1969 Madison College Homecoming and Workshop

June 20-22, 1969

Homecoming at Madison usually starts Friday evening, continues all day Sabbath, and ends Saturday night. This year we are planning something different, and that is to extend the time to Sunday and have a workshop on basic philosophies upon which Madison was founded—rural living, medical missionary work, and education according to the Spirit of prophecy.

Friday evening at the consecration service Cdr. Robert L. Mole, of the honor class of '44, will be the speaker. He was the first SDA to serve as a Navy chaplain, and is the highest ranked of all Adventist chaplains, and has had two tours of duty in Vietnam. Sabbath morning there will be two preaching services and Sabbath School, and on Sabbath afternoon, "Alumni in Action," when graduates will relate experiences.

Workshop, Sunday, June 22

At the workshop on Sunday there will be three panel discussions—education, medical, and agriculture. On the first, Elder James Lee and son David will bring a report on the research they have been doing in the White Publications vault at the General Conference in determining God's plan for our educational program. Writing in the Journal of Adventist Education (April-May, 1968) on "A Model School," Elder Lee speaks of three problems or events of the future that face God's people: (1) How to sustain physical life when the sealed ones cannot buy or sell. (2) How God's people are to proclaim the loud cry when "religious aggression subverts the liberties of our nation." (3) How God's people are to be prepared to receive the latter rain, give the loud cry, escape the plagues, and be translated.

We are all familiar with the statement that "soon there will be no work done in ministerial lines but medical missionary work." Counsels on Health, p. 535. In the medical missionary section of the workshop, a husband-and-wife physician team, Drs. Calvin and Agatha Thrash of Columbus, Georgia, will participate, and tell the thrilling story of how they were converted to Adventism in 1965.

How important it is today, for many reasons, that we know how to grow our own food, and this editor believes it should be grown "organically." The subject of gardening will be included in rural living. Whatever your belief, we invite those interested in gardening to come, and we especially invite those who may be able to contribute to the discussion to write us beforehand. We are looking for more participants for this panel.

Honor classes this year are 1944 (25 years ago); 1959 (ten years ago); and all classes of 40 and more years ago, particularly the class of 1929. This does not mean that others are unwelcome. We invite all graduates of Madison College, Hospital, and Academy, students, staff, and friends of Madison to come. Doesn't that take in all who are interested in Madison? "You-all" come.

Please do write ahead, even though you plan to stay with friends, as we need to have an estimate of how many to expect. And especially write if you need housing. Rooms in the nurse's dormitory will be available for $4 a night, with two occupants in a room; $3 single. Children will not be charged if they do not require beds. These rooms are air-conditioned and linens are furnished. Rooms in Williams Hall will be

Potomac Chapter Meeting

The Potomac Chapter of the MCAA elected the following officers at their December, 1968, meeting: Glenn Coon, president; John Cermak, vice-president; Mrs. John Liu, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Marjorie Scoggins, assistant secretary-treasurer; Homer Lynd, public relations.

On April 12, 1969, during cherry blossom season, another meeting of the chapter was held in the Takoma Park Recreation Center, with well over sixty present, the best turnout yet. After the potluck supper the group listened to guest speaker David Lee, son of Elder James Lee. He spoke on the true principles of education on which Madison College was founded, and as given through the writings of the Spirit of prophecy. His talk was followed by a lively discussion on the pros and cons of our Adventist schools educating for degrees.

Write Madison College Alumni Office, Madison, Tenn. 37115. Telephones: Office is through Madison Hospital, 865-2373, Ext. 321; residence of secretary (M. Towery) is 865-1615. Area code 615. If calling long distance, it might be well to try the secretary's home phone first, as she is the only one who answers there.

Homecomers arriving by bus, plane, or train, who wish to be met should notify the alumni of time of arrival. Buses leave Memorial Square, Shelter E, in Nashville from 5:39 a.m. to 10:32 p.m. and arrive each hour at Madison Hospital.

College Aviators Flying Strip

Madisonites and friends who have their own plane may be interested to know that there is a flying strip near the school and hospital on the bottom land by the river, formerly where the tall corn grew. We contacted Larry Kelley (MCA '58), treasurer of the College Aviators Flying Club, and he stated the strip is 2700 feet long with 500 feet overrun at each end. A Cessna 310 lands there. Larry is assistant administrator of the new 98-bed Heritage House Convalescent Home at the corner of Sanitarium Drive and Larkin Springs Road, and says he will be glad to see that guests flying in will be met and transported to the campus if they will notify the alumni office of their arrival time.

Academy Holds First Homecoming

Madison Academy formed its own alumni association on May 2, 1969, in connection with its first homecoming. Officers chosen for the ensuing year are: Rhea Harvey, '57, president; Lou Ellen Cruzen, '67, secretary-treasurer; Cindy Laue, '67, public relations.

Since we do not have complete year-by-year records of the graduates prior to 1965, we would appreciate the loan of any graduation programs of Madison College Academy, or lists that give this information.

We also need current addresses for all graduates prior to 1965. If any of the MADISON SURVEY readers are graduates of Madison College Academy, please send your name and address to the address below. If you know others who are graduates of the academy, and have their addresses, we would very much appreciate receiving that information also. Be sure to indicate the year of graduation for each one.

Mrs. J. M. Jansen, Registrar, Box 1257, Madison College, Madison, Tenn. 37115.

Mrs. Bertram's 91st Birthday

Mrs. Kathryn Bertram, retired teacher of art and home economics at Madison, celebrated her 91st birthday on April 20, 1969. Widowed ten months after her marriage, she studied for a career in art. In 1921 she came to Madison, where she taught art in college, academy, and grade school, and home economics in college and academy. Her paintings are many, including 7 large nature scenes, representing the four seasons of the year, which adorn the walls of the reading room of Druillard Library. Her art work also includes painting on china, for which she designs her own patterns.

Still alert at 91, she does her own housework, and enjoys the visitors who drop in to see her in her little home hard by Druillard Library.

Good Samaritan Retreat Center

Dr. and Mrs. James D. Wang have started a "Good Samaritan Retreat Center," or "Institute for Purposeful Living" in conjunction with their Good Samaritan Sanitarium and Hospital, Knoxville, Ill. It is located six miles south of Galesburg, Ill., near Lake Bracken, on a forty-acre rolling woodland. Accommodations include a dormitory of 20 rooms, five classrooms, two meditation rooms, a library, and a recreation room. A chapel for worship and religious activities is located nearby. Facilities are available for religious, social, and scientific groups to hold conventions and workshops.

Dr. James Wang was closely associated with Dr. E. A. Sutherland while he was getting his Ph.D. at Peabody and supervising Chinese students at Madison. His address is Good Samaritan Sanitarium, Knoxville, Ill. 61448.

Friendship Manor Holds Open House At Pewee Valley, Ky.

The new Friendship Manor nursing home, connected with Pewee Valley Sanitarium and Hospital, in Kentucky, opened on April 27, with 94 beds. John Bullock is the administrator, and Robert Walper is assistant administrator.

Chestnut Hill Celebrates 60th Birthday

"Chestnut Hill Farm School Celebrates Its 60th Birthday" was the title of nearly a whole page feature article in the Gallatin Examiner (12/9/68). H. H. Ard, vice-president of the institution, prepared the article which gave its history, with several pictures of the early buildings, including the log house in which the first classes were conducted, the log barn, the log corn crib and wagon shed.

Chestnut Hill was founded in December, 1908, near Portland, Tenn., by the two families of Herman M. Walen and George Wallace. Mrs. Walen and her daughter, Susan (Mrs. H. H. Ard), were the first teachers of the five children of the founders and of the community. Later, a small sanitarium was started, and cottages for patients were built. Chestnut Hill is the oldest of the self-supporting institutions started from Madison in existence today. The article stated that more than a thousand boys and girls have received training there. Four have become medical doctors, twenty-one are graduate nurses, and others have filled responsible positions in life.

Florence Lewis Widger '22, writes from Evansville, Ind.: "In January, 1919, with my brother, James Lewis, I arrived on the Madison Campus. I worked and learned to set up type in the print shop under Blanche Noble Beakley and George McClure, who put out the SURVEY for some time. Others in the class were Yolanda Sutherland, Grace Moore, Harold Putnam, and Alice and Martha Bralliar. Martha was a niece of Dr. Bralliar and Mrs. Sally Sutherland. I also took the treatment room course and one year of nursing. My husband, Val Jean Widger, took the Cafeteria Course. He worked in the bakery and we both worked at the cafeteria under Mabel Robinson. We were among the first workers at Pewee Valley. Our interest in the last few years is the Bethel Sanitarium."

1928

Leon R. Pleasants was a student at Madison 1924-8. He visited Madison again in the summer of 1967 and took many colored pictures inside and out. We are indebted to him for prints of many of these pictures. Recently he became a life member of MCAA. He has a barber shop in Arlington, Va., across the Potomac from D.C., and visits his family each weekend at his home in Lynchburg, Va. He learned barbering at Madison and was the campus barber.

1930

Edna Kendall Face '30 and Joe H. Norris were joined in wedlock in a garden wedding at her home on Sanitarium Drive May 25, 1969. Mr. Norris is a cabinet maker.

1936

Burton Goodge, son of Dr. and Mrs. Bayard Goodge ('33 and '36), and Carol Gilbert were married in December, 1968, at Phoenix, Ariz. They are living in Knoxville, where Burton is working on his Ph.D. dissertation in bio-chemistry.

1939

Fred W. Black, manager of Loma Linda Market, is quoted in LLU Scope (10-9-68): "The market has grown in size from a small country store many years ago to an ultra-modern super-market today." The store has 60 employees, including 20 students who are working part time to help pay their school expenses. One feature of the Loma Linda Market is natural and vegetarian foods. Mr. Black has been manager of the store since 1952. Mrs. Black is also a graduate of Madison, Class of 1940.

1940

E. E. Kungel conducted a Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking class in Delta, Colo. Baptist and Nazarene ministers joined him in the program, and three Adventist doctors assisted in the clinic. (R & H, 4-10-69) Elder Kungel's daughter, Rita, is at Loma Linda taking the dental hygienist course. The Kingels hope to make a trip South soon and visit the self-supporting units. "I believe in this work," he says.

1941

Mrs. Betty Carey (LPN '41) is taking the two-year nursing course at the University of Tennessee in Nashville.

In the 1969 Ingathering Campaign at Takoma Academy, Gary Whitlock came in with top honors, soliciting $550. Gary is the son of Dr. James Whitlock '41, of Takoma Park, Md.

Representing Madison Foods, Sam Yoshimura '41 was sent to Uganda, East Africa, in March, 1969, for a few months on a working agreement with Africa Basic Foods to help develop vegetable protein foods in that country.

1943

Marion Simmons '43, of the Far Eastern Division Department of Education, was part of a team conducting a Parent and Home Fellowship course for the public in Menado, Indonesia, according to the Review and Herald, April 3, 1969. Mrs. Simmons is a former student and teacher of Madison College.

1945

Selma Adams (N '45) is a supervisor of venipuncture nurses in the clinical lab at LLU. She got her M.S. at LLU in 1963.

Robert L. Cone, vice-president for financial affairs of LLU, has been named treasurer of the Pacific Union Conference. He obtained his education at SMC and at Madison College. He reportedly completed every business course offered at both schools.

Lyndell Hill Rusk (B.S. and Lab '46) writes from Keene, Texas: "We have visited Madison a number of times in the past few years, and each time have seen big changes. It was a wonderful five years that I spent there, and I am most thankful for all the experiences and knowledge gained." After graduating from Madison, Lyndell worked in Texas as a lab and X-ray technician for a year and a half, then went to Lincoln, where she completed the necessary studies for registration as a lab technician. She and Zane Rusk were married in 1948. In 1949 the Rusks returned to Texas, where he received his degree in mechanical engineering from the University of Texas. Mrs. Rusk did research in the cardio-respiratory lab at Hermann Hospital, Houston, then decided to become an elementary school teacher, enrolling in the University of Houston, where she received a permanent teaching certificate. She has been teaching in the public schools for eleven years.

Mr. Rusk supervises the building of turbines and generators, and has been traveling for the past thirteen years. The Rusks have three boys.

Leslie Morris ('48) and family returned from Middle East College, Beirut, Lebanon, where he was teaching. Mr. Morris is teaching Math at Cedar Lake Academy, and Mrs. Morris teaches Secretarial Science.

1949

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Howard visited at the Layman Foundation office and the alumni office in April. They were traveling by plane on their way to the annual Adventist pilots' meeting, "Florida Fly In," at Camp Kulaqua, Florida. Mr. Howard attended Madison 1947-9. His wife, Bernice, is a graduate nurse from Paradise Valley S-H. She is a board member of the ASI. The Howards have six nursing homes in Wisconsin — Mid American Nursing Homes, Inc.—with a total of 449 beds.

John B. Gramy (N '50) is a nurse-anesthetist at Fresno General Hospital (615 beds), Fresno, Calif. His wife Ellen is director of nursing at Bel Haven Convalescent Hospital, also in Fresno. She is a graduate of Portland S-H. The Gramyks have two children.

Carl Eddy Baker (N '50) has been working at Manatee Memorial Hospital in Brudenton, Florida, mostly in I.V. therapy for the past 15 years. His wife is the former Grace Bartlett.

Walter R. Shultz (Anes. '52) is administrator and anesthetist at Crawford County Memorial Hospital, Denison, Iowa. His oldest son, George, is also a graduate anesthetist from Madison, class of 1957. George is presently an anesthetist at Oroville Medical Center Hospital, Oroville, Calif.

Madisonites in Nigeria

Howard Porter (Anes. '54) of Leland Memorial Hospital, Riverdale, Md., left Washington, D.C., in February, 1969, as a member of a third medical team for temporary service in Eastern Nigeria. Howard wrote his former teacher, Bernard Bowen, of conditions there: "There is still a great deal of malnutrition and disease in spite of all the food and drugs being flown in by the Red Cross and National Council of Churches . . . The children particularly are pitiful—as always the innocent victims of war. Anesthesia here leaves much to be desired. You'd be horrified at some things we do, but somehow they survive. Surely the Lord helps when we can do so little."

Howard is on the staff of Leland Memorial Hospital, Riverdale, Md. In his letter he spoke of another Madisonite who preceded him as a member of the first team to go to Biafra—Terry Brown '58.

From the Review (3/22/69) we learned that Dr. "Bill" Dysinger (MCA '45), of the LLU School of Health, was also a member of that third medical relief team to Biafra.

We picked up another news item from LLU Alumni Journal, which stated that Dr. Carl A. Dent of Riverside S-H had volunteered for a three-month term of service in Nigeria, in early 1969. His wife is an R.N. from Madison, Class of 1959.

Andrew Rimmer (Ind. Arts '55) is a teacher at Harbert Hills Academy.

1957

Bob Ley (Anes.'57) is doing anesthesia at Clay County Hospital, Celina, Tenn.

John Dovich (BS '61) writes from South Lancaster, Mass., where he was appointed to start an Industrial Arts department for South Lancaster Academy. He enclosed an attractive brochure of the proposed vocational center, and said: "I am still using the training I received at Madison to promote better the Industrial Arts program in our educational work." He and his family had been scheduled to fly to India in August, 1967, but could not go because it was impossible to obtain visas. He spent six weeks at a mission seminar at AU and two quarters at WWC studying electronics and printing before he went to South Lancaster Academy, a twelve-grade day school located on the campus of AUC.

Juan Anglada ('62) took teacher's training course at Madison and taught a few years in Puerto Rico. He is now pastor of three churches there. He writes: "I am really glad to receive the MADISON SURVEY. I always read it from the first page to the last. I have been married for five years. My wife, Myrta, and I have two children. I'm working in the Lord's field in Utuado, P.R., as a pastor. I have to attend three churches. I love this work. I am planning to go by Madison in the summer."

Juan gives news of two other M.C. graduates. "Pedro Ramos '59 is teaching in the Adventist College in Mayaguez. Damaris Rivera Leonar (N '60) works at the Bella Vista Hospital."

From Adolph Arellano we learned that his sister Elsie (N '63) married David Kinsey, and they are living in Hialeah, Fla.

1964

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Martin and two children visited the alumni office in April on their way to Oak Ridge, Tenn., where Donald took four-weeks additional training. Since leaving Madison he finished lab at St. Luke's Hospital, Boise, Idaho, and is now working in radioisotopes (nuclear medicine) at Portland Adventist Hospital, Oregon. His wife is the former Cecile Hoyt (N '64). When asked if there were other Madisonites at Portland, they reported that Betty Ball is a surgical nurse there.

1966

Barbara Graham Schwarz (Anes. '66) is doing anesthesia at the 200-bed Obion County Hospital and Nursing Home in Union City. She writes: "I enjoy reading the SURVEY so much, as I learn where many of my classmates and friends are located."

1967

Paula Walker Jewett, president of the first A.D. nursing class on the Madison campus, writes from Loma Linda that her husband, David, "is in his second year of medical school, and has been working with 'real patients.' . . . I am now working in the office of an ENT specialist, and enjoy the hours and weekend off, especially after the year I spent working 7-3 shift in the coronary care unit at LLU Hospital. . . Sylvia and Phil Sue have a baby girl, Kaye Michelle. Phil teaches at Blue Mountain Academy, and Sue was planning to help out some as school nurse. (Paula's address is 24957 Court St. in Loma Linda. She is eager to hear news of her classmates.)

"Nurse of Year," Madison ASDAN

Myrle E. Tabler (N'54) was chosen "Nurse of the Year" for the Madison ASDAN chapter. Mrs. Tabler studied at Nebraska State Normal College, and taught elementary school for five years. After her husband died in 1945, she decided to enter the nursing profession, and studied at Madison College School of Nursing. Later she moved to Washington, D. C., where she earned a degree in nursing education at CUC.

She has worked as a nurse in hospitals at Dunlap, Tenn., Washington, D. C., and Madison Hospital. For the past six years she has specialized in mental health nursing, and now is a head nurse in the psychiatric department of Madison Hospital. She writes religious and health articles for denominational and other periodicals, and serves as press secretary of the Madison Campus Church. Presently she is completing requirements for a Master's degree in religious journalism at Syracuse University. Her thesis title is "A Survey of the Production of Easy Reading Materials for Newly Literate Readers by S.D.A.'s."

Mrs. Tabler has five children, one of whom was at one time a student at Madison—Alice Penner, wife of Bernard Penner, a Southern Union Conference auditor.

Letters

● BeaAnna Brown, mother of RaeAnna Brown (Anes. '64) writes from Beavertown, Ore.: "My daughter, RaeAnna, visited Madison last fall while home on furlough, and went through the new hospital. On Oct. 7, 1968, she started back for her third term as anesthetist and nurse at the new Benghazi Hospital in Libya. On January 17, 1969, the 60-bed hospital was opened. From her letters I glean that she is also in charge of Central Supply and acting surgical nurse, so she has her hands full.

"I enjoyed the report on the self-supporting convention, and remember reading the SURVEY 40 years ago. At one time I thought we might connect with the Mulfords at Fountain Head. I have often wished that we had . . . I'd love to see Madison pushing agriculture and work as it did in early years."

● Rebecca Lowry, Mitchellville, Md.: "Becky" Crittenden Lowry had two years of the nursing course at Madison. Her husband, Malcolm, attended Madison College for one year. He is now a registered X-ray technician with the Washington Hospital Center, D.C. In addition to his X-ray work, he teaches biology at Greater Baltimore Academy.

Becky gives news of Malcolm's brother and twin sisters (children of Lois Lowry Spaulding '59). "Warren Lowry works on construction jobs and lives at home. The twins' (Barbara and Beverly) are in their junior year at LLU. Both are taking medicine, and both married doctors."

● Linda Culpepper (Mrs. Lester) writes that she and her family have lived at Madison twenty-three years. Mr. Culpepper was fruits and garden man at Madison for several years. He is now with the purchasing department of the hospital. Mrs. Culpepper graduated from Madison Academy by G.E.D. test, and worked in the hospital business office and as secretary to the academp principal. She is the author of a current Reading Course book, The New Song.

The four Culpepper children, James, Maurice, Elaine, and Rebecca, all graduated from Madison Academy and took some college work here. Oldest son James is now business accounts manager at Porter S-H, Denver. Son Maurice, formerly head of the Rural Press at Madison, is in printing work presently. He married Lillian Azevedo, a graduate nurse of Madison, and lives in Pawtucket, R. I. Lillian does some teaching and nursing. Elaine is married to Kenneth Cantrell, who is an army career man. They live in Fayetteville, N. C. Rebecca is married to Leo Rosenboom. She graduated from Madison Academy, and had three years at M.C. She has been working at Madison Hospital. Leo is working at Madison Foods.

Are You Delinquent?

Are you delinquent on dues and donations? When you meet M.C. graduates and friends of Madison, ask them if they are getting the SURVEY and keeping in touch with Madison. If they say No, urge them to write the alumni and SURVEY office and send their dues ($3.00 a year; $50 life) if a graduate. SURVEY subscription alone is $1.00 a year. Keep your SURVEY subscription and dues up to date. Don't be a delinquent. It may be more important than you think.

● Edwin Walden writes from Green Springs, Ohio: "I was interested in your last SURVEY and the letter from Frank Judson. I hope we can resurrect the Madison spirit, find the indispensable leadership, and rebuild Madison College as the self-supporting training institution for the whole S.D.A. church, and especially for that type of work in the South."

PAUL STUYVESANT FAMILY, LOMA LINDA

The Stuyvesant family came to Madison in 1944 and spent many years here as students and workers. Paul Stuyvesant took the two-year nursing course in 1915, later finished college in 1945. Sarah Stuyvesant taught in the English Department. The children, Wilfred, Carolyn, and Elisabeth, all went to school at Madison.

Wilfred took the premedical course at Madison, and got his M.D. at Loma Linda in 1956. He has been with LLU School of Medicine in full time research since 1966.

Carolyn took three years of college at Madison, taught church school in Kentucky, then went to La Sierra College, graduating in 1954. She was dean of girls at Thunderbird Academy in Arizona, and taught three years in Hawaii. Then she took the two-year nurses' course at PUC, and worked several years at the White. Later she obtained a master's degree in Tropical Public Health at LLU. She was invited to go to Ethiopia, where her sister, Elisabeth, and husband, Dr. Harvey Heidinger, had gone. She spent a year and a half teaching missionaries' children at Addis Ababa. Later she was in the same city in Ethiopia where the Heidingers were located. The three have been at Dessie Mission Hospital, where Dr. Heidinger is the physician, Carolyn a nurse, and Elisabeth a busy wife and mother. They were home on furlough in 1968.

Elisabeth began in the sixth grade at Madison, went through the academy, and took some college subjects. After she had finished prenursing she got her R.N. at Loma Linda in 1957.

The parents of these distinguished people, Mr and Mrs. Paul Stuyvesant, are retired at Loma Linda.

HERSCHEL L. RUSHING

Herschel L. Rushing, long-time resident of the Madison College community, died of a coronary ailment at the age of 77 on Dec. 21, 1968. He was for many years special accountant for the Nashville, Chattanooga, and St. Louis Railway. While a patient at Madison S-H, he became much interested in the rural-life movement advocated by Dr. E. A. Sutherland, so much so that he bought an acre of land on Larkin Springs Road just off the Madison campus. Here he built a home, and in his spare time, with his wife and three sons, did considerable gardening and fruit raising by the "organic" method.

The children, three boys and one girl, were sent to school at Madison. Winifred (Mrs. George Kelley) graduated from Madison Academy in 1934, and took the L.P.N. course. All of her five children are graduates of the academy.

Mrs. Rushing also graduated from the academy, two years earlier than daughter Winifred, in 1932, and at one time carried responsibilities in the sanitarium diet kitchen and in the college store.

Surviving Mrs. Rushing are his wife, Lucille; a daughter, Winifred Kelley; two sons—Alvin, of Houston, Texas; and Porter, of Madison, Tenn.

NONA EWERS SAVAGE

Mrs. Nona Savage passed away April 12, 1969, at Madison Hospital at the age of 74. In 1914 she married Philip M. Savage, and to this union were born five children. The couple moved to Madison in 1940 because of the educational opportunities for their children. For twenty-one years she served as a nurse at Madison S-H until her retirement in 1961.

Funeral services were conducted by Elder J. W. Clarke, pastor of the Madison Campus SDA Church, of which she was a member, and Elder R. E. Stewart. Interment was in the Spring Hill Cemetery.

Survivors are her husband, Philip Savage; son Roy; and four daughters: Phyllis (Mrs. Eugene Harris) of Madison; Wanda (Mrs. Henry Talmadge) of Sparta, Mich.; Mavis (wife of Dr. Shaen Sutherland) of Lawrenceburg, Tenn.; and Iris (wife of Sgt. Major Robert Keairnes) of Fort Bragg, N.C. All attended the funeral.

The four daughters attended Madison Academy, and three enrolled for some college work. Mavis Sutherland is a graduate of both the academy and college (class of '50).
