

Annual Editor Says 78 Pages Ready

Approximately five signatures of the college annual, Cumberland Echoes, or 78 pages, have already been sent to the publisher, reports the editor, Eva Campbell. These pages include the introduction and pictures of the administration.

Mr. Gordon Gillingham, photographer, of Jeanne-Gordon Studios, is completing the work on the pictures of the teaching faculty and some professional shots of groups on the campus. Class pictures will be sent in soon after the New Year.

Bob Bowes, business manager, reports that $1350 worth of advertisements have been sold. This comprises 90 percent of the amount to be raised by ads.

The deadline for two-thirds of the annual was December 15, and the final deadline for all copy is February 1, 1963.

The editorial staff asks that students bring snap shots, especially of dorm and campus life. Married students should submit pictures of their life in and around their homes.

Educational Aid For Disabled Vets

The college has been notified by W. F. Griffin of the Vocational Rehabilitation and Education Division of the Nashville Veterans' Administration office, that any peace time service-connected disabled veteran is eligible for financial aid from the Veterans' Administration for his vocational training. The letter follows:

PL 87-815

"The enactment of PL87-815, October 15, 1962, makes vocational rehabilitation training available for the first time to veterans who incurred a disability as a result of service in the armed forces during any period of service covered by the Universal Military Training and Service Act. The periods of service included are (1) July 26, 1947, to June 26, 1950, and (2) February 1, 1955, to the present. If you are receiving compensation from the government because of a disability incurred during either of these periods, you may apply for vocational rehabilitation by obtaining VA Form 22-1900 from any VA Office or local service organization and sending it to the Veterans' Administration at Nashville, Tennessee.

"Applicants will be provided vocational counseling to ascer-

Dean Lynd Posts Privileged List

The Dean's office announces that 37 students have qualified for the Dean's List.

The Student-Teacher Council at its January 9 meeting discussed possible privileges that might be made available for this group of students. The recommendations were passed on to the faculty for their consideration.

To be eligible for the Dean's List, a student must earn a 2.5 grade point average and have a satisfactory citizenship and religious and chapel service attendance record.

"The student on the Dean's Privileged List may, through regular channels, ask and expect within reason privileges beyond those stated in the handbook. As long as the student shows himself worthy of these privileges, he will be entitled to them. The student on this list should understand that being on the privileged list does not relieve him of any of his responsibilities such as signing out and making proper arrangements with his dean," Dean Lynd said recently.

Bakery Producing Seven-Grain Bread

One of the newest products produced by the college bakery is a dark bread made of seven different sprouted grains. Mr. Layton Gentry, the new manager, says that this new bread, though just getting started, is rapidly coming into great demand.

The bakery makes from 150 to 200 loaves of 100 percent whole wheat and Kreme-O-Soy bread for the college cafeteria, the sanitarium kitchen, and the college store.

Mr. Gentry says that the bakery, aiming to produce healthful baked goods, uses soy preparations even in pie crusts and cookies. Granulated sugar has been replaced almost altogether by raw sugars, and whole wheat flour is the main flour used.

Mr. Gentry operated a successful bakery in Tucson, Arizona. Faced with a school problem and possessing a burden to

Author J. C. Edwards Addresses MV's

Josephine Cunningham Edwards, author, speaker, teacher, and former missionary to Africa, spoke at the January 5 Missionary Volunteer meeting on the power of God's Word. In her talk she related her conversations with 110-year old Malinki, the first national Seventh-day Adventist teacher in Central Africa, and the first ordained minister.

Mrs. Edwards told of his mother's being sold as a slave three different times, of his education at the Church of Scotland Mission, and of his finding the Sabbath truth as he studied his Bible. Soon afterwards he was led to the new Seventh-day Adventist Mission close by, whose director was looking for a teacher for the new school.

OVER 500 GRADUATES ENTER SDA WORK

ALUMNI OFFICE REPORTS 1400 GRADUATES

Of the nearly 1400 who have been graduated from Madison College during its almost 60-year history, 674 have entered Seventh-day Adventist work, reports Mrs. Mable H. Towery, Executive Secretary of the Madison College Alumni Association.

The alumni office records reveal that 140 are doctors (physicians, dentists, Doctors of Philosophy, etc.) 232 have entered the organized work of the Seventh-day Adventist Church—with 61 as overseas missionaries, and 302 have entered self-supporting work. Most of those entering self-supporting work entered institutional work.

Other graduates are employed in county hospitals and other non-Seventh-day Adventist institutions; some are teaching in public schools, others are working as stenographers, X-Ray and laboratory technicians, Medical Record Librarians, nurses, anesthetists, dietitians; and still others are self-employed in business and in other lines.

New Courses Offered in Five Fields

Several new courses in Nursing Education, Religion, Industrial Arts, and English, have been introduced this quarter.

Ward Management, taught by Mrs. Gladys Duran, assistant Professor of Nursing familiarizes the nurses with the functions, principles, and responsibilities of the work of the head nurse in the management of a hospital unit.

Foundations, Trends, and Legal Problems is a survey of the origin and growth of modern nursing, with particular emphasis upon the development of professional nursing. Mrs. Frieda Zeigler, of the school health service, is the instructor.

Introduction to Teaching, taught by Miss Mary Elquist, Associate Professor of Education and Director of Elementary Teacher Education, gives the student a broad overview of the teaching profession, provides him with an opportunity to begin his file of teaching ma-

ASMC Has Childrens Christmas Party

The ASMC held a Christmas party for 18 underprivileged children in a gaily decorated gym on December 23. The stage was arranged as a living room, complete with a huge tree and bulging stockings over the fireplace. The stockings and packages of toys and clothing from under the tree were distributed by Jolly Old Saint Nicholas himself, John Aitkens.

Those assisting with the party were Becky Culpepper, Joan Aitkens, Emily Titsworth, Eva Campbell, George Wolverton, Shahpur Ansari, and Terry Daniels.

The ASMC purchased the toys and the clothing, and Kroger's and Hill's donated the Christmas treats for the stockings.

The faculty and the students are one family. As parents give counsel, instruction, and guidance to their children, so does the faculty at Madison College.

This close relationship and guidance is again manifest in the Friday evening vesper meetings, with the faculty, for the greater part, taking the services and leading their students in the way of God, even as a father would his children.

The Religious Life Committee felt that this program would keep that closeness between students and teachers that should exist in a Christian college.

The leadership and the presence of Wayne Bolan, MV Leader, will be greatly missed. The Missionary Volunteer Society has been an outstanding success under his leadership. He was interested in each fellow student. He was anxious that each one have a closer walk with God.

The programs were alive and interesting; they not only held the attention of the listeners, but they also contributed to the spiritual experience of every hearer. And Sabbath afternoons, ever since Wayne took over the MV leadership, have been full of worthwhile and helpful missionary activities.

To you and your wife, Wayne, our hearty "Thank You", as well as a "God Bless You", as you go to prepare for the ministry at Southern Missionary College.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Thank you so very much for the Madisonian. You with your staff are doing an excellent job with the school paper.

Everytime the good old Madisonian comes, we can hardly wait to open the wrapper to read the news. We devour every word from cover to cover. As we see pictures of students and friends we learned to love, and read about others, it is all we can do to stop the tears from falling. Yes, we truly miss Madison. The four years spent there were some of the happiest of our lives.

Japan is a needy mission field. Only one-half percent of the 98 million people are Christians. We have 5000 Seventh-day Adventists. On our campus there are some 500 students, of which 160 are in college. Of these, 50 are Theology majors.

At present I am learning the Japanese language and teaching one class. Next quarter begins our new school year. I am looking forward to this, as my assignment will be to teach Greek to 32 Theology majors. It's going to be quite an experience to use the English language to teach the Greek language to those who speak the Japanese language. We hope it will not be a modern "Tower of Babel" situation!

Our school choir has just finished making an LP record for "Chapel Records." The recording work was done in stereo at the Tashibo studios in Tokyo. It should be out sometime next year. It's thrilling to see our youth singing the glad songs of Zion in contrast with the sad music of other religions. Truly, Christianity makes the big difference.

Please give our greetings to Mrs. L. J. Larson and your staff. Keep up the good work, and God bless you with a wonderfully Happy New Year.

Sincerely your friend,
N. R. Gulley

The ASMC Presents
Its Constitution

by David Martin

The constitution of the Associated Students of Madison College is the governing document of all student body activities. The basic pattern, following that of the Constitution of the United States, is common of most governing charters in a democratic society.

Authority for the functions of the ASMC is granted by the college faculty. These functions involve every phase of student life at Madison.

In examining the articles presented below, especially note the objectives of the organization. Article X is important because it provides the methods for improving or revising the constitution by vote of the student body. The remaining sections specifically deal with the delegation and restriction of activities in the individual groups which make up the ASMC.

Several revisions have been made in the past. This year a special committee has been assigned to study the present articles in view of advancing trends in the student body activities; consequently, several significant changes in Student-Teacher Council membership may result. A thorough knowledge of the section on membership would, therefore, enable you to evaluate the wisdom of recommended revisions when they are presented by this committee.

CONSTITUTION OF THE

1962 - 1963
ARTICLE I

Name

The name of this organization shall be the Associated Students of Madison College, hereinafter to be referred to by the initials ASMC.

Section (d) No student's name shall be up for election for any position until he has presented in writing to the vice-president of the ASMC a promise to perform his duties faithfully and to the best of his abilities, if elected.

Section (e) The president and the secretary of the ASMC shall post the name of each candidate for an ASMC office or position on the bulletin board at least 48 hours before the election.

Section (f) Balloting may take place either in a chapel session or in some convenient place and at a convenient time as designated by the Student Administrative Council and announced by the president on the regular bulletin board, at least 48 hours before election. A roster of voters must be maintained and checked when ballot is cast.

Section (g) Any vacancy in any office of the ASMC for which the Student-Teacher Council normally nominates candidates shall be filled by appointment by the president of the ASMC and confirmed by a two-thirds vote of members present at the Student-Teacher Council.

ARTICLE III

Elections

Elections in forums, classes, and other student organizations may proceed in any manner voted by the organization, provided each member has sufficient opportunity for consideration of the qualifications and suitability of each candidate. The individual member's right to make suggestions as to candidates, and to vote for or against any nominee, must not be denied. Each member must have at least 48 hours' notice of elections, on the regular bulletin board, unless elections are held during the regular meeting time.

ARTICLE IV

Student Administrative Council

The ASMC Administrative Council serves as the agenda and the executive committee of the Student-Teacher Council and shall consist of the five executive officers of the ASMC, meeting with the co-ordinator of the ASMC. The Student Administrative Council shall hold itself in readiness to: (a) cooperate with the college dean and other college officers, as well as the college Administrative Council in executing all college programs and projects involving the student body; and (b) advise the college dean and other officers, as well as the college Administrative Council, on all matters concerned with student discipline, student morale, and student participation in college projects and enterprises. The secretary of the ASMC shall post a copy of the official agenda for each Student-Teacher Council meeting on the bulletin board some days in advance when possible. The president of the ASMC may withhold any item from this public agenda if he deems it advisable for the best interest of the ASMC.

ARTICLE V

Appointment of Faculty Sponsors

The following regulations shall govern the appointment of faculty sponsors of all constituent organizations of the ASMC. The organization at a duly called or regularly appointed meeting shall vote preferential nominations of no less than two members of the faculty to be recommended to the dean of the college through the co-ordinator of the ASMC for appointment as sponsor. If the dean finds the person recommended free from conflicting responsibilities to accept, and properly qualified by training, experience, and personality to serve acceptably, he authorizes the officers of the organization concerned to approach the faculty member in question and to extend to him the invitation of the organization to serve as its sponsor. If the person thus invited expresses a willingness to accept, the officers so report to the organization, which then by formal resolution officially extends the call. All faculty sponsors are responsible to the dean through the co-ordinator of the ASMC.

ARTICLE VI

Office Holding

The regulations governing student office holding shall be as follows:

Section (a) Any student who maintains a grade point average of 2.0 or above for all courses at Madison College, or of 2.4 for the previous quarter, may hold one principal office and one associate office, or three associate offices at the same time.

Section (b) The following shall be regarded as principal offices: Any office carrying with it Student-Teacher Council responsibilities, Sabbath School superintendent, and associate superintendents, Sabbath School secretary, and president of any student activity club or seminar.

Section (c) All other offices are regarded as associate offices.

Section (d) The service of students in the Student-Teacher Council and its special committees or other temporary committees is not to be construed as duplicate office holding.

Section (e) The secretary and the sponsor of each student organization, as well as the pastor and the clerk of the Madison College Seventh-day Adventist Church, shall be requested to submit the name of each person elected to office to the vice-president of the ASMC. The vice-president of the ASMC shall be notified of each person resigning from office after such resignation is accepted.

Section (f) No student under disciplinary action by the Citizenship Committee shall be eligible to election as an officer of any student organization during the time of said disciplinary action. Any officer who shall come under disciplinary action by the Citizenship Committee may be removed from office by a two-thirds vote of the members present at the Student-Teacher Council.

Section (g) The co-ordinator of the ASMC and the vice-president of the ASMC are charged with the responsibility of administering these regulations governing student office holding.

ARTICLE VII

Forums

Section (a) The ASMC shall organize three college forums: The Phi Mu Sigma, the Delta Nu Zelta, and the Married Couples' Forum.

Section (b) Membership in the Phi Mu Sigma and Delta Nu Zelta forums shall include all single college students.

Section (c) Voting membership in the Married Couples' Forum shall be extended to the wives or husbands of students. Only registered students are eligible for the presidency of the Forum.

Section (d) Each forum shall meet in regular sessions once a week or at such times as are determined by the forum officers and announced to the members. The decisions and activities of the Student-Teacher Council and the student committees shall be reported to the forums through the forum presidents. Any forum may formulate recommendations to the Student-Teacher Council or any student committee.

ARTICLE VIII

Membership in Student Committees:

Upon nomination by the committee chairman, and with the approval of the Student Administrative Council, the Student-Teacher Council shall appoint members of the seven Standing Student Committees.

ARTICLE IX

Charters:

The regulations governing the chartering of clubs and other student organizations shall be as follows:

Section (a) On the recommendation of the executive officers of the ASMC through the Student-Teacher Council, the ASMC may grant a provisional or a permanent charter to a student club or organization. Without such a charter no student organization can continue to function at Madison.

Section (b) The ASMC may grant a provisional charter to a student club or organization on the petition of at least six students subscribing to the ideals and purposes of the particular club or organization. Such a group must apply for a provisional charter every two quarters. The ASMC may not grant a provisional charter to any group for more than six consecutive quarters, exclusive of summer quarters.

Section (c) The ASMC may grant a permanent charter to a student club or organization on the following bases:

- (i) The applying group must have been in function for four consecutive quarters, exclusive of summer quarters.
- (ii) The applying group, during this time of function, must have maintained an active membership of at least six students; must have kept accounts, records of membership and officers, minutes of meetings, including executive committee meetings; and must have rendered service to the institutional community or fulfilled some student or institutional need.
- (iii) The applying group during its time of function must have followed a constitution adopted by the members and have had accounts audited each quarter by an auditor appointed by the college business manager.

ARTICLE X

Student Programs:

The student officers responsible for a chapel period or other similar function should plan the program on the basis of the following principles:

Section (a) Madison College is a Seventh-day Adventist institution dedicated to the task of inspiring its students to service for Christ. All student activities should serve this purpose, directly or indirectly.

Section (b) The service of Christ should be vigorous, beautiful, bright, intelligent, skillful, and effective. Everything that contributes to the attainment of such ideals of Christian service should be encouraged.

Section (c) Chapel and other programs should be informative and inspiring. While all student programs need not be strictly religious, no part or detail in any program should be out of harmony with the religious ideals of the students. Even the doubtful should be carefully avoided.

Section (d) Good and sensible humor is a legitimate element in the Christian life and may well be reflected in a student program. However, the excessive, the coarse, and the silly, should be avoided.

Section (e) Our college is a Seventh-day Adventist school of learning, a senior college striving for high intellectual attainment on the part of all its students. Every student program should be on the senior college level in keeping with the mature ideals of advanced students.

Section (f) Though student programs could well have elements of the dramatic in its true sense (the power of deeply stirring the imagination or emotions, vivid, moving), they should avoid the theatrical. Theatrical suggestions are "direct and blatant appeal to the emotions, or, as supplied to gestures, voice, action, etc. a marked artificiality." In addition, simplicity, dignity, and economy are to be recommended in any use of costume or stage decoration.

Section (g) The ASMC holds the student chairman responsible for the planning and execution of each student program. Only that which the student chairman (with his student committee) deems to be fully in harmony with the principles outlined under (a) to (f) inclusive, should be presented to the faculty sponsor and the co-ordinator of the ASMC for approval. Such approval should be requested at least three days before the program is to be given. The sponsor's approval should be given in writing.

ARTICLE XI

Calendar of Meetings

For each quarter the vice-president of the ASMC shall prepare and publish the official calendar of student organization meetings. This calendar shall be developed in consultation with the dean of the college and the co-ordinator of the ASMC.

Martha Workman, junior, was presented with a Co-ed pin and card at chapel on January 8. Mrs. Margaret Wilson, Home Economics instructor, made the presentation.

An announcement in the national teen-age girls' magazine, Co-ed, names Martha as correspondent for Madison Academy. She will serve as junior adviser on the magazine and will keep the editors informed of local activities. There are about 2500 Co-ed correspondents in the United States and Canada.

ASMA Has Christmas Party

"This is Your Life" was the theme of the December 20 chapel program. The life portrayed was that of Santa Clause (Ronnie Herman). Mr. Wilson was narrator. Those taking part were his mother (Martha Workman), his father (Larry Bowes), Santa's little helper (David Kelly), a little girl (Sherry Wittenberg) to whom Santa had given a doll, his little brother (Jim Herman) who wanted his two front teeth for Christmas, Rudolph the Red-nosed Reindeer (David Reid), and Mrs. Santa Clause—Martha Hatch.

Santa's little helper distributed a wagon full of popcorn balls and candy to all the academy students.

Juniors Get Class Jackets

The juniors surprised the seniors on December 13 by bursting into Room 202—about the same time that a loud fire cracker banged off (Charles DeArk!)—wearing their new class jackets, which are royal purple with gray and white shoulder stripes, a gray inner lining, and with M. A. on the back.

MV's Give Christmas Program at Jail

About a dozen MV's accompanied Don McColpin, Jail Band leader, on Christmas morning to present a Christmas program and to distribute gifts to about 40 prisoners at the Davidson County Workhouse in Nashville.

Kaye Forrester and Darlene Aguirre sang, and Bonnie Stuvenga read some Christmas stories.

The men each received a copy of the new edition of The Marked Bible and a pair of socks; the women each received nylons and a copy of the same book.

Mrs. Wayne Bolan, the MV leader's wife, says that the prisoners thanked the young people over and over again for the program, for the gifts, and most of all for wanting to come.

Raises Proposed for ASMC Officers

The Student-Faculty Council of the ASMC accepted the recommendations of the Labor Committee that raises in the salaries of the ASMC executive officers and publications editors for the 1963-1964 school year be included in the budget of the coming school year.

The recommendation, now appearing in the minutes of the ASMC, will be acted on by the members of the student association on January 29.

The committee felt that the responsibilities and the amount of time needed for the performance of ASMC publications and Executive officer duties call for salary raises, which, even with the new increases, would still be considerable lower than those received by executive officers and editors at other Seventh-day Adventist colleges. The raises will be conditional, depending on the enrollment.

"The Word of God hidden in the heart is a power that constantly directs your steps, your words, and your thoughts," she said. During all the years that Mrs. Edwards taught elementary school, she memorized the Bible text of each Bible class that she taught. Currently Mrs. Edwards is on the staff of Oakwood College in Alabama.

Daniel, taught by Elder W. H. Grotheer, head of the Department of Religion, is a verse-by-verse study of the book Daniel.

The Psychology of Learning is a comprehensive study of man as a learner, with emphasis on the child and the adolescent. Attention is paid to types and principles of learning, and to effective methods of study and teaching as revealed through psychological studies. Dean Homer Lynd is teaching the class.

The student in upholstery is taught how to fashion and repair, as well as to upholster furniture. The class is taught by Mr. Harold Keplinger, former principal of Madison Academy and Industrial Arts instructor, and at present Industrial Arts instructor at Cumberland High School.

English Literature, a study of outstanding English writers and their works, is being taught by Mr. L. J. Larson, doctoral student at Peabody College of Teachers.

tain what training they may need to overcome any handicapping effects of their disabilities, and to assist them in making a choice of a future occupation. The Veterans' Administration will pay for books and tuition and a subsistence allowance during the period of training which may be needed for this purpose. Training will not be provided under this Act for veterans whose disabilities are rated at less than 30 percent unless they show clearly that the disability causes a pronounced employment handicap."
