TOT's Choose 1962 Mrs. Student Teacher

Patricia Bullock

For the first time in the history of Madison College, the Teachers of Tomorrow have chosen a student to represent the Department of Education as "Mrs. Student Teacher."

In this case the one chosen happens to be the bride of less than a year—Mrs. Patricia Bullock, who came to Madison College four years ago from Norfolk, Virginia. She completed the last two years of academy here and is now well on her way to completing her college work. She is majoring in Elementary Education and minoring in Religion.

Mrs. Bullock was honored at the Teachers of Tomorrow Club Banquet on March 3, at which time she was presented with a beautiful corsage and a book. The presentation was made by Aida Henderson, runner-up in the contest.

As far back as Pat can remember, she has wanted to be a church school teacher, although she says it was her third-grade teacher who was a special inspiration to her. Her future plans include teaching this next year in a church school here in Tennessee. The Teachers of Tomorrow Club members wish to express their congratulations to Pat.

Improvements Begin on Assembly Hall

By CONNIE ZANES

The ASMC Improvement Campaign ended at chapel on March 20. President Eugen Domke expressed his appreciation to the students who worked long and hard and did their part in the campaign.

With the $2,896.45 raised, shingles and siding have been purchased, and work will begin on Assembly Hall as soon as the weather permits.

Forty-three students earned an extra day of spring vacation by reaching their $25 individual goals. Also, because the mail is still bringing letters containing cash donations, the campaign scholarship plan will be good until the end of May. That is, any money coming in will be credited to the student's name, and for every $100 turned in he will receive $20 in tuition scholarship.

The student association extends sincere thanks to the many friends and neighbors of Madison College who made the campaign possible by their generous contributions.

Students to Run College for a Day

Nashville U.N. Is Host To Overseas Students

Twenty-eight foreign students attending Madison College were recently guests of the Nashville Chapter of the United Nations Association at their annual UN dinner held at the Blakemore Methodist Church. Present were overseas students from many countries attending the colleges in the Nashville area.

The following represented Madison College: Shahpour Ansari, Iran; Jenny Paul, Persia; Lily Cabansag, Philippines; Ann Armbruster, Jocey Kozak, Marge Belyea, Carol McPherson, Canada; Dino Vega, Betty Hernandez, Puerto Rico; Carlota Torres, Francine Watler, Honduras; Elias Lopez, Amelia Lopez, Colombia; Shirley Ho, Hong Hong; Kenny Nakamura, Keiko Okado, T. K. Nobuhara, I. C. Nobuhara, David Fujita, Tom Arishima, James Amara, Naoo Matsuda, Shindo Matsuda, Japan; Verna McPherson, Panama; Alcia Espinoza, Tom Chin, Mexico; Chris Verschoor, Holland; Aldo Martinez, Ecuador.

Students are operating Madison College on March 29, the annual Student Government Day, a day sponsored by the Associated Students.

The administrative offices are occupied by the following members of the student body: Rex Leatherwood, president; Tom Bates, college dean; Connie Zanes, dean of women; Bob Brand, dean of men; Lolita Townsend, registrar; Wilma Keller, cafeteria matron. Student teachers, chosen by the regular teachers of the classes, are teaching all classes for today.

This Student Government Day is held each year, not only because it is interesting, but also because it affords the students an opportunity to face administrative problems.

Youth Revival Meets Young People's Needs

By PHYLLIS GROSS

Madison College and all the churches in the Nashville area have been privileged for the past two weeks to participate in the Youth Revival conducted by Elder E. L. Minchin, world youth leader.

The first week's meetings were held in the Nashville First Church and the second week's, in the Madison Boulevard Church.

Madison students, along with other young people in the area, have served as ushers, sung in the volunteer choir each evening, and presented special music. Elder Gerry Friesen, from Chattanooga, has contributed much as song leader and counselor.

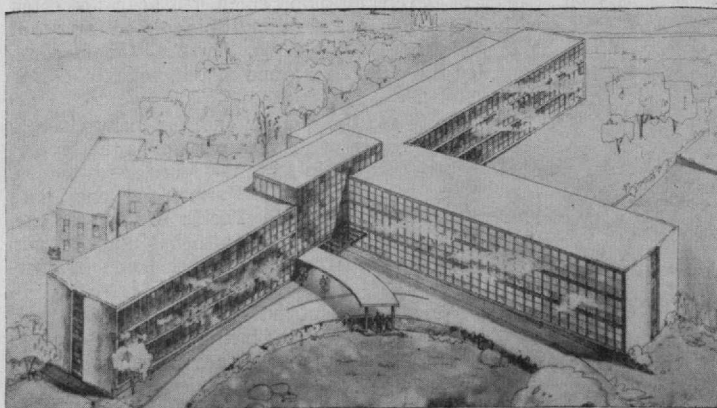

Elder Minchin's meetings, keyed especially to the needs of young people, have been much appreciated by both young people and their parents. Each one attending has realized more fully his need for having Christ as his friend now and in the uncertain days ahead.

There has been a near-overflow audience at each meeting.

Board Votes $1,200,000 Hospital Expansion

The Board voted at its annual meeting on March 5 that the $1,200,000 hospital building program begin by July 1, 1962. When the additions are completed, Madison Sanitarium-Hospital will have approximately 250 beds.

The new unit will house a complete new kitchen, a public dining room, a new emergency room, surgical and obstetrical suites, a new medical unit, an intensive care unit and recovery room, a new laboratory and X-ray department, complete physical therapy department, and administrative offices. The new building will be constructed in three stages, the first of which will be complete by March, 1963.

The architect's drawing pictures Madison Sanitarium and Hospital as it will appear when construction is completed. In the picture, the lower wing is the present surgical-obstetrical section of the hospital, which will be completely re-finished inside and outside to correspond in appearance to the new hospital.

Spring Has Come!

Spring—what does it mean to you?

According to the poet, "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love." Then there is that sickness that always plagues a campus, known as spring fever. And there is something else associated with spring—spring cleaning.

Spring house cleaning may be done in more than one way. A person may either be a light, over-the-top cleaner or a thorough cleaner, one who gets down under everything that needs cleaning. We know which kind of cleaning is more effective. Let's compare this latter kind with the way we should clean our hearts and minds.

Our hearts should be swept clean of jealousy, contempt, and envy. Then love, patience, and unselfishness should be dusted off and given a place of prominence in our hearts.

Have we done a thorough job of cleaning? Why not enter upon the new quarter with hearts and minds fresh and clean, with the remorse and bitterness of yesterday swept away, ready for all that the quarter has for us? R.C.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Friends:

Although there aren't too many students at Madison College that we know now, it was still a pleasant surprise to receive a copy of the MADISONIAN today. Any news from the homeland is gratefully received.

We are enjoying our work here in the land of new customs and ways. Ron, besides all his other duties as departmental secretary of the mission, has started a young people's choir of twenty-five voices. None of them read the notes and some barely the words, but it is a challenge. Since I am still struggling with the language (Portuguese) barrier, I help the best I can by playing the church's pump organ.

It might interest you to know that we are situated just 18 miles from the "Savage Fire" Hospital talked of a few months back in the YOUTH'S INSTRUCTOR. We have seen the ointment applied to the patients and heard their pitiful cries of pain. We saw a six-year-old child covered with the awful sores of this dreadful disease. We saw how the soles of a man's feet had been completely peeled off. You may read recently Ron's article in the REVIEW telling how the German Consulate presented this same hospital a new Volkswagen Bus for the use of the hospital in taking patients to and fro.

Pray for our labors here along with many other Madisonites serving God's cause.

Your friends in Christ.

Dear Madisonian Friends:

Here we are back at the beautiful Grand Canyon, where Mr. King is doing building. We have a blue sky and snow on the ground today. We are up 7,000 feet. Often I look out my back door and see deer going by, or a Stellar jay drops down for food at the back door. Daily Mr. Raven swaggers from the woods for a "hand-out." All these keep me company. Come to see us!

Mr. and Mrs. Kasser King

MADISONIAN readers fondly remember Mrs. King's contribution to the MADISONIAN for several years while she lived here—her delightful column, "Up and Down the Campus."

Phi Mu Sigma

By HERSHEL MERCER

Time quickly passes along, and with the passing of time we see new faces replacing the old ones. The old Phi Mu Sigma officers—Roger Bradley, president; Tom Bates, vice-president; Hershel Mercer, secretary-treasurer; Jim Merklin, parliamentarian; and Bob Brand, pastor—are no longer the leaders of the men's club. We want to thank you, men, for letting us serve you these past two quarters.

Your new officers are Steve Weesner, president; Bob Brand, vice-president; Doug White, secretary-treasurer; Clyde Ball, parliamentarian; and Ralph Meglemre, pastor. I know that the new officers that you have elected will do a wonderful job.

Again we hear the sounds of hammers and men working around Gotzian Home, as some of the lucky boys are having their rooms worked on. I know that Bill Wilson, Paul Frock, and Ken Reid are very happy to get their rooms remodeled even if it means living crowded up somewhere for a while.

Now as we look back over all the good and bad times that we have shared with our friends this year, it is going to be hard for some of us fellows to leave. Some are leaving because they have finished their courses, and others are leaving because of financial reasons. Some plan to get married, and others will continue their education somewhere else. I'm sure that all of us that are leaving will never forget the part that Madison College has played in our lives, and all of us will have a big warm spot in our hearts for Madison College.

I would like to leave with you as a parting thought this poem by Ebenezer C. Brewer, entitled "Little Things":

"Little drops of water, Little grains of sand, Make the mighty ocean And the pleasant land. Thus the little minutes, Humble though they be, Make the mighty ages Of eternity.	Thus our little errors Lead the soul away From the path of virtue Far in sin to stray Little deeds of kindness, Little words of love, Make our earth an Eden, Like the heaven above.

Delta Nu Zeta

By ESTHER MINESINGER

As the new quarter begins Delta Nu Zeta will be in the hands of new officers. We want to express appreciation to Ruth Gill and her officers for the tremendous leadership they have given us. The new officers are as follows: Esther Minesinger, president; Lolita Townsend, vice-president; Jane Gullett, secretary; Imelda Guterrez, treasurer; Ann Armbruster, parliamentarian; Mary Luzader, pastor. Plans are already being made for an active girls' club. All who are members will enjoy educational, recreational, and spiritual activities.

At the last club meeting of the quarter both Delta Nu Zeta and Phi Mu Sigma celebrated by playing games in the gymnasium, which had been decorated with crepe paper and a multiple-colored array of balloons. Steve Weesner, the new boys' club president, led the clubs in a grand march, which climaxed the evening.

We hate to see the quarter end, for many changes take place. The biggest change perhaps is the leaving of students, the coming of new ones, and the returning of others. Maggie Harms, for one, has left. She plans to attend Pacific Union College, in California, where she will finish her nurse's training. There she will be closer to her home in Roseburg, Oregon.

Some of the student nurses have left for their three-month affiliation in Cincinnati. The Delta Nu Zeta girls that have returned are Laura and Lorna Holly, Ardith Anderson, and Betty Brooks. Those from the club that have left are Barbara Graham, Pat Sheffield, and Dorothy Maxwell. Grace Dow is back monitoring. She has spent the past three months at her home in New Hampshire.

Inquiring Reporter

By PHYLLIS GROSS

We as students are often inclined to complain about chapel programs, in spite of the fact that we know it is impossible to please everyone. However, those who plan the chapel hours would perhaps appreciate knowing how a cross-section of students feel and what they want. In answer to the question, "Do you have any suggestions for future chapel programs?" the following responses were made:

Wanda Tucker: "I would love to see a chapel hour devoted to sharing missionary experiences. For example, we could tell of the Bible study we gave, or how we have told others of Christ. I think some would like to know how to work for others and would feel encouraged to do so. This type of chapel hour would give us courage as we share our experiences."

Mary Luzader: "More interesting speakers from the conference and outside. Maybe have student speakers. Films are usually good."

Ed Young: "More visitors from outside like the Fire Department chief we had once."

Juan Anglada: "To have more movies about family relations."

Alice Gross: "More student participation, not ASMC, but skits or plays, maybe under student leadership, portraying rights and wrongs of various campus activities."

Ron Dorchuck: "More visiting speakers from off campus, like F. B. I. agents or state patrolmen telling about their work, maybe with films sometimes."

Marge Belyea: "I'd like to see more skits and plays with morals put on by students."

June Trivett: "Maybe we could get a ham radio sometime and arrange ahead of time to talk with some of our other colleges."

New Student: "I haven't been here very long, but I like the idea of having weekly news reels to keep us posted on world happenings."

Madison Hospital Appointed Custodian of Disaster Hospital

Madison Sanitarium and Hospital has recently been appointed custodian, by the Federal Government, of a 200-bed Disaster Hospital. This hospital will be used to train first Madison's own employees and nursing students and finally other hospitals and the public in operation of a Disaster Hospital.

Of the 37 Disaster Hospitals located in the State of Tennessee, the one at Madison Hospital is the only one for which plans are being made to accommodate teaching purposes.

In cooperation with the Tennessee Hospital Association on Disaster Planning, plans are being made to conduct a demonstration of the assembling and operation of this hospital during the month of May.

Eighty-five Are Pinned at Annual Commissioning Service

Seven Teachers of Day after Tomorrow, 35 Teachers of Tomorrow, and 43 Teachers of Today were honored on Friday evening, March 2, at the annual Commissioning Service of the Teacher-training Department. At this service each received a pin indicating his status as a future teacher or the length of his service as a teacher. The teachers receiving pins were all Madison College faculty members with teaching records up to thirty years.

Madison College was privileged to have as guests on the campus several dedicated Christian leaders of the denomination. The main address on Friday evening was given by Dr. T. S. Geraty, assistant secretary of the General Conference Educational Department.

College Homecoming

It has been a long time since there has been a homecoming for Madison College graduates, teachers, and former students. The homecoming committee, with Bernard Bowen as chairman, has set the date for June 15-17; so mark the date on your calendar. As many as possible are urged to attend this event. Please notify the Alumni Office of your plans and send in suggestions for music, mission symposium, and other features.

Freshmen Have Submarine Party

By CAROLYN WILLIAMS

The Freshman Class completed the launching of the biggest and best submarines in history on the night of February 24.

After assembling in the Science Building, where Ronald Straw, class pastor, conducted evening worship, the members proceeded to the launching pier, in sight of the submarines. No, there would be no trouble launching these beauties. Bob Brand, class treasurer, gave the instructions:

Take a submarine (a 15-inch bun) and fill it with mayonnaise, lettuce, cheese, onions, pickles, catsup, and anything else you can find. Sprinkle it with salt, and all there is left to do is launch it on a sea of cool, refreshing root beer.

After the launching, all who were able enjoyed a lively game of volleyball and Flying Dutchman. The evening of good wholesome entertainment came to a close with ping pong and relay races.

The freshmen thank their class president, Jim Bidwell, and the class sponsor, Miss Ellquist, for planning the evening. They also thank Judy Ball, Lolita Townsend, Connie Zanes, and Eva Campbell for the part they played in making the program a success.

He pointed out that in teaching children and youth, teachers should be aware of the power they have to make their lives a success or a failure.

Elder Vernon W. Becker, educational superintendent for the Southern Union, forcefully brought to the future teachers their charge. Elder Becker was assisted in the presentation of the pins by Mrs. Marion Simmons, educational consultant for the Southern Union and former director of the elementary teacher training at Madison College.

President Ralph Davidson offered the consecration prayer.

Spanish Students Present Program

Alex Rojas from Peru, Aldo Martinez from Ecuador, and Elias and Amelia Lopez of Colombia, South America, presented a program at the Eastminster Presbyterian Church, Nashville, on Sunday evening, March 4.

These students described their native countries and told of the people and their customs. They displayed pictures, costumes, and coins and played recordings of Peruvian music.

Mr. Oakes Speaks at Madison P.T.A.

Mr. Warren Oakes, registrar at Madison College, was a guest speaker at a recent meeting of the Stratton School PTA in Madison, Tennessee, on March 13. Mr. Oakes, a former missionary to East Africa, spoke on the influence of Christian missions in education. He also spoke briefly of the lands and peoples of East Africa and displayed various African crafts.

The freshmen are having no trouble launching their submarines. They're demonstrating the way they do it.

MISSIONS FANTASIA

A colorful program featuring missionaries from the Middle East, India, Korea, and Africa was presented in MV on a recent Sabbath. Elders Lee, Kimble, and Larson, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Oakes, and Dr. T. S. Geraty were on the panel of returned missionaries. Their discussions placed emphasis on the need for specialists—well-trained personnel to meet the higher educational standards of these countries. For example, a missionary teacher should have a master's degree. Nurses should have training in midwifery.

Accompanying this panel was a group of foreign students—some in their native costumes. Some of these young people presented musical numbers in the native tongues of the countries presented.

An offering was taken to help sponsor our student missionary to Mexico this summer. Your officers wish to thank you for the $61.00 received.

STUDENT MISSIONARY

To be announced soon! The fortunate student who will work with the Comstocks in the "front-line medical station" in Mexico this summer for three months will be announced during the Intercollegiate Seminar to be held on our campus from April 18-21.

COMING APRIL 7

Mr. Walper will present an "organ vespers" at MV beginning at 4:30 p.m. Come early for a good seat! An offering will be taken to send our student missionary to Mexico.

Starch and Stripes

Have you heard about the new hospital diet? One morning quite a while ago, as Frances McKee was charting how one of her patients ate, she overheard some conversation behind her concerning blankets. So she charted—"Patient ate only a few blankets."

We are glad to welcome back those students who have been affiliating at Cincinnati. We have missed them, and we will miss those going this quarter: Dorothy Maxwell, Ann Shrader, Dorothy Covrig, Barbara Graham, Ralph Meglemre, Marjorie Scoggins, Raymond Stinnett, and Pat Sheffield. Returning are the Holly twins, Rebecca Ravenell, Elsie Reid, John Bryant, Betty Brooks, and Ardith Anderson.

Some of the newest nursing students are finding out, just as each nursing class before them has found, that it isn't the easiest task in the world to be in sole charge of a dozen or more active, energetic little "dynamos" at the preschool on Sunday mornings. It is, however, good experience in the learning of patience. Every nurse has a week of experience in preschool, which helps her to understand the well child.

Miss Maxine Page, nursing instructor, has left for Loma Linda University, where she will begin graduate study for her master's degree in the School of Nursing.

Virginia Sellars and little Coley have returned from Loma Linda, where they have spent the winter months with Mr. Sellars, who is doing graduate work in Health Education. Mr. Sellars is now affiliating in the Calxico Mission School, where he is teaching health classes, and in Mexicali, Mexico, just across the border, where he visits the homes of the children in the interest of better health habits.

Du Pont Executive Speaks at Chapel

Mr. J. K. Witt, of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Company of Old Hickory, was the chapel speaker on March 8. In his informative and interesting talk Mr. Witt explained that the plant at Old Hickory, employing 2000 workers, manufactures dacron yarn now instead of rayon, carrying on extensive research on specific uses for dacron. He had with him for demonstration fibers in various stages of manufacture, as well as finished fabrics. He demonstrated, with both cotton and dacron fibers, the superiority of dacron as a fabric for clothing.

According to Mr. Witt, in five years our books will be bound in dacron and we will be wearing shoes made of dacron.

Bunny Knight

Bunny Knight, secretary of the Class of '62, was born August 29, 1944, in South Lancaster, Massachusetts. Her brown hair and dark brown eyes made her quite a lovable little girl, I imagine. Bunny is still a little girl—in height. She is only five feet, four inches tall, and is seventeen years of age.

Bunny seems to like Florida, especially for skin-diving. She likes pizza pretty well too. Did you ever see Bunny cut the heart out of a frog, cat, dog, or any other animal available? If not, I'll tell you now, BEWARE, for she is getting itchy fingers to use humans! You see, Bunny is getting her practice in early: She plans to be a heart surgeon. She should be a good one—thanks to her early practice on frogs, dogs, cats, etc. I dare say she will be among the top when she practices surgery. Seriously, I believe Bunny will have much success and find happiness in her career.

"Don't let the Yankees win the World Series again next year!" This is Bunny's pet peeve.

Johnny Sellars

Johnny hails from the warm state of Florida—Panama City, to be exact.

Johnny was almost a Christmas present; December 23 was just two days too early. He is a swell fellow, but oh, it seems to me he is a little "bally." You see his favorite sports are baseBALL, basketBALL, and footBALL. His appetite is tops when peach pie is around. He thinks physics is a most interesting subject.

Johnny hasn't decided his career yet, but we know that once he does, he will make a sure success of it. Please don't "harp at him" about it, for "being harped at" is his pet peeve. Johnny has held the office of class pastor for the past two years.

Daniel Bartell

When you speak of an accent, there is one person the Senior Class members think of immediately—Daniel Bartell! Bartell hails from the great city of Boston, Massachusetts. Maybe this fact accounts for his likes and dislikes. His favorite food is potato cake. And his pet peeve is the smell, scent, or looks of okra. He likes physics, plays football with real spirit, and doesn't know what he wants to be! Sounds like that brown-haired, brown-eyed, five-foot, nine-inch-tall sixteen-year-old "character" in the Senior Class!

Daniel, we want to congratulate you on your position—secretary of the Associated Students of Madison College Academy Forum. Best wishes to you, and may you have the best of success.

Joel Craw

That tall, dignified-looking Joel Craw is the sergeant at arms of the Senior Class. Joel was born in Battle Creek, Michigan, on December 28, 1942—he was just three days too late for Christmas! He has blue eyes and brown hair and is six feet, two inches tall at the age of nineteen.

Joel's waistline proves the fact that his favorite food is FOOD. He dislikes women drivers, enjoys playing football, and delights in working out physics problems. Joel hopes to major in Business Administration. He is sure to succeed in his chosen field. His father is also a business administrator.

Joel, we wish you the best in life, and may every step of your journey through life be marked with success.

Choir Presents Sacred Concert

The Academy Choir presented a sacred concert at the Meharry Boulevard Seventh-day Adventist Church in Nashville on Sabbath afternoon, March 10.

Plans to go on the college bus had to be changed when it was found that the bus was in the garage. At the last minute parents came to the rescue and took carloads of students to their appointment.

The numbers that they sang were ones they have been working on for the Choir Festival to be held April 6-8. Mrs. Just accompanied the choir. The members of the audience were most appreciative, and, because they did not wish to clap, they waved papers to show how much they enjoyed the program.
