Madison Academy Off to Good Start

Monday evening, Aug. 30, was the occasion of the opening convocation for Madison Academy students and teachers. Heading the administrative staff this year are Irad C. Levering, principal; J. P. Rogers, business manager; Mrs. Marie Jansen, registrar; Don Keele, dean of boys; Miss Carolyn Wier, dean of girls; Mrs. E. S. Anderson, dean of day students; and Miss Elizabeth Cowdrick, librarian.

Dallas Colvin, former student and teacher at Madison College, is assistant principal. His wife (Nora Parsons) is a graduate nurse from Madison, class of 1931.

Of the former classroom teachers, Mrs. Lee Eusey (shorthand and typing) and Wiley Austin (science) remain, and the following new instructors are teaching in the academy: E. S. Anderson (building trades), Robert Anderson and Luane Logan (music), Lee Eusey (gardening and American History), Robert Kimball (Bible). Mrs. Kimball has charge of the cafeteria. Dan McClellan, formerly teaching in grades 7-10, now teaches math and science in the academy. Leon Smith continues as manager of the printshop, and is teaching a class in printing.

There is a large student enrollment, totaling 175, reported to be the second largest of the academies in the Southern Union, Forest Lake being first.

Practical Courses in Curriculum

Nine students are enrolled in the Building Trades class taught by E. S. Anderson. This class is building a four bedroom, brick veneer house from the basement up, which is earmarked for the academy principal's home. It is located on Sanitarium Drive next to the house formerly occupied by the James Herman family. The foundation is already laid. Mr. Anderson also teaches a class in Mechanical Drawing with ten in the class.

Sixteen boys are taking the gardening class, thirty girls are enrolled in Home Economics, thirteen students are in Driver Education, and six in Printing.

Paramedical Courses at the Hospital

In addition to a strong program in the academy, hospital courses are running to capacity, with fifteen enrolled in the nurse-anesthesia course and seven in X-ray. Three young women have come from the Philippines to complete the requirements for Medical Technology; and Warren Watts '58, formerly in charge of the dairy at Madison, has also enrolled in the lab course.

Progress Report

Wherever we go, people ask "What is going on at Madison? What's the news?" Elsewhere in this issue you will find a report on the paramedical courses at the hospital and the auspicious opening of Madison Academy.

There is no nurses' course on the campus this school year, but the second year of the associate degree program in conjunction with SMC will be conducted on this campus next year. It was reported that over fifty students were enrolled in this new two-year course on the Collegedale campus at the opening of the school year.

Rapid progress has been made on the new road starting on Neely's Bend near Larkin Springs Road. It winds diagonally through the woods with a lovely view on either side, and comes out on Sanitarium Drive across from the new Madison Hospital. The grading has been done, and the culverts are in. All that remains now is the surfacing. One branch comes in between the present post office and Scott House. After the road is finished, the academy plans to build a new shopping center.

School of X-ray News

Seven students are enrolled in the twoyear X-Ray course at Madison Hospital with three instructors—William Campbell '56, Steve Weesner '65, and Arthur Clements '65.

STEPHEN L. WEESNER finished the X-ray course at Madison Hospital in June, 1965. He is assistant technician of the X-ray department at Madison Hospital. His wife, the former Eva Campbell (MCA '61), is secretary to hospital administrator Robert Morris.

ARTHUR CLEMENTS finished the X-Ray course in September, and is now working full time in the department. His wife (Mary Ann Boley) is one of the admitting clerks in the hospital.

School of Anesthesia News

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Bowen ('56, '60) attended the AHA and AANA meetings in San Francisco in August and September and took their vacation. They visited Madisonites and relatives en route and in California.

Mr. Bowen reports that he saw several Madison graduate nurse-anesthetists there—Howard Pallett '64 of Avon Park, Fla., Dale Kendall '55 of Oneida, Ky., Walter Fedusenko '55 of Huntsville, Ala., and Joan Clement '65, who had just returned from Malawi, Africa, because of her parents' ill health.

Anesthesia students Bill Tate, MARGARET BADZIK '38, and BETTY (Clark) LEFORTE '54 took a few days off from their studies and attended the AANA meeting (American Association of Nurse Anesthetists).

Bob Stoker '63 and John Williams '59 are instructors in anesthesia. Formerly John was dean of the School of Practical Nursing at Watkins Memorial Hospital, Ellijay, Ga., and just previous to coming to Madison was on the staff of Crittenden Memorial Hospital, West Memphis, Ark. Mrs. Williams is the former Clara Mae Holmes '54. Three girls complete the family.

LLOYD TRIVETT has just finished anesthesia and has connected with the Oxford-Lafayette County Hospital in Oxford, Miss., in October. Mrs. Trivett (Ruth Mc-Clellan '64) has been serving as an assistant instructor in the Anesthesia Department.

The Joseph Bird family will be moving to Oxford, Miss., also, where Mr. Bird will be working in the same hospital. He received his RN from St. Mary's Hospital in Alabama, and finished anesthesia at Madison in September.

LLOYD FITCH, nursing graduate of 1964, has just completed the course in anesthesia, and is working at Baptist Hospital in Nashville. Mrs. Fitch, a graduate of Paradise Valley S-H, will start anesthesia October 1. She has been serving as head of the OB department in Madison Hospital.

Bettye Headrick '65 wrote: "I plan to stay here in Shelbyville, Tenn., for a while. I spent two of my last three months of school here and have taken a permanent position in the Bedford County Hospital."

Ten Finish Medical Records Course

Graduation exercises for the School of Medical Records Technology were held in the chapel of Madison Hospital on the evening of August 26, 1965, at which time certificates were presented to nine young ladies as follows:

Evelyn Bratcher, Elaine Schwartz Mears, and Carolyn Shipp, all of whom are remaining in the Medical Records office of Madison Hospital. Sandra Dorris has connected with the Miller Clinic in Nashville; Marjorie Good is working in F.R.E.H. at Dr. Gant's clinic just off the campus. Judith Heberer plans to work in Lakeport, Calif.; Ann Marie Ipes in Washington, D. C.; Rachel Muniz at Pewee Valley Hospital in Kentucky; and Nancy Nichols in her home town, at Jerome, Idaho. Carol White Martin finished the course but was not present at the graduation, as her family moved to California, where her husband, Alfred, is head of the La Sierra bakery.

The address was given by Dr. C. M. Gillit, and certificates were presented by John McClellan, assistant administrator of Madison Hospital. Miss Betty Thorgeson is director of the school.

In the future, Medical Records will be a two-year, Associate Science degree course in conjunction with SMC. The first year will be given at Collegedale and the second year at Madison Hospital.

Editor Visits Alumni on Two Trips

(It was the editor's privilege to make two trips this summer, seeing Madisonites at several places. A brief report follows.)

On a trip returning from Washington, D. C., and New York City, I stopped overnight at Kettering Memorial Hospital near Dayton, Ohio. First I saw Godfrey and Gladys Duran ('55 & '56). Godfrey is in charge of the large emergency room section, and Gladys is director of nursing at Kettering. The Durans' daughter, Marcy, is married to Thomas Allen. The young couple are both in school at AU, where he is taking premed, and she is taking secretarial science.

Madisonites at Kettering

Mrs. Duran showed me all through the hospital, which someone has appropriately dubbed "fabulous." She listed over twenty names from Madison, and said there were enough to start a Madison chapter there. We contacted all that we could but were disappointed in missing many.

Besides the Durans, among those on the staff at Kettering, and their spouses, are Melvin and Lila (Ring) Adams '60, Clarence and Sylvia Kaldahl '61, Larry and Rose Marie Konowal '55, Dr. and Mrs. Dale Putnam '32, Frances Lausten '38, Ruby (Ferguson) Beard '39, Mr. and Mrs. Wally Slater '63, Loretta Billings '64, Mr. and Mrs. George Smotherman, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Ed Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Asheroft

Elder LeRoy Hunter '18 is doing double duty in that he is serving as pastor of the Wilmington, Ohio, church as well as serving on the nursing staff of Kettering Memorial Hospital.

Dr. Billy Sandborn and his wife Marie ('61) recently moved to Kettering, where he is interning.

ASI Convention in Denver in August

First stop on the second trip was at the Park Manor Nursing Home, Hopkinsville, Ky. This is a new medical unit conducted by Raymond and Betty Harold ('42, '45). I visited friends and relatives in Kan-

I visited friends and relatives in Kansas and Colorado and attended the ASI meeting August 18-21 in the Denver South Church near Porter S-H. The meeting was well attended and the program well organized

The same leading officers were reelected (Dr. L. A. Senseman, president; Allan Buller, vice-president; Wesley Amundsen, secretary-treasurer), and one new additional vice-president, from among the nursing home group (Carl Howe of Olney, Md.).

Gavel Requested from Madison Wood

Dr. Senseman asked if we could find a piece of wood from one of the old buildings at Madison College, from which a gavel could be made for the ASI president. We were happy to comply with this request, and have procured a two-by-four from the old E. A. Sutherland residence, which is being torn down. We think that this is a capital idea, and also plan to make a gavel for the alumni president.

Between meetings I chatted briefly with Dr. A. W. McCorkle '41, of Hialeah Hospital; Elder K. W. Tilghman, treasurer of the Atlantic Union; Leland Straw '31, of Little Creek; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Santini '54 of Pine Hill Sanitarium; and Florence Fellemende '47 of The Layman Foundation.

Madisonites at the Porter

We have a number of Madisonites in Denver working at the Porter Memorial Hospital. I was unable to contact them all, but among them were: Henry and Pauline (Burke) Knapp ('50, '41) (Anesthesia); Clayton Spady '52 (X-ray); Lydia Helen Wenzel '30 (a team captain); Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Foote, and James Culpepper (MCA '52). I did not succeed in finding Mr. and Mrs. Theo Williams ('54, '55), or Carlos McDonald and wife ('48, '50), or Patsy Adkins Ennis '62, or Dorothy Aldrich '54.

After the ASI meeting, I visited several alumni in Colorado: Louise Leeper '56, head of Medical Records at Boulder Memorial Hospital, and Glenda Howard '64 in the same department; Mary Belle Wentworth '49, who is working in the Greeley City Library; Lloyd and Laura Hamilton (both '62), gardener and nurse at Eden Valley Sanitarium, Loveland.

On the Return Trip

On the return trip, Sabbath was spent with Michael and Gladys (Cooke) Rabuka '47, Rogersville, Mo.

Michael M.. Rabuka, former teacher at Madison College, spent fifteen days in Russia this summer. During his visit he stopped in Leningrad, Moscow, Kharkov, and Kiev, visiting educational institutions, collective farms, and some of his relatives. He speaks Russian as his native language and teaches courses in the Russian lan-

After searching for her address for some time, we finally located RUBY (Wilson) BEARD at Kettering Hospital. She was an office nurse to Dr. Stewart for nine years, and staff nurse for fifteen years at Good Samaritan Hospital. "I have nothing to brag about, just a battered pair of legs to prove my continued years of labor and a few extra gray hairs, plus a few added wrinkles. The Red Cross evidently thought I deserved a little notation, as I did receive a small notice of citation for services performed in behalf of the nation and armed forces and suffering humanity. . . . I am very happy to hear from my Madison home."

Ruth Carnahan Returns to Africa

An air letter from RUTH CARNAHAN brings the following information: "I left New York by plane June 10. Six hours and forty-five minutes later I landed at the Brussels airport. I had a pleasant four days practicing my poor French on friends there. Then I flew to Frankfurt, Germany, for the International Council of Nurses. While in Germany I flew to West Berlin where I took an excursion bus to the eastern sector. I spent a weekend in Rome, took a tour of the Vatican, and saw the Pope at a great distance. I arrived here at my place of labor (Rwankeri Mission), Rwanda, Africa, June 29 and began work the next day. Here I am in charge of a small dispensary, or outpatient clinic, and a maternity unit. We also have room to keep twelve sick patients."

EDWIN MARTIN and family have moved to Dalton, Georgia, from Avon Park, Florida, where Edwin is director of the 70-bed Woodvale Convalescent Home. Mrs. Martin (Mary Belle Ramsey) is a graduate nurse of Madison, Class of 1942. The Martins have three children—Bobby, Judy, and Mary Ellen.

News from Petra Sukau and Wildwood

Petra Sukau '58 reports on "Mobile Unit Work in the Mountains" in the Wildwood Sanitarium Newsletter of August, 1965. A gift of an International four-wheel drive "Scout" has been of great aid in the mediNew pastor of the Madison Campus Church, Elder Jack W. Clarke and family. Left to right: Jimmy, Jane (Mrs. Clarke), Judy, Janice, Joan, and Jack (Elder Clarke). The family is known as "the six J's" cal-missionary work on the mountain roads around Wildwood. (Petra, former missionary nurse to Burma, is now the "jeep nurse" at Wildwood.) Health lectures are being given each week to ninety public school children in that area, and visitation programs are carried on with the help of student missionary nurses. "We are finding some of the Lord's jewels in the hills and hollows of North Georgia's mountains."

Much of the missionary work centers around Wildwood's seven branch Sabbath Schools, each of which is operated as a full Sabbath School and church service. Baptisms result. Three of the branch Sabbath Schools of the past are now organized churches.

A new feature of their missionary nurses' training program is affiliation with Yerba Buena Clinic and Hospital in Chiapas, Mexico, a self-supporting mission which ministers to over eight hundred patients each month. Ruth Woodruff, their first affiliate, has already entered upon her work at Yerba Buena.

Dr. and Mrs. Alan Harmer have returned to be active workers in the institution; and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Forrester, from Pine Forest Academy, have also joined the staff.

Bethel Sanitarium, Evansville, Ind.

Bethel Sanitarium opened its doors in 1949 with Mrs. Louise Kuiken, a registered nurse who took her training at Madison, and Rose Tribby, an experienced cook, in charge. They were able to set up nine beds in a house that belonged to Mrs. Kuiken's aunt. Gradually the capacity increased to thirty-five beds.

The next step of faith was to build a sanitarium in the country. Today there stands a modern, two story fireproof sanitarium building with sixty-four beds.

The sanitarium in the country and the old nursing home on Mary Street in Evansville have a combined capacity of eighty-four patients. Roger Goodge from Little Creek was recently elected chairman of the board. The principal need of the institution is for two registered nurses and two practical nurses.

Introducing E. E. Schlenker, Vice-President, M. C. A. A.

Our vice-president, ELATOR E. SCHLENKER, was born on a farm near Kulm, N. D., attended Sheyenne River Academy in North Dakota, and received his B. S. degree at Madison College in 1942. He married Mable Plum while at Madison and after graduation they spent several months at Pine Forest Academy, Chunky, Miss., teaching on the secondary level until called into service by Uncle Sam. Nearly three years were spent in the Army Medical Division as surgical and medical technologist.

Prior to discharge from the Army, he took several months of post-graduate work at Union College, Lincoln, Neb. He taught four years in secondary schools—two years at Sheyenne River Academy, and two in Minnesota public schools. He then accepted a call by the Minnesota State Civil Service Department to take charge of the lab and X-ray in the Sandstone State Hospital and later the Cambridge State Hospital, serving ten years.

Mr. Schlenker took several years of post-graduate work at Madison Hospital while working in the lab as a clinical technician. For nearly two years of the five he was in charge of the Madison Hospital lab. For the past three years he has been assisting Dr. Cyrus Kendall, pathologist, as histology technician.

Mrs Schlenker is a clerk in the dietetics department at Madison Hospital. Son Tommy attends church school at Madison. Daughter Lois (Mrs. Holcombe) is a beautician at Orlando, and her sister Ger-

guage, Russian history, and European history at Drury College, Springfield, Mo. He also teaches adult education courses in the evening at Drury and at Ft. Leonard Wood.

Mrs. Rabuka (Gladys Cooke '47) tutors "homebound" students, grades 1-12, in the Springfield, Mo., area. She was editorial secretary on the Survey staff for several years while at Madison.

At Willow Springs, Mo., I visited briefly with Dr. and Mrs. Amos L. Coffee ('46, '48), where the doctor has a busy practice. They have four children; the two oldest are in Sunnydale Academy.

Mrs. Rex Wood (Opha Bishop) '45 is one of Dr. Coffee's office nurses, but was away at the time, taking her children to Sunnydale Academy.

It was a most enjoyable part of the trips meeting Madisonites, and I wish time had permitted looking up more of them. M.H.T.

Letters from Class of '40

Several who "walked these halls" 25 years ago replied to our letters of inquiry saying they were unable to attend Homecoming. Following are extracts gleaned from their replies.

HELEN (Roosevelt) LARSON finished the dietetics course at Madison in 1940, and worked as a dietitian for some years, but is now teaching school in Vancouver. She writes: "I am busy with the work I loveteaching, and trying to adjust to life alone, unless you count the poodles, now that Rosemary is in college. I surely wish I could visit Madison, but this is school time." Mrs. Larson is located at Battle Ground, Wash.

Elder Ross J. Sype sent his deep regrets for not being able to attend Homecoming, since he and his wife were planning a trip to the Holy Land this summer. The Sypes have been at Walker Memorial Hospital, Avon Park, Fla., for six years, he as chaplain and she in ladies hydro. Elder Sype wrote that they were "about as spry as ever," and celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary last year.

Dr. J. P. O'CALLAGHAN reports from West Palm Beach, Fla., that he is working hard in his practice of dentistry. He regretted that he could not attend Homecoming, and hoped we had a nice reunion.

Louise (Hoyt) Gish wrote from Hawaii: "I am team leader on medical floor, Castle Memorial Hospital, here in Hawaii. I am doing floor duty, which I haven't done for fifteen years. It's a good thing to be back on the floor again to get better acquainted with bedside nursing. No, I'm not doing it, but as near as an R. N. gets these days. We give medicine, make rounds with doctors, supervise the carrying out of orders and nursing care."

Louise's husband, Dr. Ira Gish, is a parttime collector for Castle Memorial Hospital. The Gishes have two adopted children-Wayne, age thirteen, and Clarissa Anne, age six.

GORDON OSGOOD, Quakertown, Pa., writes: "This is my fifth year as a Visiting Counselor for Upper Bucks County Schools. I've certified as a Home and School Visitor, a teacher of English and History in high school and a guidance counselor. My eldest daughter is in her second year of nurses' training at Branson Memorial in Canada. Miss Bowman of Madison School of Nursing accepted her."

E. E. KUNGEL is a pastor of the Tabernacle Church in San Francisco, and is working on his Master's degree at San Francisco State College. His wife is the former Hope Kinnison '42. They have two children. He writes: "I have a United Nations church of 22 nationalities, 300 members; 74 were added this year. It is a challenge if ever there was one, in this wicked city of sin and vice."

Calling the Class of '42

DOROTHY (Dawson) HARP '42 writes from Marietta, Ga.: "Will you please send me the names and addresses of as many members of the class of '42 as you have on file. I would like those in both the college and nursing classes. We want to plan a big reunion for that class in 1967." Mrs. Harp's husband, William '41, is a dentist. Their address is Rt. 4, Ridgeway Road, Marietta, Ga.

TAX STATUS OF MCAA

There has been some comment about the continuance of the Madison College Alumni Association, some feeling that since the college is no longer operating, the Association would have to surrender its charter and lose its tax-exempt status.

In a recent conversation with William E. Patterson, who was very instrumental in securing the federal tax-exempt status for the Association, he advised that there was no reason why the Association should not continue its work. Our tax status is just as alive as ever. He called attention to some of the objectives, and stated he was sure the Association could find enough areas in which to work to justify retaining its tax-exempt status.

Mr. Patterson mentioned that in order to continue to make a showing and keep our income tax status alive, it would be advisable for our alumni to channel their donations through the Association. In this manner, donations can be earmarked as contributions to self-supporting "unit" work, foundations, Madison Hospital, Madison Academy, etc. So when you donate to these worthy organizations, send your check to the M. C. A. A. and our treasurer will in turn write a check and send it to the institution you designate. In reviewing the objectives of the charter, we continue Objectives No. 1, No. 4, No. 5, No. 6, No.7 sub-sections (a), (b), (c), (d), (e).

Mr. Patterson has organized quite a number of self-supporting institutions, drawing their charters and securing State and Federal tax exemptions. He is on a number of boards, and is continually being called upon by organizations wishing to start self-supporting units. His great value lies in the fact that for many

Cave Springs Burns the Mortgage

Sunday, September 12, was a great day for Cave Springs Home School, located at Pegram, Tenn., for it was the occasion of the burning of the $41,000 mortgage. The institution was established by Mrs. Julia Muir Grow '56 and Nellie Green '56 nine years ago as a rehabilitation school for handicapped youth.

On that pleasant Sunday afternoon, visitors for miles around came to witness the burning of the mortgage and to enjoy a program of talks, musical numbers, and refreshments, which took place under a tent erected on the property of the school.

During the years which passed since the mortgage papers were first signed, not a single payment was missed, and the tenyear contract was paid off in nine years.

Even though the mortgage on the 900 acres of land has been paid off, Cave Springs will still need money for an expansion program. Besides the old main house, "Miracle Hall" has been built and occupied as a girls' dormitory. A new school building and a boys' dormitory are real needs. It was suggested that friends send holiday greeting cards on each holiday and enclose checks.

Truly Cave Springs has made an impact in the community as evidenced by the support of many clubs and organizations and individuals. Twenty graduates have gone out to lead useful lives and take their places in the workaday world.

years he was a special agent of the government, knows many high Federal and State officials, and has spent a great deal of time in research, acquainting himself with the laws, statutes, and regulations of the Internal Revenue Service. Where it generally takes many months, sometimes two or three years, Mr. Patterson has been able in practically all instances to complete charters, qualify for State tax ex-emptions, and secure favorable rulings from the Treasury Department within a short time.

Mr. Patterson has received an honorary lifetime membership in the Madison College Alumni Association, is interested in the Association and its activities, and is always ready to advise or handle any matters dealing with either the State or Federal governments.

Elementary School News

Miss Catherine Shepard is the new principal of the elementary school. For the past several years she has been serving as hostess at Madison Hospital. All the teachers remain the same except for one change. Miss Mable Howard has gone to Andrews University to teach fourth grade in the church school. The enrollment was 112 at the beginning of school.

• Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Wedel, formerly on the staff here, have moved to Loveland, Colo. Mr. Wedel is the maintenance director at Campion Academy, and Mrs. Wedel is secretary to the principal. She writes: "When at Mount Pisgah we could get back to Madison for a weekend occasionally, but we won't be able to do that now; so more than ever we will enjoy getting the news the Madison Survey brings."

• Among the new staff members at CUC in Washington are Felix Lorenz, Sr., a lecturer in the department of religion, and Norman J. Johnson, former pastor of the Boulevard Church in Madison.

•R. D. MURRAY and family have moved to Jefferson, Texas, where Mr. Murray is the principal of Jefferson Academy. Formerly he taught in Madison Academy. Mrs. Murray (Evelyn) is a daughter of Elder and Mrs. R. E. Stewart.

BILL GROVER '55 has transferred from the Madison Hospital to the Washington S-H lab. This will create a vacancy in the alumni presidency. According to our bylaws vacancies may be filled by the executive committee.

To Our Readers

Please notice your name as addressed on the back page, see what date appears, and if your zip number is there. The date is the time when you last sent dues or a donation or a change of address to the Survey.

We are compelled to reduce our list in order to save expense. We do not want to cut off names of alumni or others who are genuinely interested in Madison, but we must have an indication of interest. So don't delay. Take a look at your name on the back page. If the date is more than a year old, you are in arrears. Send your donation and zip number to The Madison Survey, Madison College, Tenn.

Free Copy of MADISONIAN

The academy students are continuing to publish The Madisonian (not to be confused with the Madison Survey and Alumni News). The October Madisonian contains a current list of the 176 Madison Academy students and the State each is from, also a page of pictures of faculty and staff and their families. If you would like a free copy, write The Madison Survey, Madison, Tenn. Be sure to give your zip number. A year's subscription to The Madisonian is $2.00.

If you wish to have a color picture postcard of the new Madison Hospital, we can send one along with The Madisonian.

Farewell for Mrs. Beaumont

A farewell for Mrs. Wilhelmina Beaumont was held at the Scott House, home of The Layman Foundation, on July 19, 1965. One of her daughters, Louise (Holst) Schumacher 36, from Turlock, Calif., was present. Mrs. Beaumont lived on the Madison Campus for many years after her retirement from active service in self-supporting work. She was one of the pioneers at Pine Hill Sanitarium in Birmingham, having spent fifteen years there, where she and her husband managed the vegetarian cafeteria for three years. Her new home is at Ventura Estates in California.

• Carroll Rayburn, head of the Physical

• Carroll Rayburn, head of the Physical Therapy department at Madison Hospital for three years, has accepted a call to Bella Vista Hospital in Puerto Rico.

Annual Convention of Self-Supporting Workers

The 55th Annual Convention of Southern Self-Supporting Workers will be held this year at Little Creek Sanitarium-Hospital and School on North Shore Drive, near Knoxville, Tenn., beginning with the evening service, Thursday, October 7, and ending with the Saturday evening meeting, October 9.

S. BAYARD GOODGE

S. Bayard Goodge, treasurer and business agent of Little Creek Sanitarium and School, died on September 8, 1965, in a Knoxville hospital at the age of eighty. He had been at the school and hospital for 23 years, coming there in 1942, two years after its founding by his daughter and son-in-law, Alice and Leland Straw. Previously, from 1929 to 1942, he had been employed in the business offices of Madison College and Sanitarium.

Prior to moving to Madison, he was engaged in real estate business in Evansville, Indiana, where he learned of opportunities at Madison for the education of his six children. After visiting and carefully considering various educational institutions, upon the suggestion of a friend, he decided to spend a few days at Madison. The distinctive rural environment of the place, the coordination of classroom study and work to help defray school expenses, the simple living, the wholesome food, and the deeply spiritual atmosphere all combined to lead the Goodge family to settle on the Madison campus, where they spent thirteen years.

Surviving members of the family are his wife, Mrs. Clara Davenport Goodge; two daughters, Mrs. Alice Straw and Mrs. Sarah Ann Williams; two sons, Dr. Bayard D. Goodge and Roger F. Goodge. One son, Kenneth, died in 1933, and another son, Billie, died in 1942 at Madison.

EDWARD C. FRANK, M.D.

Dr. Edward C. Frank died June 20, 1965, following an illness of several months. He was born August 15, 1919, in Alberta, Canada

He completed his premedical work at Madison College in Tennessee (in 1942). After his graduation from LLU in 1947, he interned at the White Memorial Medical Center. Following service with the U.S. Army in 1953, he went to Bagdad, Iraq, for a term of mission service. He was one of the first physicians to work in Dar es Salaam Hospital. In 1962, he accepted a call to the Taiwan Hospital in Taipei. While there he instructed in general and thoracic surgery, as well as serving as medical director of the hospital.

Dr. Frank became ill in Manila, and was brought to the White Memorial Medical Center for surgery, from which he did not recover. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Frank, and two children, Jennifer and Jonathan, Grass Valley, Calif. (From LLU Alumni Journal, July-August, 1965, p. 29)
