Another Successful Homecoming at Madison

The editor is deeply indebted to Mrs. Ann B. Denslow, guest reporter, who wrote the following story of our Homecoming for the SURVEY. She also wrote a story for Community News and Southern Tidings.

"Welcome, fellow alumni and friends, to our 1966 Madison College Homecoming! We have been waiting and watching for your return to our beloved campus. Your presence is a great inspiration to us who are privileged to live and work here and do our best to keep the home fires burning.

"These Homecomings become more and more meaningful as time moves on, May every moment of your stay be filled to the fullest with joy and happiness. On behalf of your officers I again say—Welcome, alumni and friends of Madison College! We are glad that you have come home."

These words of greeting by E. E. Schlenker, president of the M.C.A.A., began the annual Homecoming weekend on Friday night. Also joining in the welcome were Robert Morris, hospital administrator, and academy principal, Irad Levering, who expressed their appreciation for what the Madison institution has stood for in the past and the contribution it has made and will make to Christian education in the future.

In his consecration address on Friday night Elder H. H. Schmidt, president of the Southern Union, likened Christians to voyagers on the sea of life. Storms may be expected, but calm seas make poor sailors. We can confidently make the voyage if we have in the boat with us the Pilot who knows the way.

Honor Alumni of the Year

Bernard Bowen presented two plaques to the Honor Alumni of the year. Chosen to receive this tribute of special recognition were those who have shown constant loyalty and devotion to the welfare and progress of Madison. The first plaque was presented to a "couple who came to this campus in 1925, went to school here, have lived and worked here for almost forty years. Everett Moore and Edith Moore worked in various places—in the tailor shop and shoe shop, at several of the 'units,' at the school and hospital. They both decided to take the nurse's course. After finishing in 1930, Mr. Moore worked in the men's treatment rooms for 31 years as teacher and supervisor. Mrs. Moore became director of nurses in 1936, and capably filled this position for 12 years. She subsequently worked in the admitting office and as hospital hostess until her retirement in 1960. "Mrs. Moore was greatly respected and beloved by 'her girls,' and still hears from many of them. (There were not many men in nursing in those days.) Each one had a 'spot' in her heart. Through the years she has carried on a correspondence with her former students. At Christmas time each year cards, letters, and pictures come flowing in from all over the United States to the Moores. The influence of these two godly people has gone all around the world, and their light has shown on many people," Mr. Bowen concluded.

Last year at Christmas, Mrs. Lois Bull, one of Mrs. Moore's nursing students who is now a doctor's wife in Arizona, wrote on her 1965 Christmas greeting to the Moores: "I'll never find words to thank you for all the years of inspiration you have given me. I can still just see you with a shining, starched uniform, and a clean, neat cap on as you walk about with all the airs of a queen. You inspired every one. If I had not known you, I doubt if I'd ever had courage to have gone through those years of grilling it took to get through nursing, and L.J. through medicine. May the Lord bless you and yours."

After the alumni office wrote to Mrs. Bull for permission to use her letter at Homecoming, she wrote back: "You have my permission to use whatever I said about Mrs. Moore. She is at the very top in the nursing profession with me. To me she is another Florence Nightingale."

The Moores have two children—Mary, wife of K. T. McConico, an attorney in Nashville; and Dr. Ralph Moore, on the staff of the Good Samaritan Hospital at Woodbury, Tenn. They are both graduates of Madison College.

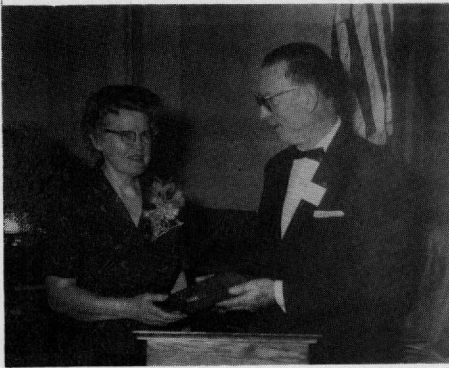

Plaque Awarded to Executive Secretary

The other person to receive a plaque was one for whom no meaningful title has been coined to denote the functions she performs in her own inimitable way. She is executive secretary of the M.C.A.A. and editor of THE MADISON SURVEY & ALUMNI NEWS. Mr. Bowen asked who did the menial tasks that others did not have time to do, and kept the alumni office running from year to year. "I want to take a moment to tell you about that person. She is an outstanding woman of editorial and creative ability. She has written many articles and is author of the book Words to Writers. Her first job after finishing college was in the proofroom of the SPA here in Nashville. Then she was called to the General Conference where she worked 24 years—fourteen years as office editor of the Ministry Magazine, three years in the ASI department, and five years as a copy editor on the revised index to E. G. White writings. She thought she would slow down a bit and come to Madison to be our executive secretary in the alumni office. Now she has a job that she cannot turn loose.

The fact that she is a graduate of Union College is almost forgotten, for in all the years we have been here, Madison has never had a more loyal alumnus. She works for us morning, noon, and night . . . Few of us realize the 'blood, sweat, and tears' she has put into Madison to keep the Alumni Association functioning and the SURVEY going out, and of her almost super-human efforts to keep the college operating. This recognition is long over-due, and it gives me personal satisfaction to present this plaque on behalf of our alumni to the only person she could be — Mable H. Towery."

Memorial Service for Seventeen

Not forgotten were those who have ceased from their labors since the last Homecoming. As their names were read, 17 white carnations were placed on the red and white memorial cross. Special mention was made of the passing of Bessie De Graw Sutherland on June 7, 1965, at the age of 94. The spotlighted cross cast a lengthened shadow on the backdrop as the congregation stood for a moment of silence concluded by the plaintive sounds of taps from the outside.

"Sabbath Schools of Yesteryears"

At Sabbath School Mrs. Susan Ard invited the congregation to go back in imagination to May, 1916, to the Sabbath School of yesteryears.

Sabbath School is being conducted in the chapel, which later became the Nutrition Lab. Dr. E. A. Sutherland is on the platform and stands to speak. Let us listen. In his characteristic right-to-the-point manner, he says: "Friends I do not believe we are getting from the Sabbath School lesson all the Lord planned we should. We are told by the Spirit of Prophecy that this lesson should be better prepared than the everyday class work. To help us do this we are today inaugurating a new program. Each Sabbath a 'nickel' paper will be part of each class procedure. These nickel papers will be graded by the Sabbath School teachers and returned the following Sabbath. At the end of the quarter a comprehensive examination of the quarter's lessons will be made. These papers will be carefully graded, returned to the writers and the grades recorded in the office, along with the grades from the everyday lessons." So saying, Dr. Sutherland sat down.

"Needless to say," Mrs. Ard said, "Sabbath School lesson study improved greatly and interest in the Sabbath School reached a new high." Can we today catch up with these classes of yesteryear, and go on from there to gather in the first Sabbath School around the great white throne?"

Carolyn Bautista, as coordinator of a group of paramedical students at Madison Hospital, presented the missions feature.

As Elder Herbert Hewitt taught the lesson, he said he, too, was greatly tempted to reminisce on "Dr. E. A." but with effort he brought himself back to the present and the lesson of the day on "Patience and Forbearance."

Dr. Beaven Speaker at Church

Dr. Winton H. Beaven, president of CUC, preached at the eleven o'clock service. He said he first came to Madison as a history teacher, but inherited four Bible classes because of the illness of the regular teacher. The morning hour was spent in the Gospels, considering the mission of the Saviour, and seeking an answer to the question "Who say ye that I am? Who is Christ to you?"

"Alumni in Action"

The Alumni in Action program on Sabbath afternoon brought news and experiences from members in attendance. Introducing the program was John Williams '59, chairman, who said that in the gospel commission Madison graduates have a command and a promise: "Go ye . . . and teach, . . . and lo, I am with you always."

Two solos were rendered—one by John Bryant '64, soon to be commissioned as Lt. Jg. in the Navy, and Charles Lane, former student, who sang "These Are Heaven's Lights."

First speaker was Miss Vera Bergman, sister of Ina Bergman '59. Now an anesthesia student at Madison, Vera was a missionary to Bechuanaland in South Africa for four years. There she was director of nurses at Kanye Hospital, with 22 students in the school of nursing. This hospital started out with 68 beds, no classrooms or equipment for teaching, except a skeleton and a few books. Now they have 230 beds, but only two doctors.

Gladys Duran '56, is director of nursing service at Kettering Memorial Hospital near Dayton, Ohio, and Godfrey Duran '55, is head of the Emergency Room. Mrs. Duran said it was exciting to be alive and in the field of nursing today. She said Kettering exists today as a fifteen million monument to Adventist nursing (referring to the excellent Christian care given to the Ketterings at Hinsdale).

James and Freda Zeigler ('35, '48) came back to their alma mater from Collegedale, where Professor Zeigler is teaching in the science department. He spoke in the afternoon program, and said he has very large classes — 70 to 100 students in each.

Don Jennings '54, co-chairman of the meeting, is in charge of Parkview at Madison Hospital, and formerly worked at a State hospital in California.

Several from the Class of '41 participated in the afternoon program — Kathryn Case Donesky, Fern Pitcher Lane, Dr. and Mrs. Glen Bowes who came the greatest distance — all the way from Claremont, Calif., by plane. Dr. Bowes recalled that when he first came to Madison, he walked out from Nashville in 1939, and had seven cents in his pocket.

Madison Academy Student Participation

Following the "Alumni in Action" program Sabbath afternoon of Homecoming was the Madison Academy student participation program. Several numbers by the academy band under the direction of Robert Anderson and choral numbers by the choir under the direction of Miss Luane Logan were beautifully rendered. Bobby Peeke showed his ability as an orator by giving the oration which won for him a first prize in the recent temperance oratorical contest. Tommy Ipses, president of the student association, acted as chairman.

An Hour of Pictures

Between the dedication of the hospital chapel and the alumni business meeting, a Faith for Today color film, South American Travelogue, was shown, featuring Bob Ley '57 and family with Elder W. A. Fagal on Luzeiro VI in Brazil.

Following the Faith for Today film, E. E. Duncan, who is studying at Wildwood, showed colored slides of his native land, Rhodesia, South Africa. He and his family will be going back to Rhodesia where they are planning to start a self-supporting enterprise. Mr. and Mrs. George McClure accompanied the Duncans to Madison and attended Homecoming.

Saturday Night Supper and Social

The social hour and buffet supper were a fitting climax to this memorable Homecoming. The honor class of 1941 sat together at one table, and the alumni officers and guest speakers were seated at the head table. Special tables were also provided for the academy and paramedical graduates. Several musical numbers and a reading were given. Dr. W. H. Beaven and William H. Taylor delighted the group with their anecdotes and recollections.

"All that is necessary for the forces of evil to win in the world is for enough good men to do nothing."

—Edmund Burke

Academy Boys Quartet: Dwight Evans, Tommy Ipses, Chester Caswell, Danny Ipses at Homecoming.

In reminiscing on Dr. E. A. Sutherland, Dr. Beaven said that when God made him, He broke the mold. One was just enough! "On the first visit we had, Dr. E. A. about scared me to death. His eyes said that he had already decided what you could do.

"I'd like to leave a lesson with you," he would say, and he gave me a lesson a week for the next two years. He didn't call you to his office — he just cornered you somewhere, and in a few minutes he gave you an idea that stayed with you the rest of your life. He was a genius. His genius was the genius of diagnosis, so the medical people said. In a way all the people who founded this place were geniuses. They didn't ask anybody's help but God's, and they went ahead and produced a masterpiece. They knew what they were doing, where they were going, that God wanted them to do it, and they let nothing get in the way."

Mr. Taylor and Dr. Beaven challenged the new graduates and alumni to keep alive the spirit of the pioneers, and to give the same effort and devotion toward the finishing of the work that they gave at its beginning.

Sutherland Memorial Chapel Dedicated

Dedication of the new Dr. E. A. Sutherland Memorial Chapel in Madison Hospital took place May 14, 1966, as part of the Homecoming program. Furnishings for this beautiful chapel were provided by the Madison College Alumni Association. Among those participating in the services were Elder R. W. Laue, chaplain, Madison Hospital; Robert W. Morris, administrator, who thanked the alumni for their contribution, and Elder H. H. Schmidt, president of the Southern Union Conference and of the Madison Hospital board, who delivered the dedicatory sermon. Three alumni association officers also took part — E. E. Schlenker, president; Edythe Cothren, past president; and Bernard Bowen, chairman of solicitations.

A number of relatives of Dr. E. A. Sutherland were present as honor guests: his son, Dr. Joe Sutherland; grandson, Dr. Shaen Sutherland, and family from Lawrenceburg; granddaughter, Donna; and great grandchildren, Angie, Yolando, Heather, Corby, Christopher, and E. A. Sutherland II.

Appropriate plaques have been installed on the walls outside the chapel. One gives the name of the chapel, "DR. E. A. SUTHERLAND MEMORIAL CHAPEL," and the other reads: "The furnishings for this chapel have been placed by the MADISON COLLEGE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION in loving memory of DR. E. A. SUTHERLAND, whose inspiring leadership contributed greatly to the founding of the Lord's work in Madison."

Business Meeting And Election of Officers

Soon after sundown Saturday night, May 14, the annual business meeting was called to order by Alumni President, E. E. Schlenker. About fifty were present. Vera Jensen, assistant secretary, gave a summary of what had happened during the past year, and James Blair, treasurer, gave a summary of the year's finances.

Informal approval was given to keeping on with the SURVEY.

Historical Markers Founding of Madison College

It was felt that three historical markers should be erected: (1) on Gallatin Road near institution; (2) near new hospital when completed; (3) marker leading to and showing spot where Sister White and her party landed from the "Morning Star."

Nursing Chapter Merger

The nursing chapter did not elect officers this time as they had voted a few months ago to fully merge with the college alumni organization. At a later meeting, with their president, Newell Brown as chairman, they voted to allocate all the money in their treasury to scholarships for nursing students.

A social committee was named, so that more social functions could be planned at Madison, with the following persons as members: Newell Brown, Don Sullivan, Steve Weesner, Audrey Myers, and Ruben Perales.

William Taylor from SMC briefly discussed alumni relationships at the business meeting, and also at the buffet supper later.

Alumni Relationships with SMC

William H. Taylor, director of College Relations, SMC, spoke Saturday night at the supper and social hour.

"It is our intention to cement relationships between this campus and the campus at SMC. It is not our intention to infringe on your alumni organization in any way, but to cooperate in every way. Our desire is not to hinder your organization, but to help it. We want to assist and cooperate with the MCAA as much as possible. We are looking forward to the day when there may be a Madison Division of the SMC Alumni Association. We want the Associate Degree program in Nursing on this campus to be the best possible program, and the leadership of Mrs. Watson and Mrs. Gillit will make it so.

"Fifty students came in to take the A.D. program last fall at Collegedale. We thought only thirty would come. The A.D. program has exceeded our expectations, and you will have 45 on this campus in September.

"We are looking forward to the Madison Alumni Association following up on the A.D. graduates the way our Orlando Chapter follows up on our 3-year and 4-year graduates. Who knows, a junior college may develop here over the years, and we want to keep the spirit of the pioneers, such as Dr. Sutherland, alive here at the Madison Division."

In an earlier interview with Mr. Taylor, he said that some attention must be given to the relationship of the MCAA Alumni Associations. "SMC has extension divisions at Madison and Orlando, and Orlando has formed its chapter of the alumni association; possibly the Madison Division could do likewise.

Three scholarship winners: Tommy Ipes (scholarship from SMC), Paula Carey and Jim Woodson (from the Nursing Chapter of Madison Alumni).

Madison Academy Graduates Large Class

This year's class is the first to graduate from Madison Academy as an accredited or state-approved school, and it is one of the largest. Thirty-six seniors received diplomas at the commencement exercises held Sunday morning, May 29, in Helen Funk Assembly Hall.

Speakers for graduation weekend were: Dr. L. J. Larson, dean, Oakwood College; Elder E. L. Marley, president, Kentucky-Tennessee Conference; and Elder Thomas P. Ipes, pastor of the First Church in Nashville.

"These chapters could keep closer track of their grads than SMC does. Many of these graduates are close to Orlando and Madison, and could meet often. Study should be given at an early date about such liaison and cooperation."

Mrs. Gillit On A.D. Program

Mrs. Patricia Gillit also spoke briefly at the Saturday night supper hour, and said she was proud of the new Associate Degree program in Nursing. She said one nice feature about it is that there is no age limit. She has been teaching at Vanderbilt, but now will devote full time to Madison. She is in charge of the correlation of instruction on the Madison Campus. It is believed that this will be one of the outstanding nursing programs in Tennessee.

Regrets and an Apology

We regret that we did not get a verbatim report of Dr. Beaven's highly entertaining speech, as he reminisced on Dr. Sutherland. Many who heard it wanted to get every word. Perhaps we may be able to bring it to you in the future.—Editor

We regret, too, that we are not able to include everything we would like in this issue. A number of items had to be omitted for lack of space and preparation, such as the secretary's and the treasurer's reports at the business meeting. We hope we can include some of these later.

While expressing regrets, we feel we owe an apology to many who attended the Saturday night meeting in Williams Hall cafeteria, and could not hear the program because no one could get the P. A. system to working.

These Attended Homecoming

Kathryn (Case) Donesky and family attended Homecoming. They recently started a child care center in their home on Monte Vista Road in Candler, N.C. Their three children, Robert, Gracelyn, and Donna, are old enough to help now.

The Doneskys have named their child care center, "The Little Red Play School." It is designed for children from three to six years of age, with a capacity enrollment of fifteen. Day-nursery care is also available for mothers while shopping or attending to business matters. The school is state licensed and approved.

After graduation from the nursing course at Madison in 1941, Kathryn worked for a doctor in Winter Park, Fla., for a time. She came back to Madison in 1946, and married Peter Donesky in 1947, who was formerly a colporteur, but now a sales manager of their own company.

Emmett Pierce said he had probably graduated from Madison more than anyone present (lab., college, nursing, anesthesia). He lives at Portland, Tenn., and is doing free-lance anesthesia, working with a group of four SDA anesthetists for six hospitals in the area. Emmett says he and his family enjoy the SURVEY. At times someone will be reading over the shoulder of the one who gets it first. His wife, Margaret Harper, is of the class of '42, and will be in next year's honor class.

Sam Yoshimura is director of development and doing research in development for Madison Foods, a division of Worthington Foods, now called Nutrition International. Mrs. Yoshimura '59, is administrative dietitian at Madison Hospital.

Fern (Pitcher) Lane and family have lived in Cleveland since 1953. Fern is active in church and church school work. "After graduation I taught church school two years, worked for SPA three years in the bindery, periodical department, proofroom, and as copy editor. Presently, I am kindergarten Sabbath School leader, leader of a story hour in a branch Sabbath School, treasurer of the church school, secretary of the school board, and help in Pathfinder work.

"My husband, Charles, is a brother of Lily Lane McCorkle. He attended La

Sierra College, and graduated from Middle Tennessee State in 1952. He taught mechanical drawing one year at Bradley County High School, and has worked as draftsman for Combustion Engineering, Inc., in Chattanooga for thirteen years. He is active in leading music and choir, and in solo work for the church.

"Daughter Linda graduates from Highland Academy in May and has been accepted at SMC for a four-year nursing course. Son Milton is in the seventh grade at a local church school. . . . The present design and news output of the SURVEY is tops!"

Vera (Noss) Hewitt is working as a secretary in Chattanooga. Her husband, Elder Herbert Hewitt, is principal of Collegedale Academy. (He is a brother of Dr. Louis Hewitt and Dr. Lawrence Hewitt, both graduates of Madison College.) The Hewitts have two children, Carol Joyce and Fred.

Cyrus Kendall, M.D., has been the pathologist at Madison Hospital since 1936. He and his wife, the former Esther Jensen (MCA '31), live in Hendersonville. Their three sons are following in the footsteps of their father and are doctors or doctors in the making.

Dr. and Mrs. Glenn Bowes (Dorothy Wayne) are both of the class of '41. Mrs. Bowes is a daughter of Jasper Wayne, who started Ingathering and for whom the Jasper Wayne Award is named. She wrote a short time ago: "Glenn keeps very busy at his office in Pomona, where he has practiced for the past fifteen years. His mother lives in Loma Linda, and we see her once or twice a week. She was at Madison in 1937-8. My mother, Mrs. Wayne, was at Madison the same time I was, and I'm sure many of our contemporaries remember her well. She passed away in July, 1962, with heart failure. She was 80 years old, but maintained her lively personality always.

"Our younger son is a junior at San Pasqual Academy. Our older son, Ronald, was married last August and lives at La Sierra, where he is a speech major. He has worked at the college F.M. station in various capacities for the past two years."

Audrey Hill Myers finished college at Madison in 1941, and received her R.N. in 1961. She lives near the campus and is a supervisor on "O.B." Daughter Linda is now Mrs. C. W. Smart and lives at

New Officers, M.C.A.A., 1966-7. Left: H. Towery, executive secretary; Vera Jensen, treasurer; J. Bowen and Edythe Cothren, board assistant secretary.

Portland, Tenn. Son Larry is attending U.T. in Knoxville, studying law.

Jerusha Johnson had planned to come, but telephoned from Pine Forest Academy in Mississippi, giving her regrets at being unable to be present. Her husband, Adolph, is principal of P.F.A.

Letters from Honor Class of '41

Bruce A. Sanderson, M.D. (BS '41) writes from Bonita, Calif.:

"Dear Alumni: Twenty-five years ago! What a long time that sounds, but it seems only a couple of years since I was there and first met Dr. Sutherland, Miss De Graw, and the other dear founders of Madison. I have had many wonderful teachers in my life-time, but I learned more lessons for everyday, Christian living from Dr. E. A. Sutherland than from any other teacher I have had.

"While at Madison I met my wife, Dorothy McIntyre, nursing class of 1942. We were married in October of that same year, while I was a sophomore at Loma Linda. I graduated from medicine in 1945 and interned 1945-6 at Washington S-H in Takoma Park. I then took a residency in Ear, Nose, and Throat at the White Memorial. I have been in pri-

"Dorothy and I have three children. Richard, born in 1943, is a senior taking pre-law at La Sierra College. James, born in 1945, is a freshman at La Sierra, taking a course in speech therapy and preparing to be an Audiologist. Pamela was born in 1948, and is a senior in the academy. She plans on being a nurse.

"The Lord has blessed us all and we are looking forward to the time when we shall meet all our old friends and classmates around the great white throne. What a reunion that will be."

Charlotte (Hunt) Alger (N '41) is supervisor of Laurel Hill Nursing Home, a four-bed, SDA operated home in Grants Pass, Ore. Her husband is in Civil Service work. The oldest son, Gary Lee, is married and serving in the army in Vietnam. Daughter Sylvia Ann is working in a hospital to earn money for PUC next fall. Sons Chester and Joseph are in church school. Charlotte said she would very much enjoy coming, but could not.

dren. Besides the picture we received a check for $100 as lifetime memberships for Dr. and Mrs. Reeve. The Reeves live in Lincoln, Nebraska.

Geneva Bowman is teaching Pediatric Nursing at SMC on the Orlando campus. She wrote that she would like to attend Homecoming but thought it would be impossible. "I hope there will be good attendance at the Homecoming. May God bless each one."

Doris (Smith) Bain is working two days a week in the Rehabilitation Center at Glendale S-H. She has a nine-year-old son, Isaac James, in the third grade at Glendale Union Academy.

Hiriam W. Sauer is working in the business office and as admitting clerk at Hanford Community Hospital in California—a new conference-owned hospital of 51 beds. He writes: "Mrs. Sauer is a night supervisor at the same hospital. We are buying a place here, in the country, which we like very much.

"We will not be able to attend Madison's Homecoming, as much as we wish we could. . . . Please give our greetings to all the class members of '41 who are able to be there. We are still mighty glad we had the chance to attend Madison. It enabled us both to finish college. How grateful we are. . . . We will stop at Madison if we ever have the chance, be sure."

Lester Fay Littell, Jr., finished the nurses' course at Madison in 1941, and became an M.D. His wife (Vivian Eithun) was a nursing student at Madison in 1940-2. She wrote from the Littell home, Hiwassee Point Ranch, near Dayton, Tenn.: "Dr. Littell is chief of staff for Rhea County Hospital, also physician for Laurelbrook Sanitarium. He would not be a physician today if it had not been for Madison College. I have spent the past 14 years as a Pathfinder director. I love my work with young people. I was inspired under the leadership of A. W. Spalding while a student at Madison."

The Littells have five children: Margie has just finished at SMC and wants to teach in one of our academies. Lester Fay Littell III, 17, was a student at Georgia-Cumberland Academy last year, and plans to take medicine. David was born in 1952 at Madison, and has just finished eighth grade. Dana and Benjamin Bryan ("Bennie Boy") complete the family.

Lorraine (Graham) Johnson, Muldrow, Okla.: "I would like to be at Madison for the 1966 Homecoming, but cannot, since we have to go to Union College the last of May for our son's graduation. I have been dietitian at the 316-bed Sparks Hospital for five years, in charge of therapeutic diets, and teaching nutrition to student nurses. My husband, Arnold, is with the livestock division of Consumer Marketing Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture. Our hobbies are gardening, raising horses, and fishing. We attend a small SDA church in Sallisaw, Okla. We are interested in getting a minister or Bible worker who is ready for retirement to move to this area and help build up our new church. We appreciate receiving the SURVEY."

Marie McCall, director of Nursing Service and Education, Yuka Hospital, Zambia: "I do appreciate, as I am certain all of the Alumni members do, the time and effort the officers of the Association give to keep us informed and in touch with each other and with Madison."

Letters

The following letter was received from Elder and Mrs. Stewart right after Homecoming. Elder Stewart has been serving for a number of years as assistant pastor at the Madison College church.

"The 1966 Alumni Homecoming is now history, and we think it was one of the best ever held. The attendance was good, the program was good, and the spirit of the members was good.

"We think the officers are to be congratulated on the earnest and sincere efforts you all made to make this one of the best Homecomings of the Association.

"We are of the opinion that there is no other association, society, or club that is more dignified and worthy and productive of good than is the Madison College Alumni. The good projects fostered by it are to be seen everywhere.

"It is our hope and prayer that our Alumni Association will continue to grow in membership and in the good works it undertakes, and, along with others, we wish to assure you of our interest, prayers, and cooperation at all times."

Elder and Mrs. R. E. STEWART

JOSEPHINE (Fralick) KOHLER writes that she is teaching a church school of twenty-seven children in a one-room school at Fredericktown, Mo. She is a niece of the late Dr. E. A. Sutherland and the late Dr. G. A. Droll, for whom she kept house here on the campus from 1946 until his death. While at Madison she was, at various times, in charge of the college cafeteria, and a teacher in church school, academy, and college. She was also a special student, taking classes in Bible and education.

In 1951 she was married to Frank A. Kohler, who finished his Attendant Nursing Course at Madison at that time. In the spring of 1953 the Kohlers went to Pewee Valley, to assist with the work there. From 1957 to 1961 she taught church school in Kansas. Wherever Mrs. Kohler was called to teach, her husband worked as an orderly at the local hospital. In the spring of 1961, both connected with Shawnee Mission Hospital in the Kansas City area, where they worked for fourteen months. As the need for teachers was increasing, Mrs. Kohler accepted a call to the Oak Grove Heights school, near Springfield, Mo. After remaining there for over three years, the Kohlers left to fill a vacancy at their present location.

ALBERT KEPHART, former student and worker at Madison, wrote some time ago that he was a supervisor in in-service training, and in the acute area at Modesto State Hospital in California, with eighty workers to make out a schedule for. More recently his wife, Rachel, wrote that he is working in a different area now, and some of his patients are going through a rehabilitating process. Speaking of early experiences at Madison, Mr. Kephart wrote: "Fifteen years of hard work on Madison's clothing at $30 or less a month—fifteen years of happiness, believing I was doing God's will. I still believe I am the better for the seventeen years at Madison."

HARLAN and VERDE BROWN ('52 & '44) write that they are living in the Pinto Bean area of the world (Egnar, Colo.). Harlan is working on a 3,000 acre farm.

MARY (McComas) LESTER '54 sent a copy of her Christmas letter and wrote as follows:

"I have been in Shreveport, La., ever since Al and I were married (in 1954) except for 18 months that we lived in Washington, D. C., while he was in the service. I work for Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, as a secretary in the paint department. I've been there over seven years. My husband is a printer, and works for Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation, a natural gas pipe line company. "Of my two sisters, BESSIE (Burnett) DAVIS is in Arkansas (nursing class of '56), working in the Madison County Hospital, Huntsville, Ark. My other sister, ELLA, married HARRY H. WICKHAM '51.

"They have been teaching at Graysville Junior Academy for two years, and are now teaching in Covington, Ky."

To Our Readers

We remind our readers again that the SURVEY is only a quarterly. It is not published every month. We say this because so many think they are not getting the SURVEY. We do have to drop names if no interest is shown or no money is sent to help on expenses.

New Road Named

The new road through the campus from Neely's Bend to the new parking lot across from the hospital has been named "Hospital Drive." The road branching off from it and coming in between the Layman Foundation office and the present post office, has been named "Academy Road." Street signs have been erected on both of these roads. They both intersect Sanitarium Drive.

Harriett Shutt (N' 25) is helping out at Bethel Sanitarium, Evansville, Indiana, for a while. She was one of three who came all the way from California to attend Homecoming.

1933

Dr. and Mrs. Grover L. Moore write that they appreciate the SURVEY. Their daughter Luanne is now Mrs. Lawrence N. Cross. Dr. Cross is a graduate from LLU School of Dentistry, practicing in Portsmouth, Va., and has three daughters. Their other daughter, Virginia Lee, married James Douglas Hovis, and is a widow. She has two daughters.

1938

Helen (Leslie) Mathis (N' 38) who has been on the staff at Lawrenceburg S-H for two years, is spending the summer at her old home in Bradenton, Fla., and is working part time at Veterans Memorial Hospital. Her sister, Elaine Tucker (C '35), also lives there.

1940

Gladys (Callender) Skinner (N .40) and husband, Elder R. C. Skinner, were at AU last year. She wrote: "My husband, Bob, has the Kent and Renton churches in Washington State. We returned from twelve years mission duty in Iran in 1964. Bob was president of the mission." She enclosed a newspaper clipping which gave the story of her nutrition class, accompanied by a picture of herself and assistant giving a demonstration.

Mildred (Standridge) Barker writes from Texas: "Since my husband's death in 1963, I have been with the Visiting Nurse's Association of Texarkana. The work that I'm doing affords an opportunity to do some missionary work at the same time. It's very rewarding. My two children are adopted, and the joy of my life. I would appreciate hearing from my classmates."

Don and Edith (Brackett) Maples were located at Collegedale for the school term 1965-6. He was working on his Bachelor's degree, and she was teaching fourth grade in public school. Their two younger girls, Joyce and Donna, were at Fletcher Academy. The oldest girl, Gwen, has her B.S. in Nursing Education at SMC, and is working on her Masters in Nursing Psychiatry at the University of Maryland.

1943

The name of John R. Spencer, M.D., appears in Life & Health as one who answers questions under the department "Family Physician."

1947

Ruth Maehre (N '47) is a teacher in Hurley Hospital School of Nursing in Flint, Mich. She finished her BS degree work at E.M.C. (AU) in 1954. She writes: "I see Mary Siewert Percandt quite often. She works in the hospital where I have the students in their clinical experience."

Wallace ("Buddy") Blair (PACE '50) is secretary-treasurer of the Collegedale Chapter of the SMC Alumni Association.

Mae Robinson came to Madison in 1949 and finished the LPN course in 1950. She worked at the sanitarium for a while and took some additional school work. She is now in Louisville, Ky.

Class of '56

ALICE HAVILAND (M.R. '56) worked at Washington S-H for a time after finishing Medical Records at Madison. Then she decided to go to Fletcher to take the nurses' course, and received her R.N. last year. She is now on the nursing staff of New England S-H.

1957

Winona (West) Fiebelkorn (T. Tr. '57) lives in Burlington, Mich. She taught church school in Michigan, for eight years, and is now teaching in the local public school. Her husband has been treasurer of their church for many years. They have two children, Linda (Mrs. Blanchard), and David, ready to enter A.U.

1958

John C. Ackerman (X-ray & Lab, '56, '58) is chief technologist of Madison Hospital lab. After graduating from here in 1958 he went to Hazard, Ky., where he worked in Miners Memorial Hospital. He came back to Madison in 1960, and has been working in the lab at Madison Hospital. His wife started pre-nursing at SMC, and received her LPN at Madison in 1958.

Captain Jack Gibbons ('58) of the U.S. Medical Service, was one of the speakers at the annual retreat for SDA servicemen in Europe held at Berchtesgaden, Germany, Feb. 7-11, 1966.

Peggy (Dillard) Jones (BS & N '58) was featured in the Sunday Nashville Tennessean, Dec. 5, 1965. She is owner of a day nursery, Kiddie Kampus Day Nursery and Kindergarten, in Madison, and co-owner with her mother of two nursing homes in Nashville—Centennial and Mid-State. She formerly worked as a nurse in the construction office at the DuPont Company. She studied pre-nursing at SMC and received her BS degree from Madison College. (She has two children, Barry, 4; and Laveta, 9.)

Petra Sukau (BS & N '58) is located at Wildwood Sanitarium, Wildwood, Georgia, where she is engaged, among other activities, in teaching public school children health and hygiene. "I cannot tell who looks forward the most for these classes—the children or the 'Healthy Teacher,' which has become my name," Petra says. She also teaches the young people from a neighboring Methodist church how to sing, and is a member of a home demonstration club.

Georgetta (Zerbee) Garrison (M.R. '59) is in charge of Medical Records at Oneida Mt. Hospital. Her husband, Arthur L., is accounts manager at the hospital. The Garrisons worked at Florida S-H for five years before going to Oneida. They have two children.

Mary (Peek) Kurzynske (N & BS '59) and family have moved from Goodlettsville to Spartanburg, S.C., where her husband, Robert, is assistant city planner.

PAT GOROVENKO (N '59) is on the nursing staff at the Hays Memorial Hospital in San Marcos, Texas.

In connection with an article, "Loma Linda's Medical Missionary on the Front Line," Delphia Ladner (N & BS '60) appeared in a picture in the Review and Herald of March 13. The caption read: "Medical missionary work is encouraged at LLU by such activities as the annual clinical field trips to Chiapas, in Southern Mexico. Shown at work in the outdoor medical clinic set up in a remote Indian village during one such trip is Delphia Ladner, a graduate student in the Division of Public Health."

1962

Duane B. Archer writes from Prosser, Wash.: "I am currently the anesthetist for the Prosser Memorial Hospital in Prosser, Wash. God has been good to us in preserving the life of my wife, Alice, after a tragic auto accident Dec. 21, 1964. Alice is doing very well at this time even though there are several plastic surgeries ahead of her to restore her facial features."

Rebecca Ravanell (N'62) is now Mrs. Frank Jackson. She is on the nursing staff at Freemans Hospital in Washington, D.C. Her husband is a lab technician.

Kenny Nakamura (X-R '63) is now working in the X-ray department of Hamilton General Hospital in Ontario, Canada. Kenny and Keiko have two small children, Nancy and Daniel.

1964

Grace Custard (N '64) is working in the Emergency Room at Michael Reese Hospital, Chicago.

Corrections

An unusual number of things went wrong in the January-March SURVEY. That number was produced with great difficulty, due to the closing of the school printshop. In fact, we might almost say our readers were fortunate to receive a copy at all.

The worst mistake was on page 3, where many lines of type were placed in the wrong order. We have some corrected copies of this page in case anyone wishes to write for it.

On page 2, Frederic Cothren was listed as taking the medical course, and his brother Jackson as taking the dental course, but the opposite is true. Fred is taking the dental course, and Jackie is taking the medical course.

Bowens Take Trip Around World

Bernard V. Bowen, director of the School of Anesthesia at Madison Hospital, and his wife, Dollie, recently returned from a three-month trip around the world, visiting SDA medical and educational institutions, with the primary purpose to study the anesthesia service available and to assist in any way possible. They took 2000 pictures on the trip.

An interesting account of part of Mr. Bowen's trip appeared in the "Nurse Anesthetists" department of Southern Hospitals, April, 1966, under the title, "Anesthesia Practice in Orient Often Done Under Difficulties." In introducing this article, he said: "The SDA Church, of which I am a member, operates many hospitals around the world. During the last 15 years it has been my privilege to visit all the major ones in these 50 United States, the islands of the Caribbean Sea, several in Central and South America and Canada. And now the Orient!"

On the trip they had the happy privilege of visiting with many Madisonites. Their first stop was at Tokyo S-H, where they met Rachael Yatani and the Bob Burchard family. Rachael is a member of the nursing school faculty and also teaches at one of the universities in Tokyo. Bob Burchard is the administrator of the hospital. Mr. Bowen says Bob was a moving spirit behind the idea to get the Japanese choir here for the tour they have been making of the United States and to sing at the General Conference Session in Detroit.

At Japan Missionary College, the Bowens spent an afternoon with Elder and Mrs. Norman Gulley. Elder Gulley, previous to his call to Japan, was Bible teacher at Madison College. They live in a house built by Dr. P. A. Webber when he was on the faculty at our college in Tokyo, now the largest city in the world.

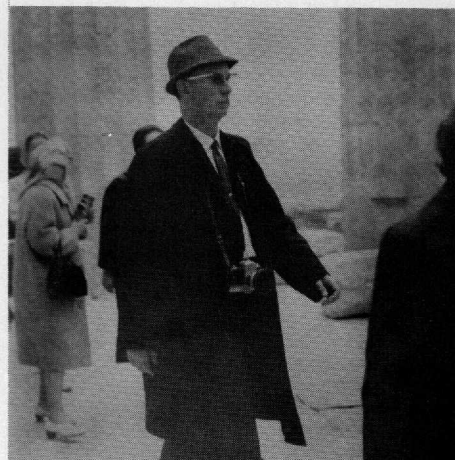

In Bocolod City, Philippines, the Bowens spent a day and night with Dr. and Mrs. Willis Dick. Dr. Dick is medical director of Bocolod S-H, which will open this summer. While there, they visited Dr. Ralph Waddell and Dr. Harry Miller ("China Doctor").

In Siagon, Viet Nam, they saw "Buddy" Harris and family. He is business manager of Siagon Adventist Hospital. His wife is the daughter of Paul Dysinger at Pewee Valley. At church Dr. Delvin Littell, then a major in the army, was the speaker.

Elwood Sherrard is administrator of Manila S-H. He graduated from Madison Academy in 1937 and took the nurses' course at Takoma S-H. It is only a short hop from the hospital out to Philippine Union College, where Ogden Aaby is the business manager. He was delighted to see someone from Madison.

A week was spent on the island of Borneo, visiting Dr. and Mrs. Lorrie Crisologo. Dorothy studied anesthesia at Madison and has been doing a valiant work for the Lord at Christ Hospital, a Methodist mission.

At Middle East College, Bierut, Lebanon, the Bowens stayed in the home of Professor and Mrs. Leslie Morris.

World traveler Bernard Bowen visiting the Parthenon in Athens, Greece, 1966. Mrs. Bowen barely showing in background.

Their family, too, is growing up, and "Midge" will be coming back to the States for school in the fall. They saw Elder and Mrs. Derwood Chappell at the division office and had a meal in their home.

They saw Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Peacock and little Danny twice, once at their treatment rooms in Iran, and again in Jerusalem.

One of the last hospitals visited was at Bengehazi, where Dr. Clifford Ludington is the medical director. Rae Ann Brown, C.R.N.A., is the anesthetist there, and Aaron Dennis is principal of the church school. Here Mr. Bowen spoke on Sabbath to an audience composed of about a dozen different nationalities, all of them understanding English. Most of them are connected with the hospital in some way. This little congregation gave over a thousand dollars toward the million dollar offering.

The Bowens took along over a hundred picture post cards of our new Madison Hospital. People could hardly believe what they saw in the picture, and felt that Bernard was doing an excellent job of public relations for the hospital. He invited those who haven't been home lately to come "Home" next year and see the new hospital and other improvements on the campus. The dedication of our workers all around the world and the effort they were making to support the gospel is impressive. Can we afford to do less here at home?

Among the "Units"

Gleaned from "Laymen's News" Layman Foundation, May, 1966

● The Little Creek institution has long felt the need for more land. The city limits of Knoxville extended to within a few miles of Little Creek, and it was not thought that farm land would be available. The purchase of an additional 150 acres of land adjoining their property marks a most important step in the development of Little Creek, coming at a time when many are turning from agriculture as a way of life.

● A new professional building recently erected on the grounds of Lawrenceburg S-H in Tennessee, was formally opened April 17, 1966. The new administrator at Lawrenceburg is Douglas Parker of Michigan.

● For years it has been the hope of the Fletcher faculty to build a new boys' dormitory. Permission has been given by the Fletcher board for starting construction. The new building will house fifty boys, and will provide a dean's apartment. Formal ground-breaking was held recently.

Special Day at Harbert Hills

April 29 was a big day at Harbert Hills, Olive Hill, Tenn. A number of board members, business men, officials, friends, and two U.S. Congressmen were invited by W. E. Patterson, founder, to come and see what had been accomplished at the institution, and to hear plans for expansion, particularly the new nursing home.

L. L. Dickman is president of the board and principal of the 12-grade academy. His wife Geraldine, a registered nurse, is supervisor of the small three-bed sanitarium. Both Mr. and Mrs. Dickman are graduates of Madison College ('55, '52).

One of the improvements noted by the visitors was the hard surfacing of a road running through the heart of the campus. This was a gift from a construction company of Adamsville, Tenn., and a greatly needed improvement.

Operating expenses of the 12-grade, 40-student school are met through the work-training program, and all donated money goes for buildings and equipment.

U. S. Congressman Bill Brock of Chattanooga was the principal speaker on the program. He said, "A young person today should learn responsibility to himself, his family, his neighbors, and his God." That pretty well summarizes the objectives of Harbert Hills and the other "units" in their teaching program.

X-ray Department News

William V. Campbell, R. T., '53, chief X-ray technician, attended the 38th Annual Convention of the American Society of Radiologic Technologists at the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Boston, May 30 - June 2, 1966. Fourteen SDA technicians were present. On one day they all went out to New England S-H for a tour of the hospital and for lunch. David A. Stone, R.T., was host.

● A farewell dinner was given by the X-ray Department May 18, 1966 in honor of two X-ray students who had just finished their course at Madison Hospital—Marjorie Velazquez and Jerry Payne. Marjorie will work part time at Madison Hospital, and Jerry has accepted a position in X-ray at Hialeah Hospital in Florida.

RETURN REQUESTED

The matter of memorials for the deceased was discussed at the business meeting at Homecoming. As announced in the March SURVEY, our executive committee voted to establish a memorial fund and use the donations for scholarships for students who are in need of financial aid.

Names of those who donate and names of those memorialized will be entered in a book in our office and also will be published in the SURVEY, but not the amount. We already have a good start, and invite others to contribute.

Due to lack of space, we will not publish the list at this time, but will begin in the next issue.

Any one person or more may memorialize a name for anyone else by sending a dollar or more (we hope it will be more), and names may be selected of relatives or friends who have died recently or years ago. The fund is not confined to the present, or necessarily to Madison graduates. All gifts to the Alumni Association are tax deductible. Send to Madison College Alumni, Madison, Tenn. What better, living way could be found to honor the dead than to extend a helping hand in the way of scholarships to needy and worthy students.

Third Generation Girl Named Student Nurse in Texas

Vicki Corich, of Irving, Texas, was named Student Nurse of the Year (1966) at the Texas Nursing Students Association Convention in Fort Worth. She is a third generation nurse. Both her mother, DeLayne (Bowen) Corich '42 and her grandmother, Elizabeth (Harp) Bowen '19 are graduate nurses of Madison College. Vicki's picture appeared in the newspaper along with the story.

Date for Next Homecoming

When would you like to have Homecoming next year? Would you like it in the summer time while school is out? Please write in and give us your suggestion, especially the Class of 1942—the honor class for 1967.

FLORENCE VAN DORN JUHL

Florence Van Dorn Juhl was born March 31, 1886, at Rodney, Iowa, and died Feb. 5, 1966, at Columbus, Ga., at the age of 80. She was educated at Union College and married George S. Juhl, former farm manager at Madison. She and her husband were workers at Madison and later in a "unit" at Reeves, Georgia.

ANDREW HARRISON FACE

Andrew Harrison Face passed away at Madison Hospital after a long illness on May 4, 1966, at the age of 78. He was a graduate from the Home Appliance course in 1960, and served six years in the field of nursing at Madison. He also taught various subjects, as Bible, agriculture, and gardening, and was very active in temperance and lay evangelism, having traveled 30,000 miles to various church in his work for the Master.

Through many trying experiences Brother Face remained faithful to the church, serving in various capacities, including colporteur work and helping the conference at camp-meeting time.

Brother Face's first wife died following birth of one of their sons. He attended a self-supporting workers convention at Madison College in 1945, joined a "unit" for a time, then came to Madison as a patient. Recovering his health, he remained at Madison as a worker and took some classes. In 1946, he married Edna Kendall, a Madison nurse. For twenty years they lived a happy life with many common interests. They both loved nature and flowers in particular, as manifested by their lovely flower gardens and by the numerous illustrated nature lectures given by Brother Face.

Until his health failed Brother Face conducted services in the hospital chapel once a week. He is survived by his wife, Edna, three sons, and a daughter.

CLAYBORNE A. CROSSNOE

Clayborne Crossnoe, an employee of Madison Hospital for ten years in the Linen Room, died at the hospital April 30, 1966, after a long illness. He is survived by his wife, also a worker at the hospital, a daughter, and a son.

ROY C. KINSEY

Roy Kinsey passed away at the age of 88 at his home on Larkin Springs Road in Madison, May 28, 1966. Mr. Kinsey taught public school for a number of years in the Dakotas. The Kinsey family moved to Madison in 1926, where Mr. Kinsey was instructor and head of Industrial Arts of the N.A.N.I. for 30 years, and Mrs. Kinsey was in charge of the laundry and campus store.

The Kinseys owned and lived in the building known as Kinsey Apartments at 777 Sanitarium Road for fifteen years. They moved to Idaho for a time, selling the building to Madison Hospital, but moved back to Madison about a year ago.

Survivors are his wife and nine children. One of the daughters is Mrs. Morris Slater, who lives just off campus and works at Madison Hospital.
