

Men's Club Banquet Features the Sea

Large realistic ocean floor scenes placed at 45 degree angles in each corner of the college dining room greeted the 200 guests at the Phi Mu Sigma banquet on November 18. Rotating colored lights, large pieces of driftwood under each scene, and walls decorated with silhouettes of sea horses, bubbles, and fish, made the ocean atmosphere even more realistic.

The art work was done by Don Johnson, printing student, and Sam Small, nursing student.

"Under Water Holiday" in shiny black letters over the large gold shell, back of the performers' low platform, spelled out the theme of the men's club program.

Hanging from the center of the ceiling and extending the length of the dining room was a large white fish net gathered up at intervals.

Donors Give 106 Pints of Blood to Red Cross

Students, faculty, and neighbors of Madison College, donated 106 pints of blood to the Red Cross when the Red Cross Bloodmobile visited the campus on Monday, November 12. Of these donors, 44 gave blood for the first time.

His thirteenth pint of blood makes Mr. James Zeigler, head of the Science Department, leading blood donor of the college. Not far behind are gallon blood donors Dean Homer Lynd, Joseph Langford, Mrs. Frieda Sossong, Mr. Herbert A. Schmale, Opal Cantrell, Hazel Jennings, and Mr. L. Ager.

All who wish to donate blood are carefully checked by the doctor accompanying the bloodmobile unit. Should the need for blood arise within the next six months, donors may receive it without charge.

It is likewise made available to the husband or wife of a donor, to any unmarried children under 21, to parents who are 60 years or older, and to parents who may be permanently deferred from giving blood.

The bloodmobile will visit Madison College again next May.

Clyde Ball, Ray Stinnett, and Ralph Meglemre, nursing students, and Mr. Gene Sellars, R.N., assisted the Red Cross team.

Friendly conversation, music, candlelight, and good food at the Phi Mu Sigma banquet.

Students Enjoy First MV Bible Conference

Discussion groups, fellowship periods, special speakers, and much music marked the Missionary Volunteer Bible Conference held on the Madison campus on November 16 and 17, the first such conference to be held on any southern college campus. The conference, organized and planned by Miss Mary Ellquist, MV sponsor, Wayne Bolan, MV leader, and his assistants, closely followed the pattern of the October Bible Conference held at High Springs, Florida, and attended by 250 delegates from southern colleges and academies.

Special speakers and leaders were Elder Desmond Cummings, Southern Union youth leader; Elder Douglas Bennett, of the Department of Religion of Southern Missionary College; and Elder W. Dopp, MV Secretary of the Kentucky-Tennessee Conference.

Fellowship Meetings

At the Friday evening meeting Elder Cummings emphasized the need for fellowship with God and man. "One of the greatest ways to fellowship with God," he said, "is to fellowship with His people." After both the Friday evening and Sabbath afternoon meetings groups of students met in small prayer groups outside on the lawns.

From the opening meeting during which Elder Bennett brought out the great need to know Christ experimentally, until the commitment service Saturday evening, when about 200 students and faculty members held glowing candles high in a new dedication to God, a deep spirit of earnestness and a sincere desire to walk with God and to know His Word enveloped the campus.

About 150 students participated in ten different discussion

Quartet Wins First Prize at Talent Show

The male quartet singing "Little Liza" walked off with the first prize, $15, at the November 10 ASMC talent program rated by both audience and judges as one of the very best ever presented at the college. The quartet was composed of Eugene Domke, Jim Merklin, Brian Edstrom, and Ross Clark.

The second award of $10 went to John Bryant, baritone, who sang "Exodus," and the third award, $5, went to the trumpet trio composed of Fred Neal, Brian Edstrom, and David Martin, for playing "Bugler's Holiday."

Three honorary awards were given to Betty Jo Hudson, freshman nurse, for singing Gershwin's "Summertime," to the ladies' trio, for singing Indian Dawn, and to Nancy Grotheer, freshman music student, for singing Carrie Jacobs Bond's "End of a Perfect Day."

The consensus of opinion of the audience seemed to be, "There were only six winners

New College Church Being Planned: To Seat 1000

by John Crowder

Tentative plans for a college church seating 1000 are in the air.

The church building committee favors building the church in such a way that adjoining Sabbath School rooms will open out into the main auditorium to seat several hundred additional worshippers on special occasions. These rooms will be especially designed for the children's divisions.

Mr. Bernard V. Bowen is chairman of the building committee. His associates are Morris Slater, Warren W. Oakes, W. W. Workman, Dr. J. C. Gant, Robert Morris, President Ralph Davidson, and Associate Pastor R. E. Stewart.

The building committee will make recommendations to the church board as to location, size, cost, and other important factors that have to do with both the building of the church and the raising of funds.

With a membership of almost 700, the Madison College Church has outgrown the college chapel, which seats only 436 persons. Two Sabbath morning services are conducted to accommodate the students, community worshippers, and visitors.

Largest Church in Area

Since no Seventh-day Adventist church in the Nashville area has a seating capacity of more than 500, the church hopes that the new and larger building will draw district meetings and other large church gatherings.

Elder Wittenberg says that the building committee will resume its meetings early in January, 1963. The committee has met three times already, but has temporarily suspended further meetings until the current Harvest Ingathering campaign has ended. In the meantime the committee members are studying the needs of the community and are scanning books on church architecture.

Mr. Hardie Bass, the architect in charge of church construction for the Southern Baptist Convention, has offered many helpful suggestions. These will be carefully studied as the committee plans for a church that will be economical and appropriate for the Madison College campus.

In surveying the requirements of the new church, the building committee is taking into consideration the needs of the Sabbath School departments, the MV Society, the music department, and all other phases of church divisions to make the new building a comfortable and worshipful church.

The committee plans to recommend that a fund raising campaign be initiated in the near future. The church hopes to finance the new building largely by contributions from its members. Any reader of the Madisonian wishing to help in the building of the new church, should contact Mr. Bowen or Elder Wittenberg.

Students Support Church In Ingathering

About 100 students raised $819 on the annual Harvest Ingathering Field Day. Though work assignments in the hospital kept many students at their posts, approximately 40 percent participated. Many students, both those who took part in the Field Day campaign and those whose work kept them from doing so, are raising Harvest Ingathering funds by helping with the Christmas caroling.

David Martin, ASMC president, was top solicitor, with $28 to his credit. Elder W. N. Wittenberg's group raised $65, Mr. L. E. Eusey's $64, and Dean Homer Lynd's $62, while Mrs. Ethel Watson's group, which worked only half a day, raised $60.

This year some of the old territory was dropped and new was added. Dyersburg, Kentucky, 180 miles away, was the farthest territory worked. Other new territory included Columbia and Pulaski. This city was tried as an experiment in place of the usual country areas.

The Editor's Pen

Recently my roommate and I attended a concert featuring a famous soprano. After her final number the audience applauded on and on. She came back for curtain calls three times.

"Applauding is a funny thing," I remarked. We noticed the expressions of those about us. Most were applauding very enthusiastically and joyfully. Some applauded so hard that they shook with the exertion. And why? Just to show that they liked the performance of the great artist who had just sung and because they wanted her to sing again.

As I listened I thought of the happiness each of us could spread if we would only applaud the performances of our friends. "Performances" well done—a smile, a kind word, a helping hand, an understanding answer, a friendly conversation—go unthanked day after day, month after month. We just take them for granted.

Would it not be appropriate for us, especially during this season, to show our appreciation for our friends by telling them in simple, sincere words how much they, their smiles, and their thoughtfulness mean to us?

Thoughts From the Bible Conference

Jesus longs to fellowship with us.

The Bible reveals heaven's remedy for the disease of sin.

There is no limit to the good you may do.

Satan is trying to make the Bible a lost book to us.

To live victoriously one must live positively.

Perfection of character is a lifelong work. It is attained by slow and toilsome steps.

The work of redemption was to bring man back to the perfection in which he was created.

Christ made clear that what we ask for must be according to His will. He has not promised us anything that is not good for us.

"Many, even in their seasons of devotion, fail to receive the blessing of real communion with God. They are in too great haste. With hurried steps they press through the circle of Christ's loving presence. . ."

"Let the student take one verse, and concentrate the mind on ascertaining the thought that God has put into that verse for him, and then dwell upon the thought until it becomes his own. One passage thus studied until its significance is clear, is of more value than the perusal of many chapters with no definite purpose in view, and no positive instruction gained." Education, p. 189.

groups conducted Sabbath morning and afternoon. The topics discussed were Personal Devotions, Coming Events, How to Study the Bible, Proving God's Promises, Living Victoriously, How To Pray Effectively, What God Expects of Me, Christ Our Righteousness, The Joy of Witnessing, and A Faith That Will Stand."

The discussion groups were composed as follows:

1. "Personal Devotions"—Chairman Jim Wagner; introduction, President R. Davidson; panel: Ronald Herman, Larry Baltzel
2. "Coming Events"—Chairman, Eddie Barton; introduction, Mr. Warren Oakes; panel: Awana Hirschhorn, David Titsworth
3. "What God Expects of Me"—Chairman, Ruth Gill; panel: Larry Bowes, Vaughn Jennings, Barbara Johnson
4. "How To Study the Bible"—Chairman: David Martin; panel: Lawrence Evans, John Bryant
5. "Christ Our Righteousness"—Chairman: Nancy Grotheer; introduction, Elder W. H. Grotheer; panel: Louise Felt, Margie Milom
6. "Proving God's Promises"—Chairman, Elias Lopez; panel: Nancy Rosenboom, Steve Yoshimura
7. "Living Victoriously"—Chairman, Wayne Bolan; panel: Edwina Nelson, Sandra Johnson, Bonnie Stuiwenga
8. "How To Pray Effectively"—Chairman, Lois Langford; panel: Terry Daniels, Angelia Chism
9. "The Joy of Witnessing"—

Tell Him So

If you hear a kind word spoken
Of some worthy soul you know,
It may fill his heart with sunshine
If you only tell him so.

If a deed, however humble,
Helps you on your way to go,
Seek the one whose hand has helped you,
Seek him out and tell him so!

If your heart is touched and tender
Toward a sinner, lost and low,
It might help him to do better
If you'd only tell him so!

Oh, my sisters, oh, my brothers,
As o'er life's rough path you go,
If God's love has saved and kept you,
Do not fail to tell men so!

The week-end featured the musical talents of many students. Participating were Dorothy Maxwell, Nancy Grotheer, Louise Felt, Barbara Johnson, Francis McKee, David Martin, Fred Neal, Brian Edstrom, Eugen Domke, Jim Merklin, Ross Clark, Lois Langford, Dorothy Miller, Gilbert Qualls, John Bryant, Lynn Bedford, David Lawson, Mrs. Dorothy Forrester, the academy girls' ensemble, and the academy choir.

Mr. James Padgent, artist at the Southern Publishing Association, was guest song leader for three meetings, and Elder Dopp directed the song service and music program just before the commitment meeting.

Banquet

Bill Wilson, president of Phi Mu Sigma, in appreciation of their kindness and helpfulness to each student, presented the guests of honor, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Oakes, with a bouquet of yellow long-stem roses.

A novel program number was the piano-organ duet, "Moon River," by Mary Lou Sullins. Carlos Ruiz, freshman student from Peru, played "Deep Purple" on the piano, junior nurse John Bryant sang "Danny Boy," and Betty Jo Hudson, freshman nurse, sang "Cape Cod."

According to tradition, members of the Married Students' Forum, the married students' club, served. The servers were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ball, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Tidwell, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Belk, and Mr. and Mrs. Eugen Domke.

Banquet Committee

Working with Bill Wilson on the banquet committee were Leonard Reed, vice-president; Ricky Jenkins, secretary-treasurer; Jim Merklin, parliamentarian; and Jim Wagner, pastor.

David Reams, a pre-medical sophomore, was chairman of the food committee. Other members were Jimmy Kidd, Roger Anderson, Douglas Dameron, and Ricky Jenkins.

Terry Troy was responsible for the seating arrangement of the guests.

Working Holiday at Cave Springs

Cold and clear, Thanksgiving day found eleven vacationing Madison College students hard at work at the Cave Springs Home for Crippled Children located approximately 30 miles southwest of Nashville.

The main activities for the day included, for the girls, a cleaning up of the main building where the children stay; for the boys, the laying of concrete blocks for a new storage building. Both boys and girls helped paint the inside of the boys' dormitory while some fresh air enthusiasts sawed wood for the stoves.

This self-supporting school nestled in 300 acres of rolling hills outside the Nashville basin is operated by the founder, Mrs. Julia Grow, graduate nurse of Madison College. Mrs. Grow upon graduation in 1956 founded the school especially for the care and training of handicapped children.

"They certainly need a lot of work done here," commented David Lawson, freshman theology major and former boys' dean of the Cave Springs school.

College Store Is Enlarged

The addition of 350 square feet to the college store will enable customers to move in two traffic lanes instead of in one crowded lane. The new section will house the bakery goods, the frozen foods, and the bulk goods.

Mr. J. R. Kunau and Mr. E. Pineiro, of the college engineering department, are laying the floor; Mr. Andrus and Mr. Clark, of the hospital maintenance department, will do the wiring and put in the walls, and Mr. Phelps will do the cabinet work.

Mr. Fred Doolittle, of Muncie, Indiana, is the new assistant store manager. Mr. Doolittle has had 20 years experience in store management.

Beginning with the first week in December, it is planned to keep the store open until 8:00 p.m.

at the ASMC Talent program, but all deserved to win."

The 36 participants in the 16 entries, performed against a background of brilliant silver stars and a sliver of moon shining down from a blue sky on a Mississippi River boat paddling down the river. The scene was complete with palm trees, plants, grass, and a typically southern EmCee.

With his Southern river boat hat and a rose in his lapel, Master of Ceremonies Elder Don Holland, pastor of the Boulevard Church, supported the evening's theme, "Showboat."

The other participants in the program were Pat Hooper, Carol Davis, Verne Miller, Arthur Berard, Walter Deaux, Ann Armbruster, Alice Gross, Lolita Townsend, Imelda Gutierrez, Connie Zanes, Paulette Banks, Howard Zeigler, Anne Grotheer, Mary Alice and Bill Nickless, and Carlos Ruiz.

Accompanists were Pat Ricks, Mary Lou Sullins, Mrs. Verne Miller, Stanley Woodruff, Mrs. Lynn Bedford, and Mrs. W. H. Grotheer.

The judges were Mr. George Walper, chairman; Mr. Jack Just, Mrs. Just (replacing Mrs. Edythe Cothren, who was unexpectedly called away,) Mr. L. J. Larson, and Mrs. William Dopp.

Glenn Belk, ASMC chairman of the Programs and Recreation Committee, with his committee both arranged the program and decorated the stage.

The members include Pat Hooper, Pat Ricks, Rebecca Culpepper, Tom Phelps, and Arthur Berard.

The ASMC Talent "Showboat" participants, judges, and their guests, were invited to the candelight reception afterwards.

Don Johnson, Artist For Banquet

Don Johnson, a sandy-haired friendly-looking fellow of 19, with art interests in oil painting, air brushing, and animal profiles, was primarily responsible for the exquisite art work, which graced the college dining room at the men's club banquet.

Don's high school education included three years of commercial art at McKeesport, Vocational High School in McKeesport, Pennsylvania. Currently he is enrolled in the School of Printing at Madison College. He says he is especially interested in furthering his education in lettering and in photographic art for offset printing.

During his years at McKeesport he helped decorate for large school social occasions, portraying such difficult themes as "Central Park," "Alice in Wonderland," and "Blue Hawaii."

He also likes to do Christmas decors, posters, and signs.

Dorcas Active in Relief Work

The College Church Dorcas Society, under the leadership of Mrs. J. B. Crow, presented six Thanksgiving food baskets to needy families in the area.

During Halloween the Pathfinders collected about seven bushels of food for the baskets. The college store donated 50 pounds of potatoes.

Recently the Dorcas Society prepared 600 garments and repaired a large number of toys for the mountain people living in the Kentucky mountains near the Oneida Sanitarium and Hospital.

Charlotte Comer, of the Class of 1962, is receptionist at the Oneida Sanitarium and Hospital in Oneida, Kentucky.

HOLIDAY NOTES

Eddie Smothermon, spent his Thanksgiving Day in bed, ill. No Thanksgiving dinner. To make it worse, he tried desperately to finish his Life and Teachings term paper.

Ann Armbruster went home with Lena Holder to Owensboro, Kentucky. They went shopping in an effort to get dresses alike.

Harvest Ingathering

Though the number of college students is less this year because of the drastic reorganization of the curriculum, the average amount raised per student compares favorably with that raised in previous years.

Last Saturday evening 12 carloads of Christmas carolers raised $500. About five cars go each evening, and bring in from $18 to $60 per car.

The college church goal is $15,000, or $25 per member. The church has been divided into three bands. The educational division with Dean Homer Lynd as leader, has 48 bands; the hospital division, headed by Mr. John McClellan, church treasurer, consists of 40 bands; and the community division, under the leadership of Mr. H. H. Holliman, has 11 bands.

Mr. John Brownlee, Home Missionary Secretary of the church, is director of the Harvest Ingathering campaign.

Connie Zanes stayed to work in X-Ray. Faye Suggs also stayed to work.

Student Counsellors Work With Pathfinders

Crisp commands resounded through the chill air as 35 khaki and green-uniformed youngsters marched across the drill field. This is only one of the many activities enjoyed each week by the members of the Madison College Pathfinder Club. Other activities include moccasin making, glass painting, basket weaving for the girls, and model airplane construction for the boys.

Mrs. Wayne Bolan, leader in charge of weekly activities, assembles the members every Sunday at 1:30 p.m. in the gymnasium for roll call and for the flag ceremony before starting the many projects. The club members range in age from 9 to 13. Five of the nine counsellors are college students. They are John Crowder, sophomore Pre-med; Bunny Knight, freshman Pre-med; Vaughn Jennings, freshman Mathematics major; Fred Neal, freshman X-Ray major; and Carolyn Cothren, junior Medical Records major.

"I like the camping trips best of all activities," says blue-eyed Francis Hubbard. "It is so much fun getting ready for them and then going swimming and hiking."

"I like marching best of all," stolidly reports Gary Jostandt.

Work Begins on Hospital Unit

Work began last week on the 11,000 square-foot addition to Parkview, the psychiatric building. It is being built onto the present building and will replace Hankins and Davidson Cottages. This new, modern addition will house the women patients in 18 rooms with 26 beds. The present building with its 18 rooms will be converted into an all-male ward.

Other rooms in the unit will include examination and consultation rooms, doctors' offices, and a craft shop. The best and most modern equipment will be installed in the entire psychiatric unit. Facilities will also include a recreation area complete with croquet, volleyball, and badminton courts.

Mr. John Preston, of Nashville, is the architect, and Mr. Robert Gerrard, also of Nashville, who has recently finished the Greater Nashville Academy building, is the building superintendent.

while practicing an "about face."

Gathering Thanksgiving baskets for needy people is the most recent of the club activities. Other past activities include camping trips to Mammoth Cave National Park and a conference-wide Pathfinder camporee at Indian Creek Camp, with over 200 Pathfinders representing eight different clubs in attendance.

"I hope to have the boys flying the model airplanes as soon as possible," Fred Neal reports as he carefully helps one of the boys glue a rudder onto his "Wright Brothers II."

The future activities of the club include monthly outings such as hikes and picnics, Pathfinder day in church, and a project to solicit funds for uniforms so that children who cannot afford them will be able to have them.

Dentists Recommend Four-Point Dental Care Program

A recent dental survey of 75 academy students and 112 elementary school children revealed a total of 715 cavities. Though fewer elementary pupils had cavities, those who did have cavities had more per pupil.

Dr. J. C. Trivett and Dr. William Burke, who conducted the survey, recommend a four-point program for better dental health:

1. Reduce the intake of sugar as much as possible.
2. Eat abundantly of fresh fruits and green and yellow vegetables.
3. Eliminate refined foods from the diet.
4. Eliminate eating between meals.

Dr. Trivett says that the large number of cavities indicates as active cause of dental disease too free a use of starches, cereals, sugars, soft drinks, candy, gum, and refined foods in general.

three churches as a result of the intensive evangelistic work carried on by the church members.

For several years Elder Grotheer assisted in junior camp work as director and boys' counselor. He says that an unusually rewarding experience was his work assisting with the supervising of camps for underprivileged children in the Chesapeake Conference.

Mrs. Grotheer, a native of Kentucky and a grandniece of Dr. Will Mason, is a former Union College student. She has worked as a medical secretary and in the medical records department in the large Methodist Hospital in Indianapolis and in the Ball Memorial Hospital in Muncie. At Madison she is employed in the nursing education service office.

The Grotheers have two daughters, Nancy, a college freshman, and Anne, an academy sophomore.

W. H. Grotheer Heads Religion Department

Elder William H. Grotheer, new instructor in the Department of Religion, comes to Madison from Indiana where he was pastor and Conference evangelist for the last seven years. He is a graduate of Union College of the Class of 1942. He also did some graduate work at the University of Virginia.

Elder Grotheer began his ministry in the Texico Conference in New Mexico. Later he was Conference evangelist in the Georgia-Cumberland Conference and pastor of the Central Church in Toronto, Canada. In Toronto he helped raise $15,000 toward the new Branson Hospital and Nursing School. Central Church, of which he was pastor, became the nucleus of the expanding work in the area, and at present Toronto has Madison College is one of the few schools in the South, and the only Seventh-day Adventist college, offering the course for Medical Record Technicians.

Miss Betty Thorgeson, R.R.L., director of this program, states that completion of the course qualifies a student to take the National Board examination to become an Accredited Record Technician.

Assisting Miss Thorgeson in the "on-the-job" part of the training of the medical record technicians are Mrs. Dorothy Carris, Mrs. Yvonne Danner, Mrs. Jackie Orso, and Mrs. Stella Sullivan, A.R.T.

Mrs. Warren Oakes is assistant to Mrs. Doris Thompson, Director of the Madison College Nursing School.

From Your ASMC President

by David Martin

As the year's activities get into full swing, the word "rest" seems to be absent from the vocabulary of the typical Madison College student. It appears that the teachers have formed an "alliance to progress," with the main intention of working students as hard as possible in their studies. Combine this "intention" with a vast array of student association activities and a heavy work program—and you have 250 very active young people.

Each moment of the day is a priceless jewel, which, when once past, no amount of money can repay. We each receive the same number of these jewels each day, and our success this year as individual students and as a student body depends on their right use.

Success is not a matter of chance. It calls for much planning, persevering work, and the right use of opportunities, the greatest of which is your time.

How may a college student use his time to the best advantage? First, study your program. Ask yourself, "How much time do I spend working, studying, or engaging in extra-curricular activities? How much time do I spend trying to figure out what to do next?"

Make a list of all activities that must be attended to, including time for rest, recreation, and personal devotions; allow yourself a certain time for these activities, and as far as possible stick to that time. Do not overlook spare moments caught while waiting in the cafeteria line or after meal time.

Endeavor to begin each day by surveying all the tasks you must accomplish, and at the end of each day look rather critically over your achievements.

This may sound as if we were advocating a mass of intellectually inclined robots. But we are not; we are advocating that you have fun. We must not let our activities master us, but we must be masters of our activities. True, your success will require a lot of work, but work when thoroughly enjoyed becomes fun. Make college this year your hobby, and you will thoroughly enjoy it. You will be just as happy as you determine to be.

To the accompaniment of readings and special organ music, Mr. N. A. Niswonger, artist at the Southern Publishing Association, made two chalk drawings of autumn scenes in full color at the November 10

MV meeting. Maggie Harms read several selections on Autumn and Pat Hooper sang "Shepherd Divine" and "Heaven Holds the Answer to Your Prayer." Pat Ricks played the organ.
