32 College Students Arrive On Madison Campus

Thirty-two SMC sophomores, who have registered for class work on the Madison Campus were presented in a recognition service September 15. The service was held in the Sutherland Memorial Chapel of Madison Hospital. Thirty of these students have enrolled in the second year of the Associate Degree nursing program. Two Medical Record Technology students are taking the second year of their course at Madison Hospital. Speaker for the recognition service was Elder E. E. Duncan, ministerial and P.R. secretary of the Kentucky-Tennessee Conference.

The Madison Campus nursing faculty for 1968-9 consists of the following: Mrs. Brenda Riley, acting coordinator of instruction and instructor in psychiatric nursing; Miss Maxine Page, instructor in medical-surgical nursing; Mrs. Joan Wilson and Mrs. Sharon Redman, teaching assistants. Mrs. Hazel Kramer is registrar, and Mrs. Frankie Gepford is office secretary and financial director.

Mrs. Linda Pumphrey, R.N., is the dean of nurses. Her husband is the Bible teacher of Madison Academy. J. Paul Landa, studying for his doctorate in Church History at Vanderbilt University, teaches the two Bible courses, Prophetic Gift and Personal Evangelism. Miss Elizabeth Cowdrick is librarian.

Seventy-four have enrolled this year at Collegedale for the first year of the Associate Degree program in nursing and 15 more are taking general education courses, anticipating enrolling in the A.D. program in September, 1969. Although some are taking the courses in three years, and others' plans will change during the year, it is expected that between fifty and sixty will be on the Madison Campus next year.

The SMC A.D. program received full accreditation from the National League for Nursing in December, 1967. It is one of two A.D. programs in SDA schools to receive accreditation; of the 75 A.D. nursing programs in the South, this school was the fifth to be accredited.

Graduates from the previous two classes have scored high in State Board examinations, their grades being well above the national average. SMC's A.D. course in nursing is a successful, growing program.

58th Southern Self-Supporting Convention at Madison

The annual Southern Self-Supporting Workers Convention will be held at Madison this year. The date had been set for Nov. 21-23, but as we go to press, word comes that this has to be changed. One of the speakers will be Elder C. H. Lauda, new president of the ASI.

Those planning to attend should write the secretary of the convention, Mrs. Florence Jaspersen, Box 1272, Madison College, Tenn., 37115. Many Madisonites were disappointed in not being able to attend Homecoming this year. Now is your second chance to come back and enjoy a good meeting and see many old friends.

Madison Academy Report

Madison Academy opened as a day school September 2, with an enrollment of 173, only a few less than as a boarding academy last year. This is the largest day academy in the Southern Union, and has the third largest enrollment of all academies in the Southern Union. New faculty members are Don Keele, Robert F. Pumphrey, and Albert Hamilton.

Mr. Keele, new principal of the day academy, was principal of the church school for the past two years. After graduating from SMC, he was boys' dean at Highland Academy, principal of Columbia Junior Academy in South Carolina, and boys' dean of Madison Academy. He and his wife Della, have three children. Alvin Morford, math and science teacher, is assistant principal and supervisor of janitor work.

Mr. Pumphrey, a graduate of SMC, heads the Bible department. Formerly he taught one year in a self-supporting academy at Winter Haven Vocational School (formerly Waccamaw Institute) in Bolton, N.C., and has been engaged in district pastor work in Dunlap, Tenn. The Pumphreys and little Melanie Dawn live in the new nurses' dorm, where Mrs. Pumphrey is dean. Mr. Hamilton is physical education teacher and library supervisor. Formerly he was dean of boys at Oak Park Academy and Camp Academy. Mary Kate Gafford is a part-time worker in the library, chiefly as a cataloger of books.

Mrs. Wilma Chaffee, formerly assistant director of food services at Georgia-Cumberland Academy, is a part-time worker at the school cafeteria and in the hospital cafeteria. A hot meal is served at noon in Williams Hall on school days for elementary and academy students. Charles Hessler, formerly academy accountant, is now treasurer, and teaches bookkeeping.

Paul Casler is head of academy maintenance. His wife Mary is director of social service at the hospital. The Caslers came from Fitchburg, Mass.

Alumni Weekend, June 21, 22

"A Time of Remembrance and Sentiment"

Theme: " 'Tis Almost Time"

It was the greatest Homecoming yet, just about perfect, except for the hot, humid weather. This was the first time the event was held during vacation time, and it really paid off. It was a wonderful weekend in point of attendance, interest, and program. Over 260 registered. They came from far and near—3 from California, two from Canada, two from Mexico. 18 states were represented.

The following came from out-of-state: Mr. and Mrs. George Cothren, Alabama; Alberta Yates Randolph, Zoetta Nichols Hauser, Anna Sorenson came across the continent from California; from the Carolinas came William Bumby, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Lowder, Mr. and Mrs. Bernhard Jensen; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Brost and James Culpepper registered from Colorado; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Cheever, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Ward, Carlos Quevedo and family from Florida; Thomas Browning, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Weeks, Dr. O. C. Meissner and family, Dr. Wm. H. Harp and family, Ward Shaw and family, from Georgia; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hendricks, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Adams, from Iowa; Terziel Simpson and daughter Elaine, from Kentucky; Dr. John Spencer, Ray and Beulah Spencer, from Maryland; Grant Toller and family, F. Lincoln Millet from Massachusetts; Alfred Peterson and family, Alice Hecox Dignam, from Boston, Mass.; Walter from Michigan; Gertrude Scheible, Frank Kohler from Missouri; Ethel Overdorf from Mississippi; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Anderson from Nebraska; Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Duran, Corrine Friend from Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Culpepper from Rhode Island; Thelma Watkins and daughter Emogene McBride from Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bondranko from Virginia.

CONSECRATION SERVICE. The consecration service Friday evening was conducted under the chairmanship of Vera Jensen '46, then vice-president of the M.C.A.A., and welcoming remarks were made by Paul Blankenship '58, alumni president.

Message from Bessie DeGraw Sutherland

The audience was thrilled to hear a recording from Bessie DeGraw Sutherland, taken in her home by Bernard Bowen several years ago at Homecoming time, May 17, 1962, when she was no longer able to attend meetings. The first part of the message was as follows:

"It has been some time since I have faced the Alumni Association of Madison College, but as always, I am very glad to look you in the face. Possibly it is my privilege to be the first and the oldest one on the campus who has this opportunity. If I were to go back in your history and mine, it would bring before you a large number of people who have lived their lives and have been laid to rest. It's a long, long time since I first saw the first students here. I have a picture of the first student who came here." She did not give the name of the first student.

UNVEILING OF PORTRAIT. Taking the place of awarding a plaque to an honor alumnus this year, an oil portrait of Bessie DeGraw Sutherland, former "Queen of the Campus," was unveiled by Duke Sutherland, son of Dr. and Mrs. Joe Sutherland, after Dr. Sutherland spoke a few words. The portrait was a gift to the M.C.A.A. from the Druillard Trust, and is now hanging in the Druillard Library alongside two other worthies in Madison's great history—Dr. E. A. Sutherland and Nellie H. Druillard.

Following the unveiling 23 names of those laid to rest since last Homecoming were read, and a white carnation was placed upon a memorial cross for each. A ladies quartet composed of the Davidson Sisters (Virginia Sellars '57, June Schmale '61, Joan Rouse, and Ann Petty) sang, "We'll Talk It Over." The congregation then stood in silent tribute of honor while taps were sounded for those who had passed on.

Elder E. E. Duncan, ministerial and public relations secretary of the Kentucky-Tennessee Conference, was the guest speaker Friday evening. He spoke of the men and women of faith who started the Madison institution on hallowed ground over sixty years ago. He drew a parallel of the world as we find it today with conditions prior to Christ's coming.

When the right time was come, God sent His son. (Gal. 4:4) How long will God's people delay in finishing the work? Gross darkness covers the earth. How much darker must it get? People everywhere are looking for a way out of the world dilemma. When will we finish the work of the pioneers of this institution? Am I, are you, going to go through with it? Reference was made to an editorial in the Review and Herald. One of the editors said what startled him most was the fact that SDA's seem not to be startled by the tremendous events taking place all around them. We must arouse ourselves and ask God to take away our sinfulness, our lethargy.

Dr. Knittel, Speaker at Church
Dr. Frank Knittel, academic dean of SMC, delivered the sermon at the two preaching services Sabbath morning. His subject was "The Christian and Education," based on Col. 2:3. "In whom [Christ] are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge." He spoke of the role that Madison College had played in the field of education. There was a time when the college had a national reputation, when people came from many places to see Madison. As a result of the article about Madison in the Reader's Digest, "Self-Supporting College," by Weldon Melick, May, 1938, hundreds of students applied for entrance, attracted to the idea of working their way through.

Dr. Knittel mentioned three factors in the success of Madison: Confidence of the leaders; eagerness of the students; and commitment on the part of the staff. These three factors were fully developed as the audience sat in rapt attention. There was so much interest that many wanted a copy of the whole sermon. Dr. Knittel has furnished the SURVEY office with a copy. Due to lack of space we are not reproducing it here, but plan to do it later if not published elsewhere.

An unusual and enjoyable feature of the Sabbath morning service was a violoncello solo by Oscar Meissner, D.D.S. '40. The cello itself was made by Dr. Meissner; the composition, "Longing for Jesus," was written by him; and he accompanied himself, by means of a previous recording, so that the rendition of the number seemed to be that of a duet rather than a solo.

SABBATH SCHOOL. Sabbath School was conducted by Esther Kendall (MCA '31), general superintendent, and Doyle Martin '43, superintendent for the day. Craig Meissner, son of Lydia Jo '43 and Oscar Meissner, D.D.S. '40, played a trombone solo.

The lesson study was ably presented by F. Lincoln Millet '28, writer and A.U.C. archivist from Lancaster, Mass., a man who is deeply interested in Madison and its history. Closing the service was a duet by the two charming daughters of Emmett '56 and Margaret '42 Pierce—Patricia and Margaret Rose.

In the missions feature Bill and Roby (Hirst) Sherman reenacted an ambulance scene, carrying in a small patient (Judy Hartgrove) into a clinic in Central America. Bill recounted the beginning of Yerba Buena Hospital, Chiapas, Mexico, carved out from the jungle ten years ago by Ray and Marie Comstock. The "ambulance" was made from a chair strapped to Dick Graves' back. Patients are carried many miles through the jungle in these "chair ambulances." Dick is the son of Dr. Harold Graves '32, and he told of his father's work in Guatamala, where he plans to go back soon.

FELLOWSHIP DINNER. Following the second church service, a bountiful and delicious potluck dinner was served at the school cafeteria in Williams Hall. The large dining room was full and running over with alumni and their friends as they ate and fellowshiped together.

It was not realized at first in the planning stage, but after the date for Homecoming had been finally set, someone pointed out that we had selected the longest day in the year—June 21. As the committee thought it over we knew that sunset would be so late a banquet could not be held on Saturday night. Thus the enlarged plan of a potluck fellowship dinner at Williams Hall cafeteria came into being and seemed to be a suitable substitute.

Alumni In Action

Sabbath afternoon, Bernard Bowen, chairman, read a telegram from Dr. and Mrs. Dale Putnam ('28 & '32) who sent regrets from Kettering Hospital that they could not be present for Homecoming. They had planned to come. Mrs. Marion Simmons '43 sent a cablegram from Singapore, where she had just joined the Far Eastern Division staff: "Greetings from Singapore to Alumni assembled."

Many other alumni wrote or telephoned their regrets and greetings. From the Class of 1943: Adolph Johnson '43 from Pine Forest Academy, Chunky, Miss.; Todi Shinkawa '43 from Hawaii; Gladys Parmley '43 from Cortez, Colo.; Lt. Col. Isabelle Miller '43 from Phoenix, Ariz. Mabyn "Hessie" Gillin '43 and Norma Kiger Sufficool '43 wrote letters.

The following from the early classes wrote letters, from which news items were gleaned, and will appear in this or future issues: Elizabeth Bowen '19, Elsie Peterson Brownsberger '18, Gola Morgan Bryan '25, Vera Dortch Honeycutt '17, Elizabeth Koppel '25, George McClure '29, Dora Mountain '25, Mable Robinson '20, Elizabeth Rush '21, Norma Kiger Sufficool '43, Christene Jensen Sargent '26, Jeanette Sego '27, Mary Mowry Wilson '28, Edith Winquist '27. Harry and Edna Wilson '27 called briefly at the alumni office the day Homecoming was to start, but deeply regretted that work commitments forced them to go back to Dunlap, Tenn.

Next came the feature, "Alumni in Action," in which a number of Madisonites present were called on to come to the front and tell of their location, work, and experiences.

Roger Goodge, teacher and hospital administrator at Little Creek, and recently elected president of The Layman Foundation, was the first to speak. "Dr. Sutherland and Mrs. Scott came to Evansville, Indiana, where our family was living and interested us in coming to Madison. We moved into the house next to Miss DeGraw. I grew up here, graduating from the college in 1937.

"Some of the objectives of The Layman Foundation and units are rural living; adherence to principles of health; small institutions, manned by more SDA workers; dignity of labor and sense of personal responsibility; raising own food; a balanced program—physical, mental, and spiritual. Are these objectives important today?

"The Layman Foundation was founded in 1924 [twenty years after 1904, when Madison was started]. It fostered rural education in the South. Most of the units have received help. Ten institutions are now affiliated. Just lost out on building $600,000 unit at Pewee Valley. A stronger work is being launched at Harbert Hills and other places. We must help finish the work the founders started."

Doyle Martin had the distinction of being president of both honor classes of 1943—college and nursing. Later he finished anesthesia in 1952, and is now living in Portland, Tenn., and doing anesthesia. He spoke of the death of Dr. and Mrs. A. W. McCorkle's 22-year-old Donna Jo, killed in an auto accident, and read part of a letter from Dr. McCorkle, with the striking title, "May I share a blessing?" (The McCorkles were sponsors of the honor (nursing) class of '42, and have been located in Hialeah, Florida, for some time where the doctor is on the medical staff.)

Josephine (Mattson) Bengston '43 did for the alumni office this year what Dorothy Harp did last year. She wrote all her classmates and urged them to attend Homecoming. She finished nursing in '43, had a tour in the Navy, used the GI Bill and got into anesthesia. She has been doing anesthesia in several hospitals in Tennessee and Alabama, and is now located in Fayetteville, Tenn.

Gertrude Scheible '43, St. Louis, went on to the University of Missouri and worked on her degree. She was on the nursing staff at the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children eight years. Urged to go back into Public Health, she stayed with Public Health eight years, took a year in residence, and spent one year in a college in St. Louis. She had a desire to give a year of volunteer work and had an opportunity to go to Germany and work in the Doxner Mission, where she started an infirmary. She has done special teaching for the St. Louis Board of Education.

John R. Spencer '43 graduated from the nursing course at Madison in 1943, and got his M.D. at Loma Linda in 1953. He went into the Army and served in Italy. He is now a physician at Burtonsville, Md., in the D.C. area, and is the doctor who answers questions under "The Family Physician" in Life and Health. He was accompanied by his Aunt Bertha and Uncle Ray at Homecoming. "Again I want to say how happy I am that I got my start at Madison," said Dr. Spencer.

Elfa Edmister '43 graduated from the nursing course in 1943, and again in 1944 with a B.S. She worked with Dr. Lester Littell at the Cumberland Heights Clinic, Coalmont, Tenn. She got her Master's at Emory University in 1963, and is now teaching Public Health Nursing at SMC. "I find teaching very rewarding," she said.

Lucille Tolles '43 and her husband, Grant '42 spent most of the time since leaving Madison in nursing home work in Massachusetts. They took over the Middleboro Sanitarium in Massachusetts from Captain and Mrs. Hirst, parents of Roby Hirst Sherman, who had just graduated from the A.D. Nursing Course and was present at Homecoming. After ten years the Tolles sold that home and bought the Island Terrace Nursing Home in Lakeville, Mass., and have been there ten years.

Alvada Voss Peterson '43 and husband Alfred came and brought five of their seven children, including daughter Beverly, who is taking LPN at Takoma Hospital. They brought their bedding and stayed in Williams Hall. Alvada is a charge nurse at Gratiot Community Hospital in Alma, Mich. Her sister, Dorothy Voss, is a graduate of Madison also.

Corrine Friend '43 went into the Army for a while after leaving Madison. She has been doing industrial nursing in the steel mills (Dayton Steel Foundry) at Dayton, Ohio, since 1954. She has given more time to volunteer work than any other industrial nurse in the Dayton area. From 1954 to 1966 she worked in Red Cross emergency aid, providing first aid at the Montgomery County Fair, at football games, parades, and other functions. During the flood disaster in south Dayton in 1964, she administered first aid at the emergency shelters. In 1965 she was awarded a ten-year Red Cross Volunteer Service Award Pin. At present she devotes much time to helping Junior Achievement. Corrine is, like her name, a true friend of Madison. Recently she sent lifetime dues.

Forest Pride '47 started out with the class of '43, but after one month of nurses' training, the Army took him, and he was overseas 37 months. He came back to Madison, spent six months in the pharmacy under George Cothren. He went to Tallahassee, Florida to work in Forsythe Memorial Hospital. Guy Williamson had asked him to come for three months, and he stayed three years. He decided to come back to Madison, finished college in 1947, and anesthesia in 1952 (in Mr. Bowen's second class). He worked at Hinsdale a short time, and at Hialeah eight years. He is now at Greeneville, Tenn. with William Cushman '55, doing anesthesia at three hospitals. Forrest's wife, Margaret (N '45) is a sister of Dr. Lelon Bull, who married Lois McCurry '49. Son Steve, a graduate of Madison Academy, is now married and works in the accounting department at Takoma Hospital, Greeneville.

Godfrey and Gladys Duran ('55 & '56) are both at Kettering Memorial Hospital, Dayton, Ohio. He is emergency room supervisor. She is director of nursing service. At this 16 million dollar, 400 bed hospital, 188 nurses are employed, and 90-100 patients a day are admitted. "Kettering is a tribute to SDA nursing." Mrs. Duran stated. "It was a gift from the Ketterings, who were deeply impressed with the dedication and work of our hospitals." The Durans love Madison and are regular attendants at Homecoming.

The following note was received from Godfrey and Gladys Duran after they returned to Kettering: "Mr. Duran and I both want to express to you our sincerest appreciation for all your hard work, loyal spirit, and dedication to the Madison Alumni. You have done much to pull the alumni together and to deepen school loyalties, and I fear too often we tend to take you for granted. We were pleased with all we saw at Madison and enjoyed Homecoming so much. Madison holds such dear and tender memories for us. Thanks so many times for making our alumni have greater meaning to each other and to the dear old school."

Larry and Lois Cheever, Winter Park, Florida, both took the nurses' course, finishing in 1951. Larry took anesthesia, and worked at Pewee Valley a short time, then went to Savannah, Tenn., for several years. "I was really there for soul-winning," he said. His brother, Warren, called several times, urging him to come to Florida and work with him. The family moved to Florida, and the Cheever brothers have been doing anesthesia in St. Cloud, Kissimmee, and Apopka. Larry's wife, Lois, said, "Madison is the only place that would have my heart." The editor chatted with Lois after the business meeting at the very end of the program. She said how happy she was that Homecoming was held during vacation so they could come. (They had left their four children at Lawrenceburg with her sister.) In reply, the matter of heat was mentioned as the only disadvantage. Then Lois replied, "We can suffer a little with the weather, but this is the only way we can get here, and we love to come."

Anna Sorenson said she had had more blessings than any one here. When she came to Madison, they said, "That girl can't take nurses' training." (But she did and got the highest grade in the class on State Board.—Editor) She had planned to go to Africa with the N. C. Wilson family, but went to Lawrenceburg Sanitarium to work. She came back to Madison for a week of prayer, and lost one of her legs in a car accident on the way back. After working at Lawrenceburg eleven years, she went to California and was a charge nurse at Campbell Sanitarium in Belmont for twenty-four years. She had very poor eyesight, and moved to Half Moon Bay, Calif., where she recently had a marvelous operation on her eyes and received a donated cornea, which restored much of her sight. Miss Sorenson concluded by saying she would never be able to repay her debt to Madison.

Zoetta (Nichols) Hauser '28, Lodi, Calif., came to Madison in 1924, and took the nurses' course. She worked in the Vegetarian Cafeteria in Nashville. She has been on the nursing staff of the old Wichita (Kansas) Sanitarium, Porter, Glendale and the White, and at one time was school nurse at WWC. More recently she has been working in a nursing home in Lodi, Calif., where she lives. Her husband, Jacob Hauser, a nurseryman, died in 1965.

Alumni Scholarship Awards

The alumni scholarship was presented during the afternoon meeting to Teresa Carris, a Madison Academy graduate this year, who will begin the A.D. nursing course this fall at SMC. Teresa's mother, Dorothy Carris, is a Medical Records graduate of 1964, and is a secretary in Dr. H. F. Evans' office.

Sometime ago the alumni board voted to give a scholarship to a student in a self-supporting institution.

A scholarship of $100 was awarded to Roby Ann Sherman, who has completed the A.D. Nursing Course on the Madison Campus, and will soon be going back to Yerba Buena Hospital in Chiapas, Mexico, as a teacher in nursing classes.

Scholarship funds have come largely through memorial gifts from alumni members and friends of Madison, most of whom memorialized names of relatives and friends. We invite our readers to contribute to the fund. Such gifts are income tax deductible.

Wilderness Survival

Elder and Mrs. Jack Darnall have been greatly interested in wilderness survival for some years, and have been conducting survival seminars. They have produced a color movie designed to promote getting out and enjoying the wilderness, and giving valuable instruction on how to live there in summer and winter. The Darnalls believe in learning by doing. In their seminars they go out and live largely off the land, gathering and eating edible wild plants, building and living in primitive shelters, practicing mountain rescue, and related activities. In light of the above, the program committee asked Elder Darnall, director of survival seminars for the Kentucky-Tennessee Conference, to speak and show his film at Homecoming.

"Let's go surviving," Elder Darnall challenged the audience. "It's fun now and may save your life later." He proceeded by lecture and film to catch the attention of his listeners. Those who attend the seminars and study the manual learn how to recognize and use edible wild plants, how to move the injured, signal for help, build fires, etc. Cultivated plants are only a small part of the 2,000 edible plants. The speaker told how to identify edible greens, poisonous and edible mushrooms and berries. "All blue and black berries are edible," he said, "but leave white berries alone. Some red are good."

"Outdoor living and nature study have become very popular in the world today. As in many things, we Adventists are a little late in promoting this program of learning to live in the wilderness. . . . What will happen in the days ahead? The next sign will be the Sunday laws—a sign to leave the cities for the smaller towns. The cities are a dangerous place to live in. It is ten times harder today to raise children in the cities. If Dr. Sutherland were here today, he'd be tempted to say, 'I told you to get out of the cities.' If anyone hasn't got the message, he must be blind and deaf and dumb. Now is a good time to get out. There will be Sunday laws that later will have more teeth. We will have to move out farther and farther, then to secluded places among the mountains. We should learn how to make a garden and grow our own food. The Lord has given us time to learn true survival."

VESPERS. The vesper service consisted of organ music by Frances Dittes, a violin solo by her brother David, and meditations by Elder Herbert Broeckel, pastor of the Bordeaux Church. Our age is an age of crisis, he stated. The times we have preached about are here. Signs of the end are swiftly fulfilling.

Saturday Night Program

Wallace Blair '50 acted as chairman of the Saturday night meeting. Elder O. L. Heinrich, P.R. director of the Southern Union, presented "A New Sound in the South," a three-projector multiscreen spectacular portraying the rapid growth of Adventist work in the South. The South is perhaps the fastest growing area in the U.S. today. The three projectors were synchronized with taped narration and background music.

OFFICERS ELECTED. After the pictures, a goodly number of alumni members gathered in Williams Hall for election of new officers, treasurer's report by William V. Campbell, and discussion of future plans. Refreshments were furnished by two past presidents, Edythe Cothren '47 and Bernard Bowen '56 and Mrs. Bowen '50.

Ballots were passed around, and the following slate of officers and board members were elected for 1968-9: Vera Jensen '46, president; Otis Detamore '58, vice-president; Duane Brown '64, treasurer; Florence F. Jasperson, '47, assistant treasurer; Mable H. Towery (honorary), executive secretary and custodian; Katherine Marshall '37, Frances Winters '61, and Edith Johnson '58, assistant secretaries; Paul Blankenship '58, Edythe Cothren, '47, Bernard Bowen '56, William V. Campbell '53; and Gene Sellers '61, board members.

Treasurer's Report for 1967

William V. Campbell gave the treasurer's report. At the end of 1967 we had $221.63 in our checking account at First American Bank, for operating expenses. We had $200.70 in our savings account at the same bank, which was being held as memorial scholarship funds. Operating expenses paid out during the year 1967: MADISON SURVEY & ALUMNI NEWS, $896.81; clerical help, $714.00; Homecoming Expense, $300; telephone ($15 a month), $180; flowers, $38; supplies, $22.16. Total $2,150.57.

Dr. Gant Speaks to Alumni

Dr. and Mrs. Julian Gant, honor members of the M.C. alumni, were present for the business meeting, and he was invited to speak. The Gants have several thousand acres of land on the Cumberland Plateau in Tennessee. For some time Dr. Gant has had a dream to start a work or an institution on the college level to train lay members. Our laity should be trained so they can be missionaries in their community, and support themselves by making use of their skills and professions. This training should also prepare them to get out of the large cities. He feels that something should be done to carry out the basic principles upon which Madison was established—the dignity of labor; importance of the soil and proper cultivation; importance of our bodies as temples of God; making our lives a testimony to the character of God. The original Madison concept still lives in the hearts of many men and women.

THE MADISON SURVEY and alumni office invites those with similar views, those who would like to see such a plan developed, to write the alumni office, expressing your opinion and telling in what way you could help, and what you would be willing to do.

"A storm is coming, relentless in its fury," Dr. Gant said. "Some day the preachers can't preach, and the publishers can't publish. We need a training school to train in all levels. If our professional and business men could get together and crystalize and coordinate, something could be done in a short time."

Founders' Memorial

A founders' memorial is to be erected on the Madison campus in honor of Dr. E. A. Sutherland and the other founders who came to Madison in 1904 and pioneered the establishment of an educational and medical institution that was destined to become great. The alumni were asked to share in the cost with the Layman Foundation, Laymen's Extension League, and Druillard Trust in erecting the memorial. Donations through the M.C.A.A. are tax deductible.

Introducing New M.C.A.A. Officers

Our new president, Miss Vera Jensen '46, has been teaching in Stratton Elementary School in Madison since 1953. She has worked on the campus during summers in the college and hospital offices, and also has taken classes at Peabody, working on her Ed.D. She has given valuable help on the M.C.A.A. board in various capacities since 1965.

Vice-president for the current year is Otis Detamore, who finished nurses' training at Madison in 1958 and came back in 1967 to begin anesthesia. His wife is the former Marion Russell and they have three children. Prior to returning to Madison the Detamores operated the 85-bed Iliff Nursing Home at Dunn Loring, Va., and before that Otis was assistant supervisor of the psychiatric ward at the University of Virginia Hospital in Charlottesville, Va.

Duane Brown, an accountant with Knight and Davidson, is our new treasurer. He took accounting classes at Madison 1961-4, and has been attending U.T. Extension School at night, working on his C.P.A. After that he plans to start on a course in law. His wife Lona (Pownall) is a graduate of Madison Academy, 1968.

Katherine (Beck) Marshall '37 is one of the new assistant secretaries. She took Dietetics at Madison and was in charge of the san kitchen at Madison in 1937, and later in charge of the school cafeteria at Pine Forest Academy. After that she assisted her husband in evangelistic and pastoral work at various places, conducting cooking schools and demonstrations. From 1960-1 she was food director at Madison College cafeteria, and is now a diet aide in the Madison Hospital diet kitchen.

One of our new assistant secretaries, Frances Winters, received her B.S. degree in elementary education at Madison College in 1961, and her Master's degree at M.T.S.U. in Murfreesboro in 1964, where she graduated as an honor student. She has taught in public schools in Tennessee for twenty-seven years, and is starting her ninth year as a teacher in the Greenbrier Elementary School this fall. During the summer and on weekends she works on the nursing staff at Madison Hospital. She is a member of T.E.A., M.T.E.A., P.T.A. and holds life membership in the N.E.A. She is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, a national honor society in education. Mrs. Winters has two sons—Tony, a teacher in West Nashville Junior High School, and James, a chemist for Armour Fertilizer Chemical Co., Atlanta, Ga. Both sons are married. Her husband, G. C. Winters, is an employee of Elk Valley Truck Lines, Nashville.

New Gymnasium Underway

The new gymnasium is underway after a setback in time due to necessary revision of plans. Footings and pillars have been poured. Ernest Anderson, Building Trades teacher, is construction superintendent, and his class is working on the building as a part of their classwork.

18 L.P.N.'s get Pins and Caps

Eighteen students of Practical Nursing have completed their training at Madison Hospital. The course was directed by Vocational Education in Metro Schools and financed by the Manpower Act. All 18 were pinned by Miss Naomi Gowan, director of nursing service, Madison Hospital. The 17 women in the class were capped by Thelma Pitt '52, their instructor. There was one young man in the class, Bill Sherman. The ceremony took place in the Sutherland Memorial Chapel Sept. 19, 1968. Elder E. L. Marley gave the address.

Reminders to Alumni and Friends

Alumni and friends of Madison, remember to send dues ($3 annual or $50 life), and SURVEY donations to the alumni office. (Note the date by your name on back, which indicates when you paid last or changed address.)

Also we remind our readers to remember our Memorial Scholarship Fund; the founders memorial to be erected; and the "unit" we have chosen to help this year—Yerba Buena Hospital, where the needs are many. All dues and donations should be sent through the Madison College Alumni Assoc. (M.C.A.A.), and are income tax deductible.

• Please send a copy of your duplicated Christmas letter, pictures, and announcements to the alumni office.

Preschool Moves Across Street

Mrs. A. W. Spalding started the Home Demonstration School when she and Professor Spalding came to Madison in 1942 after he retired. At first she started with very little equipment. Then as they needed more, money came in for wagons, wheelbarrows, tables, chairs, a piano, and other equipment. It was carried on first in one room in the Demonstration Building. They had on hand about $1,200 which had been donated for a new building. (SURVEY, 3/15/51, pp.1-3)

After operating in the comfortable building next to the "Dem" building since the early thirties, the little folk and their directors had to move across the street in September to the former Drullard Trust building. This house was occupied by Bessie DeGraw Sutherland until her death in 1965. Reason for the move was given as the necessity to find a place for the Home Economics Department, which lost its home when the Science Building burned. The old preschool building is being remodeled and will be ready about November 1.

Elementary School Report

Madison Church Elementary School has an enrollment of 162, and the following teachers: Mrs. Elsie Tetz, grade one; Phyllis Bryant, grade two; Dorothy Mathews, who, after teaching elsewhere for ten years, returns to teach grade three; Vesta Lester, who, with the longest continuous record (nine years), remains to teach grade four; Anna Adams, grade five; Mrs. Iris Landa, grade six; Morris Wilson, grade seven; and Daniel Ballew, grade eight, and principal.

Mr. Ballew came to Madison from Laguna Beach, Calif., to be administrator of the new 97-unit nursing home (Heritage House) to be built near Madison Hospital on the corner of Sanitarium Drive and Larkin Spring Road. He has been a teacher and at one time was a public relations officer at LLU. He and his wife have both been administrators of hospitals in California.

Classes of 40-50 Years Ago

It was Jeanette Sego, a member of the first class at Madison to have a formal graduation (1927), who called our attention last year that it was forty years since her nursing class had graduated. In light of this, it was decided to honor the graduates and "finishers" of all classes of forty and more years ago. We made extracts from these replies received in the alumni office, also some letters to Ruby Wade Jensen (N '27), who agreed to write some of her classmates. We are sorry that so many news items and letters from these Honor Classes had to be omitted this time, for lack of space, but we plan to include them in the next SURVEY.

ALUMNI NEWS

Helen Krum Brown (N '20) retired in 1967 and moved from Takoma Park, Md., to Sault Ste Marie, Ontario, Canada. She and her husband, Herbert, are living near their daughter, Dorinda.

Alberta Yates Randolph, wife of Dr. C. E. Randolph (Premed. '28), was happy that for the first time since she graduated from the nurses' course in 1927, she was able to attend a reunion at Madison. She was visiting relatives in Cross Plains, Tenn., where they have started building their retirement home. They have one daughter, Beverly Ann Cutler. Dr. Randolph has been an associate secretary of the General Conference Medical Department since 1958. The Randolphs have been located in Loma Linda since 1964, where he is recruiting doctors for our missionary hospitals.

Jeanette Sego, formerly head of women's hydro at Madison, wrote some time ago: "Please find Commencement Exercises Announcement for 1929 requested in the SURVEY. I graduated from high school at Madison in 1929. I retired from nursing in 1963. I nursed my sister until her death in 1965. Now I am enjoying her home that she left me, and am doing what missionary work I can."

Oscar L. Pembroke (Cooking and Cafe '28) is bakery chief at Grand Ledge Academy in Michigan. He wrote: "I left Madison in 1928 and lived in North Dakota for a few years, then to Honolulu for over two years. I came back to the States for a short time, then to Europe for over two years during World War II. Soon after returning to the States in 1945, I was discharged. My first civilian job was Food Service Director at M.C. I married a lovely girl, Addie Marie Allen, who was working in the accounting office at the time. We have a daughter 18, and a son 16."

1929

Emmet V. Ayers, M.D., former student 1928-9, sends in his donation to the SURVEY from Charles City, Iowa, where he is in general surgery practice. He also operates two extended care facilities, 85- and 75-bed, has a farm, and is starting a shopping center. He writes: "As students, Drs. John and Cyrus Kendall plastered the new sanitarium [old "ad" building] in 1929, and I painted it. The time spent at Madison represented the most happy years of school. I was privileged to know Dr. Sutherland and the other pioneers of the work. I would like to attend homecoming, but have planned a family trip to Europe for the summer."

1931

Most of her life Mrs. Bessie Baker has been teaching. After teaching church school for a time, she married, and in 1928 she and her husband came to Madison, she to teach and her husband to attend the academy. Mr. Baker died in 1934. After that she taught in Wisconsin, in the mountain schools of North Carolina, and then at Little Creek for five years. Because of failing health she had to discontinue her heavy teaching program, and went to Laurelbrook as a semi-patient, where she does some tutoring and assists in the care of the little children on the campus. She has them help gather fruits and vegetables, and tries to teach them that work is a blessing.

Mrs. Nell Maddox (N '32) writes from Miami Springs, Fla., giving some news of a member of husband Theo's class of 1933—Thelma Campbell Barnett. She wrote: "This little woman was the smallest member of the class and a very pretty one. When my husband and I, along with William Sandborn and his wife, Helen, went to Illinois to work together in 1933, they asked Thelma to go along too, and a James Barnett, whom she later married. Thelma Barnett is still a tiny woman—weighs about eighty pounds. She has been in the hospital five times this year. Any letter or remembrance, especially from her classmates, would no doubt be appreciated. Her address is 430 Royal Way, Bakersfield, Calif. 93301.

1934

On June 9, Dr. J. Wayne McFarland (Premed. '34) appeared on TV station WHIO's "Call the Doctor" program in Dayton, Ohio, with two physicians from Kettering Memorial Hospital. Following this, he spoke at the alumni banquet held at the hospital for Five-Day Plan graduates who have stopped smoking. Dr. McFarland is a specialist in physical medicine and rehabilitation and an instructor at Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia. He is co-ordinator of the Five-Day Plan.

1936

Irene (Kominsky) Ams (N '36) is working as team leader on the Medical Ward at Florida S-H. She says: "I am enjoying my work immensely. Have been here since 1955. My husband also works at the hospital in the Housekeeping Department. We have two daughters, Marilyn and Dione. I enjoy the SURVEY so much, and look forward to it. I really enjoyed my days at Madison."

1938

Frank Judson (Agr. '38), head of the department of agriculture at San Pasqual Academy, Escondido, California, writes in the Pacific Union Recorder about the agriculture program at S.P.A. During 1966 and 1967, students employed in the agriculture department earned $38,318 to assist in the cost of a Christian education. The total income to agriculture during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1967, was $288,831. Profits showed an operation gain in agriculture of $12,815 for the calendar years of 1966 and 1967. This profit was used for general school operation and assisted in providing a better program at San Pasqual. Mr. Judson has been on the faculty of Madison College twice in the agriculture program. He has been closely associated with agriculture all his life, has studied at two state universities, and is well qualified to evaluate farm programs.

1939

Elder and Mrs. Herbert Hewitt ('39 and '41) have accepted a call to the Southeast Asia Union of the Far Eastern Division. They visited Madison July 6, then spent a month at Andrews University, taking an orientation course, called World Institute of Missions, before sailing for Singapore, where he will be educational and MV secretary. In the past few years, Elder Hewitt has been principal of Collegedale Academy. Their daughter, Carol (Mrs. Sleeth) is a graduate nurse from LLU and is presently working at Kettering, Ohio, as a surgical supervisor. Son Fred is working at Loma Linda and taking Inhalation Therapy.

1943

For news of the Honor Class of '43, see "Alumni in Action," page 3, and Mayben Heslip's letter, page 7. Some items had to be held over to next time. We have not heard from several members, and invite them to write in.

1944

Ruth McElheney Viel (Diet. '44) wrote a series of articles in Life and Health (July, August, 1968) on "History of Spices." Mrs. Viel is now a therapeutic dietitian at Kettering Memorial Hospital. Before Kettering she was in the same work at Washington S-H and at Branson Memorial Hospital in Canada.

Tessie (Jackson) Durichek (N '45) is head nurse at Greer's Nursing Home in Goodlettsville. She has been working there for six years. Before that she was with the Red Cross Bloodmobile in Nashville for a year. Husband Joseph is a piano technician. Daughter Mary is starting the nurses' course at Branson Hospital in Canada this fall.

Juliette Minner took her prenursing at Madison, but transferred to Florida S-H, where she received her R.N. in 1948. She worked on the nursing staff at the White for 12 years, and has been head nurse on Medical 3 East since 1962. Her husband, Wendell, took part of the printing course at Madison, and is now employed in the press room of the Southern Publishing Association. The Minners have one son, Ronnie.

Mr. and Mrs. James K. Herman '47 are teaching in the church school at Gentry, Ark. Son James, Jr., has been attending AU and is now a ministerial intern in Baton Rouge, La.

1948

Helen (York) Gilmore (Att.N. '48) is an LPN working at F.R.E.H. (Foundation for the Rehabilitation of the Emotionally Handicapped) in Madison. She says she is enjoying her work, as she feels that there is opportunity to help others and do missionary work with the patients. Helen's husband, Bert, former student, is assistant engineer at the Madison Foods factory.

1952

Walter Kohler and his family have moved to Madison from Bridgeport, Conn., where he and his wife were teaching church school. Mr. Kohler graduated in 1952 from Madison (accounting and engineering). Mrs. Kohler (Myrtis Campbell), a former student, is working as an LPN at Madison Hospital, and Mr. Kohler is working as a shipping clerk in the food factory. They have five children.

Clifford S. Tonsberg sends his newsletter from Sabanilla, Mexico, where he has been busy establishing a new clinic in Northeast Chiapas. He planted over four hundred pineapple, a hundred banana, and twenty grafted orange trees, and was clearing land for ten avocado plants. He was looking forward to additional help from Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Shigley—he to do gardening, bookkeeping, and radio technician's work, she to do nursing.

John William Read '53 received his doctor's degree in education from North Texas State University in August. The topic of his dissertation was "An Investigation of the Relationship of Selected Variables to Sight-singing Ability." Previously he earned a Master of Music degree from the University of Texas. Dr. Read has been a member of the faculty at Southwestern Union College, Keene, Texas, for the past six years.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Zollinger '53 have returned to Laurelbrook, where he is principal for the school year.

Mrs. Lela Moak is a regular subscriber to the SURVEY. She is working as an LPN at West Hall, and received part of her training at Madison in 1952-3.

R. V. Karnatz, D.O. (Lab. '54), a graduate of K.C. College of Osteopathy and Surgery, now has a clinic in Peoria, Ariz. He and his wife, Lorna Mae, have three children: Virgil is a freshman at LLU Dental School; Robert attends Thunderbird Academy; and Teresa is in Glendale Junior Academy.

1955

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kohler visited at Madison a few months ago. Mrs. Kohler (Josephine Fralick '55) was in a wheelchair at the time, having lost one leg as the result of diabetes. She taught school part of the term at Poplar Bluff, Mo. Mr. Kohler returned for Homecoming a little later, and his wife went to visit her mother, Mrs. Anna Yeoman (sister of Dr. E. A. Sutherland) in Lawrence, Kan.

Stewart Crook '57, who has been connected with the Music Department at SMC since 1964, is now principal of Jefferson Academy in Texas. He did graduate study at Peabody and the University of Illinois, and received his Master's at U.T. in 1962. Formerly he was boys' dean at M.C. one year, chairman of the music department at Mt. Pisgah Academy and at Shenandoah Valley Academy. At SMC he was instructor of voice, Minister of Music for the Collegedale church, and director of the Encomium Singers (a 26-member, all male chorus), which he founded in 1966.

1958

Carlos Quevedo (Lab '58) is a lab technician at Florida Sanitarium and Hospital. His wife, Rachel Campbell, is a former student of M.C. The Quevedos have two boys.

Terry Brown (N '58) is on a three-month leave of absence as head nurse in the emergency room at Madison Hospital. On Sep. 1, 1968, he and two physicians left Washington, D.C. for Biafra, East Nigeria, Africa, at the request of the General Conference and the Red Cross. He is shown in a group picture on the back page of the Review of Sep. 19, 1968, just before departure.

Ronald and Beverly (Hegstad) Bottsford spent part of their three-month furlough visiting their parents in Ridge-top and Madison this summer. Ronald is now a full-time evangelist and ministerial secretary in the Minas Mission, Brazil, South America.

Louise Linderman Strickland (Anes. '59) writes: "Jean Hassenpflug and I are working as anesthetists in the County Memorial Hospital in Ardmore, Okla. We enjoy working together. Ruth Schwab and her husband are at the Ardmore Adventist Hospital and also do work for doctors at Memorial.

"Both boys attended Ozark last year. Daughter Rolinda graduated from Ozark Academy and is headed for SUC in Keene this fall. How we wish Madison College was still in operation."

Helen Leitsinger Fujita (N and BS '60) is a nursing supervisor in a hospital in California. She and Harry and their two boys live in Culver City.

Nadine Myrick Aubrey (BS in N '60) worked for the Red Cross Bloodmobile after graduation. She is now charge nurse on Surgery Wing at Madison Hospital.

Rose Walden (P.T. '61) was married last year to Emmett C. Couch and recently sent us an announcement of the birth of Wendy Dianne. She and her family are living in Richmond, Va.

Her sister, Toni Walden (M.R. '64), was married on April 10, 1960, to Roderick K. Leake. Toni is working at McGuire VA Hospital, Richmond, Va.

Evelyn Thomas is an LPN, working as medicine nurse on 3 East (Medical Floor) at Madison Hospital.

Grace (Custard) Ware (N '64) and little son Eric were campus visitors in June. Grace lives in Chicago, where she has been working in the emergency room at Michael Reese Hospital. Husband Willie is security officer in the same hospital.

Lt. jg. Stephen Marlow (N '64) was transferred from the U.S. Naval Hospital in Memphis to the U.S. Naval Hospital in Guam, February 1968. He writes that he is working at the Asan Naval Hospital Annex in Guam. It is located on the beach three miles from the main hospital, and two miles from the capital, Agana. Guam he describes as an island of "indescribable beauty" with many water falls. He sings in the Protestant choir at the Naval Hospital, plays piano for the primary division in Sabbath school, and has been teaching a class this summer.

Stephen says John Bryant is in Naples, Italy. Jim and Darlene Wagner and still in Japan; Elpidio Laurel should be out of the service now.

Howard Pallett (Anes. '64) is an anesthetist at Walker Memorial Hospital, Avon Park, Florida. He and his wife have two children.

Jerry Hill (I.T. '67), wife Evelyn Reiber (R.N. Hinsdale), and little Sherrie Lynn are now located at Decatur, Ala., where Jerry is head of the inhalation therapy department.

Perla G. Cayabyab (Anes. '67) answered a call to be a nurse anesthetist at Youngberg Memorial Hospital, but was unable to get to Singapore because she could not get her visa. She writes: "At present I'm located at a small mission hospital, Cagayan Valley S-H in the Philippines. I do anesthesia primarily, but help on the floor when there is no surgery."

● Mrs. Gladys Morrison, former director of food service at M-A., is now doing same work at Highland Academy.

Letters

Elsie Peterson Brownsberger (N '18), Lakeland, Ga.

Dr. and Mrs. John Brownsberger had given us a little hope that they would attend Homecoming, but later wrote telling why they couldn't come. Sometime ago Mrs. Brownsberger (N '18) reminisced on bygone days at Madison as follows:

"I finished the scheduled course of study in the Madison nurses' course of long ago, in the year 1918. During those earlier days there was no formal graduation. I don't believe we were even given diplomas, and the matter of taking State Board was never mentioned. I waited to take it until the spring of 1921, as we were planning to go to Loma Linda, where John and his brother, Sidney, were planning to study medicine. I thought I should have State Board in case I wanted to nurse out there. I did not work as a nurse, then, however, but acted as Doctor Magan's secretary for a few years, then as registrar of the Los Angeles division.

"There are not too many left of our class of 1918 at Madison, I suppose. According to the SURVEY, 1968 will mark our 50th anniversary of the class of 1918, also the 50th anniversary of the founding and naming of the MADISON SURVEY. Blanche Noble (Beakley), Marguerite Coffin (Mrs. Lew Wallace), and I were responsible for naming the paper. Miss DeGraw wanted to call it the "Re-View," but we finally got her to accept our proposition to name it THE MADISON SURVEY.

"John and I were recently looking over a log of a trip made by his sister Ethel (Dr. Ethel Brownsberger) in October, 1918, taking their younger brother, Sidney, to Madison to attend school there. They drove an old Ford and spent three days on the way from Asheville to Madison (about 360 miles). The roads were almost impassable. We were amused to read in the record that at one place in Tennessee where they stopped to get gas, there was a notation 'A horse kicked the front fender.' Gas was probably a bit cheaper than today, but never did they buy more than four gallons at a time—usually only two gallons."

(It is interesting to note that Prof. Sidney Brownsberger, father of three graduates of Madison who became doctors—Ethel '14, John '15, and Sidney '21—was the first president of Battle Creek College, and a former faculty member of Madison.)

Mabyn Heslip Gillen '43

Mabyn Heslip "Hessie" McKinney (now Mrs. Earl Gillen) sent a big "Hello" to her classmates of '43: "I wish I could be there to see you folks and re-live some of 'the good ole days at Madison.' Here's hoping the reunion is a big success and that you have a good time together. I think I'm lucky for I have seen Alvada and Vergie a few times since leaving Madison and so have heard about other classmates from them.

"Here is a brief summary of what I have been doing since leaving my job with Dr. Joe Sutherland in 1950. Yes, I am still nursing; spent one and a half years as nursery supervisor at St. Francis Hospital in Escanaba, Mich., one year as night supervisor at a hospital in Milwaukee, Wis., five years as O.B. supervisor in Niles, Mich., and nine years here in Mason, Mich., as O.B. supervisor. I've seen a lot of babies come and go, and still enjoy my work. I keep real busy and enjoy my work. I am on the disaster and social committees of the hospital, and for six years was Primary leader at the Lansing church, and the past two years one of the Sabbath school secretaries.

"My husband Glen (McKinney) was killed in 1964 as the result of a car accident. I remarried September 29, 1967, to Earl Gillen, who attended Madison College in 1941. He works in the physics department at Michigan State U. in Lansing. On our honeymoon we visited Madison in Oct., 1967, and toured the campus. I had mixed feelings—one of sadness when noting nearly all the old part of the sanitarium was gone, then a feeling of pride, noting the progress that has been made down through the years.

"My daughter Glenda (now Mrs. Herbert Rau) is an LPN from Hinsdale S-H and is employed at Sparrow Hospital in Lansing.

"Well, Classmates, I still say that we who graduated from Madison received some of the best training this world could provide. I've always been grateful to God for a Christian education. May we always be faithful so we may share in that great reunion in heaven one day."

Chapter Meetings

Mrs. Esther Crow writes that the Southern California Chapter met August 1 at a park in Pomona. Dr. H. E. Heidinger from our hospital in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, was the speaker. He and his wife (Elizabeth Stuyvesant) were on furlough visiting her parents, the Paul Stuyvesants of Loma Linda. Dr. and Mrs. Glen Bowes of Claremont, Calif., were asked to serve as president and secretary for the coming year.

Potomac Chapter, D.C. Area

Secretary of the Potomac Chapter, Sylvia Maltby '51, reports that a Potomac Chapter meeting was planned for September 22 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Lowry in Mitchellville, Md. It was to be a picnic potluck supper on the Lowry lawn.

The chapter executive committee favors a monthly giving plan by their members (beyond their dues), the amount to be given to a different self-supporting unit each year. They voted to help Yerba Buena Hospital, Chiapas, Mexico, this year, with a project suggested by the alumni association officers in Madison.

The chapter leaders hope they can have an annual meeting at the time of cherry blossom time each year, and attract out-of-town Madisonites to join with them at that time.

All alumni and friends of Madison are invited to contribute to these yearly projects, sending gifts to the Madison College Alumni Assoc., Madison College, Tenn. 37115. Your gift is income tax deductible.

From So Small a Dream

Book Review by Mary Kate Gafford

There has recently come from the press of the Southern Publishing Association a book which will be of interest to readers of the SURVEY. It is a history of the growth of the S.D.A. Church in the South, including the self-supporting work. The author, Louis A. Hansen, now 97, may be said to be the original self-supporting medical missionary. He retired in Orlando after many years of denominational service. He has covered objectively and well the progress of the work from its smallest beginnings in the South in the year 1897 to the present date.

The title of the book is From So Small a Dream. It is a record of pioneer providences, in which Elder Hansen tells of his personal experiences from the "morning of January 7, 1897" when "the southbound train from Louisville to New Orleans left us standing on the track at Vicksburg, Miss. . . . My wife stood there alone a long way from the Indiana home we had left to become self-supporting medical missionaries in the South." Because of the flooding of the Mississippi River, the Hansens' plans to go to New Orleans were changed, and Nashville became the center of their operations for a number of years. There they opened the first treatment rooms of the denomination.

The Madison school and allied activities occupy several chapters, which include an account of a number of its units. It was L. A. Hansen who drove Mrs. White out to the Ferguson farm in a buggy when Professors Sutherland and Magan finally consented to meet her there.

In Elder Hansen's 1967 Christmas message last year he made this very significant statement: "We have come to a time when it is dangerous to be alive unless we are kept by the overruling power and protection of God."

The book is indexed, so that it can be used easily as a reference book. The price of the book is $5.95.

Entering LLU School of Medicine

Entering LLU School of Medicine this fall were Ramona Jopling, daughter of Olga G. Joplin '39, of Orlando, Florida; Anne Grotheer, daughter of Mrs. Dorthea Grotheer '64, of Florence, Miss.; and David Martin (MCA '61). David had been promoted to Army Specialist Five at Walter Reed Army Institute of Research in D.C. in May.

TAHLENA ELZA

Miss Tahlena Elza was born December 8, 1888, in Knoxville, Tenn., and died September 15, 1968, at Madison, Tenn., at the age of 79 years.

She worked twenty-five years as a cashier in a large department store in Knoxville. In 1932 she moved to Madison, where she became associated with The Layman Foundation as a bookkeeper. In this position she visited nearly all of our self-supporting institutions, helping with the bookkeeping in each place.

Though she was totally deaf during the later years of her life, she was not discouraged by this handicap, and served her Lord and church well. She retired in 1963 and was a faithful member of the Madison College Church since 1932. A street that comes into Neeley's Bend Road in Madison is named after her—Tahlena Avenue.

Services were conducted in Nashville by Elders J. W. Clarke and R. W. Laue at the Cosmopolitan Funeral Home. In Knoxville services were conducted by Leland Straw and Roger Goodge at Rose's Mortuary. Burial was at Lynnhurst Cemetery. Miss Elza had no close relatives surviving. There is a second cousin, Albert Brooks in Chattanooga, and another second cousin, Mrs. W. W. Owens in Silver Spring, Md. The latter (Nina Owens) was an R.N. She and her husband Wallace were at Madison at one time. She helped in the treatment rooms in Nashville, and he was a construction worker.

JEFFREY BRENT ARCHER

News has been received of the death of Jeffrey Archer, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Archer (Anes. '62), who was fatally injured in a bicycle-truck accident Aug. 28, 1968. Jeffrey was born at Madison, and is survived by his parents and four sisters.

DONALD D. VAN METER

Donald D. Van Meter died May 9, 1968, at Ft. Hood, Texas. He graduated from the academy at Madison in 1932, and continued on as a college student. While at Madison he had a contract to make the cement blocks for the Druillard Library building. He married Lora Mae Nivison in 1936. He was a technician at Mountain Sanitarium for a time and then administrator of the County Hospital at Newberry, S.C.

When war appeared upon the horizon, Donald took officer training at Camp Grant, Ill., and became adjutant in the Army Air Corp Training Center, Chicago. During the war he was in charge of Camp Beach Hospital in Chicago, then was moved to Salt Lake City as expert on medical records, thence to Europe to an evacuation hospital in Italy, where he served two years. He returned home in 1945 as Major Van Meter. He served in veterans' hospitals in Atlanta, Richmond, and Memphis. Later as lieutenant-colonel he directed 23 V.A. hospitals on the West Coast. His wife, Lora Mae, died in 1960. The Van Meters had two sons, Grant and Don, who survive, also his second wife, Carmela.

LEROY N. NIVISON

L. N. Nivison was born in Adrian, Mich., and died April 10, 1968, at the age of 81 at Winchester, Tenn. Because of his interest in the South, he connected with Madison about 1930. He was a skilled mechanic, and cared for the heating and the plumbing. The year 1937 found the Nivisons at Pewee Valley Sanitarium, near Louisville. After a few years they moved to the Cumberland Plateau, where they became active members of the community group near Altamont, Tenn. Mrs. Nivison died around 1960. The Nivisons had four children: Ovid, Mark, June Harvey '34, and Lora Mae. All but Lora Mae survive, also Mr. Nivison's second wife, the former Lois Rutherford.

ARLINE M. PEMBROKE

Recently we learned of the death of Lt. Commander Arline M. Pembroke (N '25). Arline's brother, Oscar, wrote that she was retired from the Navy a few years ago and was living at Del Ray Beach, Florida, until her death. She was buried at Saint Jo, Texas, with full military honors July 27, 1967.

Arline (N '25) reached the high rank of Lt. Commander in the Navy. Another Madison nurse, Isabelle Miller, of Phoenix, Ariz., has reached the high rank of Lt. Colonel in the U.S. Air Force.

ELLEN STACEY OLSON

Mrs. Russell Olson died July 13, 1968, as the result of an auto accident near her home at the Laurelbrook School, Dayton, Tenn. She taught school in Japan five years, married Russell D. Olson in 1932, and they connected with Laurelbrook several years ago. They often attended the Southern self-supporting convention at Madison. Among the survivors besides her husband is her niece, Mrs. Tedd Snyder.

JASON ROBERT NOBLE

Jason Robert Noble died July 27, 1968, at Madison Hospital at the age of 76 following more than a year's confinement. He had suffered a broken neck and paralysis from an automobile accident. Services were held July 30 at Goodlettsville, Tenn., with Dr. Julian C. Gant, his attending physician, officiating, assisted by Robert W. Laue, Madison Hospital chaplain. Burial was in Springhill Cemetery, Madison.

Mr. Noble lived most of his life in Canada, except for the twenty years he spent in Massachusetts and New York as a self-employed contractor and builder.

Among the survivors are his wife and a daughter, Miss Doris E. Noble, former public relations director of Madison Hospital.
