to a home, and the executive committee in session in their office—discussing the "student missionary" project for this year.

STUDENT MISSIONARY PROJECT

Our project to send a student to Mexico this summer is off to a good start. The two suppers (spaghetti and pizza) proved a real success. To date $175 is on hand. $600 is the goal. Those reading the MADISONIAN who would like to help in this worthy project are requested to send their donations to the College MV Society, Box 331, Madison College, Madison, Tenn.

Student Evangelism Is Successful

The evangelistic meetings sponsored by the evangelism class and held in the Hermitage Church were well attended from beginning to end. More than 80 people came out to the opening meeting, and the attendance was above 50 every night of the week, with an increase of 70 on Friday night, when more than 130 were present. The little church was filled to capacity.

Some non-church members never missed a night. They were presented with a special portrait of Christ on the final night. Also on the first night all visitors received pictures of Christ.

The meetings, conducted entirely by young people, were packed with variety and interest. Special music, health talks, inspiring Bible messages, and the college singers with Elder Just—these were all features of the week. The meetings were climaxed Sabbath morning by a sermon by guest speaker Elder Kenneth Holland, These Times editor.

Five have joined the baptismal class and worshiped with the group on Sabbath. This baptismal class meets during Sabbath school class time.

Gotzian Gets New Parlor Furnishings

Gotzian parlor is the recipient of some new furnishings which have added greatly to its cheeriness and attractiveness.

A group of Madison College alumni ladies were responsible for getting paint for decorating the walls, a 6x9 rug, lamps, a table, pictures, cushions, drapes, and a large mirror. The residents of Gotzian extend sincere thanks to all those who made these furnishings possible.

Color Travelogue

"Around the World with Joseph Polo," a color travelogue, will be presented on Saturday night, March 10, in Helen Funk Assembly Hall.

The name "Marco Polo" has always meant adventure and new knowledge. Now, 100 years later, another Polo brings an adventurous journey to his audience by way of travelogue.

The romantic journey with Joseph Polo includes visits to the Taj Mahal, man's greatest tribute to woman; Eiffel Tower, the loftiest structure in Europe; the Orient, with pictures of costumes of its interesting people; and Venice, Marco Polo's own city.

ing us raise the $10,000. Although this project was planned by the students, the faculty always has supported it and it will continue to do so till the campaign is over.

Even so, the second and third stages of a rocket will never put it into orbit. So come on and let's get behind this project 100 percent.

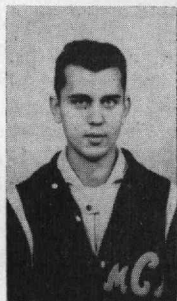

Lest we should leave a pessimistic conception of the way things are going, we must say that the first week or so of a campaign is always slow. The money comes in during the late innings of the game. We have not lost faith in the campaign. On the contrary, we are confident that with the help of each one of you we will reach the goal on time.

Health is her favorite subject, and she practices health principles by engaging in her favorite sports—skating and basketball. Um-m, she loves scalloped potatoes, but ugh, she hates those physics tests.

Her ambition is to be a psychologist. Her intellectual qualities and charming personality are sure to bring her success and a bright future.

Pictures for Reward

The pictures "High Flying" and "The Shield of Faith" were shown on Tuesday night, February 27, as a reward to all students who had written three ASMC letters since chapel that day. More than 400 letters were written during the afternoon and evening in the interest of raising funds for campus improvement.

Herman, Bowes, Jennings--ATS Winners

Ronnie Herman, Robert Bowes, and Vaughn Jennings were winners in the 1962 Academy ATS contests. The winners were announced at the close of the oratorical contest held on Saturday night, February 24.

Preceding the presentation of the orations, the band played several spirited numbers. Then down the front aisle came the color guard composed of Joel Craw, Johnny Sellars, and John Allen. As they reached the front, the audience rose for the singing of the national anthem.

Another patriotic feature preceding the contest was the appearance of Uncle Sam (Jim Herman), who sat on the platform wearing a worried look on his face. Larry Bowes learned that he was troubled over the problem of alcoholism in his country. Larry invited Uncle Sam to stay to see what Madison College Academy was doing for this problem.

The oratorical contest, the main feature of the evening, was introduced by Mr. L. A. Watson, sponsor for the campus ATS chapter. He introduced the five young people who were to give speeches. They were Jackie Cothren, Chris Verschoor, Bunny Knight, Ronnie Herman, and Margie Milom.

Herman's Oration Wins

Runners-up with Ronnie Herman, the winner, were Margie Milom and Jackie Cothren. Ronnie will go to the Southern Union ATS rally to be held at Bass Memorial Academy to compete with other academy winners. ATS leader Larry Bowes and the secretary, JoAnn Young, will also attend.

Bowes Wins Two Contests

Robert Bowes was winner in two contests—the jingle and the essay. Runners-up in the jingle contest were Annette Burkes and Joel Craw. Marietta Andrus, Sandra Lee, and Janice Thomson were runners-up for the essays.

Jennings Is Poster Winner

A collection of excellent posters made the judging hard, but the decision for first place was given to Vaughn Jennings. Runners-up were Joel Craw, Johnny Sellars, and Ed Reid.

Elder Foster, conference temperance secretary, who made the awards, expressed his appreciation for the contribution to temperance made by Madison College Academy.

Choir Sings at School for the Blind

The Academy Choir, under the direction of J. A. Just, had the privilege of going to the Tennessee School for the Blind to present a sacred program on Wednesday, February 14. This was the choir's first invitation for an off-campus program.

Besides numbers by the choir, there were special numbers performed by the boys' quartet and the girls' trio, a duet, and a final number by Jim Herman.

The visit to the school made the choir members thankful for their sight, after seeing all the young people unable to see. The choir thanks the teachers who made this trip possible.
